As stated in the prefatory remarks to one of the earlier issues of the series of bibliographies of which this volume forms the fifth number, the writer undertook a number of years ago the compilation of a work to be published by the Bureau of Ethnology, which was to embrace within a single volume an authors' catalogue of all the material relating to the native North American languages. With this purpose in view he visited the principal public and private libraries of the United States, Canada, and northern Mexico, carried on an extensive correspondence with librarians, missionaries, and others interested in the subject, and examined such authorities, printed and manuscript, as were accessible. The results of these researches were embodied in a work entitled "Proof-sheets of a Bibliography of the Languages of the North American Indians," the full title and description of which will be found on page 403 herewith. The amount of material obtained was so much greater than was anticipated that the volume proved cumbersome, and it was concluded to change the style of publication and to issue a series of bibliographies each relating to one of the more prominent groups of our native languages. Consequently but few of the "Proof-sheets" were distributed, and these were confined to persons who it was thought were in a position to aid in the preparation of the new series. New journeys were undertaken, the national libraries of England, France, and a few of the larger private collections in both of these countries were consulted, many of the libraries of this country and Canada were revisited, other correspondents were enlisted, much additional material was acquired, and the publication of the separate bibliographies was begun.

Of this series four numbers have been published, relating respectively, in order of publication, to the Eskimauan, Siouan, Iroquoian, and Muskogean families; this, the Algonquian, is the fifth, and the next in contemplation includes the languages belonging to the Athapascan stock.

The Algonquian speaking peoples covered a greater extent of country, perhaps, than those of any other of the linguistic stocks of North America, stretching from Labrador to the Rocky Mountains, and from the Churchill River of Hudson Bay to Pamlico Sound in North Carolina; and the literature of their languages is by far the greatest in extent of any of the stocks north of Mexico, being equaled, if at all, by only one south of that line, namely, the Nahuatl. Probably every language of the family is on record, and of the more prominent, extensive record has been made. In two, the Massachusetts and the Cree, the whole bible has been printed, the former, by the way, being the first bible printed upon this continent. In two others, the Chippewa and the Micmac, nearly the whole of the scriptures has been printed, and portions thereof have appeared in a number of others. In the Abnaki, Blackfoot, Chippewa, Cree, Delaware, Micmac, and Nipissing, rather extensive dictionaries have been printed, and of the Abnaki, Nipissing, Blackfoot, Chippewa, Illinois, Massachusetts, Montagnais, and Pottawotomi, there are manuscript dictionaries in existence. Of grammars, we have in print the Abnaki, Blackfoot, Chippewa, Cree, Massachusetts, Micmac, and Nipissing, and in manuscript, the Illinois, Menomonee, Montagnais, and Pottawotomi. In nearly every language of the family, prayer-books, hymn-books, tracts, and scriptural texts have appeared, and several of them are represented by school-books of various kinds, i. e., primers, spellers, and readers; and in one of them, the Chippewa, there was printed in 1840 a geography for beginners.

The present volume embraces 2,245 titular entries, of which 1,926 relate to printed books and articles, and 319 to manuscripts. Of these, 2,014 have been seen and described by the compiler—1,850 of the prints and 164 of the manuscripts, leaving as derived from outside sources 231—76 of the prints and 155 manuscripts. Of those unseen by the writer, titles and descriptions of probably one-half have been received from persons who have actually seen the works and described them for him.

In addition to these there are given 130 full titles of printed covers, second and third volumes, etc., all of which with one exception have been seen and described by the compiler; while in the notes mention is made of 243 printed and manuscript works, 146 of which have been seen and 97 derived from other (mostly printed) sources.

So far as possible, during the proof-reading of this volume comparison has been made direct with the respective works. For this purpose, besides his own books, the writer has had access to those in the libraries of Congress, the Bureau of Ethnology, the Smithsonian Institution, Maj. J. W. Powell, and several other private collections in the city of Washington. Mr. Wilberforce Eames has compared the titles of works contained in his own library and in the Lenox, and frequent recourse has been had to the various librarians throughout the country for tracings, photographs, etc. The result is that of the 2,014 works described de visu, comparison of proof has been made direct with the original sources in the case of 1,711. In this later reading, collations and descriptions have been entered into more fully than had previously been done, and capital letters treated with more severity.

Endeavor has been made to acknowledge throughout the work the obligations under which the writer has placed himself in the preparation of this material. To a number, however, he is under a greater indebtedness than could be properly mentioned in the body of the work. This is notably true of Mr. Wilberforce Eames, who has contributed not only his constant aid and advice in bibliographic matters, in which he is so well versed, but who has also furnished almost bodily a number of special articles included within these pages—those relating to the publications of the Apostle Eliot, the Indiane primer, Lykins, Mather, Mayhew, Meeker, Pierson, Quinney, Rawson, Sergeant, and Simerwell, besides many new titles, biographic material, etc. From the Rev. J. E. Jones, of St. Mary's College, Montreal, much information has been received concerning the earlier missionaries of Canada; the Reverend Fathers Beaudet and Hamel of the Laval University, Quebec, have been especially kind in giving information concerning the printed and manuscript material contained in the library of that institution and in that of the archiepiscopal residence at Quebec. Similar kindnesses have been shown me by Prof. A. F. Chamberlain, now of Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts, but formerly of Toronto, Canada.

To the Director of the Bureau, Maj. J. W. Powell, I am under lasting obligations for his constant aid and advice and for the opportunity of pursuing my work under the most advantageous circumstances.

As was the case in the previous numbers of the series, my constant assistant has been Mr. P. C. Warman, and upon him has fallen much of the detail and minutiae inseparable from such a work.

Washington, D. C., June 1, 1891.

INTRODUCTION.

In the compilation of this catalogue the aim has been to include everything, printed or in manuscript, relating to the Algonquian languages—books, pamphlets, articles in magazines, tracts, serials, etc., and such reviews and announcements of publications as seemed worthy of notice.

The dictionary plan has been followed to its extreme limit, the subject and tribal indexes, references to libraries, etc., being included in one alphabetic series. The primary arrangement is alphabetic by authors, translators of works into the native languages being treated as authors. Under each author the arrangement is, first, by printed works, and, second, by manuscripts, each group being given chronologically; and in the case of printed books each work is followed through its various editions before the next in chronologic order is taken up.

Anonymously printed works are entered under the name of the author when known, and under the first word of the title, not an article or preposition, when not known. A cross-reference is given from the first words of anonymous titles when entered under an author, and from the first words of all titles in the Indian languages, whether anonymous or not. Manuscripts are entered under the author when known, under the dialect to which they refer when the author is not known.

Each author's name, with his title, etc., is entered in full but once, i. e., in its alphabetic order. Every other mention of him is by surname and initials only, except in those rare cases when two persons of the same surname have also the same initials.

All titular matter, including cross-references thereto, is in breviter, all collations, descriptions, notes, and index matter in nonpareil.

In detailing contents and in adding notes respecting contents, the spelling of proper names used in the particular work itself has been followed, and so far as possible the language of the respective writers is given. In the index entries of tribal names the compiler has adopted that spelling which seemed to him the best.

As a general rule initial capitals have been used in titular matter in only two cases: first, for proper names, and, second, when the word actually appears on the title-page with an initial capital and with the remainder in small capitals or lower-case letters. In giving titles in the German language the capitals in the case of all substantives have been respected.

When titles are given of works not seen by the compiler the fact is stated, or the entry is followed by an asterisk within curves, and in either case the authority is usually given.

The material contained in the "Addenda" has been entered in the chronologic index at the end of the work, but is not included in the tribal and subject indexes throughout the volume.

Abnaki. [Book of prayers, etc., in the Mareschit (or Maliseet) and Caniba dialects of the Abnaki language.]

Manuscript, pp. 1-78 and 2 ll. long 18°, belonging to Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, Hartford, Conn.

It contains Prière du Matin en Marichit, Cantique, Prière du Soir en Caniba, Prière avant la Confession, Interrogation pour la Confession, Prière avant [et après] la Communion, Catéchisme, Manière de Baptiser, etc.

This manuscript formerly belonged to Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford. It is entered in the sale catalogue of his books under no. 5694, whence the following note is taken:

"Written by some French missionary to the Abnakis. It is complete and well preserved, though its pages bear traces of long and frequent use. It formerly belonged to Dr. John Pickering, to whom it was presented by Bishop (and Cardinal) Cheverus.

"The mission for which this manual was compiled included Indians of at least two tribes, the Canibas, of whose principal dialect Rasles has given us a vocabulary, and the Etchemins and Mareschites, on and near the St. John's River. 'We read in the relations of the Jesuits, that the Canibas, the Etchemins, and other Indians of different tribes lived together in one village,' under the instruction of the missionary Fathers (Maurault, Hist. des Abnakis, 9); and it is not improbable that this manual contains translations made early in the 17th century, and preserved in manuscript copies by successive missionaries."

The manuscript sold for $6.50.

Abnaki. [Manuscripts in the Abnaki language.] (*)

Under several authors in this bibliography will be found titles and descriptions of Abnaki manuscripts preserved at the Roman Catholic mission of Pierreville, Canada, copied from Gill (C.), Notes sur de vieux manuscrits abenakis (q.v.). In addition to those which he places under the names of their respective authors he adds a general note as follows: "There are other manuscripts in Abnaki belonging to families in the village—books of piety containing prayers, psalms, chants, etc."

Abnaki. Prières | des sauvages abnakis de St. François.

Manuscript, 33 unnumbered pp. 12°, belonging to Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, Hartford, Conn. It formerly belonged to Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, and is titled under no. 5695 of the sale catalogue of his books, from which the following note is taken:

"The writing resembles that of the preceding volume [Abnaki Book of prayers] and is probably by the same hand, but it shows that the writer has become more familiar both with the language and with the pen. The character used by the French missionaries for ou or English w (8) is employed, and the nasals are marked as in Rasles's Dictionary, by ñ. In addition to the prayers contained in the earlier manual, it has the Litanies of the Virgin, and of the Holy Name of Jesus, the Psalms and Antiphons for Vespers, and the hymns 'Lucis Creator' and 'Veni Creator.'"

Abnaki. Racines Abnaquises, ou plutôt, Dictionnaire abanaquis-français.

Manuscript, anonymous and undated, pp. 1-130, sm. 4°, in the library of Laval University, Quebec. Pp. 38-98 are missing and the last numbered page is blank; the first and last leaves are much damaged. The writing is legible.

Partially copied as follows:

Abnaki. Racines Abanaquises.

Manuscript, anonymous and undated, 15 unnumbered pp. (the 12th and 15th of which are blank), in the library of Laval University, Quebec. It is an essay toward a French-Abnaki dictionary, and is the beginning of a copy of the manuscript titled next above.

Abnaki. [Register of baptisms, confirmations, marriages, and deaths at the mission of the Saguenay and of Lac St. Jean.]

Manuscript, 65 unnumbered ll. oblong 4°. The first leaf, what would be the third, and one or more at the end, are lacking. In the library of Laval University, Quebec.

Contains many proper names of the Abnaki Indians.

Abnaki. [Religious instructions, chants, and meditations in the Abnaki language.]

Manuscript, ll. 1-190 (of which ll. 111-121, 161-163 are blank), sm. 8°, in the library of Laval University, Quebec. Well written and bound in calf.

At the beginning is this heading: Modus excipiendarum barbarorum confessionium. It contains the explanation of the commandments of God, chief prayers, hymns, and prayers of the church, instructions, and meditations.

Abnaki. [Religious songs, with notes.]

Manuscript, pp. 1-590 (with blank pages here and there numbered with the others), 4°, in the library of the archbishopric of Quebec. Without title, name, or date; very legible; bound in boards covered with gray cloth.

Abnaki. [Songs, poems, etc.] (*)

Manuscripts in possession of Mr. Charles G. Leland, who writes me as follows concerning them;

"I would with pleasure send you an account of my collections in Wabanaki lore, but unfortunately they are packed away in London, and it would be impossible for me to obtain them until I return, which will not be before next spring or summer. If not too late I will then attend to it.

"My collection embraces songs, poems, tales, recipes, in short, Indian folk-lore of a very varied kind. Being an old folk-lorist, I formed the idea of putting questions of an extremely varied nature on all kinds of topics. Mrs. Brown informs me that it would be impossible now to make such a collection, so many of the old people who knew this lore having died."—Letter of Dec. 17, 1888.

"In my London manuscripts there are several important Indian texts, e.g., a transcript of the wampum records of the Passamaquoddies, texts of songs, etc. I can not recall them now."—Letter of Jan. 7, 1889.

Algonquian. [Algonquian-French gram-mar.]

Manuscript, 59 ll. 16°, Algonquian and French, in the library of Maj. J. W. Powell, Wash-ington, D. C.; found several years ago among the papers of John Porteus, an early Indian trader in the Mohawk Valley. It consists of declen-sions and conjugations in nearly equal parts, the latter beginning near the middle of the book, with heading: Conjugations de quelques verbes Alkonkins & Nipissings.

Algonquian. [Algonquian-French vo-cabulary.]

Manuscript, ll. 1-59 (incomplete), in the Bibli-othèque Nationale, Paris, where it is entered un-der no. 16 in catalogue no. 327. There is no title-page and no indication of author or date. It is closely and finely though not distinctly written, averaging 57 lines to the page, in two columns, Algonquian and French, the writing covering a little more than half the width of the page. It is arranged alphabetically by Algonquian words and ends in the letter T. The character 8 is used throughout the manuscript for the sound of ou or w.

Algonquian. Catechisme Algonkin. (*)

Manuscript, 140 pp. 4°, preserved at the Mis-sion of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada, and used by the Sisters in teaching the children of the school at that mission. It is said to be a copy only, made, they assert, about fifty years ago. Besides the catechism it contains many psalms and hymns.

During the autumn of 1882, while on a visit to the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes, I had the pleasure, through the courtesy of Père Leclair, then missionary at that place, of in-specting a number of linguistic manuscripts, composed for the most part by former mis-sionaries at the Lake, titles of which will be found in their proper places in this bibliography. In addition to these, I have been furnished by the late Mrs. Erminnie A. Smith, an employée of the Bureau of Ethnology, who spent some time at that mission engaged in the preparation of a grammar and dictionary of the various Iroquoian languages, with a list of others, of the existence of which I was not aware at the time of my visit; of those which are anonymous, the title of one is given above and others below. The descriptions are by Mrs. Smith, aided by Père Leclair.

On a more recent visit (June, 1889), I was shown by the Abbé Cuoq what purported to be all the Algonquian manuscripts belonging to the library of the mission; some of these were additional to those seen on my first sojourn at the lake, but I was unable to identify any of those here entered anonymously.

Algonquian. Catechisme Algonkin. (*)

Manuscript, 12°, written by a Jesuit mis-sionary; in the archives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada.

Algonquian. Dictionnaire Algonquin-Français de l'an 1661. (*)

Manuscript, sm. 4°, preserved in the ar-chives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada.

This work has passed through the hands of M. Mathevet, a former missionary at this place, as one clearly sees by an inspection of the cover, which is entirely covered with short notes in Algonquian, written by this mis-sionary; besides these he has made many additions throughout the dictionary.

Algonquian—Continued.

Other additions and corrections have been made by the hand of another missionary, whose name is not known, but from whom we have a large number of Algonquian manuscripts. To this author belong the six pages which end the work.

These writers were evidently very capable men, and already far advanced in the knowledge of the language.

Algonquian. Dictionnaire Français-Algonquin. 1662? (*)

Manuscript preserved in the archives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada. It is incomplete, beginning with the letter B and ending with the letter T. Mice have partially destroyed it, but the remainder is in a readable state. The author was a Jesuit missionary.

Manuscript preserved in the archives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada. It is in bad condition, leaves torn, etc.

Algonquian. Dictionnaire Français-Algonquin. (*)

Manuscript in the archives of the Catholic church at Oka, Canada. Written by one of the Jesuit fathers, who has also left a large book of instructions.

Algonquian. [Discourse on Purgatory, and a part of Genesis, in the Algonquian language. 1662?] (*)

Manuscript, 99 ll. preserved in the archives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada. It is written in abridged Latin and Algonquian and is the work of the same Jesuit father who compiled the French-Algonquian dictionary, titled above under the date of 1662?

The two dictionaries dated 1662? and 1669, and the Discourse, have been corrected and augmented by a Jesuit father who wrote in 1669 and who had a good knowledge of the language, as is attested by the fact that he wrote upon the roots of the Algonkin.

Algonquian. Grammaire, petit catéchisme, prières et cantiques. (*)

Manuscript in the archives of the Catholic church, Oka, Canada. It is a large octavo volume, written by a Jesuit, and appears to be quite ancient.

Algonquian. Instructions sur les symboles en langue Algonquin. 1669. (*)

Manuscript preserved in the archives of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada.

The two manuscripts last titled are the work of the Jesuit father spoken of above as being well versed in the language.

Algonquian. Liber baptisatorum a Patribus Societatis Jesu in residentia seu reductione Sancti Josephi vulgo Sillery.

Manuscript, 82 ll. of which the first four only are numbered, 4°. It is the register of baptisms and confirmations of the Indians made at Sillery and Three Rivers from 1637 to 1690. It contains the names of the Indians baptised and those of their parents.

Preserved in the Basilique Notre-Dame of Quebec.

Algonquian. [Prayers, etc., in the Algonquian language.]

Manuscript, 1 p. l. pp. 1-160, 8 unnumbered ll. 12°, in possession of the compiler of this bibliography, presented by the pastor of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada. It is bound in leather, fairly written, and well preserved.

Allouez (Père Claude). [Prayers, instructions, and a catechism, in the Illinois language.]

Colophon: Fait par le P. Cl. Allouez, pour le Père Marquette. [1673-1675?] (*)

Manuscript, 1 p. l. pp. 1-185, 16°, belonging to Surgeon-Major Hubert Neilson, Kingston, Canada. I am indebted to the Abbé Sasseville, Ste. Foye, Canada, for an extended description of the work, which I summarize as follows: On p. 1 is the heading Preces Ilinicæ, followed by the formula for the sign of the cross; and this by the Acte d’foi de la presence de Dieu.—Acte d’adoration, p. 2.—Acte de foi, p. 3.—Acte d’esperance, p. 4.—Acte d’amour, p. 5.—Acte de remerciements, pp. 6-7.—[Acte de] demande, p. 8.—[Acte de] offrande, p. 9.—Acte de contrition, p. 10.—Au commencement de la messe, pp. 11-18.—Pater and credo, pp. 19-22.—Prayers, pp. 22-26.—Litanies and prayers, pp. 27-36.—Pour la petite couronne, pp. 37-38.—Pp. 39-40 are taken up with the ten commandments, without heading.—Litany [du Saint nom de Jésus], pp. 41-44.—Asperges me, pp. 45-47.—Pp. 48-51 are occupied with hymns.—A canticle “Sur malheureuse creature” of 45 stanzas extends from p. 52 to p. 66. This canticle is in the form of a dialogue between God and a fallen soul, and in the original French is well known and much used in Canada.—Another canticle, “Pour les bienheureux,” pp. 67-71.—Pp. 72-93 (p. 86 missing) are blank.—Instructio pro moribundis non baptizatis, pp. 94-103.—Pp. 104-137 are blank.—Catechisme (preceded by a prayer headed Invocation), pp. 130-176.—Pp. 177-184 blank. On p. 185 is the colophon above.

Père Allouez was missionary in the region of Lake Superior and Lake Michigan in the year 1665, and numbered among his neophytes a village of Illinois Indians, to whom he preached in their own language.

Père Marquette was sent to this region somewhere about 1668-70, and in May, 1673, started with Joliet for the Mississippi River. He returned in November, 1674, and founded the mission of Kaskaskias. On returning from this mission he died on the shore of Lake Michigan May 19, 1675. It is probable that it was about this time the manuscript above described was written.

Since furnishing me with the description of this and another manuscript—by Père Antoine Silvy (q. v.), also belonging to Surgeon-Major Neilson—the Abbé Sasseville's very full and detailed description of them, in French, has been translated into English and published in a pamphlet edited by Mr. George M. Fairchild, jr., with a supplementary letter by Dr. J. G. Shea, printed in New York in 1887 and issued in an edition of 100 copies. In this pamphlet (p. 10) the Abbé says: "We can reasonably infer that this manuscript was remitted to Père Jacques Marquette by Père Cl. Allouez, either in the month of May, 1673, or in November, 1674."

Manuscript; above title (or rather note) verso first l. recto blank, text in the Ottawa language 25 unnumbered ll. 16° (6 x 4½ inches).

At the top of the second leaf is the heading: Preceptes phrases et mots de la langue Algonquaine outaouaise pour un missionnaire nouveau. Following the vocabulary are 23 remarks in Latin, headed respectively Nota 1, Nota 2, etc.

Composed by and in the handwriting of Father André. On the recto of the 23d l. is the remark "et P. Claudius Alloës, qui circiter 30 annos versatus est cum sylvestribus dixit mihi * * *." Father Allouez died at the Ottawa mission August 27, 1689. He arrived in the country as missionary in 1658.

[—] dictionnaire Algonquin [1688?]

Manuscript; no title, heading as above; 406 unnumbered ll. sm. 8° (7½ x 4½ inches). Paged on the rectos of the leaves in a modern hand in pencil 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, etc. Legibly written, on both sides the leaves, 38 lines to the page. Bound roughly in deerskin, with strings of the same material to serve as clasps.

The first three ll. contain explanatory remarks in French; then follows 1 blank l.; then begins A. Il m'a donné un liure à lire, followed by the Algonquian equivalent. The French words are written in the middle of the page as headings, the Algonquian equivalent underneath, many of which run entirely across the page.

Compiled by and in the handwriting of Father André; probably about 1688.

To give an idea of the magnitude of the linguistic labor performed by some of the missionaries to the Indians, as well as to convey some impression of the character of the older manuscripts, I insert the preface to Father André's dictionary:

Avertissement.

1. Il est difficile de faire un dictionnaire en quelque langue que ce soit de celles dont l'ay quelque connoissance, [sans] qu'on [ne] dise souvent le mesme mot, soit par rapport [soit à cause du rapport] qu'ont les choses en elles mesmes les unes enuers les autres, soit que le françois ayant plusieurs mots sinonimes le mesme mot algonquin revient pour les signifier.

2. Pour faire ce dictionnaire, ie me suis serui des plus grands dictionnaires françois, dont j'ay mis les mots en algonquin; mais comme ie n'auois pas d'algonquins que ie puisse consulter j'ay consulté le dictionnaire outaouois.

3. Quand à la fin d'un mot il y a "out," cela neut dire [que] ce mot est propre aux outaouois.

4. Les algonquins n'ont pas d'v. et les outaouois n'ont pas d'r. Quelque fois le mot est commun aux algonquins et aux outaouois. Chacun y mettant cequi est propre de sa langue.

5. Tous ceux qui uoudront bien apprendre la langue doivent tascher d'auoir une personne d'esprit, et la bien récompenser, pour luy lire les mots, et luy faire dire ce qu'ils signifient, afinque s'expliquant comme il dit diuers mots, et

6. Bien que l'on soit certain d'un mot il ne faut laisser de le lire à vostre maistre; souuent il dira les mots sinonimes que l'on marquera.

7. On fera bien de mettre par escrit ceque l'on neut dire aux sauuages, et de le leur lire, et bien qu'on sache ce qu'on neut leur dire il ne nuira point à la question, parce que les sauuages admirent que le liure parle comme nous et que nous puissions mettre sur le papier ce que nous disons, ce qu'ils ne scauroient faire.

8. Quand j'ay mis la première personne ie mets un 3. pour dire la troisieme personne et dans l'explication ie n'explique que la première personne.

9. Il faut se gesner à apprendre les rudimens autrement on ne parlera iamais bien, et on aura de la peine à entendre bien les sauuages.

10. Rarement les françois parlent correctement.

11. Les enfans apprennent facilement les langues en se diuertissant, et sans estude, mais un missionnaire qui est un peu âgé aura de la peine où un enfant n'en auroit point. Combien en uoyons nous qui au sortir de leurs classes parlent aussi facilement en latin qu'en françois, à plus forte raison un missionnaire apprendra avec peine la langue des sauuages qui a beaucoup moins de rapport à la langue françoise que la langue françoise n'en a avec la latine.

12. Quelque fois quand ie n'ay pas bien ioint les lettres ie mets un petit traict afin qu'on les ioint.

13. Comme ie n'escriis pas bien on se troupera souuent, c'est pour quoy il ne faut rien apprendre qu'on ne l'ait leu à celuy des sauuages qu'on a pour maistre.

14. Je marque les longues en mettant un accent sur la syllabe longue.

15. Pour bien apprendre à prononcer il ne faut pas dire aux sauuages le mot, mais il faut qu'ils le disent, car si uous leur dites: "Appeliez-nous cela une pierre [?]" ils eous diront souuent oui, sans comprendre ce que uous uoulez apprendre d'eux.

16. Il est bon d'auoir tousiours dans sa poche un escritoire ou un crayon et des tablettes pour marquer tout ce que uous pourrez attrapper de ce qu'ils disent et après uous proposerez à vostre maistre ce que uous auez ouï et marqué.

17. Il y a des verbes nobles et ignobles; ie mets le verbe ignoble le premier, et puis le noble parabréuiation. Par exemple: nitiberindan, ie gouverne c-la. n. [i. e. noble] ma pro nitiberi-ma, ie gouverne u. g. un homme.

18. Quand ie mets "u. g." cela neut dire "par exemple," uerbi gratia en latin.

19. Quand il y a un d à la marge, cela neut dire que ie doute de ce mot.

20. Parfois une lettre n'est pas bien formée, pour lors la 3^e personne considérée seruira à corriger la première, ou au contraire [sic] par la troisieme on corrigera la première.

21. Souuent il faudra deviner; le uerbe pré-

22. Souvent au lieu de ou ie ne mets que O par oubli. Les sauvages n'ont pas un u comme les français.

23. Il est bon de faire longue ou brève la syllabe pénultième selon qu'elle est [i. e., as the case may be], pour ne pas choquer l'oreille des sauvages. La pénultième longue a un accent aigu v. g.; celle qui n'a point d'accent est brève. Quelquefois ie mets l'accent ˘.

24. Agâming, au bord de ça; agâming, au bord de là.

25. Ainsi que nous auons des mots de nos arts que les sauvages n'ont point, de mesme ils en ont que nous n'auons pas; c'est pour quoy il est bon de marquer ceux qu'ils ont-propres, u. g. sur le canot.

26. Quand il y a un k et un g l'un sur l'autre, cela veut dire que l'un et l'autre se disent. Le mesme se doit entendre de P et de B.

27. Quand l'ay manqué quelque lettre ie la mets au-dessus du mot où elle doit estre insérée.

28. Il faudroit un dictionnaire qui commença par l'algonquin, ce qui seroit commode pour chercher les mots; mais il faut du temps et du papier en abondance pour ranger bien les mots algonquins ainsi que l'ay tasché de faire aux mots outaouois.

29. Quand ie mets l'accent sur la dernière du uerbe cela veut dire qu'il faut le mettre sur la pénultième de la seconde personne.

30. Souuent ie suppose que le mot est signifié par celui qui commence.

31. Il faut prendre garde à ne pas se tromper quand par inaduertance ie mets un mot ou des syllabes outaouoises ou papinachioises car les trois langues tantost contiennent et tantost ne contiennent pas.

32. Quand ie ne mets point de françois après l'algonquin c'est signe que ie [ne] sçay pas la signification.

33. Dans toutes les langues il y a des mots synonymes formellement ou équiualemment, ce qui fait que le mesme uerbe est plusieurs fois répété.

34. Tantost ie commence par le mot sauuage, tantost par le mot françois sans que cela porte conséquence.

35. Souuent ayant mis le uerbe, ie ne mets pas la signification au premier qui suit.

36. L'ay oublié quelquefois à mettre le françois à des phrases.

37. J'escris comme les sauvages prononcent et il faut s'estudier à prononcer comme eux.

— [Homilies in the Montagnais language.]

Manuscript, lacking title-page or first leaf, 49 unnumbered ll. sm. 8^o (7x4 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches). The handwriting is fairly regular and distinct. The first 8 ll. are in parallel columns, Montagnais and French; the remainder alternate French on versos, Montagnais on rectos. The versos of ll. 47, 48, and 49 are blank. The work seems to be incomplete.

These three manuscripts of Father André I had the pleasure of seeing in the hands of the Abbé Férad, in the summer of 1882, at the Sault au Recollet, Island of Montreal. In June, 1889, I saw them again in possession of Rev. A. E. Jones, of St. Mary's College, Montreal, in the library of which institution they will probably remain.

Through the kindness of the latter gentleman, who furnished me the copy of the above preface, I am also in receipt of an extended biographic sketch of Père André, compiled by him with much labor from printed and manuscript sources—a sketch too long and elaborate for these pages, but which should find place in some more suitable work. I regret my inability to use it as a whole, but must content myself with the following extracts:

Father Louis André was born in 1623, and previous to his coming to New France had entered the Society of Jesus as a member of the province of Toulouse. As a Canadian missionary he was within the jurisdiction of the province of France. He reached America on the 7th of June, 1669, and in a short time was sent to the western missions, where Claude Allouez, Jacques Marquette, and Claude Dablon, together with the coadjutor—brother Louis le Boesme, were already toiling in the Master's vineyard.

On the 20th of May, 1670, Allouez, leaving the neighborhood of the Bay, had set out for the Sault, and from him we ascertain the fact that Father André had already reached that post with Father Druilletes, who had journeyed with him.

On the 28th of August, Father André set out for the Mission of Mississagué (Wide-mouth-river), on the northern shore of Lake Huron. He arrived there three days after. As soon as the exercises of the mission were ended, he proceeded to Oniebitchiouân, an island in the same lake lying opposite Ekaent8ton (Manitoulin), where he remained twelve days. After sojourning on the latter island, continuing unremittingly his apostolic labors in spite of famine, he finally reached Lake Nipissing, and there spent three months instructing the 8tisk8agami (those-at-the-farthest-lake).

As the ice broke up he returned to Ekaent8ton, and for three weeks he preached to the Amik8é, or Beaver nation, who had taken up their abode on the island. Provisions were now more plentiful as the hunt of the original had proved successful, and God gave him, as he says, wherewith to "couler doucement la fin de l'hyver." This to all appearances was towards the end of the winter 1670-1671.

The summer months of 1671, Father André passed at the Baie des Puants. We next find him at Michilimakinac, where he spent part of the winter with the Etionnontatehronnon Hurons and other Indians who had returned there as exiles to their old habitation.

On the 15th of December, 1671, he set out to return to Green Bay. After a tedious and perilous journey, owing especially to the ice, he reached his destination and occupied the remainder of the winter journeying from village to village and evangelizing the tribes settled in the neighborhood.

Father André was stationed at Green Bay in 1672, and I might say permanently. He had for his companion Father Allouez.

On the 15th of February, the first day of lent, 1673, he repaired to the village of Ousouamigoung, where his labors were crowned with success. But, owing to a promise he had made Father Allouez, he reluctantly left his neophytes, on the 6th of March, to return to the residence at the Bay. Here day after day, from morning to sundown, the Indians flocked to his cabin to be instructed in the Christian faith. On the 24th of March the Indians struck their tents intending to camp nearer the mouth of the river, and on the day following Father Allouez returned from a mission to the Outagamis, or Foxes, thus leaving Father André at liberty to go on his own annual eight days' retreat, which time he spent in seclusion, prayer, and meditation.

Towards the end of April of this same year, 1673, Father André undertook a mission to the Maloumines or Folles-Avoines, but he does not specify what length of time he spent among them.

In the following year, 1674, he returned to the mission of Onasatinou [sic], and premises by saying that it was his third visit. On the 16th of November, the river of the Folles-Avoines or Maloumines being completely frozen over, he was prevented from following the Indian bands to the extremity of Cape Illinois, and saw himself in the necessity of patiently awaiting their return at the end of January, 1675.

From 1678 to 1681 we find him still at Green Bay; in 1782 at Michilimakinac. In 1683 he was with the Indians at Kiskakin. This was the last year of his missionary labor in the West.

He was now in his sixtieth year, and was recalled to Quebec, no doubt with the intention of affording him a little rest after many years of hardship and apostolic toil. He was then named professor of philosophy in the Jesuits' College, at Quebec, a post he occupied in 1684 and 1685. And, though venerable in years, he did not think it beneath him to accept an appointment as professor in the lower forms of Quebec College. This duty he fulfilled from 1686 to 1690. But his superiors no doubt had an ulterior object in view in this appointment. It was, we may presume, to afford him an opportunity and leisure of turning to account for the benefit of future missionaries his thorough knowledge of the Algonquin language. His Algonquin dictionary bears no date, but the compendium [see Collectio, first André title above], written, to all external appearance, about the same time, furnishes us with a clue.

Claude Allouez landed the 11th of July, 1658, and died the 27th of August, 1689, giving an interval of thirty-one years between his arrival and his death, so that the compendium was not certainly written before 1688, though it might have been written after, as Father Allouez died after about thirty years of missionary life.

Besides the dictionary and the collection of precepts, etc., there were other of his works which survived him but which I have not yet been able to discover. We are informed of this by the following inscription in a strange hand written on the inside of the paper cover of the compendium:

"Collectio sequens est conscripta a P. Ludovico Andre, qui fuit Silvicolarum Montanorum, missionarius ad ann. M. D. C. XCIII.

"Alia manuscripta ejusd. scil. Catechismus, rudimentum, et exhortationes servantur in Archiv. Tadussakensis, sub No. ..."

The archives of Tadoussac have long since disappeared.

In 1691 André was again on the missions; this time at St. Francis Xavier (Chicoutimi) and Lake St. Peter. This was in the lower Algonquin mission.

In 1692 he was still in the Montagnais mission, with the Papinacheois and at Chicoutimi. In 1693 and 1694 we find him back amidst civilization and stationed at Montreal.

From 1696 to 1699, inclusive, he is not mentioned in the catalogues, save in the erroneous statement at the end of 1696: "Obiit P. André Cadomis (at Caen), 20 Apr., 1696." This certainly referred to some other F. André, for we shall see by the sequel that the sturdy veteran was not ready yet to shake off his mortal coil. He appears again in 1700; where he was in the meantime I have not been able to discover. Even the "Miscellaneorum Liber" and the old register preserved at Quebec are silent on the matter, but both, unfortunately, are incomplete.

This year his name is marked on the catalogue among those of the community of Quebec College. Though now in his 77th year he still bore the title of "missionary," which, under the circumstances, could only mean resident missionary at Quebec for such of the Algonquin Indians who might come up or down to barter at the old capital of the colony.

It was in 1703 that the title of "senex," was added to that of missionary, and it became evident that his waning strength would never admit of his again leaving the sheltering walls of Quebec College. In 1705 his title of missionary was dropped from the catalogues and the significant suffix of "senex" alone remained. He was indeed a veteran now and entitled to a well-earned but to him a distasteful repose. It was not, however, until ten years later, on the 19th September, 1715, that he was called to his eternal reward, at the ripe old age of 92.

The following is an extract from a circular dated November 1, 1715, sent by his superior, as was customary on those occasions, to the other houses of the Order:

"We have recently lost, in the person of Father Louis André, a missionary labourer loaded down even more with the weight of merit than that of years. It is now over forty-five years since he devoted himself to the conversion of the Indians, and it may be justly said that in so painful and laborious a vocation he accomplished all the duties of an excellent missionary. There is no doubt but that it was with natural repugnance he adopted the Indian mode of life, and that he underwent many hardships in the long and weary journeyings in which he accompanied his Indians. These never disheartened him, for he reckoned fatigue as naught when there was a question of God's glory or the salvation of souls. He laboured on the mission until he had nearly attained his eightieth year, and if at any moment of his life he was called upon to do violence to himself in the practice of obedience, it was when his superiors, touched at the sight of his many infirmities and the suffering inseparable from missionary labor he must needs have endured at so advanced an age, put a stop to his departure and retained him at Quebec."

Aubéry (Père Joseph). Dictionnaire
 François-Abnaquis, par le Père Joseph Aubéry, Jésuite. (*)

Manuscript, 540 unnumbered pp. 4°; the old and worn out binding recently replaced by a new one. Preserved in the archives of the Roman Catholic mission at Pierreville, Canada, and described by Judge Charles Gill in his Notes sur de vieux manuscrits abenakis (q. v.), from which the following account is taken:

 'ce qui y est écrite en une autre écriture que celle de l'auteur n'est point abnaquis, c'est de l'algonquin que le R. P. de la Chasse y a écrit de sa main, l'auteur de ce dictionnaire n'y aucune part.' There are in fact a great number of Algonquin words added, either interlined or following the Abnaquis word as space permitted. The second page is filled with 'Quelques notes' by the author, in which he refers to a 'petit dictionnaire des racines,' and a 'Rudiment Abnaquis.' Then follows the dictionary, commencing with the word abandonner and terminating with the word zone on page 540. On the last half of this page is found a statement in Abénakis signed: Jos^{ph}um A. à Soc. Jesu. Arsi-

 haec est.

"This dictionary is a work which has required immense labor and a benedictine patience, and as much can be said of the Ab-naquis-French dictionary mentioned below, though it does not appear to be so complete.

"The sign of a cross, still in use among the Jesuits, it seems, is found at the top of each page of the dictionary. As the Latin words below the signature indicate, this copy is a second edition; nothing is known of the first. Nor is there found among the manuscripts of the St. Francis mission the 'Rudiment Abnaquis' of which Father Aubéry speaks in his 'Quelques notes.' But there are two copies of a 'dictionnaire des racines' [see Nudénans (J. B.)], which has probably had for a basis the little dictionary of roots made by Father Aubéry which has not reached us, unless he means thereby the Abé-nakis-French dictionary next mentioned. The Abbé Joseph Maurault, the author of the history of the Abénakis, who was the last missionary at St. Francis acquainted with the language of these Indians, undertook, I have often been told, to make a grammar of that language, as well as an Abénaquis-French dictionary, but I do not think he ever finished them; at least he had nothing printed."

— [Dictionnaire Abnaquis-François.] (*)

Manuscript, 927 pp. double columns (many pages blank), 4°, preserved at the Roman Catholic mission of Pierreville, Canada, and described by Judge Gill in his Notes sur de vieux manuscrits abénakis (q. v.), as follows:

"No title or preliminary matter and ends without signature or date, but in the handwriting of Father Aubéry. The manner in which the blank spaces are disposed indicates that the author left them for the purpose of inserting other words as opportunity should present or his studies suggest. It begins with 'a figurative de la 3e pers.' and ends with 'z8sk8i8i, étendu sur le dos, z8sk8-esin, il est ainsi couché.'
 There are added words in an ancient handwriting, and also some notes in the hand of the Abbé Maurault, the latter indicating the etymology of the names of places. The work is in character like the preceding, and has required much labor by the author. It is paged, but the little cross mentioned in the French-Abnaquis dictionary is not found in it. Sometimes the signification of the Indian word is indicated in Latin without giving the French word."

Maurault's Histoire des Abénakis, p. viii, speaks, of "un vocabulaire abénakis, fait vers

nakis (q. v.), as follows: At the beginning is a complete index in Latin. The work is in the handwriting of Father Aubéry and contains all the liturgic chant, gradual and vespéral, annotated with Latin text and translation in Abénakis, besides various chants, songs, hymns, prayers, special prayers before and after communion, etc., the whole in Abénakis. Besides the annotation of the plain chant, there are airs of songs, the music of which is annotated. They are not extraordinary melodies, but their antique rhythm is not without a certain charm. Several of the songs have not the music, but the airs, borrowed from ditties, like the old song of Marseilles, are indicated at the head. Thus, on page 291 there is a duet for the communion to the air: 'Ah! vous dirai-je Maman,' and elsewhere three other songs, the first of which, entitled: 'Desiderium animæ possidendi Jesum in cælo,' is to the air: 'Jardins que la nature et l'art,' etc., the second to the air: 'Je me brûle l'œil au fond d'un puits,' and the third to the air: 'Bacchus, c'est toi que je chante.'

"The binding is in very bad condition; several leaves are detached and others missing entirely, while some pages are in a different handwriting, evidently recopied to replace others too much worn for further use."

In addition to the three manuscripts described above, there are others, according to Judge Gill, belonging to families in the village—books of piety, containing prayers, poems, chants, and songs, copied or extracted from the larger work of Father Aubéry.

Father Joseph Aubéry was born in France March 10, 1674, and entered the Society of Jesus September 8, 1690. He came to Canada in 1694, before completing his theological course, was ordained at Quebec September 21, 1699, and was employed on the Abnaki missions. He accompanied Father Bigot to the mission at Pentagöet, Acadia, where he lived a few years. In 1709 he was ordered to St. Francis, and remained at that mission until his death, which occurred in 1755. He was buried in the first church of the Abnakis at St. Francis, and is the only missionary who has been interred at that place.

Father Aubéry was well versed in the Abnaki language. He wrote much, and nearly always in that language. By arduous and persevering labor during 46 years he formed a considerable collection of valuable manuscripts. As these were deposited in the church, with the registers of the mission, they were unfortunately destroyed in 1759 in the incendiary burning of that church. Of all these there have been preserved only an Abnaki vocabulary and a large paper book containing many hymns, motets, psalms, and songs; at the time of the fire they were in the hands of Father Virot. This vocabulary contains a great number of very valuable notes, which have served us much for the history of the Abnakis.—Maurault.

Rev. Frederick Ayer was born in Old Stockbridge, Mass., in 1803. His father, Rev. Oliver Ayer, removed to central New York when the subject of this sketch was three years old. At an early age Mr. Ayer commenced to study for the ministry, but ill health compelled him to abandon the idea, and he engaged in business in Utica and other places. While there, in 1829, he was sent by the A. B. C. F. M. as a teacher in a mission school at Mackinac. Next summer (1830) he went to Lake Superior and spent some time in the family of Lyman Warren, teaching and studying the Ojibwa language. The following year he spent at Sandy Lake with the late William A. Aitkin, where he opened a school, said to be the first in Minnesota. In 1832 he returned to La Pointe, where he wrote a spelling book for Ojibwa children, which he went to Utica that winter to publish.—Minn. Hist. Soc. Coll. vol. 1, p. 86, foot-note.

In Annales de la propagation de la foi, vol. 6, pp. 165-177, Paris, 1833, 8°. The letter is dated from "Near-Niles, comté de Berrien, Michigan-Territory, 12 decembre 1831."

Contains the Lord's prayer in Poutouatomi, with interlinear Latin translation, pp. 176-177.

Stephen Theodore Badin, clergyman, born in Orleans, France, in 1768, died in Cincinnati in 1853. He was sent for three years to the College Montagu in Paris, where he acquired a thorough classical training, and entered the Sulpician Seminary at Tours in 1789, with the object of becoming a priest. He immigrated to the United States in 1792, and was ordained by Bishop Carroll in the old cathedral of Baltimore in 1793, being the first priest ordained in the United States. He was appointed to do missionary work in Kentucky, which, at that period, formed a part of the diocese of Baltimore. Father Badin was for about three years the only priest in Kentucky. In 1797 Bishop Carroll appointed him vicar-general and sent him an assistant, who died the following year. In 1805 he published his "Principles of Catholics," the first Catholic work printed in the West. From 1830 to 1836 he was connected with the Pottawattamie Indians on St. Joseph's River, Indiana. He was successful not only in converting them to Christianity, but in forming them to the habits of civilized life. He established schools among them, and in a few years all the young people of the tribe had learned to read English. The last three years of Father Badin's life were spent in Cincinnati as the guest of Archbishop Purcell.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Dr. Trumbull has kindly furnished me the name of the author of this work and the following information concerning its preparation:

The dialect is that of the Chippeways of central and southern Michigan, in the vicinity of the mission stations established by the Evangelical Lutheran Church in 1845 and 1847, in Saginaw and Griatiot counties, under the superintendence of the Rev. A. Craemer (now director of the Lutheran Seminary, at Springfield, Ill.), who opened the first mission school at Frankenmuth (Saginaw County), on the banks of Cass River, in 1845. In 1847 he was joined by the Rev. Edward R. Baierlein, and a second mission station was established on Pine River, at Bethany, now in Griatiot County, in 1848 or 1849. Mr. Baierlein was sent out by the Evangelical Lutheran Missionary Society at Dresden. A year earlier he had been ordained as a missionary to the East Indies, but was detained at home by sickness, and on his recovery was assigned to another field, in America, as an assistant to Mr. Craemer. In 1848 or 1849 he removed from Frankenmuth to a new station at Shingwakonsking, now Bethany, on Pine River. Here, in 1851, he was joined by the Rev. E. G. H. Miessler, as an assistant, and here, with the help of an interpreter, he wrote his "Spelling and Reading Book." In 1853 Mr. Baierlein was recalled by the Dresden board of missions to go to the East Indies, where he served until about 1887. He now (1889) lives in Dresden, a missionary emeritus, and he has recently published some reminiscences of his earlier mission life, with the title: "Im Urwalde bei den rothen Indianern."

Frederick Baraga, R. C. bishop, born in Treffen, Carniola, 29 June, 1797; died in Marquette, Mich., 19 Jan., 1868. His family, a younger branch of the house of Hapsburg, was the most distinguished in Illyria. He began his studies in the college of Leibac, the capital of his native province, where he learned to speak French, Italian, and German fluently, in addition to the ordinary branches. At the end of his course he went to Vienna to study law, and after graduation, in 1821, determined to devote himself to the priesthood. He entered the ecclesiastical seminary of Leibac and was ordained in 1823. He exercised his ministry for the next seven years in Carniola, and, in the interval of his missionary duties, composed works of devotion in the Slavonic dialect for the people. The present improved condition of this language is chiefly attributed to the efforts of Father Baraga. Having determined on spending his life among the Indians of the United States, he transferred his estates to his brothers, reserving to himself an annuity of $300, and arrived in New York in December, 1830. He spent some months in Ohio studying

English and the Ottawa dialect, and set out in May for Arbre Croche, a village of Ottawa Indians on the peninsula of Michigan. The inhabitants, although they had relapsed into barbarism, retained some traditions of the Jesuits of the seventeenth century and received Father Baraga with welcome, and, under his guidance, the community entered upon the public practice of a christian life. In a little more than a year he built a church and two schools and had an Indian congregation of more than 700. He next extended his labors as far as the Castor Islands and beyond Lake Michigan, erecting several churches as well as schools in Green Bay and St. Joseph's.

In 1832 he published at Detroit a prayer and hymn book in the Ottawa language, the first of a remarkable series of works in the Indian dialects, which have been found very useful by philologists. He visited Grand River in the spring of 1833 and baptised more than 100 of the natives, but his efforts were counteracted by the white liquor-dealers and the Indians whom they had demoralized. His enemies petitioned the Government for his removal, and, although he was sustained by the governor of Michigan, he was forced to seek other fields.

He began his labors among the Chippewas at Lapointe in 1835, and continued them successfully for eighteen years. His success was mainly owing to the assistance he received from the Leopoldine society in his native country.

He next visited the Indians of Fond du Lac,
70 miles from Lapointe, and the Indians of Bad River, seventeen miles to the south, both of whom led a roving life. During the winter of 1836-'37 he traveled six miles every day to instruct them, on their return to their wigwams, until he had them all ready to receive baptism.
During this period he also wrote the "Ojibway Prayer- and Hymn-Book and Catechism," the "Extracts of the History of the Old and New Testaments, with the Gospels of the Year," in the same dialect; "The History, Character, Manners, and Customs of the North American Indians," in German, and a devotional work for his countrymen in Slavonic. He went to Europe in 1837 to collect money for his mission, and was so successful that he was also enabled to have his Indian books printed in Paris. On his return to the United States he was able, with the means in hand, to conduct his operations more systematically.

In 1843, as the missions he had established no longer needed his personal supervision, he resolved to make the "Anee," an old trading-post of the American Fur Company, between Pointe Abbaye and Keweenaw Point, the center of his labors. The Indians here were steeped in idolatry and intemperance. But, though threats were made against his life, he succeeded in converting some of their medicine men, and this was followed by the conversion of many others. He built a church and parsonage,

erected thirty houses for his converts, and purchased a large tract of land, on which he located them. In 1850 all the Indians had become christians, and so prosperous that numerous families came to settle on the Ance. Here he wrote his grammar and dictionary of the Otchipwe (Chippeway) language (1851-'53), perhaps the most important contribution to Indian philology made hitherto. The demand for his Indian books in the United States and Canada contributed materially to his resources and enabled him to increase still further the village on the Ance.

The discovery of the copper mines on the upper peninsula of Michigan in 1845 added to Father Baraga's difficulties. A large mining population from all parts of the world was scattered among his Indian villages, and he found it necessary to obtain more priests. For this purpose, as well as to secure the publication of his works, he went to Cincinnati in 1853, where he lectured on the mining resources of the upper peninsula and on the harvest that was open for missionary zeal there. In November of the same year he was made vicar apostolic of upper Michigan.

In 1854 he went to Europe to procure missionaries, and returned with twelve priests. He also introduced the brothers and sisters of Saint Francis and intrusted them with the education of the Indians.

In 1856 Saut St. Mary was erected into an episcopal see, and Dr. Baraga was appointed its bishop in the following year. The see having been transferred to Marquette in 1865, he was created bishop of Marquette and Saut St. Mary. His health began to fail, but his brethren could not prevail on him to moderate his austerities or slacken his labors. He slept on the ground and often walked forty miles a day on snow-shoes when visiting his Indians. He was stricken with apoplexy while in attendance on the Council of Baltimore in 1866, and returned to his diocese broken in health, but continued to perform his ministerial duties till a few days before his death.—*Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. An incomplete English index, in pencil, is fastened in the back of my copy.

I have—from Mr. Barnard—a loose, red sheet of paper on which is printed the first hymn (seven stanzas) in this collection, preceded by the equivalent English (headed "The heavenly world") in a parallel column.

Rev. Alonzo Barnard was born June 2, 1817, in Peru, Bennington Co., Vt. At seventeen years of age he went to Ohio, and was educated at Oberlin. He entered the mission field in 1843, at Red Lake, Minn. In 1846 he was at Cass Lake, and in 1853 at St. Joseph (now Walhalla), Pembina County, where lie the remains of her who shared his labors. In 1854 the wife of his fellow laborer, the late Rev. D. B. Spencer, was murdered by the Sioux. From 1846 to 1855 Mr. Barnard labored under the auspices of the American Missionary Association. In the spring of the latter year he was compelled to abandon the work at St. Joseph and take refuge in a railroad settlement within the present limits of Manitoba. Two or more years were spent with the Indians about Lake Winnipeg under the Bishop of Rupert's Land, and in 1863 he removed to Benzonia, Mich., where he has since resided. After laboring five years among the Indians about Grand Traverse Bay, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Home Missionary Society, he was obliged to resign in consequence of a partial deafness, and he is now a retired member of the Grand Rapids Presbytery.

Benjamin Smith Barton, physician, born in Lancaster, Pa., February 10, 1766; died in Philadelphia, Pa., December 19, 1815. After a course of general studies under Dr. Andrews, at York, Pa., he followed the instructions given at the Philadelphia College, now University of Pennsylvania. Then during 1786-'88 he studied medicine and the natural sciences in Edinburgh and London, and received his medical degree from the University of Göttingen, Germany. On his return he settled in Philadelphia, where he soon acquired an extensive and lucrative practice. In 1789 he was appointed professor of natural history and botany, and in 1795 of materia medica in the college of Philadelphia. In 1813 he succeeded Dr. Benjamin Rush as professor of the theory and practice of medicine in the University of Pennsylvania. He was elected president of the Philadelphia Medical Society in 1809, and was some time vice-president of the American Philosophical Society, and also a member of many other American and European societies. He contributed numerous papers to the "Transactions of the American Philosophical Society," and to the "Medical and Physical Journal," which was published by him. His most important works are: "Observations on Some Parts of Natural History" (London, 1787); "New Views on the Origin of the Tribes of America" (1797); "Elements of Botany," Philadelphia, 1803, 2d ed., 2 vols., 1812-'14; an edition of Cullen's "Materia Medica;" "Eulogy on Dr. Priestley;" "Discourse on the Principal Desiderata of Natural History" (Philadelphia, 1807); and "Collections toward a Materia Medica of the United States" (3d ed., Philadelphia, 1810).—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Bartsch (Heinrich). [Collection of 361 specimens of the Lord's prayer in 130 languages and dialects.] ()

Manuscript, 2 vols. 4°. Preserved in the Raths-Bibliothek, at Königsberg, Germany.

Contains the Lord's prayer in Gaspeian or Micmac, furnished by La Croze(—), and which is printed in Adelung's Mithridates, vol. 3, part 3, p. 404.

Heinrich Bartsch, at first secretary of the Old Town of Königsberg, and since 1724 registrator of the town archives, was born there in 1667 and died in 1728. To what extent he was related to the Gottfried Bartsch mentioned by Andr. Müller, I know not; his father, also Heinrich, was vice-burgomaster of Königsberg. Our Heinrich, as far back as 1717, was engaged in the scheme of publishing a more copious collection than that of Chamberlayne, and hence spared no diligence in gathering all kinds of formulæ yet unprinted in all sorts of languages and dialects. He did not, however, live to see it completed, but bequeathed his collection of manuscripts to the library of the council of his native town, where it is still extant. Having received, through the kindness of Mr. D. Wald, a list of all the copies it contains, I am enabled to give a detailed account of it. The whole consists of two volumes in 4to, nearly all loose leaves with inserted original letters by Bayer, la Croze, and others. The languages are arranged alphabetically. The first part contains 228 formulæ in 69 languages and dialects, the second 133 formulæ in 61 languages and dialects, making together 361 formulæ. To judge by these figures, the collection would have turned out to be, therefore, the richest and most complete. But as the author gathered not only translations but also poetic transcripts, and of translations not only all various translations in one and the same language but all the different copies of one and the same translations, however faulty, much has to be deducted to obtain its real value, and there remains possibly little more than may be found in Chamberlayne. As the author possessed a decided inclination towards the fantastic, as appears from his life, this is not surprising. It is possible, however, that if he had been permitted to undertake the publication, he would have omitted much. Still it is impossible not to admire the industry with which he gathered all printed formulæ from a number of writings, some of them rare. Of unprinted ones I have found only one, that of the Gaspeians or Micmacs in Canada, communicated to him by la Croze, and which I shall utilize in its place. See his life in Acta Boruss., part 2, p. 923.—Adelung's Mithridates, vol. 1, pp. 666-667.

George Antoine Belcourt was born on the Bay of Febre or St. Antoine, district of Three Rivers, Lower Canada, in 1803. His father, a mechanic, placed his son at the college of Nicolet, where he passed through his classes with success and afterwards embraced the ecclesiastical state. He was made a priest in 1827, and in 1830 was selected by the Bishop of Provencher to go into the north country and labor solely in christianizing the savage. Arriving at Red River, June 19, 1831, he applied himself with ardor to the study of the Saulteur language. He discovered the principles of the language, which he arranged and caused to be printed in 1839; also a book of piety in this tongue. He composed a dictionary which would form a large quarto, but which, for want of encouragement, has never been printed. This dictionary, French and Saulteur, gives the etymology of each word, and the composite particles, which throws much light upon the knowledge of this language, and enables one to seize the genius of it—a thing so essential to him who desires to understand the people in general. He traveled, formed missions, built chapels, etc., in many places over a space from east to west of 1,000 miles, and passed each winter at his mission of Saint Paul on the Assiniboine River. In 1833, by his personal influence he quelled a disturbance among the half-breeds which threatened to become serious, in gratitude for which Governor Simpson added 50 pounds sterling to a like sum which the Hudson Bay Company gave every year to the Catholic clergy, which they still receive yearly. About 1849, owing to some trouble with the Hudson Bay Company's officers, he left the mission at Red River and accepted one at Pembina.—Annals Minn. His. Soc.

Manuscript, in the Abnaki language, in the library of the archbishopric of Quebec. It consists of ten parts of about 30 ll. each, bound together in deer-skin, the last or tenth part being bound as the first in the volume. It contains prayers in Abnaki on the rectos, the opposite versos containing a French translation. These prayers are the acts of adoration and faith, the mystery of the trinity, the incarnation, acts of hope, love, contrition, etc. which extend to p. 10. Pp. 11-38 are occupied with a paraphrase of certain passages of the new testament.

The manuscript has, in the first eight parts, a dual pagination. The author seems to have written (at first, on the rectos only) his conversation on divers passages of the new testament, from the conception of the Holy Virgin, p. 1, to p. 196, where ends the development of the last subject, announced at p. 137 in these terms:

"La vie de la Ste. Vierge, après l'ascension de son fils, sa mort, les actions de la mort des apôtres, après la mesme ascension de Jésus."

This page, 196, which is the last of the eighth part, ends with "A. M. D. et B. V. M. G. Septimo Januarii 1686."

A second pagination commences on the verso facing the first leaf of the regular pagination with the number 175, and with the following title: "Suite du 14^{ème} discours de Jesu crucifixo." The matter which preceded this "suite" is lacking in the manuscript. The eight parts contain instructions on the new testament and on a few of the more remarkable points of the old.

The last part of the volume, which is the ninth, treats of particular subjects, and bears a special pagination from 1 to 23, besides 3 blank leaves at the end. Instruction sur la confession, pp. 1-6.—Instruction sur la communion, p. 7.—Méthode pour entendre les confessions, pp. 7-23. The Abnaki text is on the recto of these leaves; on the verso, facing, is found a translation, sometimes Latin, sometimes French; it is broken off at the 14th leaf. The versos of the leaves following are blank.

I have seen a prospectus of this work headed "The Ypsilantian, Ypsilanti, Mich. Thursday, Feb. 9, 1888" (probably reprinted from that periodical), which gives examples of nouns, pronouns, and conjugations of verbs from the grammar. In it is the statement that "nearly the whole work of editing the author's manuscript has been done as a work of benevolence by Mrs. G. W. Owen of this city, excepting a portion of the grammar, done during her illness by the senior editor of the Ypsilantian."

The closing paragraph of the work itself is as follows: "Note. Except some condensation and arrangement in the grammar, this work is printed almost verbatim as written by the author.—Editor."

Andrew J. Blackbird, the author of this little book, is an educated Indian, son of the Ottawa chief. His Indian name is Mack-aw-de-be-nessy (Black Hawk), but he generally goes by the name of "Blackbird," taken from the interpretation of the French "l'oiseau noir." Mr. Blackbird's wife is an educated and intelligent white woman of English descent, and they have four children. He is a friend of the white people as well as of his own people. Brought up as an Indian, with no opportunity for learning during his boyhood, when he came to think for himself, he started out blindly for an education, without any means but his brains and his hands.

He was loyal to the government during the rebellion in the United States, for which cause he met much opposition by designing white people who had full sway among the Indians, and who tried to mislead them and cause them to be disloyal; and he broke up one or two rebellious councils amongst his people during the progress of the rebellion.

When Hon. D. C. Leach, of Traverse City, Mich., was Indian agent, Mr. Blackbird was appointed United States interpreter, and continued in this office with other subsequent agents of the department for many years. Before he was fairly out of this office he was appointed postmaster of Little Traverse, now Harbor Springs, Mich., and faithfully discharged his duties as such for over eleven years with but very little salary.—Introduction.

Black Hawk, a noted chief of the Sac and Fox tribes of Indians, though by birth a Pottawatamie, born at Kaskaskia, Ill., in 1767; died at his camp on the river Des Moines, 3 Oct., 1838. At fifteen he was ranked with the braves, and became a successful leader in expeditions against the Osage and Cherokee tribes. About 1788 he succeeded, as head chief of the Sacs, his father, who had been killed by a Cherokee. In 1804 the Sacs and Foxes signed at St. Louis a treaty with Gen. Harrison, by which for an annuity of $1,000 a year they transferred to the U. S. Government their lands, extending about 700 miles along Mississippi River. This arrangement was repudiated by Black Hawk, who averred that the chiefs were drunk when they signed the treaty. Moved by the exhortations of the Shawnee prophet Elskwatawa, brother of Tecumseh, and by the presents of British agents, Black Hawk, with the title of general, joined the British with 500 warriors during the war of 1812; but a repulse in a battle near Detroit, and an unsuccessful attack on a fort, surprised and disgusted the red men, who soon tired of the service. The cession of their territory was ratified by another treaty made in 1815, after the conclusion of the war, and by a third treaty which Black Hawk himself signed at St. Louis in 1816. In 1823 the main body of the Sacs and Foxes removed, under the lead of Chief Keokuk, to their reservation across the Mississippi; but Black Hawk and his followers remained. By the new treaty made at Prairie du Chien, 15 July, 1830, signed by chiefs of various tribes, among them Keokuk, their lands east of the Mississippi became the property of the whites. Their removal west was opposed by Black Hawk, who, when the crops of his people were ploughed up and the lands seized for the white settlers who had purchased the sites of their villages, threatened retaliation. The militia of Illinois were then called out, and on 25 June, 1831, a force under Gen. Gaines compelled the Indians to depart. Black Hawk returned in the spring across the Mississippi. After a band of fifty warriors was attacked and scattered by the militia, they separated into squads and began to massacre the whites. Gen. Scott marched a force of U. S. troops against them, but was hindered in his operations by an outbreak of cholera among the soldiers. The Indians were driven back to Wisconsin River, where they sustained a defeat, inflicted by Gen. Dodge, on 21 July, 1832. They were completely defeated at the river Bad Axe, 1 and 2 Aug., by Gen. Atkinson, and the surrender of Black Hawk took place on the 27th. Black Hawk, his two sons, and seven other head warriors who were detained as hostages were taken through the principal eastern Theodorick Bland, soldier, born in Prince George County, Virginia, died in New York City June 1, 1790. In 1753 he was sent to England, and, after preliminary studies at Wakefield, he pursued the academic and subsequently the medical course at the University of Edinburgh. After being admitted to the practice of medicine in England he returned to this country about 1764. He continued active in his profession until the beginning of the Revolutionary war, when he at once sided with the colonists and became captain of the first troop of Virginia cavalry. After the enrolment of six companies he joined the main army in 1777 as lieutenant-colonel. Later he became colonel, and throughout the war signalized himself as a vigilant and efficient officer, enjoying the esteem and confidence of General Washington. He served during the war for one term in the Virginia Senate, and later was elected to the Continental Congress, serving from 1780 till 1783. He was also a member of the Virginia convention of 1788 on the adoption of the federal constitution.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

several curacies in the diocese of Lincoln, he came to Canada as a missionary of the Church missionary society in 1865, having first received priestly orders from the present Bishop of Rupert's Land acting as commissary for the late Bishop of London. In 1874 he was again summoned to England to receive episcopal orders as Bishop of Athabasca, and in 1884, the present diocese of Mackenzie being portioned off from that of Athabasca, his title was changed to Bishop of Mackenzie River, the Right Rev. Dr. Young being consecrated as Bishop of Athabasca.

Elias Boudinot, philanthropist, born in Philadelphia, Pa., May 2, 1740; died in Burlington, N. J., October 24, 1821. His great-grandfather, Elias, was a French Huguenot, who fled to this country after the revocation of the edict of Nantes. After receiving a classical education, he studied law with Richard Stockton, and became eminent in his profession, practicing in New Jersey. He was devoted to the patriot cause. In 1777 appointed commissary-general of prisoners, and in the same year elected a delegate to Congress from New Jersey, serving from 1778 till 1779, and again from 1781 till 1784. He was chosen president of Congress on November 4, 1782, and in that capacity signed the treaty of peace with England. He then resumed the practice of law, but, after the adoption of the constitution, was elected to the first, second, and third Congresses, serving from March 4, 1789, till March 3, 1795. He was appointed by Washington in 1795 to succeed Rittenhouse as director of the mint at Philadelphia, and held the office till July 1805, when he resigned, and passed the rest of his life at Burlington, N. J., devoted to the study of biblical literature. He had an ample fortune and gave liberally. He was a trustee of Princeton College, and in 1805 endowed it with a cabinet of natural history, valued at $3,000. In 1812 he was chosen a member of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, to which he gave £100 in 1813. He assisted in founding the American bible society in 1816, was its first president, and gave it $10,000. He was interested in attempts to educate the Indians, and when three Cherokee youth were brought to the Foreign mission school in 1818, he allowed one of them to take his name. This boy became afterward a man of influence in his tribe, and was murdered on June 10, 1839, by Indians west of the Mississippi.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

See Dencke (C. F.) for a description of the original manuscript.

"For about a century, beginning with 1740, missionaries of the United Brethren, or Moravians, devoted themselves to the conversion and civilization of portions of the Lenâpé or Delaware Indians. These earnest Christian men studied the native tongue, reduced it to writing, and printed in it, for the use of their converts, a number of works of a religious and educational character. The history of their literary activity in this language has been recently traced elsewhere, in detail, and need not be repeated here. While some of the results appeared in type, much of it remained in manuscript until the curiosity of scientific students led to its publication. Thus, in 1827, Peter S. Duponceau edited the grammar of Zeisberger, and sixty years later his English-German-Onondaga-Delaware Dictionary was printed by the private liberality of Prof. E. N. Horsford.

"These works of David Zeisberger, whose life found an able and sympathetic narrator in the late Right Rev. Edmund de Schweinitz, together with his printed "Delaware Spelling Book," were the chief sources from which the later missionaries drew their knowledge of the Lenâpé dialect; and unquestionably the present Lenâpé-English Dictionary was founded mainly upon the linguistic work of this proto-Lenâpist. So far as the history of the ms. is concerned, I can add nothing to what was stated in 'The Lenâpé and their Legends,' which is as follows:

"It is probable that Mr. Dencke was the compiler of the Delaware Dictionary which is preserved in the Moravian Archives at Bethlehem. The ms. is an oblong octavo, in a small, but beautifully clear hand, and comprises about 3,700 words. The handwriting is that of the late Rev. Mr. Kampman, who was missionary to the Delawares on the Canada reservation from 1840 to 1842. On inquiring the circumstances connected with this ms. he stated to me that it was written at the period named, and was a copy of some older work, probably by Mr. Dencke, but of this he was not certain."

"The Rev. C. F. Dencke, here alluded to, was missionary to the Delawares at New Fairfield, Canada, for a number of years after the war of 1812. He was the author of a grammar of the tongue, now apparently lost, and translated into it various portions of the New Testament. His death took place in 1839.

"The ms. of Mr. Kampman was carefully copied and enlarged by the addition of words from the mss. and printed works of Zeisberger, Heckewelder, and Ettwein. These additions have, in the printed copies, been indicated by the capital letters, Z., E., and H. In this condition the ms. was submitted to the Rev. Albert Seqaqkind Anthony, a born Lenâpé, and perfectly familiar with the language of his nation as spoken by that colony of it resident on the Six Nations reservation in Ontario, Canada. In this colony the usual dialect is the Minsi, and, as its members belong to a portion of the nation who were converted by missionaries of the English Church (to which Mr. Anthony belongs), the theological terms developed usually differ widely from those framed by the Moravians.

"Mr. Anthony kept the ms. by him for some months, giving its contents careful attention, and subsequently the two editors met and passed in review every word in the dictionary. The numerous notes and corrections in brackets, with an appended capital A., are the emendations suggested by Mr. Anthony from the present standpoint of the language and from the dialect of his ancestral sub-tribe. The latter differs somewhat from that employed by the compiler of the dictionary. The grammatical forms employed indicate that this was the Unami (Wonami).

"No attempt has been made to increase the lexicography by the insertion of words or forms obtained from the Delaware of to-day. All such, when mentioned, are by way of comparison only. It would have been easy to have extended the vocabulary. There are evidently some Lenâpé radicals and many themes which do not appear in this work, but the editors confined their efforts to presenting this work as exclusively concerned with the dialect as employed by the Moravian missionaries, and hence all additions to the vocabulary have been from their writings."—Preface.

Daniel Garrison Brinton, ethnologist, born in Chester County, Pa., May 13, 1837. He was graduated at Yale in 1858 and at the Jefferson Medical College in 1861, after which he spent a year in Europe in study and in travel. On his return he entered the army, in August, 1862, as acting assistant surgeon. In February of the following year he was commissioned surgeon and served as surgeon-in-chief of the second division, eleventh corps. He was present at the battles of Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, and other engagements, and was appointed medical director of his corps in October, 1863. In consequence of a sunstroke received soon after the battle of Gettysburg he was disqualified for active service, and in the autumn of that year he became superintendent of hospitals at Quincy and Springfield, Ill., until August, 1865, when, the civil war having closed, he was brevetted lieutenant-colonel and discharged. He then settled in Philadelphia, where he became editor of "The Medical and Surgical Reporter," and also of the quarterly "Compendium of Medical Science." Dr. Brinton has likewise been a constant contributor to other medical journals, chiefly on questions of public medicine and hygiene, and has edited several volumes on therapeutics and diagnosis, especially the popular series known as "Napheys's Modern Therapeutics," which has passed through so many editions. In the medical controversies of the day, he has always taken the position that medical science should be based on the results of clinical observation, rather than on physiological experiments. He has become prominent as a student and a writer on American ethnology, his work in this direction beginning while he was a student in college. The winter of 1856-'57, spent in Florida, supplied him with material for his first published book on the subject. In 1884 he was appointed professor of ethnology and archaeology in the Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia. For some years he has been president of the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society of Philadelphia, and in 1886 he was elected vice-president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, to preside over the section on anthropology. During the same year he was awarded the medal of the "Société Américaine de France" for his "numerous and learned works on American ethnology," being the first native of the United States that has been so honored. In 1885 the American publishers of the "Iconographic Encyclopædia" requested him to edit the first volume, to contribute to it the articles on "Anthropology" and "Ethnology," and to revise that on "Ethnography," by Professor Gerlaud, of Strasburg. He also contributed to the second volume of the same work an essay on the "Prehistoric Archaeology of both Hemispheres." Dr. Brinton has established a library and publishing house of aboriginal American literature, for the purpose of placing within the reach of scholars authentic materials for the study of the languages and culture of the native races of America. Each work is the production of native minds and is printed in the original. The series, most of which were edited by Dr. Brinton himself, include "The Maya Chronicles" (Philadelphia, 1882); "The Iroquois Book of Rites" (1883); "The Güegüence: A Comedy Ballet in the Nahuatl Spanish Dialect of Nicaragua" (1883); "A Migration Legend of the Creek Indians" (1884); "The Lenape and Their Legends" (1885); "The Annals of the Cakchiquels" (1885). ["Ancient Nahuatl Poetry" (1887); Rig Veda Americanus (1890)]. Besides publishing numerous papers he has contributed valuable reports on his examinations of mounds, shell-heaps, rock inscriptions, and other antiquities. He is the author of "The Floridian Peninsula: Its Literary History, Indian Tribes, and Antiquities" (Philadelphia, 1859); "The Myths of the New World: A Treatise on the Symbolism and Mythology of the Red Race of America" (New York, 1868); "The Religious Sentiment: A Contribution to the Science and Philosophy of Religion" (1876); "American Hero Myths: A Study in the Native Religions of the Western Continent" (Philadelphia, 1882); "Aboriginal American Authors and

He sailed with Governor Printz from Gottenburg 1 Nov., 1642, and arrived at Fort Christina, on the Delaware, 15 Feb., 1643, where he entered on his duties as chaplain to the Swedish colony, and continued to officiate in this capacity during six years. Prior to his coming he had been preceptor of the orphans' seminary in Stockholm.

Under his ministry in the colony a church was erected at Tinicum, the seat of government, and was consecrated by him 4 Sept., 1646. This was the first house of worship that was erected within the limits of Pennsylvania.

He manifested a deep interest in the welfare of the Indians, and performed missionary work among them. They visited his house and came to hear him preach. To further his work he applied himself to learning their language, into which he here began the task of translating Luther's catechism. His labors in New Sweden ended in May, 1648, when he sailed for home in the ship "Swan," arriving at Stockholm on 4 July following. On his return to Sweden he was made chaplain to the admiralty and afterward rector at Upland, where he completed his translation of the catechism into the language of the Delawares, or Lenni-Lenape. It was published in the Delaware and Swedish languages (Stockholm, 1696), together with a vocabulary, a copy of which is in the library of the American Philosophical Society. In the translation he accommodates the Lord's prayer to the circumstances of the Indians by substituting for "daily bread" a plentiful supply of venison and corn. He was buried in the church of Frost Hults, where there is a monument to his memory.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Jonathan Carver, traveller, born in Stillwater, N. Y., in 1732; died in London, Jan. 31, 1780. In the French war he commanded a company of provincials in the expedition against Canada, and in 1763 he undertook to explore the vast territory claimed by Great Britain in North America. He left Boston in 1766, and, having reached Michilimackinac, the remotest English post, applied to Mr. Rogers, the governor, for a supply of goods as presents for the Indians on the route he intended to follow. Having received a part of the required supply, with the promise that the remainder should be sent after him to the Falls of St. Anthony, he continued his journey; but as the expected goods did not reach him, he was under the necessity of returning to Prairie du Chien. Thence, in the beginning of 1767, he set out northward, with a view of finding a communication between the headwaters of the Mississippi and Lake Superior. He reached Lake Superior, and returned, after spending several months on its northern and eastern borders, and exploring the bays and rivers that flow into the lake. Soon after his arrival at Boston, in October, 1768, at which date he had traveled nearly 7,000 miles, he set out for England "to announce his discoveries." On his arrival he presented a petition to the king, praying for a reimbursement of the sums he had expended; and, after undergoing an examination by the Board of Trade, which ordered him to surrender his papers, he received permission to publish his journal; but the profits he derived from the sale were insufficient to relieve his necessities, and in the winter of 1779 he obtained a subsistence by acting as clerk in a lottery-office. Having sold his name to a historical compilation, which was published in a large folio volume, entitled "The New Universal Traveller" (London, 1779), containing an account of all the empires, kingdoms, and states in the known world, he was abandoned by those whose duty it was to support him. In the early part of 1780 he was reduced to poverty, and died in a state of destitution. The circumstances were made known to the public by the benevolent Dr. Lettson, who brought out a new edition of his travels for the benefit of his widow and children, and made such a representation of the author's sufferings as finally led to the institution of the literary fund.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Gen. Lewis Cass, the eldest son of Major Jonathan Cass, was born at Exeter, New Hampshire, October 9, 1782, and received a classical education at the celebrated academy in that town. At an early age he removed to Delaware, and took charge of the academy of Wilmington. In 1799 he went to Marietta, Ohio, where he studied law, and in 1802 he was admitted to the bar and began to practice in Zanesville. In 1806 he was elected a member of the Ohio legislature. On March 2, 1807, he was appointed marshal of Ohio, which office he held till 1813. In the war of 1812 he rose to the rank of brigadier-general. On the 9th of October, 1813, President Madison appointed him governor of the Territory of Michigan. He acted as governor and ex-officio as superintendent of Indian affairs for eighteen years. In 1820, in company with Schoolcraft and others, he explored the upper lakes and the source of the Mississippi, with double reference to the character of the Indian population placed under his charge, and to the resources and geographical features of that immense and unknown region. In 1829 he was called to Washington, with General Clark, of Missouri, to examine the laws relating to Indian affairs, and prepare a condensed code for the better government of that growing and complicated department. The report which he drew up on this occasion exhibits his full experience on this subject. In 1831 President Jackson called him to preside over the Department of War. In 1834 the entire Indian code was revised under his direction, on the basis of his prior report of 1829, and the new code enacted by Congress. In 1836 President Jackson tendered him the position of minister to France. This he accepted with the express privilege of visiting the East. In January, 1845, he was elected United States senator from Michigan, which place he resigned on his nomination, May 22, 1848, as Democratic candidate for the Presidency. He was subsequently returned to the Senate, and was made Secretary of State by President Buchanan in 1857, which position he resigned in December, 1860. He died in Detroit, Mich. June 17, 1866.

Pisa | tipografia Nistri | 1872

Second title: Catechisme Algonquin | traduit | mot pour mot en Latin | et phrase pour phrase en Français | M DCCC VI (1806)

Half-title on cover, half-title verso blank 1 l. title verso blank 1 l. dedication "a Federico Müller" (in Italian, by Teza) pp. 5-7, avvertimento (in Italian, by Teza) pp. 9-12, second title verso blank 1 l. preface (in French, by the translator) pp. 3-4, text pp. 5-81, note verso blank 1 l. 80. Printed from a manuscript in the library of the University of Bologna. One hundred copies issued.

Notions préliminaires [on the structure of the Algonquin language], pp. 5-10.—Catechisme, pp. 11-47.—Annotazioni (by Teza, and including extracts from Cuoq, Peter Jones, Baraga, Rasles, etc.) pp. 49-53; extracts from the catechism in Baraga's Otchipwe anamie-masinai-gan, Paris 1837, pp. 54-58; Lord's prayer from Baraga, p. 58; Lord's prayer from Blatchford's new testament, p. 59.—Breve glossario algonchino, inedito (from a manuscript of the Cardinal Mezzofanti, with notes by Teza, including extracts from Baraga, Howse, Mackenzie, and others), pp. 63-81.

This catechism seems to have been in use at the Lake of Two Mountains (Oka), Canada, in 1806. According to the translator's preface he undertook the translation "in order to place before the eyes of the superior the doctrine taught in Algonquin." Probably not intended for publication, but a private communication by a missionary priest to the superior of his order calling attention to the errors of a catechism composed and adopted by missionaries of another order. It has the approval of Bishop Cadotte, himself well versed in the language.

The Indian text is interlined with the Latin translation, the French paraphrase follows, and at the bottom of the page the explanatory notes—all by the translator. Diligent search by Teza has failed to discover the author.

The glossary also is from a manuscript of the Cardinal Mezzofanti, and, according to Teza, is not by the same person as the translation of the catechism. It is alphabetically arranged in Algonquin, with French definitions, and contains 302 words. The foot-notes are by Teza and include extracts from various authors.

ing and painting. As an artist he was entirely self-taught. In 1832 he went to the Far West and spent eight years among the Indians of Yellowstone River, Indian Territory, Arkansas, and Florida, painting a unique series of Indian portraits and pictures, which attracted much attention on their exhibition both in this country and in Europe. Among these were 470 full-length portraits and a large number of pictures illustrative of Indian life and customs, most of which are now preserved in the National Museum, Washington. In 1852-'57 Mr. Catlin traveled in South and Central America, after which he lived in Europe until 1871, when he returned to the United States. One hundred and twenty-six of his drawings illustrative of Indian life were at the Philadelphia exposition of 1876. — Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

— [Linguistic material of the Mississaguas.] (*)

Manuscript in possession of its author, who wrote me concerning it as follows under date of Nov. 27, 1888:

"The list of words collected by me from the Mississaguas of Scugog Island, Ontario County, Province of Ontario, numbers 620. They were collected at various times, August 2, 4, 8, 11, &c. 1888. About 350 were collected from the niece of Chief Johnson of Scugog; the greater part of the remainder from Mrs. Bolin (Nāwīgishkōke (an intelligent Indian woman), a few from Osawanimiki (an Indian formerly a teacher among the tribe). They occupy 14 pages of paper 9 x 11 inches; appended are a number of etymological explanations. I have also 2½ pp. same size occupied with explanations (translation and etymology) of Indian (Mississagua) personal and geographical names. Also 8½ pp. same size, closely written, containing 'Myths and Songs of the Mississaguas of Scugog, consisting of the Mississagua version with interlinear English translation, and also full English translation with explanatory notes. I hope to have them published at an early date in the Journal of American Folk-lore."

In July, 1889, Mr. Chamberlain wrote me:

"My list of Algonkin personal names so far contains 30 names (Chippewa chiefly) from Mrs. Jameson (Winter Studies and Summer Rambles), 100 Blackfoot, Cree, and Chippeway from Morris (Indian Treaties), 50 Cree, Chippeway, Potawatomie, etc. from Paul Kane (Wanderings of an Artist, etc.), about 300 from Schoolcraft (Ojebway, Ottawa, Pottawotomie, etc.), making about 15 closely written pages, the Indian names being followed by English translations.

Pierre François Xavier de Charlevoix, French traveller, born in Saint Quentin 29 Oct., 1682; died in La Flèche 1 Feb., 1761. He entered the Jesuit society in 1698, and while a scholar was sent to Quebec in 1705, and during the four years following his arrival taught in the college in that place. After completing his divinity studies, he became a professor of belles-lettres in France, published a history of Christianity in Japan, and returned to Canada. For some time after his arrival he remained at Sault St. Louis. Then he ascended the St. Lawrence, and, reaching the Mississippi by way of the Illinois, descended the river to New Orleans, thence proceeding to France by way of Santo Domingo, after an absence of two years. From 1733 till 1755 he was one of the directors of the "Journal de Trevoux." He published in succession histories of Santo Domingo and Japan, and in 1744 his "Histoire de la nouvelle France," which had been kept back for twenty years. Simultaneously with the latter appeared the journal that he wrote while in America, which was addressed to the Duchess de Lesdiguière, and was soon translated into English. Though his history was praised and quoted as an authority by scholars, it was not translated until recently, when an edition in English was George Copway, an Indian chief, was born, according to his own "Life," etc. (Albany, 1847), near the mouth of the river Trent (Ontario), in the fall of 1818. His Ojibway name was Ka-ge-ga-gah-bowh. Mr. J. J. Enmegah-bowh, of White Earth Reservation, Minnesota, who claims to be a first cousin of Mr. Copway, informs me that the latter, like himself, was a "pure and full-blood Indian from the right stock," that he was educated in the state of Illinois and after acquiring considerable knowledge in English books returned to his own tribe as a missionary, and died at Pontiac, Michigan, about 1863. Mr. Copway was for many years connected with the press of New York City, and lectured extensively in Europe and the United States.

Cotton (Josiah). Vocabulary of the Massachusetts (or Natick) Indian language. By Josiah Cotton. [Edited by John Pickering.]

In Massachusetts Hist. Soc. Coll. third series, vol. 2, pp. 147-257, Cambridge, 1830, 8°.

Advertisement signed "J. D." (i. e. John Davis), pp. 147-148.—Notice of the manuscript, with remarks on the author's orthography and the pronunciation of the language, signed J. P. (John Pickering), pp. 148-151.—Table of contents (by the editor), p. 153.—Vocabulary, pp. 155-243.—Appendix, pp. 244-257.

The words of the vocabulary are grouped or classified, having such headings as "Of arts," "Of beasts," "Of rational Creatures," &c.; "Adjectives," "Verbs," "Imperative mood," "Participles," "The creed," "A talk between two," "Adverbs," "Pronouns," "Sentences," and "A dialogue"; it also contains a letter, the Natick version being signed Jno. Nemumin.

The Appendix contains "Examples from the Indian primer" of 1720, words of from one to fifteen syllables; two versions of the Lord's prayer from Eliot's bible, and two from the Indian primer; the ten commandments, from the primer; "A sermon preached by Josiah Cotton to the Massachusetts Indians in 1710"; and "Extracts from a sermon in English and Indian, the English part being in the handwriting of Josiah Cotton, and the Indian in that of his father, John Cotton."

"The following vocabulary of the Indian language, in the Natick or Massachusetts dialect, is faithfully copied from a manuscript compiled by the Hon. Josiah Cotton, a respectable inhabitant of Plymouth, who died in 1756, aged 77. He was the second son of the Rev. John Cotton, pastor of the first church in that ancient town twenty-eight years, from 1669 to 1697.

"Josiah Cotton was graduated at Harvard College in 1698. His early years, after his leaving college, were spent in Marblehead, where he was employed as a schoolmaster; his studies in the mean time were principally in theology. He was never settled, however, in the ministry; but, returning to his native town early in the last century, after some years of occupation in that place as a schoolmaster, he devoted himself to agricultural pursuits and to the discharge of several civil offices which he sustained. The offices which he held successively or in conjunction were those of clerk of the court of common pleas, justice of the same court, register of probate, and register of deeds. In the latter office he was succeeded by his son, John Cotton, who was succeeded by his son, Rossiter Cotton, the present worthy occupant of that office, to whose kindness this society and the friends of ancient lore are indebted for a communication of this manuscript, and of other documents eminently useful and acceptable for the elucidation of our early history. This respectable family derives its origin from the celebrated John Cotton of Boston. Josiah Cotton, as well as his father, in addition to their other employments, performed the duties of missionaries to the Indians at Plymouth and other places in that vicinity. The father was eminently skilled in the Indian language, of which there are many testimonials; the most conspicuous is Eliot's Indian Bible. In the accomplishment of that laborious work Mr. Eliot acknowledges his obligations to Mr. Cotton, especially in the preparation of the second edition.

"Josiah Cotton, besides the advantages of much personal intercourse with the Indians, had the benefit of his father's information; and his long continuance as a religious instructor to the natives, with the ready use of their language, of which he left numerous specimens in writing, may reasonably induce a reliance on the correctness of the present vocabulary which he compiled. A copy of some of his other specimens will be found subjoined to the vocabulary."—Advertisement.

The above vocabulary, though written, according to the statement of the editor, in 1707-'8, was printed here for the first time.

Josiah Cotton, son of the second John, born 8 Jan., 1680; died 19 Aug., 1756; was graduated at Harvard in 1698. He studied theology, taught in Marblehead and Plymouth, and, though not ordained over any church, preached occasionally for several years. He also gave his attention to agriculture, having a good farm in Plymouth. Having acquired considerable knowledge of the Indian language, he visited various tribes in Plymouth colony as a missionary during nearly forty years, receiving a salary of £20 from the commissioners for propagating the gospel. He was also clerk of the county court and register of probate.—Applleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Crespieu (Père François-Xavier). Pri-ères | en | Algonkin [Scroll] Montagnaise | Abanaki [Scroll] Æsquimaux | 1676 | Parle Révérend Père de Crespieu.

Manuscript, in the archbishopric of Quebec; 30 l. the first 2 of which are blank and unnumbered, followed by an unnumbered l. on the recto of which is the title and on the verso the beginning of the text, prayers and religious songs 22 ll. catechism 5 ll. 8^o.

The pagination is confused; the first pages of the text are not numbered; the third bears the number 2, verso unnumbered; leaves 4-12 bear the same number on recto and verso; the leaf following is intercalated and numbered 11 on both sides, the recto being blank, the verso "Formula baptismi" in Algonkin and Montagnais, and precepts of the church in Algonkin only. Leaves 12, 19, and 11, intercalated among the leaves of the catechism, belong to the book of prayers. Leaves 13-16 have the same number on recto and on verso; a few leaves of the catechism intercalated. On leaf 13 commence the religious songs in Algonkin and in Montagnais. The continuation of the prayers, or rather of the religious songs, is found at the end of the volume, after the 12th leaf intercalated from the catechism; it contains religious songs in use among the Montagnais, with a French translation. The four leaves, from 17 to 20, of which it is composed bear the same number on recto and on verso.

The catechism has a special pagination, more confused if possible than the book of prayers. Leaf 11, we have seen, is intercalated in the prayers, while leaves 10 and 9 precede leaves 12, 10, and 11 which contain prayers in Algonkin and Montagnais. Finally come leaves 9 and 12, which belong to the catechism; the first has for title, in the middle of the recto: De 7 sacramentis, and toward the end of verso: Ecclesiæ præcepta; the recto of the second is blank, and on the verso, after the word "catechism" and the title "de la Messe et de la Communion," we read this note of the author: "Non potui absolvere et ex parte composita describere. Poterit supplere R. P. Lefauré."

The manuscript is bound in parchment. The text commences on the verso of the leaf which bears the title. It is divided into four columns, two on the verso and two on the recto, having four titles, from left to right: Algonkin, Montagnais, Abanaki, Æsquimaux. The first two columns only are in the handwriting of Father Crespieul. On pages 2 and 3 the first column and the commencement of the second are in his handwriting; the succeeding pages, as far as leaf 13, have only the Algonkin column by Father Crespieul. The text of the column devoted to the language of the Æsquimaux disappears on the recto of leaf 3. The Abnaki column of the same leaf is incomplete. The texts of the four columns occur on pages 4 and 5, but are not a translation of the same prayers. On pages 5 and 6 the Montagnais column is incomplete; the last two blank. Only the Algonkin text appears from the 6th to the 9th leaf, where the Montagnais text reappears in the prayers for the living and the dead. The Algonkin and Montagnais columns have the prayers: Ad SS. Angelos, ad S. Michaelē, ad O. SS., page 11; ad S. Josephum, et les commandements de Dieu, page 12. The religious songs, page 13, recto, have only two columns, the Algonkin and the Montagnais. Both are by Father Crespieul. The following note appears at the top of the page to the left: "Algonk—prestant Montan—et sunt magis in uso et sciuntr a multis—Suadeo ut non immutentur."

The Montagnais text is not again found until the recto of leaf 17 is reached, where are found Montagnais chants under this title: Cantitenæ a Montanensibus cani solitæ. They are accompanied by a French translation as far as page 18, where, in the song for the communion, the Algonkin and Montagnais texts are opposite each other.

The first part of this work, pp. 3-108, is occupied with the service for the mass in the Mohawk, many of the prayers having headings in Latin and explanations in French, and most of the service is set to music. The second part, pp. 109-294, is headed Livre de chant pour la messe et les vêpres. The third part, pp. 295-410, Formulaire de prières, is by Father J. Marcoux, the colophon being dated Kahna8ake [Caughnawaga] 15 janvier 1852 and signed with his Indian name, Sose Tharonhiakanere. The fourth part, pp. 411-452, is headed Supplément aux cantiques et aux prières. Following the table are an alphabetic list of the canticles in Iroquois and a list of those in Algonquin, the latter, numbering 59, being scattered throughout parts 1, 2, and 4.

In the copy belonging to Major Powell the 6 blank ll. are filled with hymns in the Mohawk language, and, I think, in the Abbé Cuog's handwriting.

Jean-André Cuoq was born at Le Puy, department of Haute-Loire, France, June 6, 1821; entered a seminary of the Society of St. Sulpice as a pupil October 20, 1840; was ordained priest December 20, 1845; arrived at Montreal November 21, 1846, and was sent to the mission of the Lake of Two Mountains (Oka) in 1847 as missionary to the Nipissings, and remained there many years as companion of Mr. Dufresne, who was director of that mission and missionary to the Mohawks.

Mr. Cuoq occupied himself at first only with the study of the Nipissing language, which he speaks and understands more perfectly than the Mohawk; but Mr. Dufresne having been withdrawn from the mission in 1857, Mr. Cuoq then applied himself to the study of the Mohawk for the purpose of ministering in that language also. About 1864 he was sent to the College of Montreal, where he was charged with a class, remaining there two or three years; then he returned to the Lake of Two Mountains, where he remained until 1875. He was then attached to the parochial church of Notre Dame at Montreal, remaining there several years, during which time he composed and printed his later books on the native languages. He returned to the Lake about 1885 and is there at the present time (1890).

In addition to the above works, he has composed a number in the Mohawk language. His modesty has prevented me from carrying out my desire to give a somewhat extended notice of his life and his mission work.

— [Vocabulary of the Massachusetts Indians.]

Manuscript, 49 unnumbered ll. (lacking beginning and end), sm. folio, in the library of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Boston, Mass. There is a small fragment of each of 2 leaves at the beginning, and of 1 leaf at the end. The vocabulary is in double columns, very fine and closely written, almost unreadable. It is alphabetically arranged O to W, with spaces left between some words, presumably for additions. The two fragmentary leaves at the beginning contained words beginning with the letter N. The verso of the 31st leaf and the recto of the 32d are blank.

The manuscript was presented to Rev. Jeremy Belknap by Eliza Howard, great granddaughter of Danforth, Aug. 9, 1796.

Samuel Danforth, son of Samuel Danforth of Roxbury, was born in that town on the 10th of December, 1666, and baptized on the 16th of the same month. His father was the colleague of John Eliot from 1650 to 1674. The son probably learned the Indian language in his youth, under the direction of Mr. Eliot. In 1683 he was graduated at Harvard College. His first publication appears to have been the New-England Almanack for 1686. In September, 1687, he was ordained as minister of the church in Taunton, Massachusetts, where he remained until his death.

In 1698, Mr. Danforth and Mr. Grindall Rawson were employed by the commissioners for the propagation of the gospel among the Indians in New England, to visit and report on the "Plantations of the Indians within this Province." This labor they commenced on the 30th of May, and finished on the 24th of June. Their report was printed in the summer or autumn of the same year, as an appendix to Nicholas Noyes's election sermon, entitled New-Englands Duty and Interest, pp. 89-99 (reprinted in volume 10 of the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society). Mr. Danforth's translation into the Indian language of five sermons by Increase Mather was published soon after, probably in October, as the dedication is dated on the 14th of that month. His labors for the welfare of the Indians in Taunton and its vicinity were considerable. On certain "lecture days" he preached to them in their own language. He also prepared in manuscript an Indian dictionary, with references under each word to Eliot's translation of the bible. In 1704 he commenced a series of revival meetings in Taunton, and in the same year published his sermon entitled Piety Encouraged. This was followed in 1708 by The Duty of Believers, and in 1710 by The Woful Effects of Drunkenness. In 1713 he composed An Elegy on the Memory of the Worshipful Major Thomas Leonard, Esq., of Taunton, which was printed on a broadside sheet. Two more publications, An Exhortation to All and a sermon at Bridgewater, appeared in 1714 and 1717. He died on November 14th, 1727, in the sixty-first year of his age.

John William De Forest, author and soldier, born in Humphreysville (now Seymour), Conn., 31 March, 1826. He attended no college, but pursued independent studies, mainly abroad; was a student in Latin, and became a fluent speaker of French, Italian, and Spanish. While yet a youth, he passed four years travelling in Europe, and two years in the Levant, residing chiefly in Syria. Again, in 1850, he visited Europe, making extensive tours through Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Greece, and Asia Minor. From that time until the civil war began he wrote short stories for periodicals, having already become an author of several books. In 1861, as captain, he recruited a company for the 12th Connecticut volunteers, and served constantly in the field till January, 1865. From 1865 till 1868 he remained in the army as adjutant-general of the veteran reserve corps, and afterwards as chief of a district under the Freedman's Bureau. Since then he has resided in New Haven, except when travelling in Europe. The honorary degree of A. M. was conferred upon him by Amherst College in 1859.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

I have seen but the one copy of this little work, and know of the probable existence of but one other—that catalogued by the library of the Boston Athenæum, deposited there by Schoolcraft. This volume has been misplaced on the shelves, and though the library authorities at my request caused diligent search to be made, it has not been found.

Leclerc in 1867, catalogue no. 427, sold a copy for 28 fr., and in 1878, catalogue no. 2382, priced one 40 fr.

There may have been an earlier edition of this work. M. Dejean, in a letter to the Abbé R—, at Bordeaux, Jan. 10, 1829, mentions a manuscript that had been sent to France to be printed: "le livre de prières qui est en usage parmi les Algonkins, et qui a été approuvé par l'autorité ecclésiastique de Montréal." (Annales de l'Association de la Propagation de la Foi, vol. 4, p. 466, 1831.) A note, p. 468, of the same volume, says this manuscript was being printed by the association.

A few Ottawa words and phrases, with definitions, pp. 494-495.

In this letter M. Dejean says: "I know already enough of the language of the Ottawas to converse with them. I am engaged daily in compiling an Ottawa vocabulary. This language is very poor; it has only enough words to express what falls under the senses. * * *"

In Annales de la Propagation de la Foi, vol. 4, pp. 544-546, Paris, 1830, 8°. Dated from L'Arbre-Croche le 25 octobre 1829.

This letter, which was written by the Ottawas in the absence of the missionary Dejean, thanks the Council of Lyons for giving them the prayer-book in their own language. The signatures are totemic signs. It is accompanied by a translation in French by M. Dejean "word for word, literally, to show the style of the barbarous language."

I have placed this work under Père Déléage upon the authority of his predecessor at the mission, Père Garin. Bishop Lorrain was under the impression it should be credited to MM. Laverlochère and Garin until the latter disclaimed its authorship. Later, at my request, he communicated with Father Pian, O. M. I., superior of the Maniwaki mission in the archdiocese of Ottawa, who confirms Père Garin's impression that it was translated by Déléage.

Bishop Lorrain says he does not know who is the author of this work. Father Garin says he is not sure about the author, but supposes it can be credited to Père Déléage, his successor in those missions at the date of its publication. For a reprint of pp. 3-15, see Guéguen (J. P.).

Micmac and equivalent French on facing pages as far as pp. 222-223; the remainder wholly Micmac, with the heading: "Pièces diverses en langue Miquemaque. Te Deum."

The last page of the manuscript ends thus: "m8. . . Reliqua, quae pauca, desiderantur in ms." From this note, and from the fact that the manuscript is written throughout with remarkable nicety, and with no corrections or alterations such as might be expected in an original work, and from the further fact that the date, 1836, is almost too early for Demillier to have composed it, it would seem probable that the manuscript is a copy and not an original work by Demillier.

This manuscript is now in the possession of Rev. M. C. O'Brien, St. Mary's Church, Bangor, Maine, who kindly sent it to me for inspection.

A short catechism in Penobscot begins on p. 47 with the heading "Cabatt8i Ghékim-sote."

This manuscript is now in possession of Rev. M. C. O'Brien, St. Mary's Church, Bangor, Maine, who kindly forwarded it to me for examination.

"In 1833 the Society of Picpus, a congregation of the third order of St. Francis, sent out Messrs. Edmond Demillier and Petithomme, destined to restore the Franciscan missions in Maine. They arrived at Boston while the Bishop was erecting the monument of Father Rale, and on his return proceeded to Pleasant Point, and began their labors. Finding but one Penobscot able to speak French, they commenced the study of the native language; Demillier at the villages, Petithomme in their winter camp. They continued their mission with great profit, and early in 1834 the bishop, now possessed of a manuscript prayer-book of Mr. Romagné, had it printed, and thus facilitated the labors of the missionary school.

"In the spring Mr. Petithomme received another destination and Demillier was left alone. His study of the language was most successful; he was soon able to confess his penitents in Abnaki, and when the bishop next visited the mission he could not withhold the expression of his astonishment at the facility with which the father preached in his newly-acquired language. Turning his knowledge to account, Father Demillier drew up a new prayer-book, the printed one being very erroneous, and also translated the Quebec catechism.

"Under his care the mission took a new form. Many vices were abolished and some improvement made in the social well-being of these Indian Catholics, while the regularity of divine worship did much to restore their former piety.

"Notwithstanding the insignificance of his mission in numbers, Mr. Demillier devoted himself to it without a murmur till his death on the 23d of July, 1843, when his flock lost a kind and self-sacrificing pastor."—Shea.

— [Dictionary of the Delaware language.] (*)

Manuscript, oblong octavo, comprising about 3700 words, in the Moravian archives at Bethlehem, Pa. Mr. John W. Jordan, of the Penn.
Hist. Soc. Philadelphia, some time since called my attention to this manuscript. He informs me that the handwriting of the manuscript is the Rev. L. F. Kampman's, but that that gentleman said he did not prepare it, but must have made the copy from the original manuscript when a missionary to the Indians at Fairfield, Canada, and that it was probably prepared by Dencke or Luckenbach. This is since confirmed by Dr. Brinton in the following note in his work entitled "The Lenapé and their legends," p. 84:

"After the war of 1812, the Moravian brother, Rev. C. F. Dencke, who ten years before had attempted to teach the Gospel to the Chipeways, gathered together the scattered converts among the Delawares at New Fairfield, Canada West.
In 1818 he completed and forwarded to the Publication Board of the American Bible Society a translation of the Epistles of John, which was published the same year.

"He also stated to the Board that at that time (1818) he had finished a translation of John's Gospel and commenced that of Matthew, both of which he expected to send to the Board in that year. A donation of one hundred dollars was made to him to encourage him in his work, but for some reason the prosecution of his work was suspended and the translation of the Gospels never appeared (contrary to the statements in some bibliographies).

"It is probable that Mr. Dencke was the compiler of the Delaware Dictionary which is preserved in the Moravian Archives at Bethlehem. The ms. is an oblong octavo, in a fine but beautifully clear hand, and comprises about 3700 words. The handwriting is that of the late Rev. Mr. Kampman, from 1840 to 1842 missionary to the Delawares on the Canada Reservation. On inquiring the circumstances connected with this ms., he stated to me that it was written at the period named and was a copy of some older work, probably by Mr. Dencke, but of this he was not certain.

"While the greater part of this dictionary is identical in words and rendering with the second edition of Zeisberger's 'Spelling Book' (with which I have carefully compared it), it also includes a number of other words, and the whole is arranged in accurate alphabetical order.

"Mr. Dencke also prepared a grammar of the Delaware, as I am informed by his old personal friend, Rev. F. R. Holland, of Hope, Indiana; but the most persistent inquiry through residents at Salem, N. C., where he died in 1839, and at the Missionary Archives at Bethlehem, Pa., and Moraviantown, Canada, have failed to furnish me a clue to its whereabouts. I fear that this precious document was 'sold as paper stock,' as I am informed were most of the mss. which he left at his decease; a sad instance of the total absence of intelligent interest in such subjects in our country."

Emanuel Henri Dieudonné Domenech, French author, born in Lyons, France, November 4, 1825; died in France in June, 1886. He became a priest in the Roman Catholic church, and was sent as a missionary to Texas and Mexico.
During Maximilian's residence in America, Domenech acted as private chaplain to the emperor, and he was also almoner to the French army during its occupation of Mexico. On his return to France he was made honorary canon of Montpellier. His "Manuscrit pictographique Américain, précédé d'une notice sur l'idéo-graphie des Peaux Rouges" (1860), was published by the French government, with a facsimile of a manuscript in the library of the Paris arsenal, relating, as he claimed, to the American Indians; but the German orientalist, Julius Petzholdt, declared that it consisted only of scribbling and incoherent illustrations of a local German dialect. Domenech maintained the authenticity of the manuscript in a pamphlet

I am indebted to the Rev. A. M. Garin, of Lowell, Mass., for the following notes:

Rev. Father Durocher was born the 6th of September, 1800, at St. Antoine, on the Chambly River, Canada. He made his studies at the Montreal College, kept by the priests of St. Sulpice. In 1820 he began the study of theology, and the 29th of September, 1823, he received the order of the priesthood at the hands of Monseigneur Jean Jacques Lartigues, Bishop of Montreal, and was appointed assistant in the parish of Notre Dame, Montreal, where he remained two years. In 1825 he was sent to Three Rivers, where he served two years as assistant. In 1827 he applied to the Superior of St. Sulpice to be received as a member of their community. Being admitted to the order he worked two years in the city of Montreal and then went to the Lake of the Two Mountains to study the Algonquin language and take charge of that mission. He remained there 14 years and when he left he was master of the language, having composed many sermons, hymns, prayers, etc., in that tongue. All the Indians at the mission being Catholics, he wanted to work for the conversion of the Indians still in the state of infidelity. For that reason he left the community of St. Sulpice to join the order of the Oblate of Mary Immaculate, and began his novitiate at Longueuil the 28th of September, 1843. He made his vows and was received in the order the 8th of September, 1846. In the month of September, 1844, he was sent to the mission of Saguenay, and there began the study of the Montagnais. On the 3d of October, 1849, he was named superior of the mission on the Saguenay, and in September, 1853, he came to Quebec and established the House of St. Sauveur, of which he was appointed superior, and remained in that capacity until the year 1873. During that time he often visited the Indian missions on the Labrador coast and Lake St. John and composed different books in the Montagnais language. He died at Quebec the 8th of December, 1876.

"That the following observations may obtain credit, it may be proper to inform the reader with what advantages they have been made.

"When I was but six years of age my father removed with his family to Stockbridge, which at that time was inhabited by Indians almost solely; as there were in the town but twelve families of whites or Anglo-Americans, and perhaps one hundred and fifty families of Indians. The Indians being the nearest neighbours, I constantly associated with them; their boys were my daily school-mates and play-fellows. Out of my father's house I seldom heard any language spoken, beside the Indian. By these means I acquired the knowledge of that language, and a great facility in speaking it. It became more familiar to me than my mother tongue. I knew the names of some things in Indian which I did not know in English; even all my thoughts ran in Indian; and though the true pronunciation of the language is extremely difficult to all but themselves, they acknowledged, that I had acquired it perfectly; which as they said, never had been acquired before by any Anglo-American. On account of this acquisition, as well as on account of my skill in their language in general, I received from them many compliments applauding my superior wisdom. This skill in their language I have in a good measure retained to this day.

"After I had drawn up these observations, lest there should be some mistake in them, I carried them to Stockbridge, and read them to Capt. Yoghum, a principal Indian of the tribe, who is well versed in his own language, and tolerably informed concerning the English: and I availed myself of his remarks and corrections.

"From these facts, the reader will form his own opinion of the truth and accuracy of what is now offered him.

"When I was in my tenth year, my father sent me among the six nations, with a design that I should learn their language, and thus become qualified to be a missionary among them. But on account of the war with France, which then existed, I continued among them but about six months. Therefore the knowledge which I acquired of that language was but imperfect; and at this time I retain so little of it, that I will not hazard any particular critical remarks on it. I may observe however, that though the words of the two languages are totally different, yet their structure is in some respects analogous, particularly in the use of prefixes and suffixes.—Preface.

Jonathan Edwards, jr., theologian, second son of Jonathan, sr., born in Northampton, Mass., 26 May, 1745, died in Schenectady, N. Y., 1 Aug., 1801. When he was six years old the family removed to Stockbridge, at that time almost solely inhabited by Indians. Here he became so proficient in the Indian language as to surpass in the thoroughness of his scholarship all other Anglo-Americans of that day. As it was his father's wish that he should become a missionary to the aborigines, he was sent, in 1755, to the Rev. Gideon Hawley, who was stationed on the Susquehanna River, to learn the dialect of the Oneidas. In consequence of the breaking out of war between England and France, in which the colonies were involved, young Edwards remained there only six months, and acquired but an imperfect knowledge of the language.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Eliot (John). [A primer or catechism in the Massachusetts Indian language. Cambridge: printed by Samuel Green. 1654 ?] ()

The earliest printed book in the Massachusetts Indian language of which any record has been found. No copy is known to be extant. In a letter to Mr. Winslow, dated July 8th, 1649, Mr. Eliot wrote concerning the Indians: "I do very much desire to translate some parts of the Scriptures into their language, and to print some Primer in their language wherein to initiate and teach them to read, which some of the men do much also desire; and printing such a thing will be troublesome and chargeable, and I having yet but little skill in their language (having little leisure to attend it by reason of my continual attendance on my Ministry in our own Church) I must have some Indians, and it may be other help continually about me to try and examine Translations, which I look at as a sacred and holy work, and to be regarded with much fear, care, and reverence; and all this is chargeable therefore I look at that as a special matter on which cost is to be bestowed, if the Lord provide means, for I have not means of my own for it." Again, on the 21st of October, 1650, he wrote: "for their own Language we have no book; my desire therefore is to teach them all to write, and read written hand, and thereby with pains taking, they may have some of the Scriptures in their own Language; I have one already who can write, so that I can read his writing well, and he (with some pains and teaching) can read mine."

The native here referred to was without doubt Job Nesutan, who had taken the place of the Long Island Indian, Eliot's first instructor in the language. He is mentioned by

Gookin in the History of the Christian Indians as follows: "In this expedition [July, 1675] one of our principal soldiers of the praying Indians was slain, a valiant and stout man, named Job Nesutan; he was a very good linguist in the English tongue, and was Mr. Eliot's assistant and interpreter in his translations of the Bible, and other books of the Indian language."

Another letter of Eliot's, dated April 28th, 1651, relates that "it hath pleased God this winter much to enlarge the abilitie of him whose helpe I use in translating the Scriptures, which I account a great furtherance of that which I most desire, namely, to communicate unto them as much of the Scriptures in their owne language as I am able. Besides, it hath pleased God to stir up the hearts of many of them this winter to learn to read and write, wherein they doe very much profit with a very little help, especially some of them, for they are very ingenious. And whereas I had thought that we must have an Englishman to be their Schoole-Master, I now hope that the Lord will raise up some of themselves, and enable them unto that work, with my care to teach them well in the reason of the sounds of Letters and spelling, I trust in the Lord that wee shall have sundry of them able to read and write, who shall write every man for himselfe so much of the Bible as the Lord shall please to enable me to Translate." In the latter part of the same year (1651), he wrote in another letter: "And thus we order the Schoole: The Master daily prayeth among his Schollers, and instructeth them in Catechisme, for which purpose I have compiled a short Catechisme, and wrote it in the Masters Book, which he can read, and teach them; and also all the Copies he setteth his Schollers when he teacheth them to write, are the Questions and Answers of the Catechisme, that so the children may be the more prompt and ready therein: we aspire to no higher learning yet, but to spell, read, and write that so they may be able to write for themselves such Scriptures as I have already, or hereafter may. (by the blessing of God) translate for them for I have no hope to see the Bible Translated, much lesse Printed in my dayes. Therefore my chiefe care is to communicate as much of the Scriptures as I can by writing."

The Commissioners of the United Colonies, in a letter to Mr. Winslow, dated "Boston this 24th of September 1653," wrote: "Mr. Eliot is preparing to print a Cattichisme of the Indian langwige which wee shall further (as wee may) by disbursing the charge of paper and printing out of the stock but by some due allowance shall Indeavor to Incurrage Thomas Stanton to assist in the worke; whoe is the most able Interpreter wee haue in the countrey for that Langwige that the worke may be the more pfectly carried on; Wee haue aduised Mr. Eliot Etcet: that if heerafter they publish anythings about the worke of God vpon the Indians they send it to the Corporation and leaue the dedication to them which wee hope wilbee attended." They also resolved that "It is left to the two Commissioners for the Massachusetts to giue order for the printing of five hundred or a Thousand Catechismes in the Indian language and to allow paper and the Charge of printing; and that the worke may be carried on the more exactly and to better Satisfaction It is ordered that Thomas Stanton's healp be used in the same." One year later, on the 25th of September, 1654, they wrote to the Corporation in London: "one Cattachesme is alreddy printed and Mr Person is preparing another to sute these southwest ptes where the language differs from theires who liue about the Massacheuesetts." It appears that Mr. Eliot did not avail himself of Stanton's knowledge of the Indian tongue, as suggested by the Commissioners, for on the 18th of September, 1654, they wrote to him: "Wee desired that Thomas Stanton's help might haue been vsed in the Cattachisme printed and wish that noe Inconuenience bee found through the want thereof; And shall now aduise that before you proceed in Translating the Scriptures or any pte of them you Improve the best healesp the Countrey affords for the Indian Language that if it may bee these southwest Indians (some of whome as wee are now Informed desire healp both for Reading and to bee Instructed in the things of God and Christ) may vnderstand and haue the benefitt of what is printed."

Seven years after the appearance of this edition a new impression was begun, as follows:

— [A primer or catechism in the Massachusetts Indian language. Second impression.

Cambridge: printed by Samuel Green and Marmaduke Johnson. 1662.] (*)

The Commissioners of the United Colonies wrote from Plymouth to Mr. Richard Hutchinson and Mr. William Ashurst, in England, September 12, 1661: "By the account you will find wee haue remaining 414*lb*: 4: 4 stocke a great part wherof wilbee expended in printing the bible and a new Impression of a Catechisme." They also wrote to Mr. Usher in Boston, September 13th, 1661: "Alsoe wee pray you take order for the printing of a thousand coppies of Mr. Elliotts Catechismes which wee vnderstand are much wanting amongst the Indians; which being finished Receiue from the presse and dispose of them according to order abouesaid." The account presented to the Commissioners by Mr. Usher in September, 1662, contains a charge: "To printing 1500 Cattachismes," 15*l*. Another reference to the book occurs in the account of disbursements sent by the Commissioners to England, September 13th, 1667, as follows: "To Indian bibles primers deliuered to Mr. Elliott and Mr. Iohn Cotton and to Scollers," 2*l*. 10*s*. 3*d*.

No copy of this edition is known to be extant.

The following note by Dr. Trumbull on the edition of 1662 requires a slight correction: "The cost of printing, at this period, was about £2. 10 per sheet, for 1000 copies (exclusive of paper, which was supplied by the Corporation), and this would not be increased more than twenty cent. (to £3) by the press-work on 500 additional copies. At £3 per sheet, the Catechism must have required five sheets (80 pages sm. 8vo.), to bring the cost of the edition to £15. This agrees nearly with the charge of paper for printing the first edition in 1654; when 'for the two Catechisms,' Eliot's and Peirson's, Green used 30 reams. Not more than 14½ reams was required for Peirson's (4½ sheets per copy, edition of 1500), leaving at least 15½ for Eliot's or sufficient for a small 8vo. of 70 to 75 pages." The reference here to the edition of 1654 must be a mistake. The account of Samuel Green, the printer, which contains the entries "for printing two Cattachismes 30 Reame," and "for printing the Bible 368 Reame," was rendered in September, 1663, and the catechisms referred to were without doubt Peirson's of 1653, and the second impression of Eliot's made in 1662.

lessons of one syllable begin on the verso of the third leaf and end on the verso of the fourth, followed on the same page by short reading lessons, which end on the verso of the fifth leaf. "The first reading lesson," Dr. Trumbull remarks, "tells us (in Indian) what was the course of instruction in the Indian schools." It says: "Wise doing to read Catechism. First, read Primer. Next, read Repentance Calling (i. e. Baxter's Call). Then read Bible." "The Lords Prayer," in English, fills the recto of the sixth leaf, with the same in Indian on the verso. The Lord's Prayer expounded, in questions and answers, begins on the recto of the seventh leaf and ends on the verso of the ninth. "The Ancient Creed," in English, begins on the verso of the ninth leaf, and ends on the recto of the tenth. The same in Indian begins on the recto of the tenth leaf and ends on the recto of the eleventh. The Creed expounded, in questions and answers, begins on the recto of the eleventh leaf, and ends on the verso. The recto of the twelfth leaf begins with the "Degrees of Christian Duties for several estates, collected out of the holy Scripture," which end on the recto of the twenty-fourth leaf (B8). "The large Catechism," in six chapters, with the caption "Catchizaonk," begins on the recto of the twenty-fourth leaf and ends on the recto of the fifty-eighth (D 10). The Ten Commandments are included in the second chapter. "A short Catechism," with the caption "Peamesik Katechizaonk," begins on the recto of the fifty-eighth leaf and ends on the verso of the fifty-ninth with "Finis." "The Numeral Letters and Figures, which serve for the ready finding of any Chapter, Psalm and Verse in the Bible, or elsewhere," in roman and arabic, from 1 to 150, with their names in English, fill the next six pages, beginning on the recto of the sixtieth leaf and ending on the verso of the sixty-second. "The Names and Order of the Books of the Old and New Testament," in English, begin on the recto of the sixty-third leaf and end on the verso with "Finis." The sixty-fourth leaf, verso blank, contains on the recto the same cut of the royal arms that appears on the first leaf.

The text is in Indian throughout, the only portions in English being the title, the Lord's Prayer, the Ancient Creed, the introductory heading to the "Degrees of Christian Duties," the running headings to the pages, and the lists of numerals and books of the bible at the end. The only copy known is in the library of the University of Edinburgh. It bears an inscription on the blank leaf: "Gifted to the Library by Mr Jo. Kirton, Aprile 19, 1675." The above title is from a photographic fac-simile, herewith reproduced, which was furnished me by the librarian, the late Dr. John Small. The collation and description of the contents have been made from Dr. Small's reprint, which is an exact reproduction of the original work, page for page and line for line.

— [The Indian primer.

Cambridge: printed by Samuel Green. 1687?]

On the 29th of August, 1686, Mr. Eliot wrote to the Hon. Robert Boyle: "My humble request to your honour is, that we may again reimpose the primer and catechism; for though the last impression be not quite spent, yet quickly they will; and I am old, ready to be gone, and desire to leave as many books as I can."

In the library of the Massachusetts Historical Society is a copy of Eliot's primer, in the Massachusetts Indian language, supposed to be unique, which may be of this edition. It is without title, name of place or printer, and also without date, but appears to have been complete in forty leaves, signatures A, B, C, D, and E in eights. Size of the leaf, 3½ inches high by nearly 2½ inches wide. In contents it seems to agree closely with the edition of 1669, as far as it goes, for the "Degrees of Christian Duties" and the names of the books of the bible are omitted. The additions comprise a few references to bible texts under some of the answers. The first six leaves and the recto of the seventh are unpagged, but on the verso of the latter the numbering begins with 1, and continues in that order, the odd numbers on the left-hand side and the even numbers on the right, to the verso of the thirty-seventh leaf, which is marked 61, and followed by five more pages unnumbered. The first signature (marked A) is complete, and contains on the recto of the first leaf, instead of a title, merely the following bible text in five lines between two horizontal rules, the whole surrounded by a border composed of acorn-shaped and other ornaments, similar to the border around the title of the Indian bible of 1685: Prov. 22. 6. | Nehtuhpeh peisses ut | mayut ne woh ayont kah | kehchisuit matta pish | wunnukodtumuon. See the fac-simile. The lower part of this leaf is slightly imperfect. On the blank verso was written, according to Dr. Trumbull, in the hand of Rev. Thomas Prince: "Mr. B. Green says, composed by Mr. Eliot, & Print^d at Camb. ab^t 1684." The only parts of the inscription now to be seen are the words: "Print^d at Camb ab^t 1684." The recto of the second leaf, which has a border of small fleur-de-lis shaped ornaments, contains three alphabets, small, capital, and italic, followed by the five "Unnont waash" or vowels, and the nine "Neesontoo waash" or diphthongs. See the fac-simile. The verso of this leaf and the recto of the third contain spelling lessons of one syllable, with short reading lessons on the verso of the third leaf. These lessons contain the references to Baxter's Call and the bible, which are mentioned in the note to the primer of 1669. "The Lords Prayer," in English above and in Indian below, fills the recto of the fourth leaf. The Lord's Prayer expounded, in questions and answers, begins on the verso of the fourth leaf, and ends on the recto of the sixth. "The Ancient Creed," in English, begins on the recto of the sixth leaf and ends on the verso. The same in Indian begins on the verso of the sixth leaf and ends on the recto of the seventh. The Ancient Creed expounded, in questions and answers, begins on the recto of the seventh leaf and ends on the verso, which is paged 1. "The large Catechism," with the caption "Catechizaonk," commences on page 1 (the verso of the seventh leaf) and ends on page 59 (the verso of the thirty-sixth leaf). See the fac-similes of pages 1 and 2. The whole of signature B, comprising pages 4-19, is lacking in this copy. "A short Catechism" fills pages 60 and 61, ending on the next (unnumbered) page with "Finis." "The Numeral Letters and Figures," etc., in roman and arabic, from 1 to 150, fill the last four pages, beginning on the verso of the thirty-eighth leaf and ending with "Finis" on the recto of the fortieth leaf, verso blank. The only portions in English are the Lord's Prayer, the Ancient Creed, the running headings to the pages, and the introductory heading to the numerals. The quotation in Indian from Proverbs 22. 6, which appears on the first leaf, is also found in the primer of 1669, on the verso of the title.

Another Indian primer, differing almost entirely in contents, was printed at Boston in 1720, and again probably twenty years later. For a description of these two editions, which are sometimes wrongly ascribed to Eliot, see Indiane primer.

— [The Assembly's shorter catechism, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language.] (*)

On the 30th of November, 1663, Richard Baxter wrote to Eliot: "Methinks the Assemblies Catechism should be next the holy Scriptures, most worthy of your Labours." In the narrative entitled The Present State of New-England, printed at London in 1675, "the Assemblies Catechism" is mentioned with other books translated by Mr. Eliot and printed in the Indian language. Increase Mather, in his letter to Dr. Leusden in 1687, also mentions the Assembly's catechism as one which the Indian children learned by heart. No copy of this translation has been found.

It seems that Mr. Eliot translated several catechisms into the Indian language. According to Daniel Gookin, "he framed two catechisms in the Indian tongue, concerning the principles of the christian religion; a lesser for children, and a larger for older persons." The same writer also mentions "Indian catechisms, a grammar, primer," and other works, as having been translated by Mr. Eliot, and printed at the expense of the Corporation. In another place Gookin relates that "Indian bibles, primers, catechisms, and other books, translated into the Indian language," were carried for distribution by the Christian Indians who started from Natick, about the year 1672, on a missionary expedition to the southern tribes. The following passage in Mr. Eliot's letter to the Hon. Robert Boyle, dated August 29, 1686, may also refer to a catechism separate from the primer: "My humble request to your honour is, that we may again reimpose the primer and catechism; for though the last impression be not quite spent, yet quickly they will; and I am old, ready to be gone, and desire to leave as many books as I can."

— [The six principles of religion, by the Rev. William Perkins, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language.] (*)

According to Dr. Trumbull, "One of the catechisms translated by Eliot—probably much abridged—was the Rev. William Perkins's Foundation of the Christian Religion, gathered into Six Principles. Increase Mather, in his letter to Dr. Leusden, in 1687, mentioned that 'many of the Indian children had learned by heart the catechism, either of that famous divine, William Perkins, or that put forth by the Assembly of Divines at Westminster.' Peirson borrowed much from the Six Principles for his Quripi catechism." In another place he adds: "Experience Mayhew, in a notice of an Indian convert who died at Martha's Vineyard, in 1717, says: 'Mr. Perkins's Six Principles of Religion, having been translated into the Indian tongue, was what she took great delight in reading.' (Indian Converts, p. 168.) No copy of this translation has been discovered, and it is not certain, from Mayhew's mention of it, that it was printed."

— [The book of Genesis, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language.

This was probably Eliot's second publication in the Indian language. No copy has been found. In a letter to Thomas Thorowgood, dated June 18, 1653, he thus refers to the progress of his work in translating the bible: "I have had a great longing desire (if it were the will of God) that our Indian Language might be sanctified by the Translation of the holy Scriptures into it . . . but I fear it will not be obtained in my dayes. I cannot stick to the work, because of my necessary attendance to my ministerie in Roxbury, and among the Indians, at sundry places, and the multiplied work, which in that kind ariseth upon me, and yet through the blessing of the Lord, I have this Winter translated the whole book of the Psalmes . . . While I live, if God please to assist me, I resolve to follow the work of translating the Scriptures." In 1654, he mentions his interpreter, "whom I have used in Translating a good part of the Holy Scriptures." One year later, in a letter dated August 16, 1655, he wrote of the Indians: "That which I now most follow, is, first the spreading of the Gospel into more remote places . . . The second thing attended, is the Civilizing of them . . . The third thing is the Printing of the Bible in their Language, Genesis is Printed, and we are upon Matthew, but our progresse is slow, and hands short." The Commissioners of the United Colonies replied to a letter of Mr. Eliot's, dated August 29, 1655, as follows: "the Commissioners never forbade you to Translate the Scriptures for preaching or for any other vse

For other references to this edition, see the note to the following title.

— [The gospel of Matthew, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language.

Eliot's letter dated August 16, 1655, already referred to under the preceding title, contains the earliest mention of this book: "Genesis is Printed, and we are upon Matthew, but our progresse is slow, and hands short." It is also mentioned in his letter to Mr. Richard Floyd, dated from Roxbury, December 28, 1658, as follows: "Yet those pieces that were printed, viz. Genesis and Matthew, I had sent to such as I thought had best skill in the language, and intreated their animadversions, but I heard not of any faults they found." And in a postscript to the same letter: "They have none of the Scriptures printed in their own Language, save Genesis, and Matthew, and a few Psalmes in Meeter." No copy is known to be extant.

— [A few psalms in metre, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language.

Cambridge: printed by Samuel Green. 1658 ?] (*)

Of this little book no copy has been found. It was mentioned as one of the three portions of Scripture which had been printed—"Genesis, and Matthew, and a few Psalmes in Meeter"—in Eliot's postscript to his letter of December 28, 1658, quoted in the note to the preceding title. In the treasurer's account presented to the Commissioners at Hartford in September, 1659, was a charge of 40l., "To Mr. Green for printing the Psalmes and Mr. Pierson's Catechisme." At the next meeting in September, 1660, it was resolved that "The Comissioners for the Massachusetts are desired and Impowred to account with Mr. Green for the forty pounds payed him for printing Mr. Peirson's Catechisme and the Psalmes."

Mr. Eliot had made a translation of some of the psalms into Indian metre as early as 1651. In a letter written by the Rev. John Wilson, October 27, 1651, is an account of one of the Indian meetings, in which it is related that "the Indian School-Master read out of his Book one of the Psalmes in meeter, line by line, translated by Mr. Eliot into Indian, all the men and women, &c. singing the same together in one of our ordinary English tunes melodiously."

Second column: The same in English. | A Christian Covenanting Confession [sic].

1 page, verso blank, printed in two columns, Massachusetts Indian and English, with a line of 55 small ornaments at the top, 4°.

The text measures nearly $6\frac{1}{2}$ by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches, which is an inch wider than the text of a page of the Indian bible. It is printed with the same kind of type that was used for the bible. Each column is divided by a line rule into two parts. The upper or smaller divisions contain, in Indian on the left-hand side and in English on the right, articles of belief numbered 1 to 9, with references to bible texts. The third article, which was enlarged in the English column of the edition described below, reads as follows in this edition: "3 He made Adam to rule this Lower world. Gen. 1. 26, 27." The lower divisions contain additional articles and the church covenant, in eight paragraphs, of which the first five only are numbered. The covenant begins thus: "5. For these causes, wee that dwell in this Towne called — are gladly willing to bind our selves to God, to Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy, so long as we live," etc.

The copy here described is in the library of the University of Edinburgh, and is supposed to be unique. On the lower margin below the text, is the following inscription in the handwriting of the Rev. William Trail, minister of Borthwick: "This Indian Confession & Covenant of the Converts in New-England was brought from thence in the year 1690 & afterwards gifted to the Bibliothek of the Colledge of Ed'r (my alma mater) by W. Trail." The other side of the leaf contains the indorsement: "Indian Confession of Faith in New England, given be Mr. Trail, Min., Borthwick, 1699." The whole is reprinted on pages xlvi-liv of the introduction to the second edition of Dr. John Small's reprint of Eliot's Indian primer of 1669, Edinburgh, 1880, preceded by an account of its history and a biographical sketch of the Rev. Mr. Trail, and accompanied by a full-sized photo-lithographic fac-simile of the original broadside, from which the above description has been made. The fac-simile given herewith is copied from an electrotype kindly furnished me by Dr. Small. In reproducing it by another process the size of the sheet has been made a little smaller than the original.

The year in which the covenanting confession was first printed is not known with certainty. According to Dr. Trumbull, "The first Indian church was gathered in 1660, at Natick; but Mr. Eliot had proposed the admission of the Indian converts to church estate, eight or nine years before this. orthography in the Indian version of this 'covenanting confession' seem to indicate that it was printed before the Bible. It is alluded to by Colton Mather (Magnalia, III. 3. p. 178): "Unto the general engagements of a covenant with God which it was his desire to bring the Indians into, he added a particular article, wherein they bind themselves mehquontamnat Sabbath, pahketeaunat tohsokke pomantamog, i. e., to remember the Sabbath-day, to keep it holy, as long as we live." In the Memorial History of Boston Mr. Trumbull adds: "Probably it was printed before—but not long before—the gathering of the first Indian church at Natick, in 1660."

This seems to be a later edition, as it contains several slight changes and a few additional words and Scripture references. The third article in the upper division of the English column was made to read as follows: "3. He made Adam to Rule this Lower world, he being made perfectly Righteous. Gen. 1. 26, 27."

The only copy known of this edition, which is in the Congregational Library at Boston, lacks a small portion of the lower right-hand corner. The fac-simile given herewith is from a heliotype, made a few years ago, in the possession of the compiler of this bibliography, and is probably slightly reduced in size.

130 printed leaves without page numbers, and 2 blank leaves, in the following order: 1 blank leaf, the title of the new testament in English on 1 leaf verso blank, the dedication of the new testament to Charles II. in 2 leaves, the title of the new testament in Indian on 1 leaf verso blank, Matthew to Revelation in 126 leaves, and 1 blank leaf at the end, 4°. Signatures A, A (repeated), B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, K, L, Aa, Bb, Cc, Dd, Ee, Ff, Gg, Hh, Ii, Kk, Ll, Mm, Nn, Oo, Pp, Qq, Rr, Ss, Tt, Uu, and Xx, all in fours. Matthew begins on the second A2, and Revelation ends on Xx3. In the Massachusetts Indian language. See the fac-similes of the two title-pages.

It is worthy of remark that the Indian title is dated 1661, the year in which the new testament was finished at the press. At that time it was generally the custom, when the title was on a leaf of the first sheet of the text, as this one is, to give it the date of the year in which the printing was begun. If the gospel of Matthew was first put in type, instead of the gospel of John (which begins a new set of signatures with Aa), then the title may have been originally printed with the date of 1659 or 1660, the year of its commencement, and afterwards reprinted with the whole sheet for particular reasons. However that may be, in all the copies which I have examined, this title appears to be on the original first leaf of signature A, and not an insertion in place of a canceled leaf. Dr. Trumbull must be mistaken in his statement, that "the English title and the Epistle, printed on a sheet of which the first leaf was left blank, were inserted between the first (blank) and second leaves of the first sheet as originally printed,—and the signature A3 is repeated." In all the copies examined, and of which good descriptions have been obtained, the English title and dedication are not inserted between any of the leaves of the first sheet, but are placed before it; and the first leaf of "the first sheet as originally printed" can not be properly called a blank leaf, as it contains the Indian title, and is blank only on the verso.

By a typographical error, the page headings of chapters 21 and 24 of the gospel of Luke, on the recto of leaves L2 and L4, were wrongly printed "Chap. 10" and "Chap. 15," as in both of the Lenox copies of the separate issue. Other variations are found in copies bound with the old testament and metrical psalms. In most copies of the bible with the English general title and dedication, the diamond-shaped figure is found on the Indian title of the new testament, and the errors occur in the page headings of Luke on L2 and L4. In a few dedication copies of the bible, which have the same errata in the page headings of Luke, the diamond figure is omitted in the Indian new testament title, the space between the two lines being blank. See the fac-similes. In other respects the two titles are so much alike that they appear to have been printed from the same type, without resetting.

Some bibles with the general title in Indian only, and with the diamond figure on the Indian new testament title, have the page headings of Luke 21 and 24 correctly printed. Mr. O'Callaghan (List of Editions of the Holy Scriptures . . . printed in America, p. 2) has called attention to the fact that "each verse forms a distinct paragraph until we come to Luke xv. (verso of K3); between that and the end of the Gospel, more than one, sometimes six verses are crowded occasionally into a paragraph, in order apparently to close that gospel and sig. L at the same time." It is probable that sheets A to L (Matthew to Luke) were printed by Green alone, and that Johnson began the gospel of John with sheet Aa, before the printing of Genesis had been commenced. For remarks on the typography and other features of the work, see the note to the whole bible of 1663. The above translation of the Indian title is from Dr. Trumbull's Origin and Early Progress of Indian Missions in New England.

In a letter to Mr. Richard Floyd, the treasurer of the Corporation in England, dated from Roxbury, December 28th, 1658, Mr. Eliot wrote as follows: "I shall not trouble you with any thing at present save this one business of moment, touching the Printing of the Bible in the Indian Language, touching which business sundry of the Elders did petition unto the Commissioners, moving them to further it, as a principall means of promoting Religion among them. And God so guided (without mans contrivance) that I was there when it came in. They moved this doubt whether the Translation I had made was generally understood? to which I answered, that upon my knowledge it was understood as farre as Conecticut: for there I did read some part of my Translation before many hundred English Witnesses, and the Indians manifested that they did understand what I read, perfectly, in respect of the language, they further questioned whether I had expressed the Translation in true language? I answered that I feared after times will find many infirmities in it, all humane works are subject to infirmity, yet those pieces that were printed, viz. Genesis and Matthew, I had sent to such as I thought had best skill in the language, and intreated their animadversions, but I heard not of any faults they found. When the Commissioners ended their meeting, they did commit the further consideration of this matter to our Commissioners, as I understand, of whom our Governour is president. Therefore at the coming away of this Ship, I repaired to the Governour about it. I proposed this expedient, for the more easie prosecution of this work, viz. that your selves might be moved to hire some honest young man, who hath skill to compose, (and the more skill in other parts of the work, the better) send him over as your servant, pay him there to his content, or ingage payment, let him serve you here in New-England at the presse in Harvard Colledge, and work under the Colledg Printer, in impressing the Bible in the Indian language, and with him send a convenient stock of Paper to begin withall. The Governour was pleased to send for Mr. Norton to advise in it, who came and did heartily further it, whereupon the Governour promised to write unto your selves, and propose the matter, which also I doe, and doe earnestly intreat your assistance herein." In a postscript he added: "They have none of the Scriptures printed in their own Language, save Genesis, and Matthew, and a few Psalmes in Meeter, and I blesse the Lord they have so much, and such as see these Notes may easily observe that they read them, and improve them, which putteth my soule into an earnest longing that they might have more zeal. I blesse the Lord, that the whole book of God is translated into their own language, it wanteth but revising, transcribing, and printing. Oh that the Lord would so move, that by some means or other it may be printed." According to his promise, Governor Endicott wrote to Floyd, December 28th, 1658: "I have been moved by divers able and godly men here with us to propound unto your pious consideration, whether it be not needful for the better instruction of the Indians amongst us in the true knowledge of God, to get the whole Bible of the old and new Testament, which is already Translated into the Indian tongue, to be printed; Many here with us Divines and others judge it a thing that will be acceptable to God, and very profitable for the poor Heathens. If your selves doe so esteem of it too, it will be necessary to provide paper and letters and such things as may further the work, as also a Journey man Printer to be helpfull under Mr. Greene our Printer to expedite the work . . . Mr. Eliot will be ready at all times to correct the sheets as fast as they are Printed, and desirith nothing for his paines."

In reply to these letters, the Corporation wrote to the Commissioners in New England, May 7th, 1659, as follows: "As to the printing of the bible in the Indian language; mentioned in Mr. Endicotts letter; which wee vnderstand is already translated into the Indian tongue; wee conceiue will not onely bee acceptable vnto god; but very profitable to the poor heathen and will much tend to the promotion of the spirituall parte of this worke amongst them; and therfor wee offer it not onely as our owne but as the judgment of others that the New Testament bee first printed in the Indian language; and doe desire to vnderstand by the next what number of them you intend to haue printed; and how much paper the number will take vp and that you send ouer one sheet of paper which might agree with that already printed; and whether you haue materials sufficient to carry on the same; and because wee would haue noe faile therin haue thought good to send you ouer a cattalogue of the materials fitt for printing with the charge of them according to information giuen vs; because wee are aduertised that if any of them bee wanting it may prejudice the finishing of the worke and as for a printer if you want one wee desire you to send vs word how hee must be qualified whether a Composer or letter printer." To this letter the Commissioners replied, September 7th, 1659: "touching the printing of the bible in the Indian language being incouraged by youer selues and pressed by Mr. Elliotts affectionate zeale which hee hath constantly held forth for this work, wee shall take order for the printing of the New Testament; which being finished wee shall therby bee the better directed in our further proceeding therin; wee thinke to print a thousand Coppies, and for paper and other materials shall depend on Mr. Vsher whoe hath vndertaken to furnish according to the printers direction." In the treasurer's account which accompanied this letter was an item of 80*l.* 0*s.* 0*d.*, "To Mr. Vsher for printing letters for the bible." Besides the type here referred to, a new printing press and other necessary materials were purchased in London at the expense of the Corporation, and sent over to Massachusetts, where they were put under the care of Samuel Green, the regular printer of the college press at Cambridge.

A reference to the undertaking is found in the tract entitled, A further Account of the progress of the Gospel Amongst the Indians in New England (London, 1660), in the introductory remarks of Joseph Caryl, dated "the 6th of the first Moneth, 1659" (i. e., March 6, 1660), as follows: "And because, as the whole Work is great, so there are some great parts of it now in hand, as the Printing of Davids Psalmes and the New Testament (besides an intendment of printing of the whole Bible) in the Indian Language."

The printing of the new testament was accordingly begun, and a specimen sheet sent to the Corporation in England, who in a letter dated from London, April 28, 1660, replied as follows: "Concerning youer printing of the New Testament in the Indian language, a sheet wherof you have transmitted to vs, wee concur with youer selues therin, and doe approoue of that prouision you haue made for printing the same conceiueing and offering as our judgments that it is better to print fifteen hundred then but a thousand; hoping that by incouragement from Sion Collidge, with whom wee haue late conference, you may bee enabled to print fifteen hundred of the ould Testament likewise; knowing that the foundation of true religion is from the bible the ould and new Testament and that the furtherance therof is of principle concernment; and further considering the mutableness of the times and the liues of those whose hartes are stired vp in that worke especially Mr. Elliott whoe wee

The new printer, Mr. Johnson, arrived in New England in the summer of 1660. Before September of the same year six sheets of the new testament had been printed, as appears from a charge of 24 l. in the treasurer's account for that year, "To Mr. Green for distributing the fontt of letters and printing six sheets of the new Testament in Indian att four pounds per sheet." At the next meeting of the Commissioners in New Haven, they wrote to the Corporation, September 10, 1660, as follows: "in Generall wee haue bin enformed that about one hundred of Mr. Elliotts Indians can read in the bible and many other about Plymouth Martins vinyards and other places; . . . wee shall attend youer aduise for the Impression of the whole bible without which we should haue rested in our former determination that the copy might haue bine fully perused and perfected by the most skilfulest healpes in the Countrey; and such order is taken by the aduise and consent of Mr. Elliott Mr. Vsher Mr. Green and Mr. Johnson that the Impression of the ould and New Testament shalbee carried on together which they haue already begun and Resolue to prosecute with all diligence; a sheet of Geneses wee haue seen which wee haue ordered shalbee Transmitted vnto you; the printers doubt not but to print a sheet euery weeke and compute the whole to amount to a hundred and fifty sheets Mr. Johnson wilbee gratified with the honor of the Impression and acomodated in other Respects wee hope to content; the paper sent as wee are enformed by Mr. Vsher is not all sizable . . . Two of the Indian youthes formerly brought vp to Read and writ are put apprentice; the one to a Carpenter the other to Mr. Green the printer whoe take their trades and follow their Busines uery well." The latter of these apprentices was probably James the printer, afterwards called James Printer, who was employed on both editions of the Indian bible, and whose name appears in 1709 as joint printer with B. Green of Mayhew's translation of the psalter. In the treasurer's account sent with the above letter, there is a charge of 120l. 1s. 8d., "For two hundred Reame of pap r bought since our last accountt letters Inke setting them in the presse with materialls to worke as by bill appeers." At the same meeting (September, 1660), "The Comissioners for the Massachusetts are desired and Impowred . . . alsoe to call on Mr. Green for an accountt or Inventory of all the letters for printing, and all other Instruments in his hands belonging to the Corporation that it may bee Returned to the next meeting of the Comissioners; and to agree with him for the printing of the bible."

The printing of the new testament was completed probably in the summer of 1661, before the next meeting of the Commissioners. On the 18th of May, 1661, the Corporation wrote to the Commissioners that they had paid the bill for 800l. drawn on them, "hopeing that the same together 34 lb. which wee vnderstand by youer account sent remains in stocke will bee sufficient to defray the Charge of printing the bible and the disbursments there for the present yeare." They also added in relation to the change of government caused by the restoration of Charles II: "wee suppose you are not strangers to the condition of affaires; and particularly with respect vnto ourselues being now noe Corporation; though not without good hopes that the same wilbee renewed and confermed by his majestie though possibly the business may bee acted by other persons; . . . howeuer wee desire that the printing of the bible may not bee retaurded." Upon the reading of this letter at their meeting in Plymouth, in September, 1661, the Commissioners resolved: "Vpon this enformation of the Desolution of the Corporation and intimation of hopes that his majestie would conferme the same &c. The Comissioners thought meet to present his Majestie with the New Testament printed in the Indian language with these presents following &c.," namely, the dedication as printed in front of the new testament, of which the following is an extract: "There are diuers of them that can and do reade some parts of the Scripture, and some Catechisms, which formerly haue been Translated into their own Language, which hath occasioned the undertaking of a greater Work, viz: The Printing of the whole Bible, which (being Translated by a painful Labourer amongst them, who was desirous to see the Work accomplished in his dayes) hath already proceeded to the finishing of the New Testament, which we here humbly present to Your Majesty, as the first fruits and accomplishment of the Pious Design of your Royal Ancestors. The Old Testament is now under the Press, waiting and craving your royal Favour and Assistance for the perfecting thereof."

The Commissioners also wrote to Mr. Richard Hutchinson and Mr. William Ashurst in England, September 12, 1661: "youer desire that the printing of the bible may not bee Retarded wilbee attended according as wee shall see suitable. The New Testament is already finished and of all the old the five bookes of Moses; wee haue heerwith sent you 20 peeces of the New Testament which wee desire may bee those disposed viz: that two of the special being very well bound vp the one may bee presented to his Majestie in the first place the other to the Lord Chancellor; and that five more may bee presented to Docter Reynolds Mr. Carrill Mr. Baxter and the two vischancellers of the vniuersities whose wee vnderstand haue greatly Incouraged the worke; the Rest wee leaue to bee disposed as you shall see cause . . . By the account you will find wee haue remaining 414 lb: 4: 4 stocke a great part wherof wilbee expended in printing the bible and a new Impression of a Catichisme." The treasurer's account for the year contained a charge of 196l. 19s. 1d., "To sundry Disbursements vpon the account of printing as appeers by account now sent." The Commissioners also wrote to Mr. Usher in Boston, September 13, 1661, as follows: "youer care in prouiding matterials and furthering the printing of the bible wee thankfully accept desiring the continuance of the same vntil it bee Issued; and the paying of Mr. Green as formerly together with the sallaries and other payments according to your order heer enclosed. . . and it is our desires that you will take care for the printing of the preface before the New Testament with the title according to the coppies as alsoe to send to Mr. Ashurst and Mr. huchenson about twenty coppies of the New Testament to be disposed of according to our directions and order to them." To this was added a postscript: "Wee pray you to demand and Receiue of Mr. Green the whole Impression of the New Testament in Indian now finished; and take care for the binding of two hundred of them strongly and as speedily as may bee with leather or as may bee most seruicable for the Indians; and deliuer them forth as you shall haue order or direction from any of the Comissioners for the time being of which keep an exact account that soe it may bee seen how they are Improved and disposed of."

The treasurer's account rendered in September, 1662, contained the entries: "To printing the title sheet to the New Testament," 1l., and "To binding 200 Testaments at 6d. a peece," 5l. On the 10th of September, 1662, the Commissioners wrote to the Hon. Robert Boyle, the chief officer of the Corporation in England: "Wee haue heer with sent twenty Coppies of the new Testament to bee disposed of as your honors shall see meet." In accordance with this letter they directed Mr. Usher "to send ouer to Mr. Boyle twenty of the Indian Testaments with the preface or Epistle." The entire edition may have consisted of only 1,000 copies, as proposed by the Commissioners in September, 1659; but if 1,500 were printed, as was recommended by the Corporation in April, 1660, then 450 or more were probably bound up separately.

From the preceding extracts of the records it appears that forty copies in all were sent to England with the English title and dedication prefixed. It is probable that not many more were issued in this form. In the first lot of twenty copies sent over in 1661, seven were specified for particular persons. The first was for King Charles II; the second for the Lord High Chancellor, Edward Hyde, first Earl of Clarendon (born 1608, died 1674); the third for Dr. Edward Reynolds, bishop of Norwich (born 1599, died 1676); the fourth for the Rev. Joseph Caryl, an eminent nonconformist divine (born 1602, died 1673); the fifth for the Rev. Richard Baxter (born 1615, died 1691); the sixth and seventh for the vice chancellors of the two universities, Oxford and Cambridge. The remaining thirteen, and the second lot of twenty sent over in 1662, were left to the disposal of Mr. William Ashurst and Mr. Richard Hutchinson, the officers of the Corporation.

Copies: All of these, of which particular descriptions have been obtained, contain the diamond-shaped figure on the Indian title. It has not been ascertained that any copies of this issue are without it.

It contains the book-plate of "The Society for propagating the Gospell in Foreign parts, 1704." The title, however, does not appear in White Kennett's catalogue of books intended for that society's library (Bibliotheca Americana Primordia), printed in 1713. On one of the leaves is the autograph of Wm. Herbert, 1768, the eminent typographical antiquary (born 1718, died 1795). It was subsequently owned by James Bindley, Esq., F. S. A. (born 1737, died 1818), and at the sale of the fourth portion of his library in London, August, 1820 (no. 790), was purchased by "Ford" for 3s. 6d. Not long after this time it passed into the collection of Colonel Thomas Aspinwall, the United States consul at London from 1815 to 1833. See the privately printed catalogue of his library (Paris, 1833), where it is described under no. 168. This collection of books was purchased by the late Mr. Samuel L. M. Barlow in 1863. See Mr. J. O. Wright's Rough List . . . Catalogue of the Library of Samuel L. M. Barlow (New York, 1885), no. 560. At the sale of Mr. Barlow's library in New York, February, 1890 (no. 852), the testament was bought for the present owner by Mr. Charles R. Hildeburn for $610.

(2) Library of the Boston Athenæum, Boston, Mass. In the original leather binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. It was perhaps a presentation copy to Dr. John Fell, dean of Christ Church and bishop of Oxford (born 1625, died 1686). On the verso of the second blank leaf at the front is written: "From his honored friend Dr. John Fell Deane of Christ Church in Oxon.," and on the first blank leaf: "Boston Athenæum given by Wm. I. Loring. Jan. 30th, 1833." The testament is not mentioned in the catalogue of this library printed in 1874, but it is still there.

(3) Library of the British and Foreign Bible Society, London. No description has been obtained of this copy. See Bullen's Catalogue of the Library of the British and Foreign Bible Society (London, 1857), p. 135.

(4) Library of the British Museum, London. Press mark 466. a. 21. No description has been obtained of this copy. See the British Museum Catalogue of Printed Books (London, 1887), under Eliot; and Henry Stevens's Catalogue of the American Books in . . . the British Museum (London, 1866), p. 59.

(5) Library of the British Museum, London. A second copy, in the Grenville collection, bound in blue morocco. No description has been obtained of this copy. See the Bibliotheca Grenvilliana (London, 1842), vol. 2, p. 724.

(6) Library of the late John Carter Brown, Providence, R. I. Bound in brown calf. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. It is accompanied by the old testament and metrical psalms in a separate volume, uniformly bound, for a description of which see no. 37 of the list of bibles of 1663. The two volumes were formerly owned by Edward King, viscount Kingsborough (born 1795, died 1837), and at the sale of his library in Dublin, announced for June, but postponed to November, 1842 (no. 56), brought 3*l.* 3*s.* They afterwards came into the possession of Mr. E. B. Corwin of New York. According to one account, he paid 4*l.* for them in 1842, but there is a statement in the Publishers' Circular for 1856, that "We believe this same copy was sold some years since by Bartlett & Welford for $40." At the sale of Mr. Corwin's library in New York, November, 1856 (no. 2552), the two volumes brought $200, being purchased by Mr. John R. Bartlett for the Brown collection. This copy of the testament was described in the catalogue of the Brown library printed in 1866 (part 2, no. 669). Information furnished by Mr. John Nicholas Brown, in letters of November 27th and December 2d, 1889.

(7) Library of the late John Carter Brown, Providence, R. I. A second copy, in the original binding of blue morocco. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. It was described by Mr. John R. Bartlett in the enlarged catalogue of the Brown library printed in 1882 (part 2, no. 888). Inserted is a slip on which is written: "Sunday 25 Jan. 1795. I took this Testament from the Prince of Orange's Library in his Palace at Loo, which was abandon'd to Pillage, as a memorial to the melancholy scene.—H. Turner." The palace of the Loo, the summer residence of the king of Holland, is near the village of Appeldoorn, about midway between Zutphen and the Zuyder Zee. It was taken by the French in their invasion of Holland in December and January, 1794-95. Information furnished by the late Mr. John R. Bartlett, in letter of August 8th, 1882.

(8) Library of Edinburgh University, Edinburgh. Bound with a copy of Eliot's Indian Grammar, 1666. No description has been obtained of this copy. It is briefly mentioned by Dr. Trumbull in the Memorial History of Boston (Boston, 1880), vol. 1, p. 474, note.

(9) Library of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. In vellum binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. It was presented to the library by Middlecott Cooke of Boston, 1764-65, whose autograph is on the front cover. See the Catalogue of the Library of Harvard University (Cambridge, 1830), vol. 1, p. 250. Information furnished by Mr. Wm. H. Tillinghast, in letter of November 21st, 1889.

(10) Lenox Library, New York. In modern calf binding, red edges (about 1850). Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. Mr. Lenox's description of this copy was printed in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 307.

(11) Lenox Library, New York. A second copy, apparently in the original calf binding (repaired), gilt edges. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. On the inside of the front cover, with a blank leaf pasted over it, is a name in manuscript which appears to be "W^m Platel." On a blank leaf in front of the title is written: "Presented Feby 4th 1811 by Rev. I. Pratt." This may be the Rev. Josiah Pratt, B. D. (born 1768, died 1844), a native of Birmingham, England, vicar of St. Stephen's Church in London, and for twenty-one years secretary of the Church Missionary Society. Among his writings are a prospectus of a polyglot bible issued in 1797, and a life of the Rev. David Brainerd, missionary to the North American Indians, published in 1834. The testament subsequently came into the possession of Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, Connecticut, and at the sale of the first portion of his collection in New York, March, 1879 (no. 786), it brought \$700, being purchased by Dr. George H. Moore for the Lenox Library.

(12) Library of the late George Livermore, Cambridge, Mass. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian title. According to Mr. Livermore's manuscript description of this copy, it is "quite large, clean and perfect,— as bright apparently as when printed." It was purchased in London, from Thomas Rodd, the bookseller, in 1845. Information furnished by Mrs. Livermore, in letter of January 14th, 1890.

(13) A copy advertised by Bernard Quaritch, in April, 1884 (352 Catalogue, no. 15996), as a "beautiful copy in the original rebacked calf, gilt edges," for 105*l*.; again in April, 1887 (373 Catalogue, no. 37867), for 95*l*.; and in December, 1887 (86 Rough List, no. 109), for 90*l*. The book has since been sold.

(14) Library of Trinity College, Dublin. Press mark KK. o. 8. No description has been obtained of this copy. See the Catalogus Librorum Impressorum qui in Bibliotheca Collegii Sacrosanctæ et Individuæ Trinitatis . . . adservantur (Dublin, 1861), vol. 1, p. 315, where it is entered under the heading of version Americana, as "The New Testament, transl. into the Indian language. Cambridge (U. S.), 1661, 4^o." See also no. 14 of the list of copies of the bible of 1663.

A copy was priced by Mr. Obadiah Rich, in his chronological Catalogue of Books relating . . . to America (London, 1832), no. 326, at 2*l*. 2*s*. A copy is also entered in C. J. Stewart's Catalogue of the Library collected by Miss Richardson Currer, at Eshton Hall, Craven, Yorkshire (London, 1833), p. 8, but it does not appear in the catalogue of the portion of her library sold at auction in London, July, 1862. According to a writer in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 308, a good copy of the testament was then in the library of Pelham Priory, a seminary for young ladies at Pelham, N. Y. The priory was the residence of the late Rev. Robert Bolton, and the supposed testament, which was merely a copy of Mayhew's Massachuset Psalter, lacking beginning and end, was sold under its proper title by auction in New York, June, 1887 (Catalogue of the Pene Du Bois Collection, no. 1754), for $4. The copy described in the sale catalogue of the library of Mr. Henry C. Murphy (no. 887), was not of this issue, and did not contain the English title and dedication.

testament in Indian on one leaf verso blank, Matthew to Revelation in 126 leaves, and 1 blank leaf at the end, 4^o. Signatures A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, K, L, Aa, Bb, Cc, Dd, Ee, Ff, Gg, Hh, Ii, Kk, Ll, Mm, Nn, Oo, Pp, Qq, Rr, Ss, Tt, Uu, and Xx, all in fours. In the Massachusetts Indian language.

The new testament as issued for the use of the Indians probably did not contain the English title and dedication, for when the Commissioners directed Mr. Usher to send the second lot of twenty copies to England in 1662, they were careful to add: "with the preface or Epistle." The number of copies bound up in this form is not known with certainty. It was the intention of the Commissioners to print 1,000 copies, but the Corporation advised them to print 1,500. If the edition consisted of the latter number, then 400 copies or more may have been bound separately. On the 13th of September, 1661, the Commissioners ordered 200 of them to be bound "strongly and as speedily as may be with leather or as may be best serviceable for the Indians," as is related in the note to the preceding title.

Copies: Some of these perhaps contained the other variety of the Indian title, without the diamond shaped figure. (See no. 31 of the list of bibles of 1663.) The English title and the dedication are omitted in the copies described below.

(15) Bodleian Library, Oxford. With the diamond shaped figure on the title. It was Samuel Ponompam's book in 1662. This was probably the Ponampam whose confessions of faith were printed in the Tears of Repentance (London, 1653), in A further Account (London, 1660), and whose name, spelled Ponanpam, appears in the records of the Commissioners for September, 1661, as one of the four Indian schoolmasters, assistants to Mr. Eliot, who were allowed an annual salary of 10*l*. each. In the same records for September, 1662, the name is spelled Tananpum. Samuel was his baptismal name. In 1674, there was a teacher named Samuel at the Indian town of Wamesit, on Merrinack river, about twenty miles north-northwest from Boston, who was perhaps the same person. Gookin says: "Their teacher is called Samuel; son to the ruler, a young man of good parts, and can speak, read, and write, English and Indian competently. He is one of those that was bred up at school, at the charge of the Corporation for the Indians." The testament also contains the inscription, "Dono dedit Dñs Drake 1706." See the Catalogus Librorum Impressorum Bibliothecæ Bodleianæ (Oxonii, 1843), vol. 3, p. 605, where it is entered under the East Indian versions, as "Novum Testamentum, Indice. 4^o. Camb. 1661." Information furnished by the librarian, Dr. Edward B. Nicholson, in letter of December 5th, 1889.

the title. It is accompanied by the old testament and metrical psalms in a separate volume, uniformly bound. This copy of the new testament contains on the last page the stamp of the library of Trinity College, Dublin, and appears to have been taken out of a copy of the whole bible formerly in the library of that institution, which was sold as a duplicate, advertised by Mr. Bernard Quaritch in March and April, 1870 (259 Catalogue, no. 277), and in July, 1870 (260 Catalogue, no. 1171), at 80*l.*, and finally purchased by Mr. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn. He extracted this portion of it to go with his other (better) copy of the old testament and metrical psalms, which he had purchased many years before. The two volumes were then rebound, in 1870 or 1871. At the sale of his library in New York, March 1884, the new testament (no. 887), which was wrongly described as containing the English title, and the old testament and metrical psalms (no. 886), were purchased for Mr. Thompson at $340 for each volume. For descriptions of the companion volume to the testament and the other part of the Trinity College bible, see nos. 19 and 38 of the list of bibles of 1663. Information furnished by Mr. Thompson, in letters of November 18th and 23d, 1889.

In the Massachusetts Indian language. See the fac-similes of the two general titles, the first page of the metrical psalms, and the first page of the leaf of rules.

The bible is printed in double columns, each column with references at the side and headings in Indian at the top. There are no summaries at the beginnings of the chapters, as in the second edition. A full page of text measures 6½ by 4½ inches, including headings, catchwords, and references. "The paper used for this Bible," Dr. Trumbull remarks, "was of excellent quality, of the size known to old printers as 'pot' (from its original water-mark, a tankard), which should measure 12½ by 15 inches, giving 6¼ by 7½ for the quarto fold." According to Mr. Thomas (History of Printing in America, vol. 1, p. 255), "This work was printed with new types, full faced bourgeois on a brevier body, cast for the purpose [?], and on good paper."

In 1865, Dr. Trumbull caused to be printed a few copies (35) of his translation from Indian into English of the leaf of rules for holy living appended to the metrical psalms. The above translations of the Indian titles are from his essay on the Origin and Early Progress of Indian Missions in New England. The two dedications have been reprinted in the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society, vol. 7; in Thomas's History of Printing in America, vol. 1; and in O'Callaghan's American Bibles. A few copies of the new testament dedication alone, transcribed from the testament in Mr. Livermore's possession, were reprinted separately for Mr. David Pulsifer in 1859.

It has already been mentioned above, in the note to the new testament, that the printing of the old testament was begun in September, 1660, and that before September, 1661, the five books of Moses had been finished. In the meantime the Corporation in England had received a new charter, and the Hon. Robert Boyle had been appointed its chief officer. To him the Commissioners wrote from Boston, September 10, 1662, as follows: "the bible is now about halfe done; and constant progresse therein is made; the other halfe is like to be finished in a yeare; the future charge is vncertaine, by estimate not lesse then 200 lb; wee haue heer with sent twenty Coppies of the new Testament to bee disposed of as youer honors shall see meet; . . . Wee onely craue leaue att present for the preuenting of an objection that may arise concerning the particulars charged for the printing wherin you will find 21 sheets at three pounds ten shillings a sheet and the rest but at 50 shillings a sheet the Reason wherof lyes heer: It pleased the honored Corporation to send ouer one Marmaduke Johnson a printer to attend the worke on Condition as they will enforce you; whoe hath Caryed heer very vnworthly of which hee hath bine openly Convicted and senced in some of our Courts although as yett noe execution of sentence against him; peculiare fauor haueing bine showed him with respect to the Corporation that sent him ouer; but notwithstanding all patience and lenitie vsed towards him hee hath proued uery idle and nought and absented himselfe from the worke more than halfe a yeare att one time; for want of whose assistance the printer by his agreement with vs was to haue the allowance of 21 lb. the which is to bee defalcated out of his sallery in England by the honored Corporation there." Among the charges in the treasurer's account submitted in September, 1662, is one: "To sundry Disbursements for printing the bible by bill of particulars £237. 05. 00." A few of the items included in this charge are as follows: "To 160 Ream of paper att 6s. per ream," 48l.; "To printing the title sheet to the New Testament," 1l.; "To printing 21 sheets of the old Testament, att 3lb. 10s. per sheet Mr. Iohnson being absent," 73l. 10s.; "To printing 25 sheets with his heelp att 50 shill: per sheet," 62l. 10s.; "To binding 200 Testaments att 6d. a peece," 5l. In reply to the letter of the Commissioners, Mr. Boyle wrote from London, April 9, 1663: "wee hope the bible wilbee finished by the Returne of the Shippes and then and not before wee desire to Receiue some from you; . . . Concerning Marmeduke Johnson the Printer wee are sorry hee hath soe miscarryed by which means the printing of the bible hath bin retarded we are resolved to default the 21 lb. you mention out of his sallary; Mr. Elliott whose letter beares date three monthes after youers writes that Johnson is againe Returned into the worke whose brother alsoe hath bine with vs and gives vs great assurance of his brothers Reformation and following his busines dilligently for the time to come; and hee being (as Mr. Elliott writes) an able and ysefull man in the presse wee haue thought fitt further to make tryall of him for one yeare longer and the rather because vpon Mr. Elliotts motion and the goodnes of the worke; wee haue thought fitt and ordered that the Psalmes of Dauid in meter shalbee printed in the Indian language; and soe wee hope that the said Johnson performing his promise of amendement for time to come may bee vsefull in the furthering of this worke which wee soe much desire the finishing of."

The printing of the old testament was finished before the next meeting of the Commissioners, when they wrote to the Corporation in England, September 18, 1663, as follows: "Some time after our last letter Marmeduke Johnson Returned to the Presse and hath carried himselfe Indifferently well since soe farr as wee know but the bible being finished and little other worke presenting; wee dismissed him att the end of the tearme you had contracted with him for; but vnderstanding youer honorable Corporation hath agreed with him for another yeare; wee shall Indeavour to Imploy him as wee can by printing the psalmes and another little Treatise of Mr. Baxters which Mr. Elliott is translateing into the Indian language which is thought may bee vsefull and profitable to the Indians; . . . Wee haue ordered Mr. Vsher to present youer honors by the next shipp with 20 Coppies of the bible and as many of the Psalmes if printed of before the shippes departure from hence." It was also resolved that "Mr. Simon Bradstreet and Mr. Danforth are Requested to take care for the preparation of an epistle to the Indian Bible dedicatory to his Majestie and cause the same to bee printed," which was accordingly done. After the Indian version of the psalms in metre had been finished at the press, probably in November or December of the same year, it was appended to the bible, and the work was ready for binding. Twenty copies of the completed book in sheets were then sent to the Corporation in England, where some of them (or perhaps all) were bound uniformly in dark-blue morocco. On the 7th of March, 1664, the Corporation wrote to the Commissioners: "Wee desire by youer next to Informe vs how many bibles haue bine printed in the Indian Language It being that which wee Judge might bee of publique Repute vnto the worke." One copy of the bible was presented to king Charles, concerning which Mr. Poyle wrote, April 21, 1664, as follows: "I waited this Day vpon the King with your translation of the Bible, which, I hope I need not tell you, he receued according to his custome very gratusly. But though he lookd a pretty while vpon it, & shewd some things in it to those that had the honour to be about him in his bed-chamber, into which he carryd it, yet the Vnexpected comming in of an Extraordinary Enuoyé from the Emperour hindred me from receuing that fuller expression of his grace towards the translators and Dedicators that might otherwise have been expected."

In September, 1664, the Commissioners wrote to the Corporation in England: "the number of Bibles with Psalm books printed were vpwards of a thousand; of Baxters Call 1000 and of Psalters 500 diuers wherof all sorts are disposed to the Indians and the rest redly for their vse as they can be bound vp and there may bee occasion." Among the charges in the treasurer's account presented at the same date were the following: "For two smale Chests to put the Bibles in that were sent to England," 5s.; "To printing the Indian Psalmes 13 sheets at 2 lb. per sheet," 26l.; "To printing the epistle dedicatory to the Bible," 1l.; "To printing 9 sheets of the Psalter at 20s. per sheet," 9l.; "To Packthred and Dry falls to put the bibles in," 1l. 5s.; "To boat hier for carrying and Recarrying paper and bibles," 3l. 6s.; "To binding and clasping 42 bibles at 2s. 6d. per bible," 5l. 5s.

From the account which Samuel Green the printer rendered to the Commissioners, September 19, 1663, it appears that he had received 80 reams of paper from the Society in England, and 389 reams from Mr. Usher, making 469 reams in all. Of this quantity he had used 30 reams "for printing two Cattachismes" (Pier-son's in 1658, and Eliot's in 1662), and 368 reams "for printing the Bible," leaving 71 reams in his possession. In addition, there were 61 reams remaining with Mr. Usher. Dr. Trumbull gives the following estimate in his essay on the Origin and Early Progress of Indian Missions in New England (Worcester, 1874), page 38: "For printing the Bible (not including the Psalms in Metre) Mr. Green used 368 reams of paper. With the usual allowance for waste sheets, this would work 161,920 sheets. The Bible contains 544 leaves, or 136 sheets; the New Testament 128 leaves, or 32 sheets. The Psalms (as printed in the Old Testament, and separately worked as the 'Psalter') 9 sheets. Assuming that the edition of the New Testament was 1,500, of which 500 were bound separately, we have the distribution of the paper nearly as follows:

500 New Test's, of 32 sheets.	Sheets,	16,000
500 Psalters, 9 "	"	4,500
1040 Bibles, 136 "	"	141,440

sheets, within a single quire of the 368 reams charged. The first edition of the Bible was 'upwards of a thousand,' but, probably, not quite 1,050."

The records of the Commissioners contain, under the date of September 13, 1667, the following charges: "To two hundred Indian Bibles bound and clasped 2s. 6d.," 25l.; and "To Indian bibles primers deliuered to Mr. Elliott and Mr. John Cotton and to Scollers," 2l. 10s. 03d. At a meeting held in Plymouth, September 5, 1672, it was resolved that "Thomas Danforth, Esqr. is ordered to take care that all the Bibles and other prints belonging to the Indians be bound vp and not lost; and for that end is to call for the same where they are now Resting and dispose therof."

It appears that the above-mentioned charge of 2s. 6d. for binding and clasping each bible was not satisfactory to the binder, John Ratlife, who in 1664 addressed the following letter to the Commissioners: "For The Honnoured The Comissioners of the united Collonyes in New England met at Hartford, These present. May it please your worshipps, The providence of god so ordering it, that I could not be so hapy as to be here at your last meeting at Boston, there to adress myselfe unto your worshipps about the bindeing the Indian Bibles; the onely incourageing work which upon good Intelligence caused me to transport myselfe, and family into New England, and which I desire to promote, by my art, and in my Lawfull calling as a thing tending so much to the honour of god, by the advancement of Religion, wherein your honoured selves doe claime a worthy remembrance, as Chiefe Instruments and propagators of it and findeing that your worshipps had referred the care of bindeing and price to Mr. Usher, I have by his appointment and order made some progress therein, yet not findeing him verry willing without your worshipps' consent, to come up to a suitable price (he professing himselfe but to bee your worshipps' steward) in that behalfe, have Inforced me to appeal from him unto yourselves in this matter and humbly to acquaint you that under 3s. 4d. or 3s. 6d. p. book I can not binde them to live comfortably upon it, one Bible being as much as I can compleat in one day, and out of it finde Thred, Glew, Pasteboard, and Leather Claps, and all which I cannot supply my selfe for one shilling in this country. I question not but the printers if they please are able to Inform your Worshipps of the Reasonableness of my appeal in this case, though I blame not Mr. Usher in the Least, and I finde by experience that in things belonging to my trade, I here pay 18s. for that which in England I could buy for four shillings, they being things not formerly much used in this country. Were I before your Worshipps I could further amplify my demand by Reason to be Just and Lawfull; so likewise I doubt not but others can that may appear before you; but Relying upon your Worship's wisdom and that upon consideration you will Judge the Artificer worthy of his wages, I shall not further trouble you, but expecting your favourable concession thereto for the better carrying on of the work and for my Encouragement therein, praying for your Worships' Prosperity subscribe myself, Your Worships' humble servant John Ratlife. Boston, Aug. 30, 1664." Indorsed: "Massachusetts, Jno. Ratliff's Letter to Comissioners at Hartford, August 30th, 1664."

Seven varieties of the Indian bible of 1663, with the English general title, are described below. These differ in the number of certain preliminary leaves, namely: the dedication of the whole bible, the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, the English new testament title, and the dedication of the new testament, one or more of which are generally omitted; also in the Indian new testament title, which sometimes does not contain the diamond shaped figure. For an account of the variations in different copies of the new testament portion, see the notes to the separate issues of the new testament in 1661. The bible with Indian titles only is described under a separate title.

Copies of the first variety: Containing the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the English new testament title, the dedication of the new testament, the Indian new testament title with the diamond shaped figure, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 600 printed leaves, and 4 blank leaves.

(1) Mr. Theodore Irwin, Oswego, N. Y. It remained in the original leather binding until 1879, when it was cleaned and rebound in brown levant morocco by F. Bedford, preserving three of the original blank leaves. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{1}{2}$ by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches. The Indian new testament title contains the diamond shaped figure. On the recto of the leaf of contents is written, "Thomas Shepard's Book. 2. 6^o. 1666. ye gift of ye Rev^d Translator." This was the son of the Rev. Thomas Shepard, minister of Cambridge, who died in 1649. He was born in 1635, graduated at Harvard College in 1653, and was minister of Charlestown from 1659 until his death in 1677. His library, probably including the Indian bible, was bequeathed to his son, also named Thomas Shepard (born 1658, died 1685), who was minister of the same church from 1680 until his death. A memorandum on a blank leaf at the front shows that it was once owned by Thomas Nixon of Framingham, afterwards of Southborough, Massachusetts (born 1736, died 1800), who was an ensign in the French and Indian war of 1756, and colonel of the sixth Massachusetts regiment during the revolution. From him it passed to his son, Thomas Nixon junior (born 1762, died 1842), who left it to his son, Warren Nixon. At the end of the volume is the following note in manuscript: "This edition of Eliot's Indian Bible owned by Mr. Nixon of Framingham is more valuable on account of its having the epistles dedicatory, than either of the two copies of this work now in the possession of Harvard College. It is the same edition it would seem as the copy of the Rev. Doctor Harris, which was purchased by Mr. Crowninshield after the Doctor's death for fifty dollars. . . . If the owner of this volume should ever feel willing to part with it we are assured that the donation would be thankfully acknowledged by the College at C[ambridge]." The bible was afterwards deposited in the library of the American Bible Union of New York, and in 1877 or 1878 was offered for sale to the Astor Library and other institutions for about \$500. It was purchased by Mr. J. W. Bouton, the New York bookseller, who priced it at \$750. From him Mr. Irwin bought it and sent it to London to be rebound. See the privately printed Catalogue of the Library . . . belonging to Theodore Irwin (New York, 1887), no. 168. Additional information furnished by Mr. Irwin, in letter of April 25th, 1889.

It is related in Francis's life of Eliot, that the Rev. Thaddeus Mason Harris of Dorchester "discovered in a barber's shop Eliot's Indian Bible of the first edition, in a mutilated state, which was in the process of being used for waste paper. It was found to contain both of the dedications to the King; and Dr. Harris seized upon it with all the interest belonging to the discovery of a long-lost treasure. He transcribed the addresses, and published them in the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society." Dr. Harris himself, in his reprint of these dedications (Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll. vii. 222-228), says: "Of six copies of the indian bible, which I have seen, no one possessed these dedications. The following were taken from a mutilated copy, used in a barber's shop for waste paper. From this intended destruction they were eagerly snatched, by the hand which writes this, as truly valuable relics." It has not been ascertained what became of this copy. The writer of the manuscript note in Mr. Irwin's bible probably had the above account in mind when he mentioned Dr. Harris's copy; but the only one sold at the Doctor's sale in January, 1843, was of the edition of 1685, which was purchased by Mr. Crowninshield for $39, and is now in the possession of Mr. Gunther of Chicago. Mr. Thomas, in his account of the two dedications in the Indian bible (History of Printing in America, Worcester, 1810, vol. 1, p. 475), says: "I recollect to have seen, many years since, a copy that contained them; that which I possess is without them, as are all others which I have lately examined."

Copies of the second variety: Containing the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title with the diamond shaped figure,

Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 597 printed leaves, and 3 blank leaves. The English new testament title and the dedication of the new testament are omitted in these copies.

(2) Library of Brown University, Providence, R. I. A well preserved copy, with the exception that the diamond shaped figure has been cut out of the Indian new testament title. It contains manuscript notes in English, Indian and shorthand on the margins, and many of the passages and verses are marked, especially in the new testament. At the end are four pages of manuscript, in shorthand, English and Indian. Dr. Reuben A. Guild, the librarian, supposes for various reasons that this copy of the bible belonged to Roger Williams (born 1599, died 1683), who was known to be "a proficient in shorthand," and that the notes and annotations are in his handwriting. On one of the pages is written "College Library," in the hand of James Manning, the president of the University (then called the College of Rhode Island), from 1765 to 1791. "During the war of the Revolution the book was one of the 500 in the library which were removed to Wrentham, Mass., for safety, in the care of the Rev. William Williams, a member of the first graduating class." See the Catalogue of the Library of Brown University (Providence, 1843), pp. 139, 140. Information furnished by Dr. Guild in a letter dated April 25th, 1889, and in an article printed in the New-York Times for May 1st, 1889.

(3) Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, New York. Bound in brown levant morocco by F. Bedford, preserving all of the original blank leaves. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{3}{8}$ by $5\frac{3}{8}$ inches. The Indian new testament title contains the diamond shaped figure. This bible was once owned by White Kennett, bishop of Peterborough from 1718 until his death in 1728, and has his name on the lower part of the English general title. In 1869, according to Dr. Trumbull, it was sold by Bernard Quaritch to Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, Conn., at the sale of whose library in New York, March, 1879 (no. 787), it was purchased for Mr. Morgan for \$1,000.

(4) Library of the Zealand Academy of Sciences (Zeeuwisch Genootschap der Wetenschappen), Middleburg, Holland. Bound in leather, with red edges, in fine condition. It probably contains the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. In the Catalogus der Bibliotheek van het Zeeuwisch Genootschap (Middleburg, 1845), p. 3, it is entered as "The Holy Bible translated into the Indian language, Cambr. 1663." In the enlarged catalogue of the same library, p. 269, no. 1987, it is described with the English and Indian general titles and the Indian new testament title. A report on the two copies of the Indian bible in the library of this academy was read at one of its meetings in December, 1873, by the librarian, F. Nagtglas, and subsequently printed in a separate pamphlet. An English translation of it is given in the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society for 1873-75, pp. 307-309, in which it is stated that this copy of the bible contains "the double title and the dedication to Charles II." See no. 39 of this list for an account of the other copy.

Copies of the third variety: Containing the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title with the diamond shaped figure, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 596 printed leaves, and 3 blank leaves. The Indian general title, the English new testament title, and the dedication of the new testament are omitted in these copies. Several of the bibles put under this heading (nos. 6, 7, 8, and 14), of which full descriptions have not been obtained, may perhaps belong to the second or fourth variety.

(5) Astor Library, New York. Bound in morocco by F. Bedford. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. It was a duplicate from the library of Trinity College, Dublin, and contains the stamp of that institution. In March and April, 1870 (259 Catalogue, no. 276), and in July, 1870 (260 Catalogue, no. 1170), it was advertised for sale by Mr. Bernard Quaritch at 250*l*; in January, 1873 (286 Catalogue, no. 9926), and in October, 1873 (291 Catalogue, no. 18669), at 225*l*; and in August, 1875 (298 Catalogue, no. 7543), at 200*l*. It was purchased by Mr. Alph. L. Pinart, whose book plate was added, and at the sale of his library in Paris, January, 1884 (no. 113), was bought again by Mr. Quaritch for 2700 francs. He advertised it in April, 1884 (352 Catalogue, no. 15997), at 225*l*, when it was purchased by Mr. Astor. See the supplementary Catalogue of the Astor Library (Cambridge, 1886), vol. 1, p. 402. For the description of another duplicate from Trinity College of the same edition, but with Indian titles only, which also came into the market in 1870, see no. 38 of this list.

(6) Bodleian Library, Oxford. See the Catalogus Librorum Impressorum Bibliothecæ Bodleianæ (Oxonii, 1843), vol. 1, p. 259, where it is entered under the heading of version Virginianæ, as: "The holy Bible in the language of the Indians in Virginia by John Eliot. 4^o. Cambridge, in New England, 1663." It is supposed to be of this variety, but in the absence of a more particular description it can not be determined exactly what kind of a copy it is.

(7) Library of the British Museum, London. Press mark C. 10. a. 1. With a colored frontispiece of the royal arms of England inserted. This is probably the copy described in the Bibliothecæ Regiæ Catalogus (London, 1820), vol. 1, p. 279. See the British Museum Catalogue of Printed Books (London, 1887), under Eliot; and Henry Stevens's Catalogue of the American Books in . . . the British Museum (London, 1886), p. 56. It is supposed to be of this variety, with the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. See also no. 23 of this list.

(8) Library of William Cavendish, second earl of Burlington and seventh duke of Devonshire, Chatsworth, England. Bound in purple morocco. The commencement of this collection of books dates back to the reign of Queen Elizabeth, but the greatest additions were made by William George Spencer Cavendish, the sixth duke of Devonshire (born 1790, died 1858), "who is justly entitled to be called the founder of the Chatsworth library in its present form." He purchased the library of Thomas Dampier, bishop of Ely, in 1812, and bought largely at the sales of the Stanley, Horne Tooke, Townley, Edwards, and Roxburgh libraries. Most of his books, which were scattered among his several houses, were removed to Chatsworth in 1815. See the Catalogue of the Library at Chatsworth (London, 1879), vol. 1, p. 180. In the absence of a more particular description, the bible is supposed to be of this variety, with the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title.

(9) Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. In the original binding of dark blue morocco, gilt edges. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. Some of the leaves are loose and stained. The price mark of 7s. 6d. is written on the first title. On the verso of the new testament title is written: "Rachel Gaither Daughter of John Gaither and Ruth his Wife was born April 19th, 1687," and below it a list of the children of "Rich^d Tucker and Susanna his Wife," Rachel, Susanna, Elizabeth, Richard, and Rebeacker, who were born in the years 1744, 1746, 1748, 1750, and 1752, respectively. On the blank leaf between the new testament and metrical psalms is written: "David Whittle the Son of John Whittle and Rachel his Wife was Born . . . July 4th, 1760." The bible was purchased for the Library of Congress from a Maryland family about the year 1872. It is mentioned in Mr. Nathaniel Paine's list, printed in his Brief Notice of the Library of the American Antiquarian Society (Worcester, 1873), p. 55. See the Alphabetical Catalogue of the Library of Congress (Washington, 1878), vol. 1, p. 701.

(10) Mrs. Ralph L. Cutter (Laura M. Eliot), Brooklyn, N. Y. In the original dark blue morocco binding, gilt edges, containing all of the original blank leaves. Size of the leaf, 7½ by 5½ inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. An unusually large and fine copy, with many rough leaves. It may have been a presentation copy to Henry Ashurst, Esq., the treasurer to the Corporation for propagating the gospel among the Indians in New England, who died in 1680. At the top of the first title is the partially defaced signature of "Wm. Ashurst," supposed by Dr. Moore and Dr. Trumbull to be Sir William Ashurst, the son of Henry, who was lord mayor of London in 1693, a prominent member, and afterwards governor, of the above named Corporation, and who died in 1720. There was another "Wm. Ashurst," however, an elder brother of Henry, whose signature is found in the copy described under no. 17 of this list. It afterwards came into the possession of Mr. John Allan, of New York, the well known antiquarian and book collector (born 1777, died 1863). According to Mr. George P. Philes, Mr. Allan told him that he bought it for $10 from a person who brought it to him. At the sale of Mr. Allan's library in New York, May, 1864 (no. 1013), it was purchased by Mr. J. W. Bouton, the bookseller, for $825. It next came into the possession of Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, Conn., and at the sale of the third portion of his library in New York, April, 1881 (No. 5682), it was purchased for $900 by Dr. Ellsworth Eliot for his sister, the present owner, who is a direct descendant of John Eliot. A description of this copy, made by Mr. Peter Hastie, while in Mr. Allan's possession, was printed in the Historical Magazine (March, 1859), vol. 3, pp. 87, 88.

(11) Mr. John Lyon Gardiner, Gardiner's Island, N. Y. In the original calf binding with gilt tooling, lacking the clasps and showing the marks of much use. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. The first leaf of the dedication is lacking. The second leaf is loose, together with the English general title and front cover. The bible is ruled throughout with red ink, around every page, around the headings of the chapters, and between and at the tops of the columns. This was evidently done before the book was bound, as some of the sheets have been incorrectly folded. Mr. John Lyon Gardiner (born 1770, died 1816), the seventh proprietor of the island, and grandfather of the present owner, made the following note in it: "I received this Indian Bible from Joshua Nonesuch of the Niantic tribe in Lyme, 'Quonehtacutt' by means of Daniel Wauheat, this vj May 1813. It is said to be presented to the tribe by a Sachem of the Moheags in Norwich," etc. Dated: "Monchongonuc, Gardiners Island, May vj, 1813." This copy was mentioned in the Westchester News, in August, 1855, according to an article in the Historical Magazine (April, 1859), vol. 3, p. 124. Information furnished by Mr. Gardiner, in letter of January 9th, 1883, and by Mr. Wm. Wallace Tooker, in letter of February 12th, 1890. See also The Papers and Biography of Lion Gardiner (St. Louis, 1883), p. 100.

(12) Mr. Brayton Ives, New York. An unusually large and fine copy, with many rough leaves. It remained in the original binding of dark blue morocco, gilt edges, and "in the finest condition," until after 1870, when it was rebound in olive levant gros grained morocco, by F. Bedford. Size of the leaf, 7⅞ by 5½ inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. As originally bound, this copy did not contain the leaf of contents, and therefore was like no. 17 of this list, described as a fifth variety. The leaf, however, was afterwards inserted from another copy, so that it conforms now with the description of the third variety. On the verso of the title is the stamp of the Bodleian Library of Oxford, by which institution it was sold as a duplicate. It came to the United States about the year 1863, and was offered for sale at 100l. Mr. James T. Bruce, of New York, purchased it, and at the sale of his library in New York, April, 1868 (no. 267), it brought $1130—against Mr. George Brinley's bid of $1127.50—passing into the collection of Mr. John A. Rice, of Chicago, who supplied the leaf of contents from an imperfect copy of the bible in his possession. At the sale of his books in New York, March, 1870 (no. 662), it was bought for $1050 by Mr. J. W. Bouton, the bookseller, who sold it to Mr. William Menzies, of New York. It was then learned that the leaf of contents which had been inserted by Mr. Rice, was from the edition of 1685. See no. 23 of the list of bibles of that edition. This mistake Mr. Menzies rectified by inserting a genuine leaf from an imperfect copy of the first edition in his possession. He also had the book rebound, preserving its original size. At the sale of his library in New York, November, 1876 (no. 665), it was bought by Mr. Joseph J. Cooke, of Providence, R. I., for $900. When the third portion of Mr. Cooke's library was sold in New York, December, 1883 (Americana, no. 789), the present owner secured the bible for $1,250.

(13) Lenox Library, New York. In the original binding of dark blue morocco, gilt edges, containing all of the original blank leaves. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{3}{4}$ by $5\frac{1}{4}$ inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. The number 18 is written in large figures over the gilt on the bottom edges. On the first blank leaf is the name in manuscript of an early owner, "Ashurst Allin, Rector of Somerleton near Yarmouth in Suffolk." On the inside of the front cover is the book-plate of the Scottish antiquary and historian George Chalmers (born 1742, died 1825). While in the possession of Mr. Chalmers it was seen and examined by James Grahame, who refers to it in his History of the United States (London, 1836), vol. 1, p. 280. In 1841 it was probably sold by auction in London, with the library of Mr. Chalmers. In 1861 it came into the possession of Mr. Bernard Quaritch, the bookseller, whose memorandum of collation, dated 21st March of that year, is on one of the blank leaves at the end. In July, 1862, he offered it for sale (185 Catalogue, no. 626), at 63l, when it was purchased by Mr. Lenox. The page headings of Luke 21 and 24, on the recto of leaves L2 and L4, are correctly printed in this copy. See also nos. 16 and 30 of this list.

(14) Library of Trinity College, Dublin. See the Catalogus Librorum Impressorum qui in Bibliotheca Collegii Sacrosanctæ et Individuæ Trinitatis... adservantur (Dublin, 1861), vol.

1, p. 303, where it is entered under the heading of version Americana, as follows: "The Holy Bible, translated into the Indian language (by John Eliot). Cambridge (New Engl.), 1663. 4°. (V. T.) A. f. 13." Below it is the additional entry, "Cambridge, 1681 [sic]. 4°. (N. T.) A. k. 42 and 46." This second press mark may refer perhaps to two copies of the new testament of 1661, bound separately. The bible is probably of this variety, but in the absence of a better description it can not be determined exactly what kind of a copy it is. See also no. 14 of the list of copies of the new testament of 1661.

Copies of the fourth variety: Containing the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title without the diamond shaped figure, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 596 printed leaves, and three blank leaves. The Indian general title, the English new testament title, and the dedication of the new testament are omitted in these copies, which differ from those of the third variety only in the variation of the Indian new testament title.

(15) Mr. Charles H. Kalbfleisch, New York. In the original binding of dark blue morocco, gilt edges. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{3}{4}$ by $5\frac{3}{4}$ inches. The Indian new testament title does not contain the diamond shaped figure. This copy is considered to be one of the largest and finest known. Many of the leaves have not been touched by the binder's knife on the front and bottom edges. It came from the library of Philip Yorke, first earl of Hardwicke and lord chancellor of England from 1737 to 1756. After the death of the Right Hon. Charles Philip Yorke, the fourth earl of Hardwicke, a portion of the library was removed from Wimpole House to London, and sold by auction June 29th, 1888, when the bible (no. 45) was purchased for the present owner by Mr. Quaritch for 580l. Information furnished by Mr. Kalbfleisch, in letters of July 22d, 1888, and April 15th, 1889.

(16) Lenox Library, New York. In red morocco binding of the present century (about 1837), gilt edges, containing all of the original blank leaves. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{3}{4}$ by $5\frac{3}{4}$ inches. The Indian new testament title does not contain the diamond shaped figure. This copy of the bible was purchased by Mr. Lenox probably some time between 1840 and 1850. It cost him 21l. His description of it was printed in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 307. It has the page headings of Luke 21 and 24 on the recto of leaves L2 and L4, correctly printed. See also nos. 13 and 30 of this list.

Copies of the fifth variety: Containing the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title with the diamond shaped figure, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 595 printed leaves, and 3 blank leaves. The Indian general title, the leaf of contents, the English new testament title, and the dedication of the new testament are omitted.

(17) Library of Andover Theological Seminary, Andover, Mass. In the original leather binding (apparently), paneled sides, gilt edges. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. At the top of the English title is written the name of "Wm. Ashhurst 1663," an elder brother of Henry Ashurst, Esq., the treasurer to the Corporation for propagating the gospel among the Indians in New England. He was a member of parliament in 1641, again in 1654, and the author of several political tracts printed at London. Another copy of the bible containing the signature of "Wm. Ashhurst," perhaps a nephew of the above, is described under no. 10 of this list. On the blank leaf at the beginning of the volume is inscribed the following: "A present to the Society of Inquiry on the Subject of Missions from Jas. Chater, Baptist Missionary, Colombo, Ceylon, April 1818." The Rev. Mr. Chater was the first missionary sent to Ceylon from England by the English Baptist Missionary Society in 1812. He was one of the translators of the bible into Singalese, and the author of several grammatical works on that language. He died in 1829. The books belonging to the "Society of Inquiry" were deposited in the library of Andover Theological Seminary about the year 1860. Information furnished by the librarian, William L. Ropes, in letters of December 20th, 1889, and January 23d, 1890.

Another copy, which was originally of this variety, was made to conform with the description of the third variety by the insertion of the leaf of contents from another copy, and is described under no. 12 of this list.

Copies of the sixth variety: Containing the English general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the English new testament title, the Indian new testament title with the diamond shaped figure, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 595 printed leaves, and 2 blank leaves. The dedication of the whole bible, the Indian general title, and the dedication of the new testament are omitted.

(18) Library of the American Antiquarian Society, Worcester, Mass. In the original calf binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. It contains the inscription "The property of Isaiah Thomas, of Boston and Worcester, Printer, 1791." and is without doubt the copy referred to by Mr. Thomas in his History of Printing in America (Worcester, 1810), vol. 1, pp. 255, 475. The bible was probably given by him to the Society at the time of its foundation in 1812, or some time before his death in 1831. See the Catalogue of Books in the Library of the American Antiquarian Society (Worcester, 1837), where it is entered in two places, with the English title under Bible, and with the Indian title under Eliot. A facsimile of the Indian general title is inserted at the front. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Edmund M. Barton.

Copies of the seventh variety: Containing the English general title, the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 468 printed leaves. The dedication of the whole bible and the whole of the new testament are omitted. For other copies of the old testament and metrical psalms, without the English title, see nos. 37-39 of this list.

(19) Mr. Frederick F. Thompson, New York. The old testament and metrical psalms only, bound together in one volume, in red morocco, gilt edges, by Bradstreet (about 1870). It is accompanied by a copy of the new testament in a separate volume, uniformly bound, for a description of which see no. 16 of the list of testaments of 1861. The English and Indian general titles face each other, and are followed by the leaf of contents, with the text on the recto, verso blank. This is probably the copy of "Eliot's translation of the Old Testament and Psalm Book into the Indian tongue," briefly described with the Indian general title, in Mr. Henry C. Murphy's Catalogue of an American Library (no. 130), printed at Brooklyn about the year 1851. It is said that he bought it in London from Mr. Obadiah Rich, the bookseller, for about 2l. A copy of the old testament and metrical psalms, but perhaps with the Indian title only, was advertised for sale in Rivington and Cochran's Catalogue (London, 1824), no. 2219, at 18 shillings; and also in Rich's chronological Catalogue (London, 1832), no. 331, at 2l. 2s. The latter may be the copy which Mr. Murphy bought. At the sale of his library in New York, March, 1884, this copy of the old testament and metrical psalms (no. 886), and the new testament (no. 887), were purchased for the present owner for $680, or $340 for each volume. Information furnished by Mr. Thompson, in letters of November 18th and 23d, 1889.

A copy of the Indian bible with the English title and dedication, probably one of the presentation copies, brought 19 shillings at the sale of the library of the Rev. Lazarus Seaman in London in 1676. Dr. Seaman was rector of All-hallows Church in London, one of the members of the Westminster Assembly of Divines in 1643-47, and also a prominent member of the Corporation for propagating the gospel among the Indians in New England. His name is subscribed with others to one of the addresses prefixed to Strength out of Weaknesse, London, 1652. The library belonging to him was one of the earliest, if not the first, that was sold by auction in England. The sale catalogue of the library of G. and J. Meerman (Catalogus Librorum Impressorum, vol. 1, p. 20), sold at the Hague in June, 1824, contains the title (no. 17): "The holy Bible, translated into the Indian Language, Cambridge, 1663, mar. verte doré," which brought 16 florins. This collection of books was formed by Geraart Meerman, the learned typographical antiquary (born 1722, died 1771), and by his son Jan Meerman, the historian and political writer (born 1753, died 1815). The description given in Field's Essay towards an Indian Bibliography (no. 495), with the English title, was probably not of a copy in his possession, but merely one of the titles of "books not actually in the author's collection," which were included for the purpose of making the list more complete. The copy which Mr. Field owned, notwithstanding his own statement and Mr. Paine's that it was of the first edition, was really of the second, and lacked both beginning and end.

tions. Some copies of the old testament and metrical psalms were also bound up together, separate from the new testament. These are placed at the end of the list.

Copies of the whole bible: Containing the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title, Matthew to Revelation, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 594 printed leaves, and two blank leaves. One of these copies (no. 31) also contains the dedication of the whole bible, and is described as having the variation of the Indian new testament title without the diamond shaped figure. In all the other copies of which particular descriptions have been obtained, the Indian new testament title contains the diamond shaped figure.

(20) Library of the Boston Athenæum, Boston, Mass. In half leather binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. The first title and 35 leaves, or all before Exodus v, are lacking, and also the latter half of the metrical psalms, with the final leaf of rules. The page headings of Luke 21 and 24, on the recto of leaves L2 and L4, are wrongly printed 10 and 15 in this copy. It is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. See the Catalogue of the Library of the Boston Athenæum (Boston, 1874), vol. 1, p. 270.

(21) Boston Public Library, Boston, Mass. In the Prince collection, press mark 21.4. In the original leather binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. The last two leaves of the metrical psalms and the final leaf of rules are lacking, but have been supplied in manuscript facsimile. On the verso of the first title is written, "Thomas Prince † Aug. 15. 1738. Gift of Mr. Shipton." This was the date of its acquisition by Mr. Prince. At the top of the leaf of contents is pasted the printed book-plate: "This Book belongs to The New-England-Library, Begun to be collected by Thomas Prince, upon his entering Harvard-College July 6. 1703; and was given by said Prince, to remain therein for ever." On the first blank leaf is written, "This copy of the Indian Bible belongs to the Old South Church Library Boston." The Rev. Thomas Prince was pastor of the Old South Church in Boston from 1718 until his death, October 22, 1758, aged 71 years. His "New-England-Library" was one of the largest and most important collections of the kind formed in the eighteenth century. It was bequeathed by Prince's will to the Old South Church, in the steeple chamber of which it was deposited. During the siege of Boston in 1775-76, the church was used as a riding school by the British soldiers, and many of the books were lost or carried away. In 1814 a small portion of the library was deposited in the rooms of the Massachusetts Historical Society, and the remaining volumes were removed to the house of the pastor, where they were kept for many years, until a room was fitted up for the reception of the whole library in the Old South Chapel, in Spring Lane. A catalogue was printed in 1846, and in 1866 the entire collection was deposited in the Boston Public Library. The page headings of Luke 21 and 24, on the recto of leaves L2 and L4, are correctly printed in this copy. See the Catalogue of the American Portion of the Library of the Rev. Thomas Prince (Boston, 1868), no. 110; and the complete catalogue of The Prince Library (Boston, 1870), p. 6.

(22) Library of Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. An imperfect copy, lacking the first forty-two leaves or all before signature L (Exodus xxx, 24), six leaves between the old and new testaments or leaves L11l3 to A2 (Zechariah viii, 8, to Matthew iii, 10), and the last five leaves of the new testament or leaves Un3 to Xx3 (Revelation x, 8, to the end). The metrical psalms are also lacking, except a small fragment (leaf A4). Five leaves in the old testament, between chapters x and xxii of 1st Chronicles (Ccc4 to Ddd4), are badly mutilated. The book was presented to the library some time previous to the year 1821. It is mentioned in the Historical Magazine (May, 1859), vol. 3, pp. 157, 158. See the Catalogue of the Library of Bowdoin College (Brunswick, 1863), p. 65. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. George T. Little, in letters of December 16 and 27, 1889.

(23) Library of the British Museum, London. In the Grenville collection. Bound in blue morocco. This copy was formerly owned by the Hon. Edward Everett, while minister of the United States to Great Britain, 1841–1845, and was presented by him to the Hon. Thomas Grenville (born 1755, died 1846). No exact description of the book has been obtained. See the Bibliotheca Grenvilliana (London, 1848), part 2, p. 451, where it is entered with the Indian title. See also no. 7 of this list.

(24) United Congregational Church, Newport, R. I. Inclosed in a japanned tin box, and deposited in the safe of one of the banks. It is in the original dark calf binding, with clasps, somewhat stained, and probably contains the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. On the recto of the second leaf is written, "Ezra Stiles. Bot out of the Library of Rev^d Joseph Noyes of New Haven, 1761." The Rev. Joseph Noyes was graduated at Yale College in 1709, ordained pastor of the first church in New Haven in 1716, and died in 1761, aged 73 years. His son, Mr. John Noyes, was graduated at Yale College in 1753, and died in 1767. On the recto of the first blank leaf is written: "Ezra Stiles Ex dono D. Johannis Noyes, de Novo Portu, Connecticuttsis." On the title is written, "Ezra Stiles. Y. C.;" on one of the blank leaves, "Ezra Stiles, Præses;" on the first page of the text, "Ecclesiastical Library Newport Rhode Island, Ezra Stiles;" and on the inside of the front cover, "Ecclesiastical Library in the Care of the Association of Congregational Pastors, Rhode Island, Ezra Stiles." The Rev. Ezra Stiles was born in 1727, and from 1756 to 1777 was pastor of the Second Congregational Church in Newport. In 1778 he was elected president of Yale College, which office he held until his death in 1795. This copy of the bible is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277; and also in Mr. O'Callaghan's American Bibles (Albany, 1861), p. 12. Information furnished by Dr. Ellsworth Eliot.

(25) Library of the late Joseph W. Drexel, New York. Bound in russia extra, back gilt, sides filleted. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{7}{8}$ by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. On the title is written the name of "H. Hobart." The book was afterwards in the possession of Louis Hayes Petit, Esq., at the sale of whose library in London, April, 1869 (no. 638), it was purchased by Mr. Quaritch the bookseller. He advertised it for sale in July, 1869 (252 Catalogue, no. 12), at 200l. Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, bought it, and at the sale of the first portion of his library in New York, March, 1879 (no. 788), it was purchased by Mr. Drexel for \$550.

(26) Rev. William Everett, Ph. D., Quincy, Mass. In modern binding. The Indian new testament title probably once contained the diamond shaped figure, "for there is a round spot in the blank space, about the size of the ornament, which has been skillfully repaired, but is evident." This copy was once owned by the Rev. Edward Craven Hawtrey (born 1789, died 1862), head master of Eton School and afterwards provost of the College, and contains his autograph. It was presented by him to the father of the present owner, the Hon. Edward Everett (born 1794, died 1865), then United States minister to England, whose attestation of the gift is dated June 4, 1842. This copy is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. Information furnished by Dr. Everett, in letter of December 7, 1889.

(27) Library of Glasgow University, Glasgow. No description has been obtained of this copy, which may perhaps be of one of the other varieties. See Dr. John Small's introduction to his reprint of Eliot's Indian Primer (Edinburgh, 1877), p. xxviii, note.

(28) Library of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. In leather binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. It contains the inscription: "This Book belonged to the late Rev^d Jun^r Fox of Woburn, and is presented by his Son, Jon^s Fox of Woburn to Harvard College Library. Feb'y 25th, A. D. 1765." There are also the names of several of the Fox family written on the blank leaves. The Rev. John Fox was born in 1679, was graduated at Harvard College in 1698, succeeded his father Jabez Fox as minister of the Congregational church in Woburn in 1703, and died in 1756. (29) David Hunt, M. D., Boston, Mass. Bound in "sound old calf, with a chamois-lined, smooth morocco outside cover, the whole in a neat case." With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. On a blank leaf at the beginning is written, "Samuel Sanders, Brought by John Beighton from New England. Cost 5 or 6s in Boston, 1681." At the sale of the library of the late Caleb Fiske Harris, of Providence, in New York, April 30th and following days, 1883 (part 1, no. 827), it brought $80, being purchased by Mr. Rider the bookseller. It was then described as lacking four leaves in the gospel of Mark, from chap. v, verse 22, to chap. xi, verse 10 (sig. F); the whole of the gospel of John, and of Acts all before chap. xxi, verse 10, making twenty-four leaves (sig. Aa to Ff); with two leaves in Proverbs and four leaves in Psalms that were damaged. After all but one (Cc in John) of the missing leaves had been supplied by Mr. Rider from another copy (no. 36), the bible was again sold by auction, in the library of Gen. Horatio Rogers and the remaining portion of the C. Fiske Harris collection, in Boston, January 24 and 25, 1888 (no. 356), for $210, being purchased by the present owner. Information furnished by Dr. Hunt, in letter of December 27, 1889.

(30) Lenox Library, New York. In modern blue morocco binding, gilt edges, by F. Bedford. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{1}{8}$ by $5\frac{3}{8}$ inches. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. The page headings of Luke 21 and 24, on the recto of leaves L2 and L4, are wrongly printed 10 and 15. A description of this copy by Mr. Lenox was printed in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 307. See also nos. 13 and 16 of this list.

(31) Library of the late George Livermore, Cambridge, Mass. According to Mr. Livermore's manuscript description of this copy, it is bound in two volumes. The first volume contains: the Indian general title, the dedication of the whole bible to King Charles II. in two leaves, the leaf of contents recto blank, and Genesis to Malachi. The second volume contains: the Indian new testament title (without the diamond shaped figure, according to Mrs. Livermore), Matthew to Revelation, the metrical psalms, and the final leaf of rules. These two volumes were presented to Mr. Livermore by his friend, Mr. Edward A. Crowninshield, of Boston. This copy of the bible is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. Information furnished by Mrs. Livermore, in letter of January 14th, 1890.

His booke 1672." This may be the signature of Enoch Greenleaf, the son of Edmund Greenleaf, who came to New England with his father about the year 1635, was of Malden, Mass., in 1663, and soon after removed to Boston; or of his eldest son, Enoch Greenleaf, who died in 1705. This copy is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. See the Catalogue of the Library of the Massachusetts Historical Society (Boston, 1859), vol. 1, pp. 127, 128.

In the Collections of this Society for 1801 (Boston, 1802), vol. 8, p. 33, is the following statement: "In the files of the Historical Society there is a leaf of the Indian Bible which belonged to his [Eliot's] colleague, the Rev. Samuel Danforth, in which there are several corrections from the hand of this worthy gentleman. He was settled at Roxbury about the year 1662 [or rather 1650] and died 1674, aged 40. He was the brother of the Deputy-Governor of the same name."

(33) Library Company of Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Pa. Belonging to the Loganian Library. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. On the first title is written the name "J. Logan." James Logan was born in 1674, came to Pennsylvania as the secretary of William Penn in 1699, was a member of the provincial council from 1702 to 1747, mayor of Philadelphia in 1723, chief justice of the supreme court from 1731 to 1739, and acting governor of Pennsylvania from 1736 to 1738. On his death in 1751 he bequeathed his valuable library of 2,000 volumes to the city of Philadelphia. They were kept in a separate building erected for the purpose until 1792, when the entire collection was annexed to the Library Company of Philadelphia, of which it forms a separate division. Catalogues of the Loganian Library were printed in 1760, 1795, 1828, and 1837. Fac-similes of the general title of this copy and of the first page of Psalms are given in Smith and Watson's American Historical and Literary Curiosities (New York, 1850), plate 48. This copy is also mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. Information furnished by Mr. Charles R. Hildeburn, in letter of December 10th, 1889.

(34) Library of J. Poyntz Spencer, fifth earl Spencer, Althorp, England. According to Dibdin's Aedes Athorpianae (London, 1822), p. 92, where the Indian title is given in full, "This copy was in the library of Colbert,"—referring probably to Jean Baptiste Colbert, the eminent French state-man and financier (born 1619, died 1683). The famous collection of books known as the Bibliotheca Spenceriana was formed mainly by George John Spencer, the second earl (born 1758, died 1834). No exact description has been obtained of this copy.

of this copy. It is mentioned in Mr. T. W. Field's Essay towards an Indian Bibliography (New York, 1873), p. 120; and in a letter written by Dr. Trumbull in 1879.

(36) Mr. E. P. Vining, St. Louis, Mo. In old calf binding. With the diamond shaped figure on the Indian new testament title. It lacks all before signature C (Genesis XXI), 28 leaves in the new testament (sig. F and Aa to Ff), and all after signature E of the metrical psalms. An interesting feature of this copy is the presence of the whole of the last sheet of the old testament as originally printed, containing: first, leaf Mmmmm; second, the leaf of contents, recto blank; third, the Indian general title, verso blank; fourth, the final leaf of the old testament. As the binder had neglected to remove the inner half of the sheet, the title and leaf of contents were therefore originally in duplicate. On the verso of this leaf of contents is written, "Henery Newman His Book, Anno domny 1698. 1710." On the verso of the Indian title is written, "Samuell Newman and David I. Newman their Book May: d: 9: 1717;" and in another hand, "The property of Anna Pecke presented to hir by her grandfather." On another leaf is written, "Angelina Peck—Pawtucket, 1831." It also contains the memorandum: "Rebound by Joseph Peck Son of Cyrial Peck, Seekonk." The bible was afterwards in the possession of Mr. Rider, the bookseller of Providence, who took out 28 leaves of the new testament, and two other leaves, to put into another copy (no. 29). It was then sold by auction, in the library of Gen. Horatio Rogers and the remaining portion of the C. Fiske Harris collection, in Boston, January 24 and 25, 1888 (no. 357), for $45, Mr. Vining being the purchaser. Information furnished by Mr. Vining.

From a letter printed in the Documents relating to the Colonial History of . . . New York (Albany, 1881), vol. 13, p. 520, it appears that a copy of the bible was brought to Albany by a Natick Indian in the time of Governor Nicolls, 1664-1668. According to Williamson's History of the State of Maine, "a copy of Mr. Eliot's Indian Bible, printed A. D. 1664, was obtained by Rev. Daniel Little, missionary to the Indians of Penobscot and St. John, since the revolution, which he carried with him; but he said, 'not one word of their language could be found in it.'" A copy of this edition, with the Indian general title, was in the possession of Dr. Johann Severin Vater, the eminent professor of theology and librarian at Königsberg (born 1771, died 1826), and is referred to by him in his continuation of Adelung's Mithridates (Berlin, 1816), Th. 3, Abth. 3, S. 379. In Henry G. Bohn's Catalogue of Books (London, 1841), no. 5696, a copy is described under the heading Virginian, as follows: "Biblia Indica.—The Old and New Testaments, with a metrical version of the Psalms, by J. Eliot, sm. 4to. very rare, injured by damp, 12s. Cambridge, (New Eng.) 1663."

The copy formerly owned by Augustus Frederick, duke of Sussex, the sixth son of king George III. (born 1773, died 1843), and which is described under the Indian title in Pettigrew's Bibliotheca Sussexiانا (London, 1839), vol. 2, p. 432, was sold by auction with the duke's library, in London, in July, 1844 (no. 1158). A mutilated copy, lacking the titles and many leaves at the beginning and end, was sold with the third portion of the library of the late Joseph J. Cooke, of Providence, in New York, December, 1883 (Americana, no. 790), for $5, Mr. D.-G. Francis, the bookseller, being the purchaser.

Copies of the old testament: Containing the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, and the metrical psalms with the final leaf of rules. 467 printed leaves, and 1 blank leaf at the end.

(37) Library of the late John Carter Brown, Providence, R. I. The old testament and metrical psalms only, bound together in one volume, in brown calf. It is accompanied by a copy of the new testament with the English title and dedication in a separate volume, uniformly bound, for a description of which see no. 6 of the list of testaments of 1661. The two volumes were once owned by Edward King, viscount Kingsborough (born 1795, died 1837), and at the sale of his library in Dublin, announced for June, but postponed to November, 1842 (no. 56), brought 3l. 3s. Not long after, according to one account, Mr. E. B. Corwin, of New York, purchased them in London for 4l. There is another statement, however, that they were sold to Mr. Corwin by Bartlett and Welford, the New York booksellers, for $40. At the sale of his library in New York, November, 1856 (no. 2552), the two volumes were purchased for $200 by Mr. John R. Bartlett for Mr. Brown. This copy is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. It is also described by Mr. Bartlett, but not with sufficient exactness, in the catalogue of the Brown library printed in 1866 (part 2, no. 688), and again in the enlarged edition of the same catalogue printed in 1882 (part 2, no. 920). Information furnished by Mr. John Nicholas Brown, in letters of November 27th and December 2d, 1889.

(38) Mr. C. F. Gunther, Chicago, Ill. The old testament and metrical psalms only, bound together in one volume, in crushed levant morocco, gilt top and back, by R. W. Smith (about 1855). The old testament is complete, with the Indian general title and leaf of contents, but four leaves (signature E) are lacking in the metrical psalms, from the middle of Psalm LI to the first part of Psalm LXVI, and many of the leaves have been repaired. On the back of the title is the stamp of the library of Trinity College, Dublin, as a "duplicate sold." The history of this copy, gathered from scattered notices and memoranda, appears to be as follows. In March and April, 1870 (259 Catalogue, no. 277), and in July, 1870 (260 Catalogue, no.

1171), Mr. Bernard Quaritch advertised for sale at 804, a copy of the whole bible with the Indian titles, lacking signature Pp (2d Samuel iv, 9 to xiii, 22) and Ooo (Esther iv. 14 to Job vi. 19) in the old testament, and signature E in the metrical psalms, but otherwise perfect, in the original calf binding, and without doubt a duplicate from Trinity College. It was purchased by Mr. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn, who took out the new testament portion, which he sent to the binder to be bound separately as a companion volume to his other (better) copy of the old testament and metrical psalms. See no. 16 of the list of testaments, and no. 19 of the list of bibles. At the sale of Mr. Murphy's library in New York, March, 1834 (no. 885), the remainder of the volume, containing the old testament and metrical psalms, described as "without binding, quite imperfect; leaves wanting in many places," was bought by Mr. David G. Francis, the bookseller, for $5. He supplied the imperfections of the old testament out of another imperfect copy in his possession, probably the one which he had purchased for $5 at the sale of the third portion of the library of Joseph J. Cooke, of Providence, in New York, December, 1833 (Americana, no. 790). The volume was then put into its present binding, and offered for sale by Mr. Francis, first at $125, again in July, 1885, at $150, and in February, 1886 (79 Catalogue, p. 1), at $250, when it was purchased by Mr. Gunther. For the description of another duplicate of the edition of 1663 from Trinity College, but with the English title and dedication, which came into the market with this copy in 1870, see no. 5 of this list.

(39) Library of the Zealand Academy of Sciences (Zeeuwisch Genootschap der Wetenschappen), Middleburg, Holland. The old testament and metrical psalms only, bound together in one volume, "in red morocco, with green silk on the inner covers, and tooled with gilt edges." The title is lacking, but in its place is a manuscript account in Dutch, of which the following is a translation: "All the Bibles of the Christian Indians were burned or destroyed by the heathen savages. This one alone was saved; and from it a new edition, with improvement, and an entirely new translation of the New Testament, was undertaken. I saw at Roesberri (Roccsbury ?), about an hour's ride from Boston, this Old Testament printed, and some sheets of the New. The printing-office was at Cambridge, three hours' ride from Boston, where also there was, close to the borders of the savages, a college of students of another nation. The Psalms of David are added in the same metre. At Roesberri dwelt Mr. Hailot [N. B.—The Zealand sound of Eliot], a very godly preacher there. He was at this time about seventy years old, and his son was a preacher at Boston. This good old man was one of the first Independent preachers to settle in these parts, seeking freedom to worship. He was the principal translator and director of the printing of both the first and second editions of this Indian Bible. Out of special zeal and love he gave me this copy of the first edition, for which I am, and shall continue, grateful. This was in June, 1680. Jasper Danckaerts." An account of the visit of Jasper Dankers or Danckaerts and Peter Sluyter to Mr. Eliot in the summer of 1680, when this copy was presented to them, is given in the note to the second edition of the bible. Some time after, the book came into the possession of Mr. H. J. Bosschaert of Middleburg, and at the sale of his library in April, 1757, in the catalogue of which it was marked as extra rare, was bought by the bookseller Gillissen for fl. 23.40, according to one account. It next appeared in the library of Professor Willemssen, whose books were sold by auction in Middleburg, in April, 1781. In the sale catalogue of his library it was described as containing the whole old testament and the psalms in metre, lacking the title and some few leaves in the psalm book. The book was not offered at the sale, however, but was withdrawn, and came into the hands of Professor de Fremery, who, in February, 1807, presented it to the Zealand Academy of Sciences. It was then remarked as something curious that the letter r does not once occur in the whole book. In the Catalogue der Bibliotheek van het Zeeuwisch Genootschap (Middleburg, 1845), p. 2, it is entered as "Het Oude Testament in de Americaansch-Indiaansche of Wiltsche taal;" and in the enlarged catalogue of the same library, p. 269, no. 1986, it is described as containing the old testament and psalms in the American Indian Language, 4to, full morocco gilt. A report on the two copies of the Indian bible in the library of this academy was presented at its meeting in December, 1873, by the librarian F. Nagtglas, and printed as a separate pamphlet in January, 1874. An English translation of it is in the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society for 1873-75, pp. 307-309, from which the above particulars have been taken. The other copy is described under no. 4 of this list.

Another copy of the old testament and metrical psalms, but with the addition of the English general title, is described under no. 19 of this list. A copy was advertised for sale by Rivington and Cochran of London, in their Catalogue for 1824 (no. 2219), as "The Old Testament, with a metrical version of the psalms," translated by John Eliot, Cambridge (New England), 1663, 4to, calf neat, 18s. In Mr. O. Rich's chronological Catalogue of Books relating to . . . America (London, 1832), no. 331, a copy of "the Indian translation of the Old Testament, and of the Psalms in verse," with the Indian general title, was offered for sale for 2l. 2s.

There is no copy of the edition of 1663 in the library of the American Philosophical Society at Philadelphia, as mentioned in the lists of Mr. Bartlett, Mr. O'Callaghan, Mr. Field, and Mr.

Paine, and as might be inferred from the peculiar way in which the second edition is entered in the catalogue of that society's library printed in 1824. According to Mr. Field and Mr. Paine the New York Historical Society and the Long Island Historical Society each possessed a copy of the first edition of the bible. This is a mistake, however, as the only copies ever owned by these societies are of the second edition. Mr. Field also includes in his list of owners of the first edition the name of "Mr. John H. King (deceased), Jamaica, L. I." This refers without doubt to the Hon. John A. King, of Jamaica, N. Y., who owned a copy of the second edition only. The copy owned by Col. George W. Pratt was not of the edition of 1663, as stated by a writer in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 308, but of the edition of 1685.

32 (?) leaves, 4^o.

The psalter or book of psalms, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language, by John Eliot. At their meeting on the 10th of September, 1664, the Commissioners wrote to the Corporation in England: "The number of Bibles with Psalm books printed were vppwards of a thousand; of Baxters Call 1000 and of Psalters 500 diuers wherof all sorts are disposed to the Indians and the rest reddey for their vse as they can be bound vp and there may bee occation." In the treasurer's account presented to the Commissioners at the same meeting, was one item: "To printing 9 sheets of the Psalter at 20s. per sheet," 9l. Nine full sheets would contain 36 leaves. As printed in the old testament, the psalter fills nearly 32 leaves, beginning on the verso of leaf Rrr 4, about two inches from the top, and ending on the verso of Cccc 1, at the bottom. Dr. Trumbull says: "From sign. Ttt 3 to Aaaa 1, with blank verso," which is a mistake, as that would comprise only nineteen leaves, from Psalm xxxiii. 13 to cix. 22. He aptly remarks, however, that "This charge is too small to include composition, and it is probable that these 500 copies of the Psalms were worked from the forms used in printing the Old Testament and were bound up separately." In another place he adds: "Five hundred copies of a Psalter were printed; that is, probably, 500 extra copies of the Psalms were struck off from the forms used in printing the Old Testament, and these—with a special title-page perhaps—were separately bound." No copy of this separate issue appears to be extant.

Mr. Thomas, in his History of Printing in America (Worcester, 1810), vol. 1, pp. 479, 480, says: "The Newengland Version of the Psalms was printed with the Bible; but I cannot find that the Indian Grammar was published with either of the editions. It accom-

52 (?) leaves, 4^o.

Eliot's complete translation of the metrical psalms ("All the singing songs of David") into the Massachusetts Indian language. In its preparation he probably used, to a certain extent, the New England version or "Bay Psalm Book," which was a translation into English from the Hebrew, originally made by himself, Thomas Welde, and Richard Mather, first printed in 1640, and in a new form, thoroughly revised, by Henry Dunster and Richard Lyon, in 1651.

On the 9th of April, 1663, Mr. Boyle wrote to the Commissioners from London: "vpon Mr. Elliotts motion and the goodnes of the worke; wee haue thought fitt and ordered that the Psalmes of David in meter shalbee printed in the Indian language." Mr. Eliot also wrote, in a letter to Richard Baxter, dated from "Roxbury, this 6th of the 5th [July 6th], 1663," concerning the Indian work: "The Psalmes of David in Metre in their Language, are going now to the Press, which will be some Diversion of me, from a present Attention upon these other proposed Works." The Commissioners accordingly replied to Mr. Boyle's letter on the 18th of September, 1663, as follows: "The bible being finished . . . wee shall Indeavour to Employ him [Marmaduke Johnson] as wee can by printing the psalmes and another little Treatise of Mr. Baxters which Mr. Elliott is translateing into the Indian language . . . Wee haue ordered Mr. Vsher to present youer honors by the next shipp with 20 Coppys of the bible and as many of the Psalmes if printed of before the shippes departure from hence." They were finished at the press, probably, in November or December of the same year. In the treasurer's account presented at the meeting of the Commissioners in September, 1664, was the charge: "To printing the Indian Psalmes 13 sheets at 2 lb. per sheet," 26l. As appended to the bible, they fill just thirteen sheets, including the leaf of rules and the final blank leaf, or 52 leaves in all, signatures A to N in fours. For a fuller description see the collation of the Indian bible with the English title.

Although no separate copies have been found, it is probable that some were bound up in that form, and perhaps with special titles.

Copies: After the completion of the new testament in the autumn or winter of 1681, some copies may have been bound separately for immediate use. The metrical psalms, which were finished in 1682, may also have been appended.

(1) Mr. W. G. Shillaber, Boston, Mass. In modern binding of red morocco, gilt edges. This seems to be the copy which is described among the books belonging to Mr. Henry Stevens, in the catalogue of Mr. Edward A. Crowninshield's library, sold in London, July, 1860 (no. 649), as bound in "crimson morocco extra, gilt edges, the corner of one leaf mended and supplied in fac-simile." It was bought by "Miller" for 6l.15s. Mr. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn, was probably the next owner. At the sale of his library in New York, March, 1884 (no. 888), it was bought for $75 by Mr. Joseph F. Sabin, the bookseller, in the name of "Brevoort." It remained in his possession until June, 1887, when it was sold for $80, through Mr. Charles L. Woodward, to the present owner. This testament was probably taken out of an imperfect copy of the bible.

At the sale of the library of Mr. W. Elliot Woodward, in New York, April, 1869 (no. 6452) "a portion of Eliot's Indian Bible, Second Edition, comprising title page to the New Testament, and the Book of Matthew," bound in brown calf, antique, brought $20.

Signatures, beside the first blank leaf and title, A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, X, Y, Z, Aa to Zz, Aaa to Zzz, Aaaa to Zzzz, Aaaaa to Ooooo, all in fours, and Ppppp in two, for the old testament and list of books; A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, X, Y, Z, Aa, Bb, Cc, Dd, Ee, Ff, Gg, Hh, Ii, Kk, Ll, Mm, Nn, Oo, Pp, Qq, Rr, Ss, Tt, Uu, Xx, and Yy, all in fours, for the new testament and metrical psalms, besides the leaf of rules and final blank leaf. Matthew begins on A2, and Revelation ends on Kk2, verso blank; the metrical psalms begin on Kk3, and end on the verso of Yy4. In the Massachusetts Indian language. See the fac-similes of the two titles, the first page of the metrical psalms, and the first page of the leaf of rules.

The book is printed in double columns, like the first edition, with references at the side and headings in Indian at the top of each column. A full page of text measures 6½ by 4¾ inches, including headings, catchwords, and references, which is an increase in width of one-eighth of an inch. At the beginning of each chapter is a summary in English, not in the first edition. These summaries increase the whole number of leaves to eleven more in the old testament and three more in the new testament, than there are in the edition of 1663-'61. The statement of Mr. Thomas, in his History of Printing in America, that "both editions had title pages in English and Indian," is undoubtedly wrong as far as this edition is concerned, for no copy has been found with an English title, nor is there any probability that one was ever printed. According to Dr. Trumbull, "In printing James I. 26, in the first and second editions of the New Testament, the words 'qut asoekokodtam nehenwonche wuttah,' [but deceiveth his own heart,] were omitted. The omission was discovered before the issue of the second edition of the Old Testament, 1685,—and attention is directed to it, by an erratum, at the bottom of the page containing the names and numbers of the books,—facing the title-page of the New Testament: 'James I. 26. Asuhkaue wenan, ogketash, qut asoekokodtam' etc.—that is, 'After wenan [tongue,] read qut asoekokodtam' &c.'" The above translation of the Indian title is from Dr. Trumbull's Origin and Early Progress of Indian Missions in New England.

In September, 1672, all of the remaining copies of the first edition of the Indian bible were ordered by the Commissioners to be bound. It is probable that the edition was soon exhausted. Many copies were lost or destroyed in the Indian war of 1675-'76. As a new edition was much needed, Mr. Eliot began, about the year 1677, to revise the whole work. He also petitioned the Commissioners to reprint it. From the records it appears that it was resolved, at the meeting held in Plymouth, March 20, 1678, "In reference vnto the Reuerend Mr. Eliotts motion for reprinting the bible in the Indian Language; The Comissioners haneing had some Debate about that matter doe Judge it most expedient to Refer the determination therof to the next-meeting of the Comissioners." Accordingly, when they met again, in Boston, August 25, 1679, "Appeared, the Reverend Mr. John Eliot, and made a motion referring to the re-printing of the Bible." Concerning the extent of Mr. Eliot's labor on the new edition, Dr. Trumbull remarks: "In the revision he was greatly assisted by the Rev. John Cotton, of Plymouth, but it is not true that 'the second edition of the Indian Bible was,' as Cotton Mather asserts, 'wholly of Mr. Cotton's correction and amendment.' Eliot's correspondence with Boyle proves that he was himself actively engaged in the work, though he acknowledges his indebtedness to Mr. Cotton, who, he writes [July 7, 1688] 'has helped me much in the second edition.'" The Rev. Thomas Prince, in the manuscript catalogue of his New England Library, makes the following statement: "Ye Rev Mr John Cotton of Plimouth being well acq^d, wth ye Ind^a Langs was des^d by ye Ind^a Comis^{ns} to correct m^r Eliot's vers^s of 1663; took this method—while a good Reader in his study read ye Eng Bible aloud, M^r Cotton silently look'd along in ye same Place in ye Ind^a Bible: & wh^r He thot of Ind^a words w^e He judg'd c^d express ye sense better, There He substituted y^m. & this 2^d Edit^e is accord^s to M^r Cotton's correction." Mr. Eliot himself, in the Roxbury Church Records (Boston, 1881), p. 196, wrote: "When the Indians were hurried away to an Iland at half an hou^s warning, pore soules in terror y^ei left their goods, books, bibles, only some few caryed y^r bibles, the rest were spoyled & lost. So y^t w^a the wares w^r finishd, & y^ei returned to y^r places y^ei w^r greatly impov^{ish}d, but y^ei especially bewailed y^r want of Bibles, y^e made me meditate upon a 2^d imp^rssion of o^r Bible, & accordingly tooke pains to revise the first edition. I also intreated m^r John Cotton to help in y^e work, he having obtained some ability so to doe, he read over the whole bible, & whatever doubts he had, he writ y^m downe in order, & gave y^m to me, to try y^m & file y^m over among o^r Indians. The desired authority having been obtained, the printing of the new testament was at once begun. This was probably early in 1680. In the summer of the same year the two Labadists, Jasper Dankers and Peter Sluyter, visited Boston and Cambridge, on their return from New Netherland to Holland. The following extract of their journal for July 7th and 8th, 1680, is from the translation made by Mr. Henry C. Murphy: "The best of the ministers whom we have yet heard, is a very old man, named John Eliot, who has charge of the instruction of the Indians in the Christian religion. He has translated the Bible into their language. We had already made inquiries of the booksellers for a copy of it, but it was not to be obtained in Boston. They told us if one was to be had, it would be from Mr. Eliot. We determined to go on Monday to the village where he resided, and was the minister, called Roxbury. . . . 8th, Monday. We went accordingly, about eight o'clock in the morning, to Roxbury, which is three-quarters of an hour from the city. . . . On arriving at his house, he was not there, and we, therefore, went to look around the village, and the vicinity. We found it justly called Rocksbury, for it was very rocky, and had hills entirely of rocks. Returning to his house we spoke to him, and he received us politely. Although he could speak neither Dutch nor French, and we spoke but little English, and were unable to express ourselves in it always, we managed, by means of Latin and English, to understand each other. He was seventy-seven years old, and had been forty-eight years in these parts. He had learned very well the language of the Indians, who lived about there. We asked him for an Indian Bible. He said in the late Indian war, all the Bibles and Testaments were carried away, and burnt or destroyed, so that he had not been able to save any for himself; but a new edition was in press, which he hoped would be much better than the first one, though that was not to be despised. We inquired whether any part of the old or new edition could be obtained by purchase, and whether there was any grammar of that language in English. Thereupon he went and brought us the Old Testament, and also the New Testament, made up with some sheets of the new edition, so that we had the Old and New Testaments complete. He also brought us two or three small specimens of the grammar. We asked him what we should pay him for them; but he desired nothing." The later history of this copy of the old testament is given in the list of copies of the first edition, under no. 39.

On November 4th, 1680, Eliot wrote to the Hon. Robert Boyle: "Our praying Indians, both in the islands, and on the main, are, considered together, numerous; thousands of souls, of whom some true believers, some learners, and some are still infants, and all of them beg, cry, entreat for bibles, having already enjoyed that blessing, but now are in great want. . . . We are at the 19th chap. of the Acts; and when we have impressed the new testament, our commissioners approve of my preparing and impressing also the old." The new testament was finished at the press in the autumn or winter of 1681, and closely followed by the impression of the metrical psalms, which were completed in 1682. Some copies of the book may then have been bound for immediate use, because, according to Mr. Eliot's letter written two years before, the Indians were begging, crying, and entreating for bibles, of which they were in "great want." Dr. Trumbull, however, supposes that "few copies, if any," were "made up separately."

The printing of the old testament was begun in 1682, after the metrical psalms had been finished. On the 15th of March, 1682-3, Mr. Eliot wrote to Boyle: "The great work, that I travel about, is, the printing of the old testament, that they may have the whole bible. They have had the whole, in the first impression, and some of the old they still have, and know the worth and use of it; and therefore they are importunately desirous of the whole. I desire to see it done before I die, and I am so deep in years that I cannot expect to live long; besides, we have but one man (viz. the Indian printer) that is able to compose the sheets, and correct the press, with understanding. For such reasons, so soon as I received the sum of near 40*l.* for the bible work, I presently set the work on foot; and one tenth part, or near is done: we are in Leviticus. I have added some part of my salary to keep up the work, and many more things I might add, as reasons of my urgency in this matter." Three months later, on the 21st of June, 1683, he wrote again: "Your hungry alums do still cry unto your honour for the milk of the word in the whole book of God, and for the bread of life, which they have fed upon in the whole bible, and are very thankful for what they have, and importunately desirous to enjoy the whole book of God. . . . My age makes me importunate. I shall depart joyfully, may I but leave the bible among them, for it is the word of life; and there be some godly souls among them, that live thereby. The work is under great incumbrments and discouragements." On the 27th of November, 1683, in another letter to Boyle, he wrote: "Although my hasty venturing to begin the impression of the old testament before I had your honour's (fiat) may have moved (as some intimate) some disgust, yet I see that your love, bounty and charity, doth still breath out encouragement unto the work, by supplies of 460*l.* unto the work, for which I do return my humble thankfulness to your honour, and take boldness to intreat favour for two requests. First, I pray, that you would please to accept an apology for my haste. I am deep in years, and sundry say, if I do not procure it printed while I live, it is not within the prospect of human reason, whether ever, or when, or how, it may be accomplished. . . . My second humble request is, that you would please to draw a curtain of love over all my failures, because love will cover a multitude of transgressions. The work goeth on now, with more comfort, though we have had many impediments, partly by sickness of the workmen, for it is a very sickly and mortal time with us, as also the rigour of the winter doth now obstruct us. The work goeth on, I praise God; the sabbath is sanctified in many places, and they have still fragments of their old bibles, which they make constant use of." The progress of the work is related in another letter to Boyle, dated April 22, 1684: "The last gift of 400*l.* for the reimpression of the Indian bible doth set a diadem of beauty upon all your former acts of pious charity, and commandeth us to return unto your honours all thankful acknowledgments, according to our abilities. It pleased the worshipful Mr. Stoughton, to give me an intimation, that your honours desired to know the particular present estate of the praying Indians; as also, when Moses's pentateuch is printed, to have some copies sent over, to evidence the real and good progress of the work. . . . As for the sending any numbers of Moses's Pentateuch, I beseech your honours to spare us in that; because so many as we send, so many bibles are maimed, and made incomplete, because they want the five books of Moses. We present your honours with one book, so far as we have gone in the work, and humbly beseech, that it may be acceptable, until the whole be finished; and then the whole impression (which is two thousand) is at your honours command. Our slow progress needeth an apology. We have been much hindered by the sickness this year. Our workmen have been all sick, and we have but few hands, one Englishman, and a boy, and one Indian; and many interruptions and diversions do befall us; and we could do but little this very hard winter."

The old testament appears to have been completed in the autumn of 1685. A brief address was then prepared, "To the Honourable Robert Boyle Esq: Governour, And to the Company, for the Propagation of the Gospel to the Indians in New-England, and Parts adjacent in America," dedicating to them "this second Edition of the Holy Bible" in the Indian language, "much corrected and amended." This dedication, dated "Boston Octob. 23. 1685," and signed by William Stoughton, Joseph Dudley, Peter Bulkley and Thomas Hinckley, was printed on one side of a single leaf, and inserted after the first title in the few presentation copies sent abroad. A contemporary reference to the bible is found in a letter from Samuel Sewall to Stephen Dummer, written from Boston, February 15th, 1683: "The best News that I can think to speak of from America, is, that Mr. John Eliot, through the good hand of God upon him, hath procured a second Edition of the Bible in the Indian Language; so that many Hundreds of them may read the Scriptures." In the summer of 1686, Mr. John Dunton, the London bookseller, made a visit to Mr. Eliot, an account of which he gave in his Life and Errors, as follows: "My next ramble was to Roxbury, in order to visit the Rev. Mr. Elliot, the great Apostle of the Indians. He was pleased to receive me with abundance of respect; and inquired very kindly after Dr. Annesley, my Father-in-law, and then broke out with a world of seeming satisfaction, 'Is my brother Annesley yet alive? Is he yet converting souls to God? Blessed be God for this information before I die.' He presented me with twelve Indian Bibles, and desired me to bring one of them over to Dr. Annesley; as also with twelve 'Speeches of converted Indians,' which himself had published." In a letter to Boyle, dated "Roxbury, August 29, 1686, in the third month of our overthrow," Mr. Eliot wrote: "Our Indian work yet liveth, praised be God; the bible is come forth, many hundreds bound up, and dispersed to the Indians, whose thankfulness I intimate and testify to your honour."

From the preceding extracts of Mr. Eliot's letters it appears that 2,000 copies were printed of this edition. Mr. Eliot acknowledged the receipt of 906*l.*, in three separate payments, for defraying the cost of the work. One of the persons employed on this edition was the Indian called James Printer. He was educated at the Indian school in Cambridge, and had worked as an apprentice on the first edition. Mr. Eliot refers to him as the only man they had who was able to compose the sheets and correct the press with understanding. In 1709 his name appears as joint printer with B. Green of Mayhew's Indian translation of the psalter. About the year 1855, Mr. George Livermore had a few copies of the dedication leaf reprinted separately, nearly in fac-simile, for insertion in the ordinary copies of the bible. The dedication was also reprinted in O'Callaghan's American Bibles, p. 17.

Dr. John G. Shea has furnished the following note relating to the Indian bible: "The volume excited interest in Rome, and a brief of Pope Clement XI. to the archbishop of Saragossa, Aug. 31, 1709, written to excite him to prevent the introduction into Spanish America of a Bible recently translated into an American language by Protestants, evidently refers to this, although it is spoken of as printed in London."

About twenty-five years after the publication of this edition of the bible, certain letters were addressed to the Society in England, recommending that a new edition be printed. The proposition, however, was not received with favor, and in 1710 a report was drawn up showing the inexpediency of such an undertaking. My attention has been called to this interesting document by Dr. Ellsworth Eliot of New York, and it is given below in full:

"Hon^{ble} Sir,—Your Stewards and Serv^{ts} the Commissioners, to whom the hon^{ble} Corporation for propagating the Gospel among our Indians have committed a more immediat and subordinat management of that Affair, we hope do, and shall observe most exactly all your Directions and with all possible conformity. Among your Directions you have been pleased to propose a New Edition of the Indian Bible, in which your orders, if they be continued, will be religiously complied withall. But because it can hardly be well entred upon before we may have some Answer to the Address we now make unto you, We improve the present Opportunity humbly to lay before you the Sentiments which your Commissioners here generally have of the matter; and not they only, but we suppose, the Generality of the more considerat Gentlemen through the Countrey. Indeed the considerations which we have already and almost unawares insinuated, may be of some weight in the matter. For if the printing of the Psalter with the Gospel of John, in so correct a maⁿer as may be for Satisfaction, have taken up so long a time, as above a year; how much time will necessarily go to so great a Work as that Of the whole Bible? For the doing of which also, it will be necessary to take off those persons from their Ministry among the Indians, who are of all men the most essential to the Indian Service. In the mean time 'tis the opinion of many, That as little Money as would be expended on a new Edition of the Bible (and not much more time) would go very far towards bringing them to be a sort of English Generation. It is very sure, The best thing we can do for our Indians is to Anglicise them in all agreeable Instances; and in that of Language, as well as others. They can scarce retain their Language, without a Tincture of other Salvage Inclinations, which do but ill suit, either with the Honor, or with the design of Christianity. The Indians themselves are Divided in the Desires upon this matter. Though some of their aged men are tenacious enough of Indianisme (which is not all to be wondred at) Others of them as earnestly wish that their people may be made English as fast as they can. The Reasons they assign for it are very weighty ones; and this among the rest, That their Indian Tongue is a very penurious one (though the Words are long enough!) and the great things of our Holy Religion brought unto them in it, unavoidably arrive in Terms that are scarcely more intelligible to them than if they were entirely English. But the English Tongue would presently give them a Key to all our Treasures and make them the Masters of another sort of Library than any that ever will be seen in their Barbarous Linguo. And such

of them as can speak English, find themselves vastly accommodated for the entertaining and communicating of Knowledge, beyond what they were before. And it is hoped, That by good English Schools among the Indians, and some other fit methods, the grand intention of Anglicising them would be soon accomplished. The Truth is, when we sit down and count the cost, we much suspect our Ability to go through the Cost of printing the Bible; and yet supporting the annual expences which must be born on other Accounts, or else the Evangelical work among the Indians fall to the ground. That which adds a very great weight unto the Scale we are upon, is this: The Indians, though their number and their distance be now so small, do considerably differ in their Dialect. The former Editions of the Bible were in the Natick Dialect. But if it be done in the Noop Dialect, which would best suit the most valuable body of our surviving Indians, those on the Main, and at Nantucket would not understand it so well as they should. The Books written by two eminent Preachers in their Tongue, the Indians complain of a Difference in them that is considerable. Their Language is also continually changing; old words wearing out, and new ones coming on. And a discreet person whom we lately employed in a visitation of the Indian Villages, inserts this as one article of his Report, about this particular matter.

“There are many words of Mr. Elliott’s forming which they never understood. This they say is a grief to them. Such a knowledge in their Bibles, as our English ordinarily have in ours, they seldom any of them have; and there seems to be as much difficulty to bring them unto a competent knowledge of the Scriptures, as it would be to get a sensible acquaintance with the English Tongue.”

“Your Commissioners in general were not acquainted with the Letters that went from certain particular Gentlemen here, which gave the Representation that has solicited your excellent charity to run into that Chanel of a New Edition for the Indian Bible. We therefore thought it our Duty to throw in our own Representation on the other side, that so the more consummat Wisdom and Judgment of the Corporation may weigh all things, and proceed thereupon to their final Resolutions. When those are made known unto us, what ever they shall be, we shall think it our Duty to fall in with them, and pursue them to the uttermost.

“That none of the Ministers who belong to our number, Sign with us, is owing to their Indisposition upon weighty Reasons, to think it proper for them to declare themselves peremptorily one way or other on the subject.”— field had it of his Brother Fitch, who gave it him to shew Mr. Sergeant, which he did in the Council-Chamber 9^r. 11th., 1710. S.”— Samuel Sewall’s Letter Book, in the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society, sixth series, vol. I, p. 400-403.

The name Virginice or Virginian was wrongly applied, by several European writers of the seventeenth century, to Mr. Eliot’s version of the bible in the Massachusetts Indian language, and the error has been repeated in many catalogues and other works. The same term was also used in the polyglot collections of the Lord’s prayer or Oratio Dominica published by Andreas Müller in 1680, Benjamin Motte in 1700, Johann Ulrich Krause in 1712, John Chamberlayne in 1715, and by others. The assignment of this version of the Lord’s prayer to Virginia did not pass without criticism from a New England scholar. Paul Dudley, the attorney-general of the province of Massachusetts, wrote to John Chamberlayne soon after receiving his work, as follows:

“You shall now allow me as a N. E. man to Expostulate with you concerning one of your versions of the Lord’s prayer, viz. that which you call Virginice.

“First I have noe [knowledge] that anything of that nature was done either by or in that colony.

“2. The Whole Bible (besides other small Religious pieces) was Translated by famous Mr Eliot into the Indian Language, and upon Examination I find yours to be literatim the same and it must be taken from Mr. Eliot’s bible, for the Virginia Indians, the Albany Indians at New York or the Mohawks and our Indians of this province use very different Dialects and hardly understand one another, and therefore if I had happened to have been with you when you had Entitled that Translation it should not have run Virginice [but] Indice ut inter Indos Novangliæ loquitur Ex versione Johannis Elioti.” The above extract of Dudley’s letter has been furnished by Dr. George H. Moore.

Copies: Nine of these (nos. 5, 9, 13, 15, 32, 35, 40, 47, and 51) contain the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, which was inserted in the few presentation copies sent abroad. Several others (nos. 1, 6, 12, 24, 26, 36, 50, and 53), of which no particular descriptions have been obtained, perhaps contain the dedication also. The copies issued for the use of the Indians are without it.

is the following manuscript note: "American Antiquarian Society from Col: James W. Sever, Decr. 4. 1858." A reprint of the leaf of dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle is inserted. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Edmund M. Barton.

(3) Library of the American Antiquarian Society, Worcester, Mass. A second copy, in old calf binding, lacking the general title, the first leaf of Genesis, 38 leaves at the end of the new testament or all after signature Z (2d Corinthians xiii. 4 to the end of Revelation), and the whole of the metrical psalms. It contains the autograph of an Indian owner, "Josiah Spotscher his Bible," who was perhaps a relative of Daniel Spotsno, one of the Indian preachers at Nantucket in 1698. Numerous manuscript notes in the same hand are scattered through the volume. This copy is not mentioned in the catalogue of the society's library printed in 1837, but it is probably the one referred to in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol 2, p. 277. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Edmund M. Barton.

(4) Library of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia, Pa. In old leather binding, lacking the general title and some other leaves, but containing the leaf of contents, the Indian new testament title, and the final leaf of rules. At the front of the volume is bound a copy of Eliot's Indian Grammar (Cambridge, 1666), pp. 66, on the title of which is the autograph of Ebenezer Hazard, the historian (born 1744, died 1817), who perhaps gave it to the library of the society. Other manuscript names have been erased from the title. See the Catalogue of the Library of the American Philosophical Society (Philadelphia, 1824), p. 72, where it is entered as follows: "537 Q. Mamusse Wunnetupanatamwe, &c. The Bible and New Testament, translated into the Massachusetts Indian language, by John Eliot. With an Indian grammar prefixed. Cambridge, (Mass.) 1666." Below this is another entry: "538. The same, second edition. Cambridge, (Mass.) 1680." This is the only copy of the Indian bible in the library of the society. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Henry Phillips, jr., in letter of December 13, 1889.

(5) Library of Andover Theological Seminary, Andover, Mass. In the original calf binding, lettered on the back: SS. BIBLIA | INDICA N. | ANGL. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. At the top of the first title is written the name, "Thomas Fayerweather's 1773," which has been crossed through with ink. Below it is written, in a different hand, apparently, "Bot. at Vendue." On the blank leaf preceding the title is written: "E. Pearson's, Presented by Thomas Fayerweather, Esq. 1800." This was probably the Rev. Eliphalet Pearson, LL. D. (born 1752, died 1826), preceptor of Phillips Academy at Andover from 1778 to 1786, professor of Hebrew and See the Catalogue of the Library of the Theol. Seminary (Andover, 1838), p. 146, where the title of this copy is given. Information furnished by the librarian, William L. Ropes, in letters of December 20, 1889, and January 23, 1890.

See the Catalogus Librorum Impressorum Bibliothecæ Bodleianæ (Oxonii, 1843), vol. 1, p. 259, where it is briefly entered under the heading of version Virginianæ, below the edition of 1663, as follows: "and 4^o. (7) Library of the Boston Athenæum, Boston, Mass. In modern leather binding. It is mentioned, together with no. 8, in Mr. George Livermore's manuscript list, made about the year 1855. See the Catalogue of the Library of the Boston Athenæum. (Boston, 1874), vol. 1, p. 270.

(8) Library of the Boston Athenæum, Boston, Mass. A second copy, in modern leather binding, lacking 16 leaves in the old testament, or signatures Uuu to Zzz (Psalms xvii to lxxx), and the leaf of rules at the end. On the verso of the new testament title is a manuscript note in Indian, signed: "Neit pasuk | Na | his x mark | Co." On the verso of the first blank leaf is written: "Presented to the Boston Athenæum | by Christopher Gore Esqr." The donor of this volume (born 1758, died 1827), was graduated at Harvard College in 1776, district attorney for Massachusetts from 1789 to 1796, commissioner of the United States to England in 1796, governor of Massachusetts in 1809-1810, and United States senator from 1813 to 1816. This is probably the copy referred to in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. See the Catalogue of the Library of the Boston Athenæum (Boston, 1874), vol. 1, p. 270.

(9) Boston Public Library, Boston, Mass. In the Prince collection, press mark 21. 5. In the original leather binding. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. Inside of the first cover is written: "Grindal Rawson Ejus Liber, 1714." The Rev. Mr. Rawson (born 1659, died 1715), was minister of the church in Mendon from 1680 until his death. He was well acquainted with the Indian language, into which he translated several works. The bible was afterwards in the possession of the Rev. Thomas Prince, who included it in his "New-England Library," which was bequeathed by will to the Old South Church in Boston at his death in 1758. A brief historical notice of this collection is given in the note to no. 21 of the list of bibles of 1663. In the year 1814 about three hundred volumes of the Prince collection, including this copy of the bible, were deposited in the rooms of the Massachusetts Historical Society, where they remained until 1859, when they were removed to the Old South Chapel. In 1866, the entire Prince collection was deposited in the Boston Public Library. Mr. George Livermore was the first to call attention to the leaf of dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, about the year 1855, at which time this copy was supposed to be the only one containing it. See the Catalogue of the Library of Rev. Thomas Prince (Boston, 1846), p. 101, where this bible is briefly mentioned; and the Catalogue of the American Portion of the Library of the Rev. Thomas Prince (Boston, 1868), no. 111, where it is described as containing an apostrophe in the first word of the title (Mamus'se) which is not found in other copies. This apostrophe, however, is probably not original. See also the complete catalogue of The Prince Library (Boston, 1870), p. 6. For another copy containing Mr. Rawson's autograph, see no. 33 of this list.

(10) Library of Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. In the original leather binding, lacking the leaf of rules at the end, and showing marks of much use. On the blank page of the leaf of contents between the old and new testaments is written: "Samuel Miller's, Esq. | Book. Given him by | his Dear Deceased father | Stephen Minott. Anno | 1729." Stephen Minot was born in 1662. He was a merchant in Boston, and one of the original founders of Brattle Street Church in 1699. His daughter Rebecca (born 1697) was married to Samuel Miller in 1724. The bible was afterwards owned by Thomas Wallcutt (born 1758, died 1840), who was educated in the school of Dr. Wheelock, of Hanover, New Hampshire, and went as a missionary to the St. Francis Indians. About eight hundred volumes from his library, including the Indian bible, were presented to Bowdoin College through the influence of the Rev. William Allen, who was president of that institution from 1820 to 1839. This copy is described in the Historical Magazine (May, 1859), vol. 3, p. 158; and (February, 1861), vol. 5, p. 59. See also the Catalogue of the Library of Bowdoin College (Brunswick, 1863), p. 65. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. George T. Little, in letter of December 16th, 1889.

(11) Library of the late George Brinley, Hartford, Conn. A copy lacking the general title, the last leaf of the metrical psalms, and the final leaf of rules, which are supplied in facsimile. It contains the autograph of Zachariah Mayhew, 1759 (born 1717, died 1806). He was a son of Experience Mayhew, and minister of the Indians on Martha's Vineyard for many years. It was also owned by the Rev. William Jenks (born 1778, died 1866), minister of the Congregational church in Green street, Boston, and at the sale of his library in that city, December, 1867 (no. 2273), was purchased for $300, by Dr. Trumbull, probably for Mr. Brinley.

See the Historical Magazine (December, 1867), second series, vol. 2, pp. 391, 392. Dr. Trumbull refers to it as one of Mr. Brinley's copies, in the Memorial History of Boston (Boston, 1880), vol. 1, p. 471. In another place he adds: "Between the leaves of one of Mr. Brinley's copies was found an autograph letter from Zachary Hossueit, an Indian preacher at Gayhead, Martha's Vineyard, to Solomon Briant, the pastor of the Indian church at Marshpee ('Mespeh'), written in 1766." The book will perhaps be sold with the fifth portion of Mr. Brinley's library. The four other copies of this edition which were in his collection are described under nos. 15, 33, 44 and 54 of this list. See also no. 52.

(12) Library of the British and Foreign Bible Society, London. No description has been obtained of this copy. See Bullen's Catalogue of the Library of the British and Foreign Bible Society (London, 1857), p. 59.

(13) Library of the British Museum, London. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. It was purchased from a Mrs. George, of Bristol, in April, 1889. Information furnished by Mr. R. N. Bain, in letter of May 9, 1889.

(14) Library of the late John Carter Brown, Providence, R. I. It is mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. See also Mr. Bartlett's Catalogue of Books relating to North and South America in the Library of John Carter Brown (Providence, 1866), part 2, no. 947; and the enlarged edition of the same catalogue (Providence, 18-2), part. 2, no. 1312.

(15) Library of the late John Carter Brown, Providence, R. I. A second copy. "in the original calf binding, well preserved, back gilt, lettered SS. BIBLIA INDICA NOVÆ ANGLIÆ." Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{7}{8}$ by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. It once belonged to Henry Hastings, fourth and last marquis of Hastings, and was kept in his library, Donington Park, Leicestershire, England. After his death in 1868, the library was sold by auction at Nottingham, December 29, 1868. According to Dr. Trumbull, the Indian bible is not named in the catalogue, but is known to have been one of the "three others" lumped with lot 33, "Biblia Hebraica, Oxon. 1750," etc. A writer in the New York Evening Mail for April 20, 1869, states that the lot containing the bible was bought by Mr. Quaritch for 2*l.* 10*s.* He offered it for sale in April, 1869 (249 Catalogue, no. 560), for 120*l.* It was purchased by Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, and at the sale of the first portion of his library in New York, March, 1879 (no. 789), was bought for \$500 by Dr. Trumbull, from whom it passed to the Hon. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn. After Mr. Murphy's death, the bible was sold with his library by auction in New York, March, 1884 (no. 884), when Mr. Bartlett purchased it for \$950, for the Brown collection.

(16) Congregational Library, Boston, Mass. In modern parchment binding, lacking the general title, the first 16 leaves of the old testament or signatures A to D (Genesis i to xxxiii), 46 leaves of the metrical psalms or signatures L3 to Yy4 (Psalms xviii. 15 to the end), and the final leaf of rules. Several leaves are also lacking in the Psalms, one in Hosea (Kkkkk2), one in Hebrews (Ee4), and leaves in other places. Many leaves are mutilated, including the new testament title. The volume appears to have been made up from two imperfect copies of the same edition, the first portion comprising from Genesis xxxiv (sig. E) to Hosea ix. 10 (Kkkkk1), and the second portion from Hosea xiii. 5 (Kkkkk3) to Psalm xviii. 14 of the metrical version (L12), inclusive. On a blank page at the end of the old testament is written, "James Esop his book," and a little below, "Thomas Egen." The date 1670 also appears in some Indian writing. There are also manuscript notes in Indian scattered through the book. This copy is mentioned in the Historical Magazine (November, 1858), vol. 2, p. 343; and also in Dr. Dexter's bibliography of Congregationalism (no. 1903), appended to his Congregationalism . . . as seen in its Literature (New York, 1880), at which time it was supposed to be of the first edition. Information furnished by Rev. Henry M. Dexter, in letter of December 9, 1889; and by Rev. William H. Cobb, in letter of January 6, 1890.

(17) Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. In modern calf binding, with marbled edges, lettered on the back: UP BIBLUM GOD. J. ELLIOT. 1685. It lacks the last 9 leaves of the metrical psalms or signatures U4 to Yy4 (Psalm cxix. 49 to the end), and the final leaf of rules. The headlines and marginal text of some pages have been partly cut away by the binder's knife. Some extracts from Duponceau and Mayhew are written on the blank leaves at the beginning. On the title is written: "McKean. 1809." This was without doubt the Rev. Joseph McKean (born 1776, died 1818), minister of the Congregational church in Milton, Mass., from 1797 to 1804, and afterwards Boylston professor of rhetoric and oratory in Harvard College. At the sale of his library in Boston, August, 1818 (no. 112), the bible brought $4.50. This may be the same copy that was sold with the library of George F. Guild, Esq., in Boston, October, 1853 (no. 650), for $30. On the recto of the first blank leaf is written, "$30.00." It was afterwards owned by Mr. Peter Force, the historian (born 1790, died 1868), and is mentioned as being in his possession in the Historical Magazine (August, 1859), vol. 3, p. 254. It was sold with his collection of books and manuscripts to the Library of Congress in 1867. See the Catalogue of Books added to the (18) Library of the Connecticut Historical Society, Hartford, Conn. No exact description has been obtained of this copy, but it is supposed to be still in the possession of the society. It is said to be "nearly complete," but it probably lacks the general title and some leaves at the beginning and end. According to Dr. Trumbull, "in many places, particularly the books of Genesis and Isaiah and the Psalms, the paper is fairly worn out by use." The book contains several autographs of an Indian owner, probably of Martha's Vineyard: "Nen elisha you noosoquowonk," i. e., "I, Elisha, this my writing," and once, "thes my piple" (bible). In 1698, there were two Indian preachers at Gayhead, on Martha's Vineyard, named respectively Abel and Elisha, the latter of whom was perhaps the owner of this volume. On the blank page between the old and new testaments is written: "Rec^d from the Rev^d Mr. Experience Mayhew by Mr. Ebenezer Allien, April, 1719." This copy of the bible, together with no. 19, was probably once owned by the Rev. Thomas Robbins, whose library was presented to the Connecticut Historical Society in 1844. See the note to the following number. It is briefly described by Dr. Trumbull in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 308; and again more fully in the Memorial History of Boston (Boston, 1880), vol. 1, p. 472.

(19) Library of the Connecticut Historical Society, Hartford, Conn. A second copy, more imperfect than the other, is or was in this society's library. No description of it has been obtained, but it is briefly mentioned by Dr. Trumbull in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 308. These two copies (nos. 18 and 19) were probably owned by the Rev. Thomas Robbins, D. D., who was born in 1777, and died in 1856. From 1808 to 1827, he was minister of the south parish of East Windsor, Connecticut, in which place he began the formation of the extensive library which he presented to the Connecticut Historical Society in 1844. In 1832 he was installed pastor of the church in Mattapoisett, in the town of Rochester, Massachusetts, where he remained for nearly thirteen years. On the 24th of July, 1838, he visited a Captain Baylies, at Edgartown, on Martha's Vineyard, and looked at his father's books. In his diary for July 25th, he writes: "Mr. Baylies let me have ten old books, including a broken Eliot's Bible. Paid his mother, $7.00." On the 27th, after his return to Mattapoisett, he writes: "Looked over my old books. Find that I have got parts of three copies of the Indian Bible." In August of the same year, he visited the Rev. Phineas Fish, minister of the Indians at Cotuit, in the Marshpee district, and "paid him for an Eliot's Indian Bible, imperfect, $5.00." See the Diary of Thomas Robbins, D. D. (Boston, 1886), vol. 2, pp. 502, 505.

(20) Library of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H. A copy lacking the general title, the last leaf of the metrical psalms, and the final leaf of rules. This is perhaps the copy mentioned in Mr. Nathaniel Paine's list, printed in 1873. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. M. D. Bisbee, in letters of January 7th and 31st, 1890.

(21) Library of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H. A second copy, lacking the general title, several leaves at the beginning and end of the old testament, the last 27 leaves of the metrical psalms or all after Psalm lxxiii, and the final leaf of rules. On one of the leaves is inscribed: "Sarah Perry Her Indgans Bible written in New England in the years 1717," etc. The name of David Lyon is also written on the same page. In another place is a manuscript note by Thomas Perry, dated 1723. The following inscription is found on another page: "The Exrs. of the Wido Perry Late of Roxbury present this Bible to Mr Pebody for the Sarues of the Endians under His Care in natek." Below this is written in a different hand: "The Widow Perry Presents this Bible to Mr Pebody for the indians under his care in Roxbery." The Rev. Oliver Peabody (born 1698, died 1752), was sent in 1721 as a missionary to the Indians in Natick, who were then without a church or minister. In 1729, a new church was formed there, consisting partly of English and partly of Indians, and Mr. Peabody was regularly ordained as its pastor. Here he remained until his death, with the exception of one season when he was employed as a missionary to the Mohegan tribe of Indians in Connecticut. By his exertions, "the Indians were so improved in regard to their education, that many of them could read and write as well as understand the English language." Information furnished by Mr. M. D. Bisbee, in letters of January 7th and 23d, 1890.

(22) Rev. Henry M. Dexter, Boston, Mass. A fragment (less than half) of a copy of the second edition. It lacks all before 1st Kings vi. 21 (Tt3), all of the new testament excepting a few leaves, and the whole of the metrical psalms. It is mentioned in Dr. Dexter's bibliography of Congregationalism (no. 1903), appended to his Congregationalism . . . as seen in its Literature (New York, 1880), at which time it was supposed to be of the first edition. Information furnished by Dr. Dexter, in letters of December 9th, 1889, and January 25th, 1890.

(23) Mr. Wilberforce Eames, Brooklyn, N. Y. In modern half leather binding, lacking the general title, the first four leaves of Genesis (chap. i to ix, 27) or signature A, a portion of one leaf in Lamentations (Zzz4), and the leaf of contents, all of which have been supplied in fac-simile. The text of several pages has been slightly cut into by the binder's knife. On the verso of the new testament title is written: "Ebenezer Cussens of Eastham | Aug. 24. 1728," the first line of which is repeated in another hand. There was a John Cosens, an Indian preacher and schoolmaster at Monamoyick, near Eastham, in 1698, who may have been a relative. On the same page is the following inscription, apparently written by another person: "nen Laben hogsuit [or hos-suit?] ye notoun pipien | June 11 tays year 1747. | nutunumunkqun Solomon pinnion | annotu 4 Poun | keep my Commantment." There are also many Indian words in manuscript scattered through the metrical psalms, which appear to be variations or different spellings of certain printed words. The bible was also once owned by Mr. Gabriel Furman (born 1800, died 1854), who was justice of the Brooklyn municipal court from 1827 to 1830, state senator from 1839 to 1842, the author and editor of several historical works, and a well-known book collector. At the sale of his library in New York, December, 1846 (no. 1741), the book was purchased by Alexander W. Bradford for $11. Mr. Bradford (born 1815, died 1867), whose autograph is on one of the blank leaves, was surrogate of New York city and county from 1848 to 1851, a well known jurist, and the author of the work entitled American Antiquities, published in 1841. At the sale of his library in New York, March, 1868 (no. 67), it brought $95. Mr. Jaques, one of the executors of Mr. Bradford's will, being announced as the purchaser. Shortly after, it came into the hands of Mr. Sabin, the bookseller, who sold it to Mr. John A. Rice, of Chicago. While in Mr. Rice's possession, the leaf of contents was probably taken out, and inserted in his copy of the first edition, no. 12 of the list of bibles of 1663. At the sale of his collection of books in New York, March, 1870 (no. 663), it brought $120. The next owner was Dr. Edmund B. O'Callaghan, the historian (born 1797, died 1880). It is mentioned as being in his possession, in Mr. Paine's list, printed in 1873. When Dr. O'Callaghan's books were sold in New York, December, 1882 (no. 851), the bible was purchased by the present owner for $140.

(24) Library of Edinburgh University, Edinburgh. No exact description has been obtained of this copy. It is referred to as follows in Dr. John Snall's introduction to his reprint of Eliot's Indian Primer (Edinburgh, 1877), p. xxviii: "It may be interesting here to state that a fine copy of this second edition of the Indian Bible in the original binding, and in all probability presented by Eliot to the celebrated Quaker, Robert Barclay [born 1648, died 1690], was, on the dispersion of the family library of the Barclays of Ury a few years ago, secured for the Library of the University of Edinburgh. In 1682 Barclay received from Charles II. the nominal appointment of Governor of East Jersey in North America."

(25) Ellsworth Eliot, M. D., New York. In modern morocco binding, lacking one leaf in Genesis from chap. vii. 12 to ix. 27 (A4), and four leaves in the metrical psalms from ex. 3 to cxix. 102 (sig. Uu), all of which have been supplied in fac-simile. A number of leaves which were stained, torn, or cut into, have been neatly repaired. On the recto of the leaf of contents are the three following inscriptions, apparently in the handwriting of as many different persons: first, "Asaph his Book | Asaph his Bible Sent to | Exp. Mayhew;" second, "Rec^d from the Rev^d. Mr. Mayhew from Martha's Vineyard, March 22. 1733;" and third, "att february the 14 year 1749 oobible Zachary | hossveit gayhead nohtompeantog." Zachary Hossveit was an Indian preacher at Gayhead, on Martha's Vineyard. Two other bibles which may have been in his possession are described under nos. 11 and 45 of this list. On the verso of the last leaf of Revelation is written: "I am Zacry Zacry ad Gay head. I have | sad my name ad March the 13. 1733;" and below, "att february the 14 year 1749 | oobible Zachary hossveit Gayhead | nohtompeantog." Manuscript notes in Indian are also found on the verso of the new testament title, on the recto of the last leaf of Revelation, and in many other places on the margins. About the year 1885, while in half leather binding of the present century, and before the missing leaves had been supplied, it came into the possession of Henry Sotheran & Co., the London booksellers, who offered it for sale to several American dealers. After it had been repaired and rebound, the bible was sent to Messrs. George A. Leavitt & Co., and sold in the second portion of the "Trivulzio Collection," in New York, February, 1888 (no. 1163), for $280, at which price it was bought in by the auctioneers. It was then offered at private sale for $350, and was finally catalogued with the "Del Monte Library," and sold in New York, June, 1888 (no. 560), for $230, to the present owner, who is a lineal descendant, in the sixth generation, of the "Apostle of the Indians."

(26) Library of Glasgow University, Glasgow. No description has been obtained of this copy. See Dr. John Small's introduction to his reprint of Eliot's Indian Primer (Edinburgh, 1877), p. xxviii, note.

(27) Mr. C. F. Gunther, Chicago, Ill. In modern binding of purple morocco. At the top of the first title, which is mounted, is the autograph of an early owner, Josiah Cotton (born 1680, died 1756), for nearly forty years a preacher to the Indians in their own language, and the author of a vocabulary of the Natick dialect. He was a son of the Rev. John Cotton, of Boston, who aided Mr. Eliot in the revision of this edition. The bible came afterwards into the possession of the Rev. Thaddeus Mason Harris (born 1768, died 1842), who was minister of the first Unitarian church in Dorchester from 1793 to 1836. At the sale of his library in Boston, January 26th, 1843 (p. 11), it appeared as, "Eliot,

John. Indian Bible. 4to. Cambridge. 1685," and was purchased by Mr. Edward A. Crowninshield for $39. See the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society for 1867-69, p. 427. Information concerning the Harris catalogue furnished by Mr. Wm. H. Tillinghast, in letter of December 4th, 1889. After Mr. Crowninshield's death in 1859, the bible was catalogued to be sold by auction with his library in Boston, in November, 1859 (no. 380), where it was described as bound in morocco. The auction sale, however, did not take place in Boston, as the entire collection was bought by Mr. Henry Stevens, and taken by him to London, where the rarest books were withdrawn, and the remainder sold by auction, in July, 1860. The bible was sold, probably at private sale, to the earl of Crawford and Balcarres. In Prothero's Memoir of Henry Bradshaw (London, 1888), p. 328, is the following anecdote of that learned librarian of Cambridge, which seems to relate to this copy of the bible: "The readiness and accuracy of his bibliographical knowledge were astonishing. Many years ago, when he was as yet only a beginner, he gave a remarkable proof of this. It was in the year 1861. He happened to be in Mr. Quaritch's shop in Piccadilly, when that well-known bookseller received a request from the late Earl of Crawford and Balcarres for a 'collation,' i. e. a bibliographical description, of a very rare book, the Virginian or Massachusetts Bible, a large folio in two volumes, printed in Charles II's reign. Not being able to lay his hand on any collation of the book, Mr. Quaritch referred to Bradshaw, who at once wrote down a complete collation of the book from memory. It was sent to Lord Crawford the same evening, and proved to be quite correct. Any one who knows what the collation of such a book is, will be able to appreciate the feat." The earl of Crawford died in 1869. The present earl, James Ludovic Lindsay, succeeded to the title in the year 1880. At the sale of the first portion of his library in London, June, 1887 (no. 493), the bible was bought for 40l. by Mr. Quaritch, who advertised it for sale in August, 1887 (375 Catalogue, no. 38489), for 60l. It was finally purchased by Mr. Gunther.

(28) Library of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. Presented to the library some time before the year 1800. On one of the blank leaves is a pencil copy of an inscription said to be taken from the bible once owned by Professor Ebeling, as given below. See the Catalogue of the Library of Harvard University (Cambridge, 1830), vol. 1, p. 250.

In 1818, Mr. Israel Thorndike, of Boston, purchased the library of Dr. Christoph Daniel Ebeling, the German historian, of Hamburg (born 1741, died 1817), and presented it to Harvard University. This collection of books contained a copy of the Indian bible of 1685, which appears to have been exchanged as a duplicate. At a meeting of the corporation of Harvard

College on June 22, 1819, the president and librarian were authorized "to exchange one of the copies of Eliot's Indian Bible for other books of the Treasurer, (Hon. John Davis)." On one of the blank leaves of this copy was the manuscript inscription referred to above: "Biblia Sacra in linguam Indorum Americanae gentis Totop Natick translata a Johanne Eliot Missionario Anglicano. Impressa Cantabrigiae Novae Angliae oppido. Liber summae raritatis. V. Clement. Bibl. cur. T. iv. Freytag Analecta." This bible I have not yet been able to trace or identify. Mr. Davis died in 1847, and it is possible that the book may be in the possession of his heirs. Information furnished by Mr. Wm. H. Tillinghast, in letters of November 21st, 1889, and February 15th, 1890.

(29) Mr. Lucius L. Hubbard, Cambridge, Mass. Bound in morocco, by F. Bedford. This copy formerly lacked about a dozen leaves, which were supplied out of another copy (no. 30), before the book was rebound, so that it is now complete and in very fair condition. On one of the blank leaves at the end is written: "Samson Occom ooskcoweeg Sept. 7^o 27 AD: 1748;" also, "Tho^s Shaw's;" and in the upper corner, "17. 6. 53." Below these names is the inscription: "Purchased of the Rev^d Samson Occom by Thomas Shaw Esquire of New London & by him presented to Yale College Library, A. D. 1790." On the following blank leaf is also written: "Samson Occom Ooskcoweeg AD: 1748." The former owner of this bible, Samson Occom (born about 1723, died 1792), a noted Indian preacher, was converted to Christianity about the year 1740. In 1748, he began to teach the Indians at New London, Conn., and not long after removed to Montauk on Long Island. In 1766, he visited England, where he delivered a large number of sermons and attracted much attention. After his return to America, he continued his work among the Indians until his death. The next owner, Thomas Shaw, was a prominent citizen of New London, of which he was one of the first aldermen after its incorporation as a city in 1784. This bible is probably the one mentioned in Mr. Bartlett's list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277, as being at that time in the library of Yale College. In 1883, this copy, which already lacked several leaves, was sold as a duplicate to the present owner, through Mr. D. G. Francis, the bookseller, after four other leaves had been taken out of it to complete the bible still preserved in the college library. Information furnished by Mr. Hubbard, in letter of January 9th, 1890, and by Mr. Van Name, in letter of January 29th, 1890.

(30) Mr. Lucius L. Hubbard, Cambridge, Mass. A second copy, without binding, lacking beginning and end, and many leaves in other places. It was once owned by Mr. Henry R. Schoolcraft, and some time after his death in 1864, came into the possession of Mr. Thomas W. Field, of Brooklyn. At the sale of Mr.

Field's library in New York, May, 1875, (no. 617), where it was described as "wanting beginning and end, and otherwise imperfect," it brought $35, and was purchased for the library of Yale College. In 1883, it was sold as a duplicate, together with no. 29, to the present owner, through Mr. D. G. Francis. About a dozen more leaves were taken out of it to complete no. 29. Information furnished by Dr. Ellsworth Eliot; and by Mr. Hubbard, in letter of January 9th, 1890.

(31) Rev. John F. Hurst, D. D., bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Washington, D. C. In modern binding of purple morocco, extra, by Zaehndorf. This copy was offered for sale by Mr. Bernard Quaritch in April, 1884 (352 Catalogue, no. 15998), for 120*l.*; and again in April, 1887 (373 Catalogue, no. 37870), for 105*l.* It was afterwards consigned to Mr. J. W. Bouton, the New York bookseller, who sold it to the present owner at a reduced price.

(32) Charles R. King, M. D., Andalusia, Pa. In modern leather binding. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. It was once owned by the Hon. Rufus King (born 1755, died 1827), a member of Congress from 1784 to 1786, and United States minister to England from 1796 to 1803. He purchased it in London about the year 1802, and had it there rebound, and wrote upon one of the blank leaves an extract from Douglass's British Settlements in North-America. It was next owned by his son, the Hon. John A. King, of Jamaica, N. Y. (born 1788, died 1867), who was a member of Congress in 1849, and governor of New York from 1857 to 1859. From him it passed to his son, the present owner. Information furnished by Dr. King, in letter of January 4th, 1890.

(33) Mr. Levi Z. Leiter, Washington, D. C. In modern binding of blue levant morocco, sides filleted and paneled, and enclosed in a dark green morocco box. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{7}{8}$ by 6 inches, nearly. It lacks the leaf of rules at the end and the final blank leaf, but has the general title and its accompanying blank leaf in duplicate, at the end of the old testament. The presence of these duplicate leaves is explained by Mr. Henry Stevens, in a note printed in the Brinley catalogue, as follows: "Sheet Ppppp, the end of the Old Testament, is bound up as originally printed; that is, Ppppp1 is the end of the O. T., ending on the reverse; Ppppp2 is a blank leaf; Ppppp3 is the title to the Old and New Testament, reverse blank; and Ppppp4 is blank on the recto, and has the List of the Books on the verso. The cut-out of the two middle leaves of this sheet, then makes the blank leaf and the title at the front of the book. In this copy, these two leaves are in duplicate, and as clean and fresh as they were in 1685." On the upper corner of the first title is written, according to Dr. Trumbull, the autograph of "Jo. Baily. Jan. 1. [16]89 N.E." This was the Rev. John Baily (born 1644, died 1697), who was minister of the church in Watertown from 1685 to 1692, when he removed to Boston. The next owner was probably Mr. Edward Rawson, the former secretary of Massachusetts colony, who died in 1693. He gave it to his son, whose autograph is on the blank leaf preceding the title, as follows: "Grindall Rawson | His Indian Bible | Given him By his Father | 1712." The Rev. Grindall Rawson (born 1659, died 1715), minister of the church in Mendon from 1680 until his death, was well acquainted with the Indian language, into which he translated several works. The bible was afterwards in the possession of Mr. Henry Stevens, of London, who had it rebound. From him it was purchased in 1871 by Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, Conn., at the sale of whose library in New York, March, 1879 (no. 790), it was bought by Mr. Leiter for \$500. For the description of another copy of this edition containing Mr. Rawson's autograph, see no. 9 of this list.

(34) Lenox Library, New York. In modern binding of blue morocco, gilt edges. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{3}{8}$ by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches. This copy was owned by the Rev. Edward Craven Hawtrej, provost of Eton College (born 1789, died 1862), and contains the following inscription in his handwriting on a blank page at the beginning: "Of this Translation of the Bible another edition was printed in the year [1663] at Cambridge in Virginia. A copy of this Book was formerly in my Possession and given by me to the Hon: E. Everett, the accomplished Minister of the United States to Gr: Britain in 1842. Mr Everett was formerly Professor of Greek in the College of Cambridge. E. H." See no. 26 of the list of bibles of 1663. At the sale of a portion of Dr. Hawtrej's library in London, July, 1853 (no. 425), the bible was purchased for 22l. by Mr. Henry Stevens, for Mr. Lenox. Mr. Lenox's description of this copy was printed in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 308.

(35) Lenox Library, New York. A second copy, in modern binding of dark blue morocco, gilt and blind tooled, gilt edges, by Hayes of Oxford. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{3}{8}$ by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches. With many untrimmed leaves. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. It is perhaps the same copy that was advertised about the year 1872 or 1873, in a List of Scarce and Valuable Books relative to America, on sale by John Bohn, Bookseller, 5, High Street, Canterbury, England, p. 1, where it is described as a "Fine and very large copy, with rough leaves, in blue morocco extra, blind-tooled in the old style, gilt edges," and priced (in ink) at 150l., but without any mention of the dedication leaf. In March, 1874, it was advertised for sale by Trübner & Co., of London, in their No. 3 Catalogue of Choice, Rare, and Curious Books, p. 33, "with the excessively rare dedication to the Honourable

(36) Library of Leyden University, Leyden, Holland. Presented by Rev. Increase Mather. No exact description has been obtained of this copy. See the Catalogus Librorum tam impressorum quam manuscriptorum Bibliothecæ Publicæ Universitatis Lugduno-Batavæ (Lugduni apud Batavos, 1716), p. 495, in the "Appendix librorum, qui, post impressum priorem catalogum, Bibliothecæ accesserunt," where it is entered as follows: "Biblia Sacra, linguâ Indica Americana, ex versione John Eliot, Cambridge 1685. Dono Crescentii Matheri, in quart. Theol. 244 B." Information furnished by Dr. George H. Moore.

(37) Library of the late George Livermore, Cambridge, Mass. In modern russia binding. This bible was once owned by the Hon. Thomas L. Winthrop (born 1760, died 1841), who was lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts from 1826 to 1832, and president of the Massachusetts Historical Society and American Antiquarian Society. In February, 1842, it was advertised in a Catalogue of Books Ancient and Modern, lately selected in London and Paris, for sale by Charles C. Little and James Brown, Boston (no. 217), where it was described as "a fine clean copy of this very rare work, elegantly full bound in Russia, gilt," and priced at $25. "On the 3d of March, 1842," according to a writer in the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society for 1867-69, p. 427, Mr. Livermore "saw on sale, at Little and Brown's, a copy of Eliot's Indian Bible, the price of which was twenty-five dollars. He could not think of buying it, but his brother bought it and generously presented it to him." About the year 1855, Mr. Livermore had a few copies reprinted of the leaf containing the dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, for insertion in this copy and in those of his friends. Information furnished by Mr. Wm. H. Tillinghast, in letter of December 4th, 1889; and by Mrs. Livermore, in letter of January 14th, 1890.

(38) Library of the Long Island Historical Society, Brooklyn, N. Y. An imperfect copy, lacking the general title, the first 19 leaves of Genesis or all before chap. xl. 2 (E4) the last leaf of the old testament (Ppppp1), and the whole of the new testament and metrical psalms. The lower margins of the volume are also very imperfect. This seems to be the copy which is described among the books belonging to Mr. Henry Stevens, in the catalogue of Mr. Crowninshield's library, sold in London, July, 1860 (no. 1807), containing "The Old Testament in the Indian Language, by John Eliot, imperfect, wants leaves, and the lower margins much injured by rats or other irreverent vermin." It sold for 3 shillings, and was bought in the name of "Hotten." Mr. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn, was the next owner. He made a memorandum in the book that it was purchased by him in London for $6. It was afterwards presented by him to the Long Island Historical Society. Information furnished by Miss Jessie E. Prentice, in letters of December 13th and 26th, 1889.

(39) A copy advertised for sale by Maison-neuve et cie., of Paris, in 1878. It is described in Charles Leclerc's Bibliotheca Americana (Paris, 1878), no. 2367, as lacking sheets Aaa to Zzz, inclusive, which comprise 92 leaves or from 2d Kings x. 24 to Psalm lxxix. 13. The price was 1500 francs. This is without doubt the same copy that was advertised for sale by Bernard Quaritch in March and April, 1870 (259 Catalogue, no. 278), and again in July, 1870 (260 Catalogue, no. 1172), at 50*l*. It was there described as "wanting aaa to zzz in the Old Testament, otherwise quite perfect, with the titles, calf."

(40) Library of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Boston, Mass. In half leather binding, lacking the general title, the last six leaves of the metrical psalms, or all after Psalm cxxv. 4 (Xx2), and the final leaf of rules. At the beginning of the volume is inserted the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, on the verso of which is written: "Samuel Danforth's book. Cost for binding, 3*sh*." This leaf, which appears to have been taken out of another copy of the bible, was found separate among the miscellaneous papers in the library of the Society, about the year 1855 or 1856. The writer of the inscription was probably the second Samuel Danforth (born 1666, died 1727), minister of the Congregational church in Taunton, and the author of a dictionary of the Indian language, compiled from the Indian bible. Mr. Bartlett mentions this copy in his list, printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. See the Catalogue of the Library of the Massachusetts Historical Society (Boston, 1859), vol. 1, pp. 127, 128, 414, from which it appears that the old testament is "Imperfect, wanting title and first signature." See also the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society for 1860-62, pp. 378, 379. Information furnished by Dr. Samuel A. Green, in letter of January 15th, 1890.

(41) Library of the Morse Institute, Natick, Mass. A good copy, "inclosed in a casket made from the large oak tree under which the apostle first gathered his dusky audience." See the American Biblioplist for February, 1870. The bible was once owned by the Hon. John Pickering, the philologist (born 1777, died 1846), and at the sale of his library in Boston, September, 1846 (no. 803), was bought by Mr. O. Thayer for the town of Natick, according to a memorandum in the book. Dr. Trumbull, however, states in the Brinley catalogue that it was bought by Mr. Brinley. A tea party was given at Natick on the 28th of October of the same year, in order to raise money for the purchase of this copy, to be preserved in the archives of the town. A circular was also printed, containing Psalm C in the Natick dialect, with the English translation and the tune. In Bacon's History of Natick the following account is given: "Some public-spirited individuals purchased this copy from the library of Hon. John Pickering; and the ceremony of its presentation to the town took place in the Town Hall on the two hundredth anniversary of Eliot's first visit to the Indians at Nonantum, October 28, 1846, the nominal, not the actual day." See S. A. Drake's History of Middlesex County, Mass. (Boston, 1880), vol. 2, pp. 200, 201. Information furnished by the librarian, Miss Nellie L. Fox, in letters of January 28th and 30th, 1890.

(42) Library of the New York Historical Society, New York. In modern half leather binding. It was formerly owned by the Rev. Thomas Bradbury Chandler, the rector of St. John's Church, Elizabethtown (born 1726, died 1790), whose name, "T. B. Chandler," is written at the top of the general title and crossed through with a pen. On the same page is the autograph of "John Pintard 1807," the founder of the New York Historical Society (born 1759, died 1844), who presented the book to the society.

(43) New York State Library, Albany, N. Y. An imperfect copy, in modern binding, lacking the general title, the first seven leaves of Genesis or all before chap. xviii 7 (B4), and the whole of the new testament and metrical psalms. On one of the blank leaves is written: "Purchased at Gurley and Hill's auction sale, New York, Feb. 24, 1846." See the Catalogue of the New York State Library (Albany, 1850), p. 511; and the enlarged catalogue of the "General Library," 1855 (Albany, 1856), p. 85. Information furnished by Mr. George R. Howell, in letter of December 13th, 1889.

(44) Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa. Bound in levant black morocco, filleted and paneled sides, by F. Belford. Size of the leaf, 7½ by 5½ inches. On the verso of the blank leaf preceding the title is the autograph of a former owner, "William Stoughton," chief-justice and lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts (born 1632, died 1701). On the same page is the autograph of another owner, "John Danforth, 1713," who married governor Stoughton's niece. He was minister of the Congregational church in Dorchester from 1682 until his death in 1730, aged seventy years. It afterwards came into the possession of Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, and is perhaps the copy referred to by Mr. O'Callaghan in his American Bibles (Albany, 1861), p. 18. At the sale of the third portion of Mr. Brinley's library, in New York, April, 1881 (no. 5683), the bible was purchased for $590 by Mr. Charles R. Hildeburn, for the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

(45) Library Company of Philadelphia, Pa. An imperfect copy, lacking the general title, the first nine leaves of Genesis or all before chap. xxii. 4 (C2), the leaf of contents, the new testament title, the first 18 leaves of the new testament or all before Mark i. 33 (E3), another leaf in Mark from chap. iii. 30 to v. 22 (E4), the last eight leaves of the metrical psalms or from Psalm cxix. 103 to the end (Xx and Yy), and the final leaf of rules. This bible was once in the possession of Zachary Hossveit, an Indian preacher at Gayhead, on Martha's Vineyard, whose autograph, dated September 16th, 1738, is on one of the leaves. Two other bibles, which may have been in his possession, are described under nos. 11 and 25 of this list. It was afterwards owned by Samuel William Fisher, a Quaker merchant of Philadelphia, (born 1764, died 1817), who presented it to the Library Company of Philadelphia in 1815 or 1816. See the Catalogue of the Books belonging to the Library Company of Philadelphia (Philadelphia, 1835), vol. 1, p. 16, where it is entered as follows: "1639, Q. The holy bible, printed in the Indian language, for the use of the Indians of New England. Cambridge, 1680. Gift of S. W. Fisher." Information furnished by Mr. Charles R. Hildeburn, in letters of December 10th and 29th, 1889.

(46) Library of the Pilgrim Society, Pilgrim Hall, Plymouth, Mass. An imperfect copy, lacking the general title, the first ten leaves of Genesis or all before chap. xxiv. 20 (C3), five leaves at the end of the old testament or all after Zechariah iv. 13 (Nnnnn4), the leaf of contents, the new testament title, the first seven leaves of Matthew or all before chap. xiii. 49 (C1), and a dozen or more leaves at the end of the metrical psalms. On the blank page at the end of Revelation is written: "Johannis Wainwright Liber Donum Domi Josiæ Willard Janr 10, 1705." The donor of this volume, Josiah Willard (born 1681, died 1756), was the son of the Rev. Samuel Willard, of Boston, and was secretary of Massachusetts from 1717 until his death. The next owner, John Wainwright, according to Dr. Trumbull, was "probably the Harvard graduate of 1709, son of Col. John, of Ipswich. . . . A few years afterwards it came into the possession of 'Josiah Attaunitt,' alias 'Josiah Ned,' who left his name on several pages and scribbled memoranda on the margins. He seems to have been one of the Christian Indians who lived near Duxbury or at Mattakesit. In one place he wrote, 'Josiah Ned, 1718;' in another, 'Josiah Attaunitt yeu wutaimun in March 18 in . . . ' i. e., 'J. A. this belongs to him,' &c. On the margin of one page is a note, dated 'ut february 7 tay 1715.' (The Massachusetts Indians did not pronounce the r, substituting n for it.) The writer was 'at this time at the house of Pammohkauwut, who lives at Duxbury' ('ut ohquompi ut wekit Pammohkauwut noh pamontog ut Togspane'). In another place the name of Duxbury is differently spelled:—'fevuanu bwitay 20 tay, 1715, ut wekit pamohkauwut ut tukspany kah yeu wutappin annis mommehthemmut unnoowau, nuttom nasit saup;' (i. e., 'February, Friday, 20th day, 1715, in the house of Pammohkauwut at Duxbury, and herelodged, Annis Mommehthemmut said, I am going to Nauset to-morrow')."—Memorial History of Boston (Boston, 1880), vol. 1, pp. 471, 472. Another owner of the book was the Hon. William Cushing, of Scituate (born 1732, died 1810), who was judge of the Massachusetts superior court in 1772, chief justice in 1777, and in 1780 was chosen the first chief justice of Massachusetts under the State constitution. The bible was presented by his widow, Mrs. Hannah Cushing, to the Pilgrim Society some time between the years 1820 and 1830. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Thomas Bradford Drew, in letter of January 15th, 1890.

(47) Library of the late Col. George W. Pratt, Esopus, N. Y. A copy lacking the final leaf of rules, but otherwise well preserved. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. Manuscript notes in Indian are found on the margins of many pages. In one place in the Acts is written the name of a former owner, apparently, "nen matthew Gocknow yeu noopie paku." In another place is the inscription, "Jacob Gocknow wuttannah nuppi May 17. 1727 noh assoontogit ganoh;" also, "Ephraim naquatanappi at July 1. 173 . ." The dates 1744 and 1745, with what appears to be the name of an Indian, are written on one of the pages of 1st Chronicles. On the margin of a page of the gospel of Mark is written: "mehquantamooop naumattump ne pish lenashe pah-quohwunittoon en watchanittoonganit loh," and other inscriptions of the same character are scattered throughout the volume. This bible was in actual use until early in the present century, as the property of an Indian teacher at Marshpee, Cape Cod. An autograph of John Eliot has been pasted on the blank leaf preceding the title page. This is probably the copy referred to by a writer in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 308, who states that "a copy of the edition of 1663 [sic] is in the possession of George W. Pratt, of Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y." It is mentioned in Dr. O'Callaghan's American Bibles (Albany, 1861), p. 18, as of the edition of 1685. Since Col. Pratt's death in 1861, the bible has remained in the possession of his family. A portion of his library was sold by auction in New York, March 23d to 27th, 1868. Information furnished by Mrs. Gasquet James, in letters of December 27th, 1889, and January 11th, 1890.

(48) A copy advertised for sale by Mr. Bernard Quaritch, in April, 1884 (352 Catalogue, no. 15999), with "one leaf mended, in other respects an excellent copy in the original calf binding," for 150*l.*; again in April, 1887 (373 Catalogue, no. 37871), for 125*l.*; and in December, 1887 (86 Rough List, no. 110), for 125*l.* It also appears at the same price in a Hand-List of a peerless collection of Books and Manuscripts (London, 1890), no. 442, to be exhibited or sale in the United States in the spring of 1890.

(49) Library of the University of South Carolina, Columbia, S. C. An imperfect copy, lacking the general title, the first eleven leaves of Genesis, or all before chap. xxv. 16 (C4), 62 leaves in the new testament or from Acts xix. 12 to the end of Revelation (S—Kk2), and the whole of the metrical psalms. On one of the blank leaves is written: "Recd of Amos Háhanton May 19th 1731." The book was afterwards owned by a Mrs. Goodwin, and was purchased from her through the Rev. Dr. Palfrey. Information furnished by the librarian, Mr. Isaac H. Means, in letter of December 18th, 1889.

(50) Library of J. Poyntz Spencer, fifth earl Spencer, Althorp, England. "In old calf binding." No exact description has been obtained of this copy. See Dibdin's Aedes Althorpiæ (London, 1822), p. 92. See also no. 34 of the list of bibles of 1663.

(51) Library of Trinity College, Cambridge, England. This copy also contains the original dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, printed on a single leaf, verso blank. Information furnished by Dr. William Everett, in letter of December 7, 1889. The book was examined by Dr. Everett in the year 1869.

(52) J. Hammond Trumbull, LL. D., Hartford, Conn. No description has been obtained of this copy, which is mentioned in a letter written by Dr. Trumbull in 1879. If it is the one which was purchased in Dr. Trumbull's name at the sale of Mr. Griswold's books in 1876, its history belongs in this place, as follows: It is bound in red morocco, extra, by F. Bedford. On the back of the first title is pasted the book-plate, dated 1702, of William Talbot, successively bishop of Oxford, Salisbury and Durham (born 1659, died 1730). It afterwards came into the possession of Miss Frances Mary Richardson Currer, the well-known book collector (born 1785, died 1861). It does not appear, however, in the privately-printed catalogue of her library issued in 1833. At the sale of the principal portion of Miss Currer's library in London, July and August, 1862 (no. 425), where it was described as bound in "calf, m. e. water stained," it brought 23*l.*, being purchased in the name of "Willis." Mr. Almon W. Griswold, of New York, was the next owner. He had it cleaned and rebound, and at the sale of a portion of his library in New York, announced for February, but postponed to March, 1876 (no. 206), it was bought for $325 by Dr. Trumbull, probably for himself or for Mr. Brinley.

(53) Library of Utrecht University, Utrecht, Holland. No exact description has been obtained of this copy. It was sent to John Leusden for the University by Rev. Increase Mather, at the time of its publication, and is referred to by Leusden in his dedication of The Book of Psalms, published in 1688, and by Hadrian Reland in his Dissertationes, published in 1708, vol. 3, p. 211. According to the Bibliothecæ Rheno-Trajectinæ Catalogus (Trajecti ad Rhenum, 1833), vol. 1, p. 123, it contains the following manuscript inscription: "Biblioth. celeberr. ap. Ultrajectinos Acad. Hac S. Bibliorum versione indica donat Crescent. Matherus colleg. harv. ap. Cantabrigienses in Nova Anglia, Præses pro tempore. Maij 28. A. D. 1686."

(54) Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, New York. A copy bound in levant red morocco, extra gilt, with vellum linings and guard-leaves, by F. Bedford. Size of the leaf, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches. By a mistake of the binder the leaf of rules and the final blank leaf were inserted at the end of the old testament. According to Dr. Trumbull, "the volume has been skillfully cleaned throughout, the margins of some short and worn leaves extended, and the deficiencies, if any were found, are supplied in facsimile so perfect as to escape detection." On one of the blank leaves is a pencil memorandum, "From the library of Jonathan Edwards." This refers, perhaps, to the elder Jonathan Edwards (born 1703, died 1758), who was missionary to the Stockbridge Indians from 1751 to 1757, and president of the College of New Jersey in 1757-58. His son, Jonathan Edwards (born 1745, died 1801), pastor of the church in White Haven, Conn., from 1769 to 1795, and president of Union College at Schenectady, N. Y., from 1799 to his death, was well acquainted with the Indian language. The bible afterwards came into the possession of Mr. George Brinley, of Hartford, and at the sale of the third portion of his library in New York, April, 1881, (no. 5684), was bought for the present owner for \$550. Information furnished by Mr. Vanderbilt, in letter of December 30th, 1889.

(55) Library of Yale College, New Haven, Conn. In the original calf binding, well preserved, lettered on the back, SS. BIBLIA | INDICA | N. ANGL. On the outside of each cover are stamped the letters, "J. [ornament] W." On the first blank leaf is written, "John [Winthrop?] | me possidet | 1697," the surname being torn off. The name "Winthrop" is written on the second blank leaf. This was probably the third John Winthrop (born 1639, died 1707), a grandson of the governor of Massachusetts. He was the agent of Connecticut in London in 1693, and governor of the same colony from 1698 until his death. This copy of the bible was acquired by Yale College some time before the year 1858. It is one of the two copies mentioned in Mr. Paine's list, printed in 1873. It was then slightly imperfect, lacking a signature or about four leaves, which were afterwards supplied out of another copy (no. 29). Information furnished by Dr. Ellsworth Eliot; and by the librarian, Mr. Addison Van Name, in letters of December 30th, 1889, and January 29th, 1890.

which were sold as duplicates, see nos. 29 and 30 of this list.

In Dewitt's historical Discourse delivered in the North Reformed Dutch Church (New York, 1857), p. 70, it is related of the Rev. Henricus Selyns, who was minister of the Collegiate Reformed Dutch Church in New York from 1682 to 1701, that "at the publication of John Elliot's celebrated Indian Bible he procured it and sent it to the Classis of Amsterdam." Mr. Samuel Sewall, during his visit to England, wrote as follows in his diary for February 25, 1683: "View'd Winchester Colledge, the Chapel, Library built in the midst of the Green within the Cloisters. Left my Indian Bible and Mr. Mather's Letter there." This copy may still be preserved in the College Library at Winchester. The copy mentioned in White Kennett's Bibliotheca Americane Primordia (London, 1713), pp. 134, 144, was probably in the author's possession at that time. According to Mr. Henry Stevens, "The Books named in Bp. Kennett's Catalogue were promised to be left by will to the 'Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts,' should that Society provide accommodation for them, but that condition not having been fulfilled, the books were not separated from the Bishop's Miscellaneous Library, and probably now form part of the Cathedral Library of Peterborough."

In Rivington and Cochran's Catalogue (London, 1824), no. 2220, a copy was offered for sale of "The Old and New Testament, with a metrical version of the psalms, by J. Eliot," Cambridge (New England) 1680-5, 4to, calf neat, for 1*l.* 4*s.* An auction Catalogue of Books in every department of Literature and Science, sold by Evans, in London, October 26-30, 1830, contains the following entry: "379 Holy Bible, in the West Indian Language, by Elliot, Cambridge, (N. America) 1685," which was purchased by "Cochran" for 1*l.* 1*s.* The copy owned by Richard Heber, Esq., was described as follows among the bibles in the Bibliotheca Heberiana, part 10, sold in London, May 30th and 13 following days, 1836: "417 — in the Indian language, by J. Eliot. Cambridge. 1685. 4^o." It brought 2*l.* 12*s.*

A copy of the second edition was once in the library of the American Bible Society at New York, as appears from its Catalogue of Books (New York, 1855), p. 27, where it is entered twice, first with the heading of Massachusetts version as "Elliot's Indian Bible. 4to, Cambridge, 1635 [sic]. (E.)," and again with the heading of Mohegan version as "The Mohegan Bible. 4to, Cambridge, 1685. (E)." In the enlarged catalogue of this library (New York, 1863), pp. 46, 47, both entries are repeated, but the press-marks are left blank, because the book was missing. Dr. Edward W. Gilman, the present librarian, informs me that no trace of the book has since been found. Mr. Bartlett includes in his list the name of Edward Everett as the owner of a copy of the edition of 1685, which is probably a mistake, as Dr. William Everett informs me (December, 1889) that no copy of this edition is in his possession.

The following memoranda relate to copies of which the edition or date is not specified. Mr. Samuel Sewall, in his diary for April 7th, 1718 (Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., fifth series, vol. 7, p. 180), writes: "I prove Mr. William Denison's Will. Her brother . . . brought the widow to town. . . . I gave her 10*s.* to give her sister Weld for her Indian Bible." Mr. Denison was a resident of Roxbury, whose wife's maiden name was Weld. Dr. A. C. Thompson, of Roxbury, had a copy of one of the editions, but he informs me now (December 13th, 1889) that he sold it "forty or more years ago." A writer in the Historical Magazine (October, 1858), vol. 2, p. 308, says: "we believe also that Mr. Samuel G. Drake, of Boston, has a copy." As Mr. Drake was at that time a bookseller, it is probable that the bible was in his possession for a short time only. Another copy, of which the date is unknown, was formerly in possession of the Rev. William Allen, of Northampton, Mass. (born 1784, died 1868), and is mentioned in the Historical Magazine (November, 1858), vol. 2, p. 343; but I am now informed (December 21st, 1889) by his son, the Hon. William Allen, of Northampton, that it "was destroyed by fire many years ago in New York." Another writer in the Historical Magazine (May, 1859), vol. 3, p. 158, in his description of the copies at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine, adds: "I have heard that a copy of this Bible is owned in Portland, and that several others are to be found in the State." In a collection of books belonging to Mr. W. Elliot Woodward, of Roxbury, sold in New York, in April, 1869 (no. 2015), were "portions of an Indian bible, 117 leaves, comprising a part of Genesis, with all or nearly all of the six following books, a portion of Isaiah, Jeremiah, and a part of the New Testament," which brought $5.50. At the sale of Mr. John K. Wiggin's collection of books, in Boston, March, 1876 (no. 804), was a "Part of Indian Bible, 11 leaves," which sold for $4.37.

A copy of one of the editions was once in the possession of the Rev. Eilardus Westerloo (born 1738, died 1790), who was pastor of the Dutch Reformed church in Albany from 1760 until his death. His son, Rensselaer Westerloo, was a member of Congress from 1817 to 1819, and died at Albany in 1851. From his family it was obtained by the Rev. Aaron Lloyd, in whose possession it remained for a number of years. He offered it for sale several times at the low price of $75, and finally sold it, November 15, 1864, to George P. Philes & Co., the New York booksellers, for $50. The book then lacked one leaf or more at the beginning, but was described as being otherwise in good condition. After Mr. Philes had sold it to one of his customers, the book was sent to Paris, where the imperfections were supplied by facsimile, and it was handsomely bound. According to Mr. Philes, it was afterwards offered for sale in London at a large price. The name of the present owner has not been ascertained. Information furnished by Mr. Lloyd, in letters of December 19th and 31st, 1889.

Further research will bring to light many more copies of the Indian bible. In 1858, Mr. John R. Bartlett prepared a list of 13 copies of the first edition, and 14 copies of the second, which was printed in the Historical Magazine (September, 1858), vol. 2, p. 277. Mr. E. B. O'Callaghan, in his American Bibles (Albany, 1861), pp. 12, 18, mentioned 15 of the first edition, 19 of the second, and 2 of which the dates were not ascertained. Mr. Thomas W. Field named 23 copies of the first edition in his Essay towards an Indian Bibliography (New York, 1873), p. 120. The largest list hitherto published is that in Mr. Nathaniel Paine's Brief Notice of the Library of the American Antiquarian Society (Worcester, 1873), pp. 54, 55, in which 26 copies of the first edition are mentioned, and 28 of the second. These four lists contain only copies owned in the United States.

Richard Baxter's Call to the Unconverted was first printed at London in 1657. This is Mr. Eliot's translation of it into the Massachusetts Indian language. The above title, excepting the imprint, is copied from the reprint of 1688.

The records of the Commissioners show that the book was printed by Marmaduke Johnson, "with our owne printer," Samuel Green.

On the 6th of July (6th of the 5th), 1663, Mr. Eliot wrote from Roxbury to Mr. Richard Baxter in London, as follows: "My Work about the Indian Bible being (by the good hand of the Lord, though not without difficulties) finished, I am meditating what to do next for these Sons of this our Morning: they having no Books for their private use, of ministerial composing.

. . . I have therefore purposed in my heart (seeing the Lord is yet pleased to prolong my life) to translate for them a little Book of yours, intituled, (A Call to the Unconverted): The keenness of the Edge, and liveliness of the Spirit of that Book, through the blessing of God, may be of great use unto them. But seeing you are yet in the Land of the Living, (and the good Lord prolong your days) I would not presume to do such a thing, without making mention thereof unto your self, that so I might have the help and blessing of your Counsel and Prayers. I believe it will not be unacceptable to you, that the Call of Christ by your holy Labours, shall be made to speak in their Ears, in their own Language, that you may preach unto our poor Indians. I have begun the Work already, and find a great difference in the Work from my former Translation: I am forced sometime to alter the Phrase, for the facilitating and fitting it to our Language, in which I am not so strict as I was in the Scripture. Some things which are fitted for English People, are not fit for them, and in such cases, I make bold to fit it for them. But I do little that way, knowing how much beneath Wisdom it is, to shew a Man's self witty, in mending another Man's Work," etc. The Commissioners also wrote to the Corporation in England, concerning the printer Marmaduke Johnson, on the 18th of September, 1663: "the bible being finished . . . wee shall Indeavour to employ him as wee can by printing the psalmes and another little Treatise of Mr. Baxters which Mr. Elliott is translateing into the Indian language which is thought may be vsefull and profitable to the Indians." In reply to Mr. Eliot's letter, Mr. Baxter wrote, in a letter dated from Acton near London, November 30th, 1663, as follows: "We very much rejoice in your happy Work (the Translation of the Bible) and bless God that hath strengthened you to finish it. If any thing of mine may be honoured to contribute in the least measure to your blessed Work, I shall have great cause to be thankful to God, and wholly submit the Alteration and use of it to your Wisdom. Methinks the Assemblies Catechism should be next the holy Scriptures, most worthy of your Labours." In the account of his own life and times (Reliquiæ Baxterianæ, London, 1696), Mr. Baxter also mentions this work: "Mr. Elliott sent the King first the New Testament and then the whole Bible, translated and printed in the Indians' Language: Such a Work and Fruit of a Plantation, as was never before presented to a King. And he sent word, that next he would print my Call to the Unconverted, and then The Practice of Piety: But Mr. Boyle sent him word it would be better taken here, if the Practice of Piety were printed before any thing of mine." In another place he writes: "When Mr. Eliot had printed all the Bible in the Indians' language, he next translated this, my Call to the Unconverted, as he wrote to us here: and though it was here thought prudent to begin with the Practice of Piety, because of the envy and distaste of the times against me, he had finished it before that advice came to him."

Mr. Eliot finished this translation on the last day of the year, as appears from the date at the end of the reprint: "Finitur, 1663, December 31." It went to the press early in 1664, and was finished in or before August of the same year. On the 7th of March, 1664, the Corporation in London wrote to the Commissioners in New England: "wee can not but take notice of Mr. Elliots great paines and labour amongst the poor Indians and the good Effect that hath followed therevpon; and alsoe his care in translating the bible into the Indian Language and attending vpon the Correcting of the presse whiles the said bible was printing; and now his translateing a treatise of Mr. Baxters into the said Language; which althoe att present wee can not gratefully acknowledge: yet when enabled therevnto shall indeavour to make a proportionable Requittall."

After the book had been printed, Mr. Eliot wrote to the Commissioners at Hartford, on the "25 of the 6th [August 25th, 16]64," as follows: "Touching the Presse, I thank God & yourselves for the good successe of the work in it. Mr. Baxter's Call is printed and dispreed. . . . My request also, in respect to Mr. Johnson, is, that seeing the Lord hath made him instrumentall to finish the Bible, and Baxter, and is now returning for Engl^d, you would please to give him his due encouragm^t, and such further countenance and comendation, as your wisd^os shall see meet to afford him." When the Commissioners met at Hartford in September, 1664, they wrote to the Corporation in England: "wee dismissed Marmeduke Johnson the Printer at the end of his tearme agreed for hauing Improved him as well as wee could for the yeare past by employing him with our owne printer to print such Indian workes as could be prepared which hee was not able to doe alone with such other English Treatises which did present; for which allowance hath bine made proportionable to his labour." They also added, in the same letter: "the number of Bibles with Psalm books printed were vpwards of a thousand; of Baxters Call 1000 and of Psalters 500 diuers wherof all sorts are disposed to the Indians and the rest reddey for their vse as they can be bound vp and there may bee occasion." In the account of expenditures which was presented to the Commissioners in September, 1664, was one charge: "To printing Mr. Baxters Call 8 sheets at 50s. per sheet," 20l. Under the date of September 13th, 1667, the records of the Commissioners contain the following charge: "To 4 hundred Mr. Baxters call bound at 3s. per hundred," 12s.

No copy of this edition is known to be extant. It was reprinted in 1688, as follows:

Mr. Eliot's translation into the Massachusetts Indian language of Lewis Bayly's Practice of Piety, but "considerably abridged," according to Dr. Trumbull, whose translation of the Indian title is given above. The author of this treatise was bishop of Bangor, and died in 1631. His "sole claim to fame," as Prof. Tout remarks, "is the above-mentioned 'Practice of Piety,' which, published early in the century, obtained at once the extraordinary popularity that it long maintained in puritan circles. The date of its first publication is not known, but in 1613 it had reached its third, and in 1619 its eleventh edition. In 1630 a twenty-fifth edition, and in 1735 a fifty-ninth edition was published." The printed list of editions and translations of the Practice of Piety, prepared by William Cooke, F. S. A., contains seventy-eight titles. Mr. J. E. Bailey, F. S. A., has called attention to the entry by John Hodge ttes, in the Stationers Hall Register (iii, 475), on 11 Jan., 1611-12, of what was probably the first edition of the book.

On the 6th of the 5th (August 6th), 1663, Mr. Eliot wrote to Mr. Richard Baxter in London, announcing that he had begun to translate into the Indian language that author's Call to the Unconverted. "When this Work is done," he then continues, "if the Lord shall please to prolong my Life, I am meditating of Translating some other Book, which may prescribe to them the way and manner of a Christian Life and Conversation, in their daily Course; and how to worship God on the Sabbath, fasting, feasting Days, and in all Acts of Worship, publick, private, and secret; and for this purpose I have thoughts of translating for them, the Practice of Piety, or some other such Book: In which Case I request your Advice to me; for if the Lord give opportunity, I may hear from you (if you see cause so far to take Notice hereof) before I shall be ready to begin a new work; especially because the Psalms of David in Metre in their Language, are going now to the Press, which will be some Diversion of me, from a present Attention upon these other proposed Works."—Reliquiæ Baxterianæ, p. 293. In the account of his own life Mr. Baxter writes of Eliot: "And he sent word, that next he would print my Call to the Unconverted, and then The Practice of Piety: But Mr. Boyle sent him word it would be better taken here, if the Practice of Piety were printed before any thing of mine." This advice did not reach Mr. Eliot until after he had finished his translation of Baxter's Call. On the 25th of August, 1664, he wrote to the Commissioners at Hartford: "Touching the Presse, I thank God & yourselves for the good successe of the work in it. Mr. Baxter's Call is printed and dispced. And though I have Mr. Shepard's Synceare Conv^t & Sound Believer all most translated, though not fitted and finished for the Presse, yet by advertizm^t frō the honorable Corporation, I must lay that by and fall upon the Practise of Piety, w^{ch} I had intended to be the last: therefore this winter I purpose, if the Lord will, to set upon that booke." In their next letter to the Corporation in England, the Commissioners wrote, from Hartford, September 1st, 1664, that they had dismissed Marmaduke Johnson the printer, and that "for after time wee hope to haue all books for the Indians vse printed vpon ezier tearmes by our owne printer especially if it please your honors to send ouer a fonte of Pica letters Roman and Italian which are much wanting for printeing the practice of piety and other workes; and soe when the Presses shalbe Improue for the vse of the English wee shalbe careful that due allowance be made to the Stocke for the same." The translation was finished by Mr. Eliot in 1665, and the book was printed in the same year, probably by Samuel Green. Under date of September 13th, 1667, the records of the Commissioners contain the following charge for binding: "To two hundred Practice of piety at 6d, " 5l.

Probably the only copy that has come into the market in recent years is the one advertised for sale by Mr. Quaritch in October, 1873 (291 Catalogue, no. 18670), bound in red morocco by Bedford, for 90l. The second edition of Mr. Eliot's translation of Bayly's Practice of Piety into the Massachusetts Indian language. Dr. Trumbull has called attention to the four typographical errors in the title. The printing of this edition was probably begun late in 1635, and finished in the summer of the following year. On the 29th of August, 1686, Mr. Eliot wrote from Roxbury to the Hon. Robert Boyle: "Our Indian work yet liveth, praised be God; the bible is come forth, many hundreds bound up, and dispersed to the Indians, whose thankfulness I intimate and tes-

A copy was sold in the library of Rev. William Jenks, in Boston, December, 1867, for $61; and another, imperfect at beginning and end, for $8.50. In October, 1873, Mr. Quaritch advertised a copy for sale (291 Catalogue, no. 18671), from the library of Charles Nodier, bound in red morocco by Thompson of Paris, for 50*l*. It was bought by Mr. Brinley, and at the sale of his library in New York, March, 1879 (no. 797), it was purchased for $50 for the Lenox Library. Mr. Brinley's other copy (no. 796), lacking seven leaves, and bound in blue levant morocco by Bedford, was bought at the same sale by Dr. Trumbull, for $42.50.

The language of which this grammar treats was specifically that of the Massachusetts tribes of Indians, dwelling near the sea-coast of the present state of Massachusetts. "It was spoken," according to Dr. Trumbull, "with some differences of dialect which cannot now be accurately indicated, by the Wampanoags of Plymouth colony, the Narragansets and Niantics, the islanders of Nope (Martha's Vineyard), the Montauks, &c." In the introduction to the reprint of the grammar, Dr. John Pickering remarks: "It has also been called the Nonantum language; but more frequently the Natick tongue, apparently from the accidental circumstance, that Eliot established his first Indian church in the town called Natick, which was near Boston and was once the town of greatest note among the Indians in this quarter." Mr. Eliot himself writes: "We Massachusetts pronounce the n. The Nipmuk Indians pronounce l. And the Northern Indians pronounce r." To illustrate this difference in pronunciation he mentions the word for dog (Anim, Alim, and Arim) in these three dialects.

In Mr. Eliot's letter of August 25th, 1664 (25 of the 6th, 64), to the Commissioners at Hartford, informing them that the Corporation in England had advised him to make a translation of the Practice of Piety, he adds: "Moreover, they are pleased to put me upon a Grammar of this language, w^{ch} my sonn & I have oft spoken of, but now I must, (if the Lord give life and strength) be doing about it. But we are not able to doe much in it, becau^e we know not the latituds and corners of the language: some general and useful collections, I hope the Lord will enable us to pduce. And for these reasons my request is, that you would please to continue my interpreter's salary, w^{ch} is ten pound more added to w^t I was bold to make mention of afore." He also wrote to Mr. Boyle, August 26th, 1664: "You are pleased to intimate unto me a memorandum of your desires, that there may be a grammar of our Indian language composed, for publick and after use, which motion, as I doubt not but it springeth from your elf, so my answer unto yourself about it will be most proper. I and my sons [John and Joseph] have often spoken about it. But now I take your intimation as a command to set about it. When I have finished the translation of the Practice of Piety, my purpose is, if the Lord will, and that I do live, to set upon some essay and beginning of reducing this language into rule; which, in the most common and useful parts, I do see, is reducible; though there be corners and anomalies full of difficulty to be reduced under any stated rule, as yourself know, better than I, it is in all languages. I have not so much either insight or judgment, as to dare to undertake anything worthy the name of a grammar; only some preparatory collections, that way tending, which may be of no small use unto such as may be studious to learn this language, I desire, if God will, to take some pains in. But this is a work for the morrow; to-day my work is translation, which, by the Lord's help, I desire to attend unto."

The grammar was finished and printed in 1666, in an edition, probably, of about 500 copies, according to Dr. Trumbull. The records of the Commissioners contain, under the date of September 13th, 1667, the following charge for binding: "To 4 hundred and fifty Indian Gramers at 3*s*. a hundred," 13*s*. 0*6d*. From this charge it may be inferred that the books were merely sewed and issued in paper covers. Some copies may have been sent to England in sheets, to be bound there for presents. Dr. Trumbull supposes that "a few were bound with copies of the New Testament of 1663 [sic];" and Mr. Thomas says that "it accompanied some copies of the Psalter; i. e. they were occasionally bound together in one volume small octavo [sic]."

In the dedication to the Hon. Robert Boyle, prefixed to the book, Mr. Eliot writes: "You were pleased . . . to Command me (for such an aspect have your so wise and seasonable Motions, to my heart) to Compile a Grammar of this Language, for the help of others who have an heart to study and learn the same . . . I have made an Essay unto this difficult Service, and laid together some Bones and Ribs

In 1670, Mr. Eliot set up at Natick "a lecture in logic and theology," which was attended by the Indians once every fortnight during the summer season. The purpose of the lecture was "the better to prepare and furnish them with abilities to explicate and apply the scriptures." On the 20th of September of the same year he wrote to the Corporation in London about the work among the Indians as follows: "And seeing they must have Teachers amongst themselves, they must also be taught to be Teachers: for which cause I have begun to teach them the Art of Teaching, and I find some of them very capable. And while I live, my purpose is (by the Grace of Christ assisting) to make it one of my chief cares and labours to teach them some of the Liberal Arts and Sciences, and the way how to analyze, and lay out into particulars both the Works and Word of God; and how to communicate knowledge to others methodically and skillfully, and especially the method of Divinity." He also wrote to the Hon. Robert Boyle, in a letter dated September 30th, 1670: "Touching the present state of this work with the Indians . . . your honour will see, that I have undertaken and begun a kind of academical reading unto them, in their own language, thereby to teach the teachers and rulers, and all that are desirous of learning." Concerning this undertaking Dr. Francis remarks: "We cannot suppose that he purposed, or expected, to indoctrinate the natives in the technical forms or subtle distinctions of the logic of the schools. The object of his lectures was to accustom them, in some degree, to clear and methodical habits of thought, that they might arrange and express their ideas on religious subjects with propriety. These instructions seem to have been designed chiefly for such as were to be trained to the office of teaching and expounding. In aid of this design, Eliot published, in 1672, an Indian Logick Primer, which was printed by Johnson at Cambridge. Natick became a kind of seminary, from which teachers went forth among their brethren at the other stations."

At a meeting of the Commissioners, held in New Plymouth, September 6th, 1672, it was resolved, that "Mr. Hezekiah Vsher is ordered to pay out of the Indian Stocke in his custody . . . To Marmeduke Johnson for printing stiching and cutting of a thousand Indian Logick Primers," 6*l*.

The following introductory remarks are prefixed to the book: "These few short Logickall Notions are onely for a Thrid, to lead my Readings to them, and to guide them to follow me through the principal and most usefull Principles, whereby they may be in some measure enabled to understand, open, and improve the plain things of the Kingdome of Christ Jesus revealed in the Scriptures. And touching these Notes, I may say as the Eunuch said to Philip, Acts 8. 31. How can I understand them, unless some man should guide me? Lord Jesus help me to help them, that they may come to the knowledge of thy Truth! What I have done is weak. To form Words of Art, is a work that requireth time and judgement. I have adventured to break the ice; Lord raise more able Workmen to follow, and to mend both the Foundation and Building."

Dr. Trumbull gives a brief title of this little primer in his list of "Books and tracts in the Indian language or designed for the use of the Indians," but he had not seen it and evidently was not aware of its being in the Indian lan-

Tedder's article on Eliot in the Dictionary of National Biography, vol. 17 (London, 1889), p. 194, where it is described for the first time as "in Indian, with interlinear translation." The authorities of the British Museum kindly permitted the whole book to be photographed (full size), and from these negatives, now in the possession of the compiler of this bibliography, a half-dozen photographic copies have been made. (Eames, Dr. George H. Moore, Pilling, Powell.)

The only copy we have been able to trace is in the British Museum, press-mark 526. a. 40. According to Dr. Trumbull a copy was also in the Bodleian, but the librarian, Dr. E. B. Nicholson, writes (December 5th, 1889,) that no copy of the book is in that library.

Believer all most translated, though not fitted and finished for the Presse, yet by advertizmt^t frō the honorable Corporation, I must lay that by and fall upon the Practise of Piety, w^{ch} I had intended to be the last." Twenty-four years later, in a letter to the Hon. Robert Boyle, dated July 7th, 1688, he mentions "Mr. John Cotton, who helped me much in the second edition of the bible," and then adds: "And also I must commit to him the care and labour of the revisal of two other small treatises, viz. Mr. Sheppard's Sincere Convert and Sound Believer, which I translated into the Indian language many years since; and now I hope, that the honourable corporation will be at the charge to print them, by your honour's favour and countenance. But I cannot commit them to the press without a careful revisal, which none but Mr. Cotton is able to help me to perform."

The Sincere Convert was printed in the following year, with the Indian title given above. It was revised for the press, however, not by Mr. Cotton, but by the Rev. Grindall Rawson, minister of the church in Mendon, "who had learned to preach to the Indians in their own language, and was for many years active in mission work among them." Mr. Eliot's Indian translation of the Sound Believer was probably never printed. The first edition of the Sincere Convert in English is dated London, 1641; the first edition of the Sound Believer, London, 1645.

A copy of this book, lacking the title and bound with Rawson's Nashuanittue Meninnunk of 1691, brought $12 at the sale of the Rev. William Jenks's library in 1867. One of Mr. Brinley's copies, bound in blue levant morocco by Bedford, sold in 1879 (no. 803) for $40, Mr. Bartlett buying it for the Brown collection; another, bound with Rawson's Nashuanittue Meninnunk of 1691, in blue morocco by Bedford, (no. 804), was purchased for Yale College library for $100; and a third copy, with the title and next leaf in fac-simile, and bound in olive morocco by Bedford (no. 805), was bought by Dr. Trumbull for $21.

John Eliot was born in England, probably in the beginning of August, 1604, and died at Roxbury in Massachusetts, in May, 1690. The place of his birth is not known with certainty. Several of his biographers locate it at Nasing in the county of Essex; but later researches seem to fix it at Widford in Hertfordshire, where the record is found of his baptism on the 5th of August, 1604. Bennett Eliot, his father, held lands in both of the above named counties, from the profits of which the sum of 8*l.* yearly was set apart by will, November 5th, 1621, for the maintenance of John at college. On the 20th of March, 1619, John Eliot was entered as a pensioner at Jesus College in Cambridge, where he graduated in 1622 with the degree of bachelor of arts. About the year 1630, he was employed as an assistant in a school at Little Baddow, near Chelmsford, in Essex, which was kept by the Rev. Thomas Hooker, who had been silenced for nonconformity, and who afterwards became the first minister of the church in Cambridge (then called Newtown), New England. While living in Mr. Hooker's family, a change took place in Mr. Eliot's belief, which led him to join the dissenters, although he had probably taken orders in the Church of England. Having resolved to devote himself to the ministry, he decided to leave his native land in order to obtain the liberty of preaching without restraint, and to escape the persecution which followed nonconformists in England. He accordingly sailed for America, and early in November, 1631, landed at Boston. For several months he preached for the church in that town, during the temporary absence of its minister, the Rev. John Wilson. On the 4th of September, 1632, he was married; and on the 5th of November of the same year he was ordained as teacher of the church in Roxbury, which office he held more than fifty-seven years. Twice during this long period, from 1641 to 1650, and from 1674 to 1688, he was without clerical assistance in his ministerial work. His first colleague was the Rev. Thomas Welde, from 1633 to 1641. In 1634, Mr. Eliot incurred the displeasure of the colonial magistrates by a sermon in which he criticised their conduct in making a treaty with the Pequot Indians without first obtaining the consent of the people. For these injudicious animadversions he was required to make a public apology. Three years later he took part in the examination and trial of Mrs. Hutchinson, which resulted in the excommunication and banishment of that religious enthusiast from the colony. In 1639, he was selected, with Rev. Thomas Welde and Rev. Richard Mather, to prepare a new version of the psalms of David in English metre. This joint undertaking was completed and printed in the following year as The Whole Booke of Psalmes, more generally known as the Bay Psalm Book. It was the first book printed in the English American colonies.

At the time of Mr. Eliot's arrival in Massachusetts there were five principal nations of Indians, as enumerated by Mr. Gookin, dwelling within the confines of New England, all of whom used "the same sort of speech and language," but with differences of dialect. The first of these nations, the Pequots or Pequods, "were a people seated in the most southerly bounds of New England," within the limits of the present State of Connecticut. "Their chief sachem held dominion over divers petty sagamores: as over part of Long Island, over the Mohegans, and over the sagamores of Quinapeake, yea over all the people that dwelt upon Connecticut river, and over some of the most southerly inhabitants of the Nipmuck country, about Quinabaag. The principal sachem lived at, or about, Pequot, now called New London." This nation was conquered and broken up by the English in 1637. The territory subject to the sachem of the Narragansetts, the second great nation, "extended about thirty or forty miles from Sekunk river and Narragansitt bay, including Rhode Island and other islands in that bay, being their east and north bounds or border, and so running westerly and southerly unto a place called Wekapage, four or five miles to the eastward of Pawcutuk river, which was reckoned for their south and west border, and the easternmost limits of the Pequots. This sachem held dominion over divers petty governments; as part of Long Island, Block Island, Casewitt, Niantick, and others; and had tribute from some of the Nipmuck Indians, that lived remote from the sea. The chief seat of this sachem was about Narragansitt bay and Cannonicut island. . . . The jurisdiction of Rhode Island and Providence plantations, and part of Connecticut people, possess their country." The third nation, called Wampanoags or Pawkunnawkuts (Pokanokets), "lived to the east and northeast of the Narragansitts; and their chief sachem held dominion over divers other petty sagamores; as the sagamores upon the island of Nantuckett, and Nope, or Martha's Vineyard, of Nawsett, of Mannamoik, of Sawkattukett, Nobsquasitt, Matakees, and several others, and some of the Nipmucks. Their country, for the most part, falls within the jurisdiction of New Plymouth colony." The Massachusetts, "being the next great people northward, inhabited principally about that place in Massachusetts bay, where the body of the English now dwell. These were a numerous and great people. Their chief sachem held dominion over many other petty governments; as those of Weechagaskas Neponsitt, Punkapaog, Nonantum, Nashaway, some of the Nipmuck people, as far as Pokomtaku, as the old men of Massachusetts affirmed. . . . They were in hostility very often with the Narragansitts; but held amity, for the most part, with the Pawkunnawkuts, who lived on the south border, and with the Pawtucketts, who inhabited on their north and northeast limits. . . . Pawtucket is the fifth and last great sachemship of Indians. Their country lieth north and northeast from the Massachusetts, whose dominion reacheth so far as the English jurisdiction, or colony of the Massachusetts, doth now extend, and had under them several other smaller sagamores; as the Pennakooks, Agawomes, Naamkeeks, Pascatawayes, Accomintas, and others."

An account of the earliest attempts to civilize and convert these tribes was printed at London in 1643, in the tract entitled New Englands First Fruits, in which an appeal was also made for help to continue the work. Among the difficulties of the undertaking, enumerated in that publication, was "the diversity of their own Language to it self; every part of that Country having its own Dialect, differing much from the other."

It was among the Massachusetts Indians

that Mr. Eliot began his missionary labors. He commenced the study of their language probably about the year 1643, or perhaps earlier. In a letter dated February 2d, 1649 (2. of the 12. 1648), he wrote: "There is an Indian living with Mr. Richard Calicott of Dorchester, who was taken in the Pequott Warres, though belonging to Long Island; this Indian is ingenious; can read; and I taught him to write, which he quickly learnt, though I know not what use he now maketh of it: He was the first that I made use of to teach me words, and to be my Interpreter." At the end of his Indian grammar (Cambridge, 1666), Mr. Eliot gives the following account of his method of learning the language: "I have now finished what I shall do at present: And in a word or two to satisfie the prudent Enquirer how I found out these new wayes of Grammar, which no other Learned Language (so farre as I know) useth; I thus inform him: God first put into my heart a compassion over their poor Souls, and a desire to teach them to know Christ, and to bring them into his Kingdome. Then presently I found out (by Gods wise providence) a pregnant witted young man, who had been a Servant in an English house, who pretty well understood our Language, better then he could speak it, and well understood his own Language, and hath a clear pronounciation: Him I made my Interpreter. By his help I translated the Commandments, the Lords Prayer, and many Texts of Scripture; also I compiled both Exhortations and Prayers by his help. I diligently marked the difference of their Grammar from ours: When I found the way of them, I would pursue a Word, a Noun, a Verb, through all variations I could think of. And thus I came at it. We must not sit still, and look for Miracles: Up, and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee. Prayer and Pains, through Faith in Christ Jesus, will do any thing."

In 1646 Mr. Eliot began to preach to the Indians in their own tongue. About the middle of September he addressed a company of the natives in the wigwam of Cutshamoquin, the sachem of Neponset, within the limits of Dorchester. His next attempt was made among the Indians of another place, "those of Dorchester mill not regarding any such thing." On the 28th of October he delivered a sermon before a large number assembled in the principal wigwam of a chief named Waban, situated four or five miles from Roxbury, on the south side of the Charles river near Watertown mill, now in the township of Newton. The services were commenced with prayer, which, as Mr. Shepard relates, "now was in English," being not so farre acquainted with the Indian language as to expresse our hearts herein before God or them." After Mr. Eliot had finished his discourse, which was in the Indian language, he "asked them if they understood all that which was already spoken, and whether all of them in the Wigwam did understand or only some few? and they answered to this question with multitude of voyces, that they all of them did understand all that which was then spoken to them." He then replied to a number of questions which they propounded to him, "borrowing now and then some small helpe from the Interpreter whom wee brought with us, and who could oftentimes expresse our minds more distinctly then any of us could." Three more meetings were held at this place in November and December of the same year, accounts of which are given by the Rev. Thomas Shepard in the tract entitled The Day-Breaking, if not the Sun-Rising of the Gospell with the Indians in New-England, London, 1647.

In the meantime (November, 1648), the general court of Massachusetts had passed an order for the appointment of a committee to purchase lands for an Indian settlement on the site where these meetings were held, "for y^e incuragm^t of y^e Indians to live in an orderly way amongst us . . . & further, to set downe rules for their impves & enjoying thereof." The place was called Nonantum or Noonatomen by Mr. Eliot, "which signifies in English rejoicing." The word Nonantum, according to Dr. Trumbull, means literally "I rejoice," or "am well-minded." The form Noonatomen (or Noantamun) is plural, "We rejoice." This was the first Indian mission established in New England. The Indians of Concord, when they heard of these things, requested Mr. Eliot to visit and teach them too, which he did whenever he had an opportunity. They also obtained permission from the English to begin a mission settlement of their own, in January, 1647. Mr. Shattuck, in his History of Concord, as quoted in Francis's Life of John Eliot, doubts whether there was, as has often been stated, any definite grant of land to the Indians, either at Concord or Nonantum. He thinks "they lived by sufferance on lands claimed by the English, prior to their gathering at Natick." Another mission was also begun at Neponset, about four miles south of Roxbury, among the Indians of Dorchester, at the request of their sachem Cutshamoquin, who had formerly given Mr. Eliot so little encouragement. Here he set up a second lecture, which was continued for several years with the lecture at Nonantum.

In 1647 the Indians commenced to fence in the grounds of their new settlement and to build a stone wall, for the making of which Mr. Eliot provided them with shovels, spades, mattocks, and crows of iron, "and to encourage their slothfulnesse, promised to give a goat or sixpence a rod, if they would thus farre attend their own good, and work for themselves." They "call upon me," he writes, September 24th, 1647, "to help them with tools faster then I can get them, though I have now bought pretty store, and they (I hope) are at work. The women are desirous to learn to spin, and I have procured wheels for sundry of them, and they can spin pretty well. They begin to grow industrious, and find something to sell at market all the yeer long." In March the ministers of Boston visited the "Indian Lecture" at Nonantum, for the purpose of inspecting the new undertaking. Several months later Mr. Eliot accompanied Mr. Wilson and Mr. Shepard on a visit to Yarmouth, where he improved the opportunity by preaching "to the poore Indians in these remote places about Cape Cod." According to Mr. Shepard's account of this journey, "We first found these Indians (not very farre from ours) to understand (but with much difficulty) the usuall language of those in our parts, partly in regard of the different dialect which generally varies in 40. or 60. miles, and partly and especially in regard of their not being accustomed unto sacred language about the holy things of God, wherein Mr. Eliot excells any other of the English, that in the Indian language about common matters excell him: I say therefore although they did with much difficulty understand him, yet they did understand him, although by many circumlocutions and variations of speech and the helpe of one or two Interpreters, which were then present." Before the end of the year Mr. Eliot went on a journey up the country towards Merrimack river, for the purpose of preaching to the Indians in that neighborhood. Further particulars of these visits are given in Shepard's Clear Sun-shine of the Gospell breaking forth upon the Indians in New-England, London, 1648.

In the summer of 1648 Mr. Eliot made four visits to the western Indians, who lived about forty miles from Roxbury, and induced Shawanon, "the great Sachym of Nashawog," to listen to his preaching. He also visited some of the southern Indians at Tihatacut or Titacut. In one of his letters he remarks: "There is a great fishing place upon one of the Falls of Merrimack River called Pantucket, where is a great confluence of the Indians every Spring, and thither I have gone these two yeares in that season, and intend so to doe next Spring (if God will.) . . . This last Spring I did there meet old Papassaconnaway, who is a great Sogamore, and hath been a great Witch in all mens esteem . . . and a very politick wise man. The last yeare he and all his sonnes fled when I came, pretending feare that we would kill him: But this yeare it pleased God to bow his heart to heare the word. . . . There is another great fishing place about threescore miles from us, whether I intend (God willing) to go next Spring, which belongeth to the forenamed Papassaconnaway; which journey, though it be like to be both difficult and chargeable for horse and men, in fitting provisions, yet I have sundry reasons which bow and draw my heart thereunto." In another place he writes: "Some of Sudbury Indians, some of Concord Indians, some of Mestic Indians, and some of Dedham Indians. are ingenious, and pray unto God, and sometimes come to the place where I teach to heare the word. Linn Indians are all naught save one, . . . principally because their Sachim is naught, and careth not to pray unto God." Mr. Eliot also mentions the discouragements which attended the work of fencuing and walling the new settlement at Nonantum, in order to protect the gardens and cornfields of the Indians from the cattle of the English, which did much damage. "A place must be found," he writes, "(both for this and sundry other reasons I can give) some what remote from the English, where they must have the word constantly taught, and government constantly exercised . . . Such a project in a fit place, would draw many that are well minded together: but I feare it will be too chargeable. . . . The Indians about us which I constantly teach, do still diligently and desirously attend, and in a good measure practice (for the outward part of Religion, both in their families and Sabbaths) according to their knowledge; and by degrees come on to labour." A particular account of these matters was given by Mr. Eliot in Winslow's publication entitled, The Glorious Progress of the Gospel, amongst the Indians in New England, London, 1649.

The account of Mr. Eliot's work during the year 1649, in his own words, is as follows: "I had, and still have, a great desire to go to a great fishing place, Namaske upon Merimak; and because the Indians way lyeth beyond the great River which we cannot passe with our horses, nor can we well go to it on this side the river, unlesse we go by Nashaway, which is about, and bad way, unbeaten, the Indians not using that way; I therefore hired a hardy man of Nashaway to beat out a way and to mark trees, so that he may Pilot me thither in the spring, and he hired Indians with him and did it; and in the way passed through a great people called Sowahagen Indians, some of which had heard me at Pautuket and at Nashaway, and had carried home such tydings, that they were generally stirred with a desire that I would come and teach them; and when they saw a man come to cut out a way for me that way, they were very glad; and when he told them I intended to come that way the next spring, they seemed to him full of joy, and made him very welcome. But in the Spring, when I should have gone, I was not well, it being a very sickly time, so that I saw the Lord prevented me of that journey; yet when I went to Pautuket another fishing place, where from all parts about they met together, thither came divers of these Sowahagen Indians, and heard me teach, and I had conference with them; and among other things, I asked whether Sowahagen Indians were desirous to pray to God; they answered; yea, I asked how many desired it; they answered wamu, that is All, and with such affection as did much affect those Christian men that I had with me in company." In the summer of the same year he visited the "aged Sachem at Quabagud three score miles Westward." He also wrote, in a letter dated December 29th, that "a Nipnet Sachem hath submitted himself to pray unto the Lord, and much desireth one of our chief ones to live with him and teach him and those that are with him." This year Mr. Eliot lost one of his chief friends and advisers in this work, the Rev. Thomas Shepard, who died on the 25th of August, 1649.

In the meantime, the interest excited in England by the published accounts of the labors among the Indians by Mr. Eliot in Massachusetts and Thomas Mayhew on Martha's Vineyard, resulted in the institution, by act of parliament, July 27th, 1649, of a missionary society called the "Corporation for the Propagation of the Gospel among the Indians in New England." Contributions were soon raised and forwarded to the Commissioners of the United Colonies for the furtherance of the work.

The progress of the mission among the Indians in the following year (1650) is related by Mr. Eliot himself in several letters. On the 18th of February, he wrote: "The work of the Lord through his grace doth still go on as formerly, and they are still full of questions, and mostly they now be, to know the meaning of such Scriptures as I have translated and read, and in a poor measure expounded to them, they long for to proceed in that work which I have in former Letters mentioned; namely to cohabit in a Towne, to be under the government of the Lord, and to have a Church and the Ordinances of Christ among them." In another letter he gives some additional particulars: "But I declared unto them how necessary it was, that they should first be Civilized, by being brought from their scattered and wild course of life, unto civill Cohabitation and Government. . . . And therefore I propounded unto them, that they should look out some fit place to begin a Towne, unto which they might resort, and there dwell together, enjoy Government, and be made ready and prepared to be a People among whom the Lord might delight to dwell and Rule. . . . We accordingly attended thereunto, to search for a fit place, and finally, after sundry journeyes and travells to severall places, the Lord did by his speciall providence, and answer of prayers, pitch us upon the place where we are at Natick."

This was in the summer of 1650. Mr. Eliot was encouraged to commence the long delayed and expensive undertaking by the expectation of help from the new Corporation in England. The site chosen for the Indian town was about eighteen miles southwest of Boston, on the banks of the Charles river. The territory was granted to the "praying Indians," according to Dr. Francis, by the inhabitants of Dedham, at the intercession of Mr. Eliot. The Indians gave the people of Dedham, in exchange, the township which is now called Deerfield. In this place the grass was cut, and timber felled and squared for the building of a meeting house and fort. In a letter dated October 21st Mr. Eliot writes: "Our work in civilizing them will go on the more slowly for want of tools; for though I have bought a few for them, we can do but little, for alas a few will set but a few on work, and they be very dear too." He remarks in another place: "In prosecution of this work in the year 1650 we begun by the Lords assistance our first Towne at Natick, where we built a Fort, and one dwelling-house." The name is said to signify "a place of hills." See Mr. Eliot's letters in Whitfield's tract entitled, The Light appearing more and more towards the perfect Day, or, A farther Discovery of the present state of the Indians in New-England, London, 1651.

Mr. Eliot had been without an assistant in the ministry of the church in Roxbury since 1641; but the increase in his missionary labors now made some help necessary. The Rev. Thomas Danforth was therefore ordained, on the 24th of September, 1650, to be his colleague in that church, which office he filled for twenty-four years.

In 1651, some of the tools and other necessities having arrived from England, the "praying Indians" were removed from Nonantum to Natick, where the work of laying out the town was completed. On the 28th of April, Mr. Eliot wrote: "Besides those works which concerne Religion and Learning, we are also a doing (according to the measure of our day of small things) in the civill part of this work, we have set out some part of the Town in several streets, measuring out and dividing of Lots, which I set them to doe, and teach them how to do it: many have planted Apple-Trees, and they have begun divers Orchards, it's now planting-time, and they be full of businesse. . . . We also have begun a Pallizadoe Fort, in the midst whereof we intend a meeting-house and a Schoole-house, but we are in great want of Toolles, and many necessaries, and when we cannot goe we must be content to creep: this present week I am going to Pawtucket, the great Fishing place upon Merimek, where I hear sundry doe expect my coming, with a purpose to submit themselves unto the Lords hand." Another letter, written towards the end of the year, continues the relation: "Therefore upon the sixt day of the sixt Moneth of this present year [August 6th, 1651], (their Pallizadoe Fort being finished) they had a great meeting, and many came together from diverse parts, . . . and finally they did solemnly choose two Rulers among themselves, they first chose a Ruler of an Hundred, then they chose two Rulers of Fifties, then they chose Ten or Tithing Men. . . . And lastly, for that dayes work every man chose who should be his Ruler of ten, the Rulers standing in order, and every man going to the man he chose. . . . After this work was ended, they did enter into Covenant with God, and each other, to be the Lords people, and to be governed by the word of the Lord in all things." In October, Governor Endicott and about thirty of the chief men of Boston, visited Mr. Eliot's lecture "at Natick, the new Indian Towne."

In the same year, Mr. Winthrop advised Mr. Eliot, "to send two discreet men to the greatest and most potent Sachem among the Naragansets, to answer such Questions as they might propound, and to stirre them up to call on God." He therefore writes: "I did accordingly, and sent him a Present by them; but the proud Sachem did little lesse than despise the offer, though he tooke the present; So they thought they should have returned without successe; but when they came among the people, especially such as were a little more remote from the great and proud ones, they received them with great gladnesse. . . . There is a great COUNTRY lying between Conectacott and the Massachusets, called Nipnet, where there be many Indians dispersed, many of which have sent to our Indians, desiring that some may be sent unto them to teach them to pray unto God. And sometimes some of our best men doe goe to severall places for a little while, and returne againe, and not without successe." On the 20th of October there came to the general court of Massachusetts, "one Pummakummin Sachem of Quinnubbágge, dwelling amongst or near to the Narragansets, who offered himselfe and his Men to worship God, and desired that some English may be sent from the Massachusets Government to plant his River, that thereby he may be pertaker of Government, and may be instructed by the English to know God." Mr. Eliot's letters descriing the events of this year were printed in the tract entitled, Strength out of Weaknesse; Or a Glorious Manifestation Of the further Progresse of the Gospel among the Indians in New-England, London, 1652.

The Indians of Natick being now, as Mr. Eliot remarks, "come under Civil Order, and fixing themselves in Habitations, and bending themselves to labor, as doth appear by their works of Fencings, Buildings &c. and especially in building without any English Workmans help, or direction a very sufficient Meeting-House, of fifty foot long twenty five foot broad, neer twelve foot high betwixt the joints, wel sawen and framed (which is a specimen, not only of their singular ingenuity, and dexterity, but also of some industry) I say this being so, now my argument of delaying them from entering into Church-Estate, was taken away. Therefore in way of preparation of them thereunto, I did this Summer [1652] call forth sundry of them in the dayes of our public Assemblies in Gods Worship; sometimes on the Sabbath when I could be with them, and sometimes on Lecture daies, to make confession before the Lord of their former sins, and of their present knowledg of Christ, and experience of his Grace which they solemnly doing,

I wrote down their confessions: which having done, and being in my own heart hopeful that there was among them fit matter for a Church, I did request all the Elders about us to hear them read, so that they might give me advice what to do in this great, and solemn business." A meeting was accordingly held in October at Natick, at which these confessions were read and translated in the presence of the ministers of Boston. The conclusion, however, was not favorable to Mr. Eliot's project, for it was resolved, "not to proceed any further at present, yet so to carry the matter, as that the Indians might in no wise be discouraged, but encouraged." Mr. Eliot was then desired to declare it to the Indians, which he did to this purpose, "That the Magistrates, Elders, and other Christian People present, did much rejoice to hear their Confessions, and advised them to go on in that good way; but as for the gathering a Church among them this day, it could not be," etc. These confessions were printed with Mr. Eliot's relation in the tract entitled, Tears of Repentance; Or, a further Narrative of the Progress of the Gospel Amongst the Indians in New-England, London, 1653.

Mr. Eliot's original purpose was to have brought all the "praying Indians" together at Natick. "But it so fell out," he writes in 1654, "that because the Cohannet [or Dorchester] Indians desired a place which they had reserved for themselves, and I finding that I could not at that time pitch there without opposition from some English, I refused that place, and pitched at Natick, where I found no opposition at present. This choyce of mine did move in the Cohannet Indians a jealousy that I had more affection unto those other Indians than unto them. By which occasion (together with some other Providences of God, as the death of Cutshamoquin, and the coming of Josias, to succeed in the Sachemship in that place) their minds were quite alienated from the place of Natick, though not from the work, for they desire to make a Towne in that fore mentioned place of their owne, named Ponkipog, and are now upon the work. And indeed, it now appeareth to be of the Lord, because we cannot have competent accommodations at Natick, for those that be there, which are about fifty Lots, more or lesse. And furthermore, by the blessing of God upon the work, there are People, partly prepared, and partly preparing for three Townes more." On the "13 of the 4 moneth" (June 13th), 1654, a second public examination was made, with the help of interpreters, of some of the "praying Indians" and their confessions of faith, at a meeting of the ministers and elders held in Roxbury, for the purpose of deciding on the propriety of establishing a church among them. The result, however, which Mr. Eliot desired, was not attained on this occasion. Six years passed before the first Indian church was organized at Natick. See Mr. Eliot's letter, and the confessions of the Indians, printed in A Late and Further Manifestation of the Progress of the Gospel amongst the Indians in New-England, London, 1655.

The progress made by Mr. Eliot in translating the scriptures and other books into the Indian language is related in the notes to the preceding titles. In 1654 a primer or catechism had been printed, and in 1655 the book of Genesis and the gospel of Matthew had passed through the press. The next three years were largely employed in the translation of the whole bible, which was finished in the autumn or winter of 1658. A portion of the psalms of David in Indian metre was printed about the same time. On the 10th of December, 1658, Mr. Eliot wrote: "For my selfe I feele my strength to decay, and I am not able to doe and bear what I have done, and although temptation may sometime breed waverings, yet my soul doth desire & belevee, that I shall live and dye in the work." His two eldest sons, John and Joseph, began to help him in the Indian work, and to learn the Indian language, about this time. See Mr. Eliot's letters, printed in A further Account of the Progress of the Gospel amongst the Indians in New-England, London, 1659.

In April, 1659, preparations were made for another public examination of the Indian converts, "in order to their admission into Church-fellowship." The meeting was held at Roxbury, on the 5th of July, when eight of the Indians made their confessions of faith before the ministers, elders, and interpreters assembled there. "This is the third time," Mr. Eliot writes, "that the Praying Indians (some of them) have been called forth into publick, to make open confession of the Name of Christ, to come under the publick tryal of Gods people, whether they be indeed Christians, as fit matter for a Gospel Church." The decision of this conference was, that some of the principal of the Indians should "be seasoned in Church-fellowship, in communion with our English Churches, before they should be Churches among themselves." They were accordingly admitted on trial for a season by the church in Roxbury. Mr. Eliot's account and the confessions of the Indians were printed in the tract entitled, A further Account of the progress of the Gospel Amongst the Indians In New England, London, 1660.

In the latter part of October, 1659, there was printed in London a book entitled The Christian Commonwealth, which had been written by Mr. Eliot nine or ten years before. After the restoration of Charles II. in 1660, the governor and council of Massachusetts colony considered that the republican sentiments of this publication, if allowed "to pass unnoticed and unproved, might be represented to their disadvantage." The book was therefore formally condemned and suppressed on the 18th of March, and in the following May a retraction, signed by Mr. Eliot, was made public. The year 1660 was also the date of the organization at Natick, after nine years of probation, of the first Indian church in Massachusetts colony. One Indian church had already been formed on Martha's Vineyard in the preceding year, under the care of Mr. Thomas Mayhew.

In 1661, the printing of the Indian new testament was finished, and in the following year a second edition of the primer or catechism was issued. The old testament and metrical psalms followed in 1663. The Indian translations of Baxter's Call to the Unconverted and of Bayly's Practice of Piety were printed in 1664 and 1665. In the latter year, Mr. Eliot's treatise in English, entitled Communion of Churches, was printed by Marmaduke Johnson at Cambridge. It is supposed to be the "first privately printed American book." The Indian Grammar was published in 1666. In 1668, Mr. Eliot's eldest son John, who had learned the Indian language and helped his father in preaching to the Indians, died on the 13th of October, aged about thirty-two years. The Indian Primer was printed in 1669. In the following year Mr. Eliot and Mr. John Cotton of Plymouth, visited Martha's Vineyard, and assisted Mr. Mayhew in the ordination of the convert Hiacommes as pastor of the Indian church there.

Mr. Eliot's Brief Narrative of the Progress of the Gospel amongst the Indians in New-England, in the Year 1670, was written on the 24th of September of that year, and printed at London in 1671. It contains the following particulars of the state of the mission, and a list of the praying towns. "Upon the 17th day of the 6th month [August] 1670," he writes, "there was a Meeting at Maktepog [Marshpee] near Sandwich in Plimouth-Patent, to gather a church amongst the Indians." This place was about sixty miles southeast of Natick. The converts there, "being of kin to our Massachusetts-Indians who first prayed unto God," had been taught by Mr. William Leveredge as early as 1652. After Mr. Leveredge removed to Long Island, Mr. Richard Bourne was encouraged by Mr. Eliot to undertake the charge of these Indians, and on this occasion he was ordained to be their pastor. Mr. Eliot then continues his relation: "From them we passed over to the Vinyard, where many were added to the Church both men and women, and were baptized all of them. . . . Foundation is laid for two Churches more. . . . Also the Teacher of the Praying Indians of Nantuket, with a Brother of his were received here. . . . and being asked, did make report unto us that there be about ninety Families who pray unto God in that Island."

The towns of "praying Indians" in Massachusetts colony are described in the Brief Narrative in the following order: "Natick is our chief Town, where most and chief of our Rulers, and most of the Church dwells. . . . It is (by Divine Providence) seated well near in the center of all our praying Indians, though Westward the Cords of Christ's Tents are more enlarged. . . . We have betwixt forty and fifty Communicants at the Lord's Table." The next in order, "Ponkipog, or Pakeunit [Pakemit] is our second Town, where the Sachems of the Blood (as they term their Chief Royal-Line) had their Residence and Rights, which are mostly Alienated to the English Towns." It was situated about fourteen miles south of Boston. Hassunnimesut or Hassanamesitt was the third town "in order, dignity, and antiquity." It was about thirty-eight miles "west southerly" from Boston, and about two miles east of Nipmuck or Nipmuck river. The fourth town, Ogquonikongquamesut or Okommakamesit, was about twelve miles north northeast from Hassanamesitt and thirty miles west from Boston. "I was very lately among them," Mr. Eliot writes, and "they desired me to settle a stated Lecture amongst them, as it is in sundry other Praying Towns." Nashope or Nashobah was the fifth praying town. It was situated about twenty-five miles west northwest of Boston. "This place lying in the Road-way which the Mauquaogs haunted, was much molested by them, and was one year wholly deserted; but this year the People have taken courage and dwell upon it again." Wamesut or Pawtucket was the sixth town. It was about twenty miles from Boston, north northwest, "at the bottom of the great Falls, or the great River Merymak, and at the falling-in of Concord River." This place was much resorted to by other Indians during the fishing season. Mr. Eliot visited it "but once in a year." The seventh town, Panatuket, "is the upper part of Merimack-Falls; so called, because of the noise which the Waters make. Thither the Penagwog-Indians are come, and have built a great Fort. Their Sachems refused to pray to God. . . . But now since the Penagwog-Sachems are cut off, the People (sundry of them) dwelling at Panatuket-Fort do bow the Earto hear, and submit to pray unto God." Magunkukquok or Magunkaquog, the eighth town, was situated "at the remotest Westerly borders of Natick," about midway between that place and Hassanamesitt. This town was a "gathering together of some of the Nipmuck Indians who left their own places, and sit together in this place, and have given up themselves to pray unto God." The ninth place, Quanasusset, "is the last of our Praying-Towns, whose beginnings have received too much discouragement; but yet the Seed is alive: they are frequently with me."

Mr. Eliot's little book entitled Indian Dialogues was printed at Cambridge in 1671. It is entirely in English, but was intended for the use of the native Indian teachers and ministers, "for their Instruction in that great Service of Christ, in] calling home their Country-men to the Knowledge of God, and of themselves, and of Jesus Christ." In the introductory address to the Commissioners of the United Colonies, signed "J. E.," Mr. Eliot writes of the Indians: "God hath in mercy raised up sundry among themselves to a competent ability to teach their Countrymen. Many have been sent forth by the Church this Winter to divers places, and not without good success. . . . I finde it necessary for me to instruct them (as in Principles of Art, so) in the way of communicating the good knowledge of God, which I conceive is most familiarly done by way of Dialogues; an Essay whereunto I do here present unto you: purposing, if the Lord will, and that I live, to do more of the like kinde hereafter." In the preface he remarks: "These Dialogues are partly Historical, of some things that were done and said; and partly Instructive, to shew what might or should have been said, or that may be (by the Lords assistance) hereafter done and said, upon the like occasion. . . . For sundry weighty Reasons I desire and endeavour, that our Learned Indians should learn at least the English Tongue; our Indian Churches holding Communion with the English Churches, must perform that Service in the English Tongue. If the Lord give life, and length of dayes, I may hereafter put forth these or the like Dialogues in the Indian Tongue." The following extract is from page 14: "At first this [m]atter of praying to God was a little thing, like a Cloud in the Vest of the bigness of a mans hand, but now the Cloud is great and wide, and spreadeth over all the Country. Nop and Nantuket, and Paumenuk Islands, Mahshepog, and many parts of the main Land, to the utmost bounds of this Country Eastward. And Vestward, not onely all the Massachusetts pray, but also a great part of Nipmuk." In 1671, the second Indian church in Massachusetts was organized at Hassanamesitt. The Logick Primer, in Indian and English, which was printed in 1672, was also prepared by Mr. Eliot for the instruction of the native teachers.

On the 22d of August, 1673, Mr. Eliot wrote to the Rev. Increase Mather: "There be (through the grace of Christ) six churches gathered, according to the order of gathering churches among the English, one at Natick, one at Hassanameset, 28 miles to the west, one at Mashpege 20 miles east of Plymouth, two at Martyn's Vineyard, and one at Nantucket. . . . All are furnished with officers, saving the church at Natick, and in modesty they stand off, because so long as I live, they say, there is no need; but we propose (God willing) not always to rest in this answer. . . . We have schools; many can read, some write, sundry able to exercise in publick, are sent by the church to teach in new praying places and who live remote from the churches and some or other of them doe every lecture day, at Natick, exercise their gifts two or three on a day, and I moderate."

in the winter of 1670-71 and in the three following years, for the purpose of preaching the gospel to the pagan tribes in the western parts of the colony, were the means of gathering nine more towns in the Nipmuck country. These towns were situated from forty to seventy miles west and southwest of Boston. Their names were Manchage, Chabanakongkomun, Maanexit, Quantisset, Wabquissit, Pakachoog, Waeuntug, Weshakim and Quabaug. In July, 1673, and again in September, 1674, Mr. Eliot visited most of these new places, in company with Mr. Daniel Gookin, the official superintendent of the Indians. The object of the journey was to confirm the new converts in the Christian religion, "to settle teachers in every town, and to establish civil government among them, as in other praying towns." At this period the fourteen principal towns of praying Indians under Mr. Eliot's supervision, within the jurisdiction of Massachusetts colony, were supposed to contain 1,100 souls, of which about 145 were at Natick. In Plymouth colony, and on the islands of Nantucket, Martha's Vineyard and Chappaquidick, the number of converts under the care of Mr. Richard Bourne and Mr. John Cotton was estimated at nearly 2,500. Mr. Eliot's catechisms and translations were probably used by all these Indians. On the 19th of November, 1674, the death of Mr. Danforth deprived Mr. Eliot of his colleague at Roxbury. During the next fourteen years he was without a helper in that church.

The disastrous war with Philip, sachem of Pokanoket and of all the Wampanoags, began in the latter part of June, 1675. Cotton Mather relates of this sachem that when Mr. Eliot once offered to preach to him and his people, "the Monster entertain'd it with Contempt and Anger, and after the Indian Mode of joining Signs with Words, he took a Button upon the Coat of the Reverend Man, adding, That he cared for his Gospel, just as much as he cared for that Button." The Narragansetts, who were Philip's allies, had also refused to listen to the teachers sent by Mr. Eliot. But after this war began, "the Lord Jesus," as Gookin remarks, "before the expiration of 18 months, destroyed the body of this Narragansett nation, that would not have him to reign over them." The severest effects of the war were felt by the inhabitants of Massachusetts colony, and by Mr. Eliot's Indian converts. The situation of the old praying towns was such, "that the Indians in them might have been improved as a wall of defence about the greatest part of the colony." But the advice and pleadings of Mr. Eliot in their behalf received but little attention. Both he and Mr. Gookin were publicly insulted and reviled for taking their part. The English, in their animosity against all Indians without exception, "could with difficulty be restrained from involving in one common destruction the whole race." The Indian towns in the Nipmuck country were forced to join the enemy. The other praying towns were broken up, and many of the converts were forced to flee from the English to the woods for safety. On the 30th of October, the Natick Indians, about 200 in number, were forcibly removed from their town, and confined on Deer Island, in Boston harbor, "encouraging and exhorting one another with prayers and tears." The Ponkipog Indians were taken to the same place about a month later, and the Nashobah Indians in the following February. Here they remained during the winter, exposed to much suffering. In May, 1676, after some of the ill feeling against them had subsided, they were taken back to the main land, where they were permitted to camp during the summer. In August, king Philip was slain, and the war soon after brought to a close. The Wampanoags and Narragansetts were almost exterminated. In the spring of 1677 the remnant of the praying Indians returned to their old plantations at Natick and Ponkipog, where they were encouraged and taught by Mr. Eliot. The eastern Indians of Cape Cod and other places in Plymouth colony, as well as those of Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard, "felt very little of this war comparatively."

Mr. Eliot's Harmony of the Gospels was printed in English at Boston in 1678. In the following year his Brief Answer To a Small Book written by John Norcot against Infant-Baptisme, was published at the same place. The new edition of the Indian bible, commenced in 1680, was five years in passing through the press. In a letter written by Mr. Eliot to the Hon. Robert Boyle, on the 15th of March, 1683, there is a reference to "those remote Indians, to the North-West, whose language agreeth with ours, so that they and we can speak to each other's understanding." Mr. Boyle had sent to him 30*l.*, which sum was intended to be used, whenever occasion offered, for a mission among those tribes. In the same letter Mr. Eliot mentions "our Wameset Indians, who are our most northerly plantation." Another letter to Boyle, dated April 22d, 1684, relates that "the stated places [of worship for the Indians], in the Massachusetts, since the wars, are contracted into four, Natick, Ponkipog, Wamesut, and Chachaubunkkawkok." In Plymouth colony there were about ten places, on Martha's Vineyard ten, and on Nantucket five. In 1685, a second edition was issued of Bayly's Practice of Piety in Indian. About the same time, or in the following year, there was printed, probably at Cambridge, a little tract containing The Dying Speeches of several Indians. In the preface Mr. Eliot writes: "Here be But a few of the Dying Speeches & Counsels Of such Indians as dyed in the Lord. It is an humbling to me that there be no more, it was not in my heart to gather them, but Major Gookins hearing some of them rehearsed, He first moved that Daniel should gather them, in the Language as they were spoken, and that I should translate them into English; and here is presented what was done that way. These things are Prin[t]ed, not so much for Publication, as to save charge of writing out of Copyes for those that did desire them."

In 1684 Mr. Daniel Gookin, the eldest son of Major Gookin, began to learn the Indian language, and held 'a lecture once a month at Natick, when he preached to the Indians by the aid of an interpreter. This relieved Mr. Eliot to some extent. The church of Natick had received his special care ever since its organization, and had, therefore, always been without a minister of its own. As early as 1687, however, one of the Indian teachers, named Daniel Takawompait, was ordained to that office. On the 22d of March, 1687, Mr. Eliot's wife died, in the eighty-fourth year of her age. In the same year, probably, a new edition of the Indian primer was published, and in 1688 the Indian version of Baxter's Call to the Unconverted was reprinted. On the 17th of October, 1688, Mr. Nehemiah Walter was ordained as Mr. Eliot's colleague in the church at Roxbury, to relieve him from his labors there. The Indian translation of Shepard's Sincere Convert, made many years before, was printed in 1689. It was the last of Mr. Eliot's publications. On the 21st of May, 1690, at about one o'clock in the morning, he died at Roxbury, in the eighty-sixth year of his age. Of six children, only two survived him.

At Natick, after Mr. Eliot's death, the Indian church rapidly declined. In 1698 it had but ten members, and on the death of the Indian preacher, Daniel Takawompait, in 1716, it became extinct. The use of the Indian language in the records of the town ceased at the same time. In 1721, Mr. Oliver Peabody was sent as a missionary to Natick, where he preached to the Indians in English, and in 1729 a new church, consisting partly of English and partly of Indians, was gathered there under his charge. The number of white residents continually increased. In 1753 Natick was "erected into a precinct or parish" by an act of the general court, and in 1781 it was incorporated as an English town. The Indian residents in 1753 numbered but twenty-five families, and in 1763 only thirty-seven individuals. In 1792 the number had fallen to about thirty, and in 1797 to twenty. Their last reservation was sold in 1828. In the report on the Indians of Massachusetts made in 1861 by the state commissioner, Mr. John Milton Earle, it is stated that "of all the tribes which held reservations and were placed under guardianship by the State, the Natick Tribe is nearest extinct. There are, scattering about the State, and commingled with other tribes, particularly the Hassanamiscoes, those who can trace descent back to the Naticks, but of those who claim now to belong to the tribe, only two families remain, and one of these is descended equally from the Naticks and the Hassanamiscoes. Their whole number is twelve." From the same report it appears that the whole number of Indians in the state of Massachusetts in 1861 was a little over sixteen hundred. They were mostly divided into sixteen tribes, viz: the Chappquiddick, the Christiantown, the Gay Head, the Marshpee, the Herring Pond, the Natick, the Punkapog, the Troy or Fall River (descendants of the Wampanoags), the Hassanamisco, the Dudley (descendants of the Nipmucks), the Dartmouth (descendants of the Wampanoags), the Yarmouth, the Mamattakeeset, the Tumpum, the Deep Bottom, and the Middleborough Indians. "Of all these, it is safe to assume that there is not one person of unmixed Indian blood." Some of the tribes began to intermarry with the negroes and whites nearly two hundred years ago. Their language was gradually superseded by English. The Indian bible appears to have been used by a few Indians about the middle of the last century, but the ability to read and understand it probably did not continue many years after that date.

John Ettwein, Moravian bishop, born in Trendenstadt, Württemberg, 29 June, 1721, died in Bethlehem, Pa., 2 Jan., 1802. In 1754 he came to the American colonies, where he labored for nearly half a century as an evangelist, as a pastor, and finally as a bishop of the Moravian church. He was consecrated to the episcopacy on 25 June, 1784. In 1801, owing to the infirmities of old age, he retired from active service. Few men of the last century displayed greater zeal in spreading the gospel through the country of his adoption. He studied the language of the Delaware Indians, prepared a small dictionary and a phrase-book thereof, and in 1788 gave an account of their language and traditions, including a vocabulary, since published by the Historical society of Pennsylvania. He travelled thousands of miles, often on foot, and preached in eleven of the thirteen original colonies and in what is now the State of Ohio, "in cities" to use his own words, "in villages, in homesteads, from pulpits, in the open air, in court-houses and barns, to many and very different classes of men." He labored frequently among the Indians, and in 1772 led the Christian Indians from the Susquehanna to the Tuscarawas valley of Ohio. Not the least important act of his life was the founding, in 1787, of the "Society for Propagating the Gospel among the Heathens," which still exists, has a large endowment, and contributes liberal amounts towards the support of the extensive missions of the Moravian church. Ettwein stood at the head of this church as its presiding bishop for seventeen years, displaying sound judgment, great decision of character, and often, amid trying circumstances, a marvelous heroism.—*Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. — [The Cree syllabary.]

In the Canadian Methodist Magazine for October, 1832, is an article by the Rev. John Carroll, relating to Mr. Evans, biographic in its general character, but containing some account of the invention of the syllabic characters; extracts from this article will be found in the biography of Mr. Evans, given below. In the next issue of the magazine, Nov. 1832, the Rev. Egerton R. Young speaks more fully upon the subject, and from this article I extract as follows:

"The invention of what are known as the syllabic characters was undoubtedly Mr. Evans' greatest work, and to his unaided genius belongs the honour of devising and then perfecting this alphabet which has been such a blessing to thousands of Cree Indians. The principle on which the characters are formed is the phonetic. There are no silent letters. Each character represents a syllable, hence no spelling is required. As soon as the alphabet is mastered, the student can commence at the first chapter in Genesis and read on, slowly of course, at first, but in a few days with surprising facility.

"Mr. Evans' hope when he commenced this great work, was the invention of some plan by which the wandering Indians, who never could remain in one place long enough to acquire the art of reading in the ordinary way, but were ever on the move after the game on which they lived, might acquire the ability to read God's word in their own language. In this his most sanguine expectations were more than realized.

"It is a cause for righteous indignation that some have been found unprincipled enough to try and wrest the honour of this wonderful invention from him to whom it so justly belonged. One especially, who went out from among us, and was for years employed in another Church, arrogated to himself this honour, and even had the audacity to have published in some English papers articles in which he received all the credit as the inventor of the Cree Syllabic Characters. Let it be known to all, that long before Wm. Mason reached Norway House, the Rev.

James Evans had not only perfected his invention, but had so far utilized it, that portions of the Gospels, and also several hymns, had been printed by himself and his Indian helpers. He whittled out his first types for patterns, and then using the lead furnished him by the Hudson Bay Company's empty tea chests, he cast others in moulds of his own devising. He made his first ink out of the soot of the chimneys. His first paper was birch-bark, and his press was also the result of his handiwork. Afterwards, thanks to the kindness of the English Wesleyan Missionary Society, he was furnished with a large quantity of type, paper, and a capital press, and the sum of five hundred pounds sterling was given towards the erection of a printing-house. For years catechisms, hymn-books, and large portions of the Word of God were printed at Norway House.

"When the invention became more extensively known and other Churches desired to avail themselves of its benefits, the British and Foreign Bible Society nobly came to the help of our own and the kindred Churches having missions in the Northwest, and with their usual princely style of doing things, for years have been printing and gratuitously furnishing to the different Cree Indian missions, all the copies of the Sacred Word they require."

I regret to be unable to reproduce in fac-simile this syllabary in its earliest form as used by Mr. Evans or his contemporaries. I know of no work by Mr. Evans in which they are used, and of no copy of the earlier works which contains the syllabary with powers or values of the characters. The reproduction on the opposite page, taken from a Cree hymn-book by Messrs. McDougall and Glass (q. v.), printed in 1888, shows, perhaps, the latest and most approved form.

The use of these characters has extended much beyond the people for whom they were invented, books having been printed in them in the Eskimaun language, in a number of dialects of the Athapascan, and, in addition to the Cree, in the Chippewa, Sauteux, Moose, and Moosonee divisions of the Algonquian.

As these pages are being put in type (April, 1890), I learn from the Rev. John McLean (q. v.), of Moose Jaw, Northwest Territories, that he has in press a work entitled "James Evans, Inventor of the Syllabic System of the Cree Language," of about 250 pages, in which will appear a full discussion of the history of the syllabary, well illustrated with specimens of the type. Perhaps it will appear in time to enable me to include its title and description in this bibliography under the name of its author.

In the Proceedings of the Canadian Institute, vol. 7, p. 109 (October, 1889), there appears an article by Father A. G. Morice, O. M. I., of Stuart's Lake, British Columbia, entitled "The Western Dénés, their manners and customs," in which the following language is used: "In these latter years, however, an effort has been

- ∩ = ch, " ∩∩, very.
- ∩ = w, when placed immediately to the right of a syllable, as in ∩∩, my wife.
- ∩ = i, when placed higher to the right, as in ∩∩(∩, my coat.
- ∩ = wī, combining the value of each point as given above, as in ∩∩, kā-kwī.

" = the rough breathing, or aspirate, as in ∩∩, ashes.

x = a combination of " and ∩, that is, of the aspirate and k, as in ∩∩x, at the river,

When " and "o" are placed to the right of a syllable, as in ∩∩q.o, the value of " is absorbed by the syllable, while that of "o" is affixed. Written in Roman characters the word ∩∩q.o will illustrate:—pe-kis-kwāoo; "w" is within the syllable, and "oo" is affixed to it. The value of "z" which appendage must be placed after the syllable it affects, is always absorbed except in the case of ∩z, ∩z, ∩z, ∩z, in which, though "z" is affixed in position, its value is prefixed. The above combinations are pronounced, wā, wē, wō, wā. The absorbed and the prefixed values of "z" are met with in the word ∩.∩∩q.o = wē-pē-kis-kwāoo, he wishes to speak.

It will be noticed that there are quantities between ∩ and ∩. ∩ and ∩, &c., less full than those given in the Alphabet. When quantities similar to the alphabetical ones are very necessary in the pronunciation of a word, the period "o" is placed directly over the long or broad syllable, ∩∩∩(∩) = ni-kā-kwē-tā-mān = I shall be in need. ∩∩(∩∩) = I shall be there; here the last syllables are "ā" and "yān," both broad. ∩∩(∩) = where you are. The last "∩" is not broad, kā-ā-yā-yun.

made by the writer of this paper to teach them [the Dénés, an Athapascan dialect] to read and write their own language, and the result has been really wonderful. In order to attain this satisfactory and promising result, he has had to compose a syllabic alphabet somewhat on the principle of that so suitably invented by the late Mr. Evans for the Cree language, but which he soon found to be totally inadequate to render correctly the numerous and delicate sounds of the Déné dialects. Besides (why should I not say it?) it lacks that method and logic which have been applied to the new or improved syllabics, and which have thereby simplified the acquisition of the language. I am now continually in receipt of letters from Indians whom I never taught and who have learned to read after one or two weeks' (in some cases I might say three or four days') private instruction from others."

A sample of the new syllabary, with inter-linear Déné transliteration and an English translation, is given in Father Morice's paper.

The following notes are extracted from an article by the Rev. John Carroll, in the Canadian Methodist Magazine for October, 1832:

"James Evans was English, born in King's Place, town and county of Kingston-upon-Hull, January 18th, 1801. His parents were Wesleyan Methodists, named respectively James and

Mary Evans. His father was the master of a merchant ship.

"Shortly before the emigration of the family to Canada James removed to London, and was employed in a large glass and crockery establishment, where he remained about two years, and then proceeded to join the family group at Lachute, Lower Canada.

"After a few months he opened a school in the neighborhood of L'Orignal, where he formed an acquaintance with Miss Mary Blithe Smith, which ripened into love and marriage. This occurred about the year 1822 or '23, when he was not much passed twenty-one. About 1825 they removed to Upper Canada.

His first entrance upon Indian work in connection with Canadian Methodism was that of organizing a school at Rice Lake, in 1823, to which he was introduced by the indefatigable Elder Case. Their sojourn at that place comprised three years. Here he began to evince his interest in everything Indian, including the study and systematizing of their language, which pointed him out as specially adapted to the work of native evangelization, and laid the foundation for his great success in that work.

"The Credit Mission was one of the oldest and best: it sought the improvement of a large band of Missasaugas, whose fertile lands skirted a sizable river, noted for salmon fishing, central between the two ends of the province. It had been intrusted to men of more than usual calibre—Egerton and George Ryerson and James Richardson—while it was Elder Case's frequent resting place, and the proper home and place of his translation work, and was the base of the evangelizing operations of the notable Ka-ke-way quon-a-by, or Peter Jones, native missionary. Yet it was thought proper that Evans should be entrusted to take up and further carry on the great work they had done.

"There was, up to the year 1832, a large body of unchristianized Indians at what we now know as Sarnia, and at several other places on and near the upper end of the St. Clair River. A stern and experienced agent was required, and was found in the person of James Evans, and that heroic and versatile man was stationed by the Conference of 1834 at St. Clair.

"He went, without gainsaying, and entered on every part of the multifarious work which devolved upon him—visiting, conciliating, building, preaching, praying, studying the language, translating and getting his translations printed—a work he patiently continued four long weary years. During that time a church and mission-house were erected, fields were won from the wilderness, schools were organized and taught, and printed hymns and other books were put into the hands of his flock, old and young, out of which they read and sang of the wonderful works of God.

"At the opening of the year 1838-'39 the Church entered on wider fields of Indian evangelization, and a region only occasionally visited and partially occupied before was now to be brought under complete cultivation and to be permanently occupied; and two of the foremost men in the ranks of the missionary laborers were to take possession of the territory in the name of the King of kings. These were no others than James Evans and Thomas Hurlburt. He proceeded at once to his new field of labour, leaving his family in Canada.

“Mr. Evans was soon called to his long and widest field of missionary enterprise and toil. The British conference, or their missionary committee, had determined on sending missionaries among the various Indian tribes which wandered in vast hordes over the wide and wild expanse of the Hudson Bay territory; and requiring a man of the needed qualifications and experience and heroism, to conduct the bloodless conquest, they asked Mr. Evans to head this important enterprise. He at once gave his consent, and in the following spring (1846) [sic for 1840!] he went out to the Hudson Bay territory.

“Mr. Evans took with him from Canada two young Indian assistants, Peter Jacobs and Henry Steinhaur. His own local position was Norway House, where he gathered and established a noble mission, with the superintendency of all the Hudson Bay territory missions, extending many hundred miles north and west. He performed prodigies of labor and adventure during the six years he was there. He planted five or six most important Missions at central points; gathered in hundreds of souls; traversed that vast, wild country from side to side and from end to end over and over again, in summer's heat and in winter's cold, studying the languages and dialects, especially mastering the Cree, for which he invented a syllabic character by which nine characters, by being each turned or placed in four different ways, expressed thirty-six elementary syllabic sounds of the language; and, after manufacturing both types and press himself, printed hymns and portions of the New Testament, thus, as it were, fixing a written language and giving the people a literature. In labours and exposure he took the lead of all others, being often months from home, and conducting his correspondence with his family on strips of birch bark.

“In the absence of his journals, diaries, incipient memoranda in language-making (both as to etymology and syntax), and vast numbers of letters of his own and others to him, which have passed out of my hands, I will introduce, a paragraph or two of a private letter addressed to me, at my own request, by his highly respected and venerable brother, the Rev. Dr. Evans, which relates to the Hudson Bay period of his history. Dr. Evans says:

a press was refused, but he labored on, casting leaden blocks from the lining of the chests in which tea was brought into the country, and whittling them into shape as best he could, and by a rough, improvised press of his own manufacture succeeded in printing many hymns, sections of the Holy Scriptures, and primary school-books, which were of great service. I was in England, in 1841, when a set of his home-made types was received by the Wesleyan Missionary Society, and took some part with them in obtaining permission from the Directors of the Hudson Bay Company to have a font cast, and, with a press, sent out to Norway House, pledges being given that they would be used only for our mission work. Their arrival was cause of great joy and thanksgiving to God.’

“His noble character and the circumstances of his death receive confirmation and illustration from the short Conference obituary which was published in the British Minutes for 1847:

“James Evans was a missionary of remarkable ability and zeal, and of great usefulness among the North American Indians. His success among the aborigines of Canada led to his appointment as General Superintendent of the recently formed Missions in the Hudson Bay territory. To his mental vigour and indomitable perseverance the Indians are indebted for many advantages; among these is a written and printed character, suited to their language, of which Mr. Evans was the inventor. Many were the afflictions and trials he had to endure; these issued in a failure of health which rendered his return home (to England) desirable, but the results were not favourable. He died suddenly at Keilby, in Lincolnshire, on the 2d of November, 1846, at the house of a friend, after attending a missionary meeting at which his statements had excited great interest.”

Favre (Père Bonaventure). [Montagnais-French Dictionary.]

Manuscript, pp. 1-391, 3 unnumbered pp. 8^o, in the library of Laval University, Quebec. Pp. 44-45 are duplicated, the first one of each number being partially blank. All the numbered pages bear at the top the words Jesus i Maria. On the first page, in a handwriting different from the text, is: "P. Bonaventura Faber, author hujus farraginis."

The manuscript, bound in coarse gray cloth, is well preserved, and though not in an elegant handwriting, is legible. At the bottom of p. 385 we read "Ad Stæ Crucis Tadsassaci ad N. D. B. V. et om̄ Stom̄ gloria. Inchoata 20 9^{bris} 1695, finita 20 Martii 1696, ad Stæ Crucis Tadsussaci [sic]." Between brackets, but in another handwriting, immediately above the preceding, we read: "P. Bonaventura Favre seu Faber collegit." Below to the right: "Seq̄ app̄." Finally on the first unnumbered leaf, attached to the boarding after the words "Seminair de Québec," is found the following note: "Le P. Bonaventure Favre ou Faber, auteur de ce dictionnaire, était un Jésuite arrivé [in Canada] en 1679 et mort en 1693. Ceci est une copie faite à Tadoussac, commencée le 20 novembre, 1695, et finie le 20 mars 1696."

The Montagnais words in this dictionary are arranged in alphabetic order and occupy, with the French translation, each a line. The first word is "Abatchitagan, — besoiing, nécessité," the last is "T8t8chimiktet (?), — mamillarum tenuis."

Férard. This word following a title or within parentheses after a note indicates that a copy of the work referred to has been seen by the compiler in the library of the Abbé Martin Férard, Sault au Récollet, Montreal Island, Canada.

Férard (Abbé Martin). [Dictionary of the Odjibue language: Odjibue-English and English-Odjibue.]

Manuscript, sm. 4^o, in possession of its author, who was for many years a missionary among the Ojibwas around Lake Superior. I first saw this manuscript when the Abbé Férard was stationed at the Sault au Récollet, Island of Montreal, in 1882. Later, in the summer of 1889, I again visited him, when he was in the House of the Immaculate Conception, a retreat near Montreal belonging to St. Mary's College. At my request the abbé has described the manuscript for me as follows:

The intended Dictionary will be in Odjibue-English and English-Odjibue—not French.

I shall follow the same order as that adopted in Hebrew and Sanscrit dictionaries; that is, the alphabetic order of the roots.

The radical meaning of each root will be given at the head of each one; hence its derived meanings will appear more clearly, just like the rays emanating from one center. The number of the roots amounts to about 1,300; and please remember that in Odjibue a root is properly the qualificative applied to natural objects to specify them.

In the beginning of the dictionary I shall give an alphabetic list of all the natural objects (entering or used only, nearly all, in composition), with their meanings. The number of natural objects known to the Indians and employed in composition, that is, specified by a qualificative, amounts to about 445.

I have so far written about 1,600 pages, which is the third part, about, of the whole letter A. But I have developed fully the beginning of this letter, to accustom the philologist to the various terminations of the words; henceforth I shall abridge considerably, contenting myself with indicating the formation, otherwise there would be no end to the work. The whole dictionary Odjibue-English may amount perhaps to about 1,200 pages in print, one of which will contain easily six or eight pages of the manuscript.

The English-Odjibue is intended to be concise; an English word will be referred to the proper Indian root, and then, as the derivatives are laid down in alphabetical order, it will be easy to arrive at the required meaning of the word looked for.

I intend to give a new edition of the Grammar of Bishop Baraga, with notes and corrections. If I find the time I intend to publish also a small glossary comparing the Odjibue roots with those of Hebrew, Sanscrit, Latin, Greek, Gothic, etc. That work might perhaps please the philologist, and show to him that after all at least the Odjibue language is not so barbarous as many have fancied, and might, perhaps, appear to him superior to our modern and hybrid languages.

In a later communication (Feb. 9, 1890) the author states: "My work goes on steadily. I have almost finished the letter A, which contains nearly 200 roots, and is by far the longest of all. I thought proper to develop those roots in full, in order to afford philologists an understanding of the genius of the Odjibue language. The other roots will be shortened in their development; otherwise it would take too much time to finish the work. But the letter A will be a pattern for the others, to which philologists shall be referred."

— [Grammatical sketch of the Odjibue language.]

Manuscript, occupying the last three pages of a sheet of note paper, and comprising the greater portion of a communication to the compiler of this bibliography dated "Collège Ste. Marie, Rue Bleury, Montréal, Quebec, 27th January, 1889;" now in the library of the Bureau of Ethnology.

He entered Congress on December 7, 1795, and continued a member of that body until his appointment as Secretary of the Treasury in 1801, which office he held continuously until 1813. His services were rewarded with the appointment of minister to France in February, 1815, entering on the duties of his office in January, 1816. In 1826, at the solicitation of President Adams, he accepted the appointment of envoy extraordinary to Great Britain. On his return to the United States he settled in New York City,

In this I have all sorts of material relating to place-names in Acadia, more especially in New Brunswick. I have entered in it, collected from various authors, all Indian names of places I have been able to find. Embodied in it also is some material that I have myself obtained on this subject from Indians, and also letters from different persons giving lists of Indian place-names in New Brunswick, very few of them as yet published by any one. I have pasted in it also many newspaper articles relating to the subject. The book might be called 'Place-names in Acadia.'"

The original manuscript containing this Montauk vocabulary is now in possession of J. Lyon Gardiner, the twelfth proprietor of Gardiner's Island, and a copy made by Wm. Wallace Tooker is in the library of the Bureau of Ethnology. The vocabulary contains about seventy entries, including the numerals 1-10 and a few sentences, and is preceded by the following note:

"March 25, 1798.—A vocabulary of the Indian language spoken by the Montauk tribe. George Pharaoh, aged 66, the oldest man of that tribe, and their chief, gave me this specimen of their language. There are only about seven persons that can now speak this language, and a few years more and it will be gone forever. It was spoken with little difference by all the Indians upon the east end of Long Island, and perhaps the whole island and the adjoining islands. George says the Mohegs of Connecticut speak the same language. George repeated these words several times, and I write them as near as he pronounced as I can with the English alphabet."

Rev. Father André Marie Garin, O. M. I., was born at Côte St. André, department of Isère, France, May 7, 1822. He studied at the seminary of Côte St. André; entered the novitiate of the oblates of Mary Immaculate in 1841; came to Longueuil, near Montreal, April 28, 1845; started for the Indian missions with Father Laverlochère in May, 1845; was sent to Bay des Ah Ah, Saguenay, in the following fall; visited the Indian missions of the northern coast of the Gulf of St. Lawrence during the summer of 1846; went with Father Laverlochère to Moose Factory, Hudson's Bay, in the spring of 1847; in 1848 and 1849 visited the Indians of Lake St. John, Upper Saguenay, and in 1850 the Indian missions of Tadoussac, Islets à Jérémie, Goodboat, Les Sept Isles, Mingan, and Maskuro, on the northern coast of the St. Lawrence; in 1851 remained in Montreal; in 1852 succeeded Father Laverlochère in the missions of Ottawa River and Hudson's Bay; visited the missions of Temiskaming, Abitibi, Moose Factory, and Albany during the years 1852, 1853, 1854, 1855, 1856, and 1857—his last year as missionary among the Indians. During the winter of 1856-'57 he went to France with the bishop of St. Boniface, the Rt. Rev. Alexander Taché, and together they traveled through France, preaching for the propagation of the faith.

In the fall of 1857 Father Garin was sent to Plattsburg, N. Y., where he remained five years in charge of the French church. From Plattsburg he was sent to Buffalo, N. Y., where he remained three years in charge of an English-speaking congregation—Holy Angels church. From Buffalo he was sent to Quebec, where he remained two years. In April, 1868, he was sent by his superiors to St. Joseph's church, a French congregation, at Lowell, Mass., where he has since remained.

It was at Albany that he completed the translation of the books commenced by his predecessor, the Rev. N. Laverlochère. Mrs. Corcoran, a convert, wife of the Factor at the Albany post, helped him a great deal in this difficult and arduous task.—Lorrain.

 Albert Samuel Gatschet was born in St. Beatberg, in the Bernese Oberland, Switzerland, October 3, 1832. His propedeutic education was acquired in the lycées of Neuchâtel (1843-'45) and Berne (1846-'52), after which he followed courses in the universities of Berne and Berlin (1852-'58). His studies had for their object the ancient world in all its phases of religion, history, language, and art, and thereby his attention was at an early day directed to philologic researches. In 1865 he began the publication of a series of brief monographs on the local etymology of his country, entitled "Orts-etymologische Forschungen aus der Schweiz" (1865-'67). In 1867 he spent several months in London pursuing antiquarian studies in the British Museum. In 1868 he settled in New York and became a contributor to various domestic and foreign periodicals, mainly on scientific subjects. Drifting into a more attentive study of the American Indians, he published several compositions upon their languages, the most important of which is "Zwölf Sprachen aus dem Südwestern Nordamerikas," Weimar, 1876. This led to his being appointed to the position of ethnologist in the United States Geological Survey, under Maj. John W. Powell, in March, 1877, when he removed to Washington, and first employed himself in arranging the linguistic manuscripts of the Smithsonian Institution, now the property of the Bureau of Ethnology, which forms a part of the Smithsonian Institution. Mr. Gatschet has ever since been actively connected with that bureau. To increase its linguistic collections, and to extend his own studies of the Indian languages, he has made extensive trips of linguistic and ethnologic exploration among the Indians of North America. After returning from a six months' sojourn among the Klamaths and Kalapuyas of Oregon, settled on both sides of the Cascade Range, he visited the Kataba in South Carolina and the Cha'hta and Shetimasha of Louisiana in 1881-'82, the Kayowe, Comanche, Apache, Yattassee, Caddo, Nakteche, Modoc, and other tribes in the Indian Territory, the Tonkawe and Lipans in Texas, and the Atakapa Indians of Louisiana in 1884-'85. In 1886 he saw the Tlaskaltecs at Saltillo, Mexico, a remnant of the Nabua race, brought there about 1575 from Anahuac, and was the first to discover the affinity of the Biloxi language with the Siouan family. He also committed to writing the Tunixka or Tonica language of Louisiana, never before investigated, and forming a linguistic family of itself. Excursions to other parts of the country brought to his knowledge other Indian languages,—the Tuskarora, Caughnawaga, Penobscot, and Karankawa.

Mr. Gatschet is compiling an extensive report embodying his researches among the Klamath-Lake and Modoc Indians of Oregon, which will form Vol. II of "Contributions to North American Ethnology." Among the tribes and languages discussed by him in separate publications are the Timucua (Florida), Tónkawé (Texas), Yuma (California, Arizona, Mexico), Cháméto (California), Beothuk (Newfoundland), Creek and Hitchiti (Alabama). His numerous publications are scattered through magazines and government reports, some being contained in the Proceedings of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia.

Manuscript in the seminary at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada, prepared by the first superior of the mission. It is in a little book which is torn. It includes some pages of Algonkin names, with French translations by Maurice Quèrè de Fiegunon, the second superior.

During a visit to the above mission in the summer of 1882 I saw a number of Algonquian manuscripts, but not the above, the title of which was sent me subsequently by the late Mrs. Erminnie A. Smith, an employée of the Bureau of Ethnology. I made an unsuccessful attempt to see it on a later visit to Oka, in the summer of 1889, the Abbé Cuoq assuring me there was no such manuscript in their archives.

George Gibbs, the son of Col. George Gibbs, was born on the 17th of July, 1815, at Sunswick, Long Island, near the village of Hallett's Cove, now known as Astoria. At seventeen he was taken to Europe, where he remained two years. On his return from Europe he commenced the reading of law, and in 1838 took his degree of bachelor of law at Harvard University. In 1848 Mr. Gibbs went overland from Saint Louis to Oregon, and established himself at Columbia. In 1854 he received the appointment of collector of the port of Astoria, which he held during Mr. Fillmore's administration. Later he removed from Oregon to Washington Territory, and settled upon a ranch a few miles from Fort Steilacoom. Here he had his headquarters for several years, devoting himself to the study of the Indian languages, and to the collection of vocabularies and traditions of the northwestern tribes. During a great part of the time he was attached to the United States government commission in laying the boundary, as the geologist or botanist of the expedition. He was also attached as geologist to the survey of a railroad route to the Pacific, under Major Stevens. In 1857 he was appointed to the northwest boundary survey under Mr. Archibald Campbell, as commissioner. In 1860 Mr. Gibbs returned to New York, and in 1861 was on duty in Washington in guarding the Capitol. Later he resided in Washington, being mainly employed in the Hudson Bay claims commission, to which he was secretary. He was also engaged in the arrangement of a large mass of manuscript bearing upon the ethnology and philology of the American Indians. His services were availed of by the Smithsonian Institution to superintend its labors in this field, and to his energy and complete knowledge of the subject it greatly owes its success in this branch of the service. The valuable and laborious service which he rendered to the Institution was entirely gratuitous, and in his death that establishment as well as the cause of science lost an ardent friend and important contributor to its advancement. In 1871 Mr. Gibbs married his cousin, Miss Mary K. Gibbs, of Newport, R. I., and removed to New Haven, where he died on the 9th of April, 1873.

Joseph Alexander Gilfillan (son of Alexander Gilfillan, Surgeon, R. N., who was attached to Sir John Franklin's first Arctic expedition in the Trent, in 1819) was born near Londonderry, Ireland, of pure Scotch descent, October, 1838; was educated in Londonderry, spent two years in the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, and in his nineteenth year emigrated to the United States, settling in the then Territory of Minnesota. He studied three years for the ministry in the Theological Seminary of New York, and after traveling for a year in the Holy Land, Egypt, Greece, and Italy, returned to Duluth, where he was ordained in 1870. He remained in Duluth two years, spent one year in Brainerd, Minn., and in 1873 was sent as missionary to the Chippewas at White Earth, Minn., where he has since remained.

Mr. Gilfillan has had the superintendence of all the missionary work of the Episcopal Church among the Chippewas in Minnesota, his circuit covering an area of nearly three hundred miles in the northern, sparsely inhabited region of the State, and including eight Indian churches, presided over by eight full-blood Chippewa clergymen. Nine full-blood clergymen were trained and presented for ordination by him. In the fall of 1888 he built four boarding-schools—one at Wild Rice River, another at Pine Point, another at Leech Lake, and a fourth at Cass Lake.

Four charts, each about 18 by 24 inches. The first is entitled "Syllabics, Lesson I," and consists of the Cree characters with the Roman equivalents beneath; the second, "Exercise, Lesson II," consists of easy words and phrases, syllabic and Roman; the third, "Appendages, Lesson III," and the fourth, "Explanations, Lesson IV," teach the use and value of the small marks found usually at the end of a syllable.

Copies seen: Pilling, Powell, Eames.

In a letter to me dated December 4, 1888, Mr. Glass speaks of his work as follows: "I am now preparing text-books in these syllabics for our Indian mission schools and for the camp. They are to be in English and syllabics in the same book. These syllabic publications are not intended to supersede English, but to meet a present want, and give the Cree tribes some literature in their own language, as long as it prevails as a language."

And under date of August 27, 1889, he gives me this further information:

"The 'Primer and language lessons' as a text-book for our Indian schools, is now going through the press. I am afraid you will not get a copy of it in time for your Bibliography of the Algonquian Languages. It is intended as a reader and language instructor, and contains 40 lessons, each lesson in English and also in Cree syllabics on the opposite page. The book is for the purpose of teaching Indians to read and converse in English, while the syllabic equivalent lessons are for the teachers to explain the English to pupils, and also for the use of missionaries and Indians who may wish to study the Cree syllabics and grammar.

I have prepared the lessons myself, and also written them in the syllabics in the idiomatic Cree, as dictated by Rev. John McDougall, who is the best Cree (white man) scholar in the North West."

— See McDougall (J.) and Glass (E. B.)

Mr. Glass was born in Hastings Co., Canada, in 1852, of Irish Methodist descent. He taught school in Ontario and was graduated in arts at Victoria University, Cobourg, Ont., in 1882. He has been ten years a missionary amongst the Crees and preaches to those Indians without the aid of an interpreter. His Indian school secured the prize of $50 awarded by the Dominion government for proficiency during the year ending June, 1889. He has been asked to prepare a Cree dictionary but has not yet (Aug. '89) begun the work.

Gravier (Rev. James). [Dictionary of the Illinois language.]

Manuscript belonging to Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, Hartford, Conn., who permitted me to inspect it and who subsequently furnished me the following description:

"It is a stout volume in quarto or small folio, the leaf measuring 11½ by 8½ inches. It has been bound, but is now, and probably for many years has been, without its covers. It has lost the first two or three leaves at the beginning, and perhaps as many at the end, and a few other leaves have been somewhat injured by mice. There remain 293 leaves (586 pages), which average about 38 lines to the page, indicating a total of about 22,000 words. The arrangement is Illinois-French (not French-Illinois). The dialect is that of the Peorias (Peouaria), readily distinguished from the Miami-Illinois by the use of r for Miami l.
Occasionally, however, words and phrases are introduced which are marked as 'Miami.' The manuscript is very neat and legible. The handwriting and the orthography, in my opinion and in that of French scholars who have inspected it, show that it was written before or not many years after the beginning of the 18th century; certainly, I should say, not later than 1710. If so, it cannot have been the work of the Rev. Jos. L. Le Boulanger, whose connection with the Illinois Mission has not been traced before 1719. On nearly every page, however, there are additions, corrections, or explanations in at least two later and distinct hands; but these are not more frequent than two or three to the page on the average.

"Throughout the work references are made to another volume or volumes, which contained a grammar, lists of radicals, names of animals, plants, medicines, etc.

"I conclude that this dictionary was compiled by Gravier, though I cannot positively say that it is in his autograph, and that the additions and emendations were made by his successors in the mission, some of them, perhaps, by Le Boulanger.

"The French-Illinois dictionary discovered

by the late Hon. Henry C. Murphy [see Le Boulanger (J. L.)], may have been the French-Illinois counterpart of the Illinois-French dictionary of Gravier, or may have been a transcript of that counterpart revised and completed by Le Boulanger; but it appears that Mr. Murphy's manuscript was in the Miami-Illinois dialect, while the earlier work I have described is unquestionably in that of the Peouaria-Illinois, among whom Gravier labored. Mr. Murphy (to whom I showed the volume here described) believed it to be of earlier date than the French-Illinois dictionary belonging to him."

More recent comparison shows the two dictionaries to have no connection, the one with the other.

In Dr. Trumbull's Notes on forty Algonkin versions of the Lord's prayer, pp. 98-99, there is given an Illinois version "as printed by Bodiani [sic], Oratio Dominica in clv Linguas (Paris, 1806) 'ex. ms.'" concerning which the author speaks as follows:

"A copy of this version, evidently from the same original, was communicated to Dr. John Pickering in 1823 as from a ms. grammar and dictionary of the Illinois language. The ms. may have been that of Father Boulanger, missionary to the Illinois in 1721. The version is more probably that of Father James Gravier, S. J., missionary from 1687 to 1706, who 'was the first to analyse the language thoroughly and compile its grammar, which subsequent missionaries brought to perfection.' I have recently had the good fortune to discover the long-lost dictionary of Gravier, with additions and corrections by his successors in the Illinois mission, and by its aid I am enabled to correct some—though not all—of the errors of Bodoni's copy."

According to Shea's Catholic Missions, p. 415, note, a catechism in the Illinois language by Father Gravier was in existence some years since but seems to have been lost.

James Gravier, missionary, born in France; died in Mobile, Ala., in 1708. He was a member of the Society of Jesus, and was sent as a missionary to Canada, but it is uncertain at what time. He was stationed at Sillery in the autumn of 1684 and the ensuing spring, but must have gone west soon afterward, as he was on the Illinois Mission in 1688, and succeeded Allouez about 1690 as superior. He was appointed vicar-general by Bishop de Saint Vallier in the following year. He has left a journal of his mission extending from 20 March, 1693, to 15 Feb., 1694. He built a chapel outside the French fort for the convenience of the Miami Indians on St. Joseph's River, among whom he labored with great success. He also visited the Peorias, but without result. His chief success was with the Kaskaskias, whose chief he converted, and of whom he baptised 206 in less than eight months. He also planned missions to the Cahokia and Tamarois bands of Indians, which he subsequently carried out, as well as to the Osages and Missouri, who sent ambassadors to him. In 1696 he went to Montreal, but soon returned and devoted himself to the more distant missions. In 1705 some of the Illinois, instigated by their medicine men, attacked him, and he was severely wounded. The missionary proceeded to Paris for treatment, but obtained little relief. He then went to Louisiana, and landed at Isle Massacre, 12 Feb., 1708. His wound, aggravated by his long voyage, proved fatal soon afterward. Father Gravier was the first to analyze the Illinois language and compile its grammar, which subsequent missionaries brought to perfection.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

umns, Delaware and English. Then follow some more pages in Delaware and German, not in columns.

This is one of the collection of "manuscripts in the Delaware language presented to the public library of the University at Cambridge by the Hon. Ebenezer Lane, of the class of 1811, late Chief-Justice of the State of Ohio." It is marked by Judge Lane: "A vocabulary of Delaware language, presented by the Rev. Mr. Grube to the Rev. Mr. Luckenbach on his setting out upon his western missionary journey in 1800."

I am indebted to Mr. J. W. Jordan of the Pennsylvania Historical Society for the following notes:

The importance of communicating directly with the Indians in order to dispense with the services of an interpreter—at all times, and especially in matters of religion, an unsatisfactory medium of communication—claimed the attention of the Moravians in America at an early date. This led them to establish schools for acquiring the prevalent languages and dialects of that people. A minute of a church council held at Bethlehem, Pa., July 15, 1742, recommends the study of the Delaware in order to facilitate intercourse with individuals of that nation, whose visits to the settlement were then of almost daily occurrence. The Mohican was diligently studied during the sojourn, in 1745, of 46 converts from Shecomeco, and the Rev. John C. Pylæus began the preparation of a Mohican hymn-book, to which others also contributed translations. From Bethlehem the Indian school was removed to Gnadenhuetten, where it continued until that settlement was destroyed. Zeisberger, Post, and other clergymen of the church, prominent in the mission among the Indians, received their first instruction in these schools.

In 1760 the mission at Wechquetanc (in now Monroe County, Pa.) was commenced, and the Rev. B. A. Grube appointed missionary. Grube was familiar with the Delaware dialect, and was ably assisted in the translation he undertook there by the native assistant, Anton. The following extracts are from the diary of the mission, now in the archives at Bethlehem:

1761. January 18.—Anton & I [Grube] worked at the Delaware translation of the "Acts of the Days of the Son of Man" [a Harmony of the Gospels].

1762. March 17.—To-day I sent the first-sheets of the "Acts, &c.," to Brandmiller at Friedensthal to print.

April 13.—Brandmiller sent me proof to read.

1763. February 13.—Anton & I have translated 56 chapters for the "Harmony."

April 1.—Brandmiller forwarded to-day first proof of Essay of a Delaware Hymn Book.

Friedensthal was a small settlement of the Moravians in Northampton Co., three miles east of Nazareth, 13 miles northeast from Bethlehem, where was ground the grain raised on the Moravian tract. John Brandtmiller, who had in his youth been a printer at Basel, Switzerland, was chaplain in charge. In 1761 there were sent from London to Bethlehem a printing press and types. These were sent up to Friedenthal to Brandtmiller, and with them he printed the "Delaware Hymn Book," the "Harmony of the Gospels," and, in 1766, "Die täglichen Loosungen der Brüder Gemeine für das Jahr 1767. Gedruckt bey Bethlehem in der Fork Delaware by Johann Brandtmiller. MDCCLXVII."

The Historical Society of Penn. have in their collection a perfect copy of the latter, and a fragment of the Delaware Hymn Book, which the writer found in the Moravian archives at Bethlehem in 1886. He is also searching for a copy of the "Harmony," and feels confident of ultimate success.

After the removal of the Moravian mission to Friedenshuetten (Wyalusing) on the Susquehanna River (Bradford Co., Pa.), the Grube Hymn Book and Harmony were in use there for some years.

The diaries of the missions at Wechquetanc and Friedenshuetten have been edited by the writer and published in The Moravian.

Bernhard Adam Grube, born 1715, near Erfurth, Germany, and educated at Jena, came to Pennsylvania in June of 1746 with a Moravian colony. At first he was employed in the schools at Bethlehem. In 1752 he was stationed at the Indian mission at Meniolagomeka (now in Monroe Co., Pa.), where he continued the study of Delaware and daily held meetings for the Indians. In the summer of that year he visited Shamokin and Wyoming, and remained fifteen months at the first-mentioned town. In October, 1753, he was sent to North Carolina, and returned to Bethlehem in 1754, and in 1755 was appointed to Gnadenhuetten, whence he barely escaped with his life on the memorable night of Nov. 24th. In 1758 he was despatched to Pachgatgoch (Kent) in Connecticut. In October of 1760 he removed to Wechquetanc. On the outbreak of the Pontiac war this station was abandoned, and he withdrew with his 44 Indians to Bethlehem. From the latter place, where he was joined by 77 converts from Nain (near Bethlehem), he accompanied them to the barracks at Philadelphia and thence to Province Island, whither the government was necessitated to remove them for safety. Here they remained between November, 1763, and March, 1765. On the return of the converts to Bethlehem his missionary career ended. Soon after, he was appointed pastor at Lititz, Lancaster Co. In 1780 he was commissioned to visit the Indian mission in Ohio. His last appointments were at Hope, N. J., and Emaus (Lehigh Co.), Pa. He died at Bethlehem March 20, 1808, in his 93d year.—Jordan.

Father Jean Pierre Guéguen, O. M. I., was born at Ploudalmézeau, Bretagne, France, September 18, 1838. Came to Canada in 1864 and went first to Maniwaki; was removed to Lake Temiskaming in 1865 and visited the missions of Abitibi, Mattawan, Temiskaming, and Tamagaming. In 1867 he visited for the first time the missions of the St. Maurice and Mekiskan rivers, and in 1869 and 1870 went as far as Lake Mistassini. This (1888) is the 22d year that he has visited those missions of the St. Maurice. He is considered by many the most expert man of the Dominion in the Indian languages. At the present time he resides at Maniwaki, on the Gatineau River, and is working at the translation of the catechism and other prayers and canticles into the dialect of the Weymontaching Indians.—Lorrain.

Concerning this little work Mr. Hale writes me as follows: "You may be amused to learn that this youthful production of mine was not only written at the age of seventeen, during my second year at Harvard, but was printed by myself. Some Indians from Maine came—I do not remember how or why—and encamped on the college grounds. I took down a vocabulary from them, and, having a knowledge of typesetting, I took it to a printing office, and there put it into type and printed off fifty copies, which I sent to persons whom I thought likely to be interested in it. I have some idea of reprinting it, with these particulars by way of preface.

"I shall also have to ask you to omit the initial E from my name. Finding that there was no other Horatio Hale from whom I needed to be distinguished, I dropped this useless and cumbersome adjunct from the time I became of age. All my works except the little pamphlet just referred to have appeared without it."

Horatio Hale, ethnologist, born in Newport, N. H., May 3, 1817, was graduated at Harvard in 1837, and was appointed in the same year philologist to the United States exploring expedition under Capt. Charles Wilkes. In this capacity he studied a large number of the languages of the Pacific islands, as well as of North and South America, Australia, and Africa, and also investigated the history, traditions, and customs of the tribes speaking those languages. The results of his inquiries are given in his "Ethnography and Philology," (Philadelphia, 1846), which forms the seventh volume of the expedition reports. He has published numerous memoirs on anthropology and ethnology, is a member of many learned societies both in Europe and in America, and in 1886 was vice-president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, presiding over the section of anthropology.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Hall (Rev. Sherman). [Grammar of the Chippewa language.] ()

Manuscript. Title from an article by Julius T. Clark, entitled "Reminiscences of the Chippewa chief, Hole-in-the-day," which appeared in the Collections of the Wisconsin Historical Society, vol. 5, p. 380, from which I extract the following:

"Among the other things done by Mr. Hall he reduced the Chippewa (or more properly, O-jeeb-wa) language to a system, and translated the New Testament and a variety of other books into their language. One of these Testaments I had the pleasure of presenting to this Society after my return.

"I have also a part of the grammar, as made by Mr. Hall, in manuscript."

In answer to an inquiry of mine concerning the manuscript grammar, Mr. Clark writes me as follows:

"It is so long (now over forty years) since the matters about which you inquire occurred, I fear that I shall not be able, to aid you in the object of your search. I spent between one and two years among the Ojibways in Government employ. The manuscript copy of a portion of the Ojibway grammar which I brought home, I remember was preserved for awhile and referred to as a curiosity, but, in my various movements, it has long since disappeared. I regret this fact, for, if you have not a copy I think it might have proved of some interest to you."

in Ohio, and after his graduation at Oberlin in 1850, received his medical degree at the Albany medical college in 1853. During the same year he explored the "Bad Lands" of Dakota. In 1854 he again went West, spent two years in exploring the basin of the Upper Missouri. In May, 1859, he was appointed naturalist and surgeon to the expedition sent out for the exploration of the Yellowstone and Missouri Rivers under Capt. William F. Reynolds. In May, 1862, he entered the U. S. Army as assistant surgeon of volunteers. He was appointed professor of mineralogy and geology in 1865 in the University of Pennsylvania, and held that chair until 1872, when the increased duties of the survey caused his resignation. During the summer of 1866 he again visited the valley of the Upper Missouri. In 1867 Congress provided for the geological survey of Nebraska. Dr. Hayden was directed to perform the work, and continued so occupied until the 1 April, 1869, when it was organized under the title of the Geological Survey of the Territories of the United States. From 1869 till 1872 Dr. Hayden conducted a series of geological explorations in Dakota, Wyoming, Utah, and Colorado. Dr. Hayden continued the direction of this survey until 1879, when the then existing national surveys were consolidated into the U. S. Geological Survey, and Dr. Hayden was made geologist-in-charge of the Montana division. He held this office until 31 Dec., 1886, when failing health led to his resignation. Dr. Hayden was a member of scientific societies both in the United States and in Europe, and in 1873 was elected to the National Academy of Sciences. In 1887 the degree of LL.D. was conferred on him by the University of Pennsylvania.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

John Gottlieb Ernestus Heckewelder was born at Bedford, England, March 12, 1743. His father was a German exile. . . . In the year 1754 the family came to America, father, mother, and four children. In 1758 he was apprenticed to a cedar-cooper, with whom he remained four years, and then became Frederick Christian Post's companion in his second visit to the Muskingum in the year 1762. He was Zeisberger's assistant in the Susquehanna valley in 1765, and to him for a time was given charge of the Machiwhilusing Mission. During the following nineteen years he was much of the time a fellow laborer with Zeisberger. Heckewelder was the founder of Salem, on the Tuscarawas, and in chapel there, July 4, 1780, he married Sara Ohneberg, the venerable Adam Grube officiating, probably the first wedding of a white couple within the limits of the present state of Ohio. He was with the Indian church during all the early troubles recorded in this diary, but finally, owing to the illness of his wife when upon the Cuyaboga, he returned to the church at Bethlehem October 9, 1785. Henceforward he was not immediately connected with our mission, though he made it two or three visits, being employed in other duties, especially as agent of the Society for propagating the gospel among the heathen, and as one of the Peace Commissioners sent to treat with the Indians. In the year 1798, however, he came to Fairfield, on the Thames, to assist in conducting a portion of the church to Goshen, staying there only nine days. In the valley of the Muskingum he labored until 1810, when he went home to the church, being now nearly seventy years old, and having well earned repose. He died January 31, 1823.—Bliss, Diary of David Zeisberger.

Henry (Alexander). Journal | of | Alexander Henry | to | Lake Superior, Red River, | Assiniboine, Rocky Mountains, | Columbia, and the Pacific, | 1799 to 1811, | to establish the fur trade. (*)

Manuscript, about 1,700 pp. foolscap, preserved in the library of Parliament, Ottawa, Canada. For its description I am indebted to the kindness of Mr. Charles N. Bell, of Winnipeg, who writes: "The sheets are evidently not the original ones used by Alexander Henry, but are re-written from his journals by one George Coventry, who seems to have been a family friend. No date is given to the copying, nor is there any intimation where the original documents are to be found."

The journal extends from 1799 to 1812, and between the dates 1808 and 1809 are vocabularies of the Ojebwois, Knistineaux, Assiniboine, Slave, and Flat Head, about 300 words each of the first three and a somewhat larger number of the last two. Copies of these have been furnished the Bureau of Ethnology by Mr. Bell.

Hymns in Ojebwa pp. 1-358.—Vocabulary of some of the principal words contained in the hymns, with definitions in English, pp. 359-361.

In Mr. Stinson's preface it is stated that "already have two editions of the Ojibway hymn book, translated and printed under the direction of the Methodist church, passed through the press; but the increasing number of our mission stations and members require a third and more enlarged edition." Nothing is said in the preface to indicate that these two previous editions were the work of Messrs. Henry and Evans. According to the Rev. Peter Jones, in his History of the Ojibwa Indians, p. 189, these hymns were first printed for the Canadian Missionary Society.

Henry (Matthew S.) Delaware Indian dictionary. (*)

Manuscript, 843 pp. 4°, with maps, in the library of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia, Pa. It is divided into three parts—1 English and Delaware; 2 Delaware and English; 3 Delaware proper names and their translation. Compiled in 1859 and 1860. Title and note from Brinton's Lenapé and their legends, p. 86, whence I take the following:

"It includes, without analysis or correction, the words in 'Zeisberger's Spelling Book,' 'Roger Williams' Key,' Campanius' Vocabulary, those in Smith's and Strachey's Virginia, and various Nanticoke, Mohegan, Minsi, and other vocabularies. The derivations of the proper names are chiefly from Heckewelder, and in other cases are venturesome. The compilation, therefore, while often useful, lacks the salutary check of a critical, grammatical erudition, and in its present form is of limited value."

Christian Hoecken, missionary, born in Upper Brabant; died on the Missouri river, 19 June, 1851. He became a member of the Jesuit order in Belgium, and was sent to labor among the Indians. In 1836 he assisted Father Van Quickenbarne in founding a mission among the Kickapoos. After the death of the former he remained a few months with this tribe, and then took charge of the Pottawatomi mission of St. Stanislaus on Osage river. He next visited the Ottawas, the Sioux, Gros Ventres, Ricarees, Mandans, and Assiniboins, of whom he baptised about 400. In 1843 he founded the mission of St. Ignatius among the Kalispiels. From this station he visited the Zingoments and four other tribes, and completed the conversion of the Shuyelpi Indians. Father Hoecken was well acquainted with many of the Indian languages and with their peculiar customs. — Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Archdeacon Kirkby informs me that the line of syllabic characters at the head of this title-page is erroneous and has been corrected. Its English equivalent is Prayer hymn, whereas it should be Hymn book. "The error is due to the printer or some one else in London who inserted a portion of the title of another book which was in hand at the same time."

Under date of Feb. 2, 1887, Mr. Sanders wrote me: "In the winter of 1881-2, I assisted Bishop Horden in translating the acts of the apostles into the Ojibbeway, which has not been returned from the press.

John Horden was born at Exeter, Devonshire, Eng., on Jan. 20, 1828, and in 1835 was elected a scholar of St. John's hospital, Exeter, where he continued until 1842, when, at the age of fourteen years, he left school and entered as an apprentice as an iron-worker in one of the foundries of his native city, hoping this might be of assistance in after life, for he had already determined that, if possible, he would become a missionary. While learning his business he was constantly engaged as a teacher in the Sunday school of St. Thomas, his own parish. His apprenticeship having expired, he became general tutor at the South Devon collegiate school, remaining in this position two years, when he offered himself to the Church Missionary Society. One morning, in 1851, while at breakfast, he was startled by the contents of a letter from the home society of the Church Missionary Society, directing him to go at once to Moose Factory, Hudson's Bay, to commence a mission among the Cree and Ojibbeway Indians of that quarter, telling him, moreover, that he must decide at once, as the annual ship, the only means of going, would sail in a fortnight, and that, supposing he determined to go, it was advisable he should get married before starting. All difficulties were overcome, and in the beginning of June Mr. and Mrs. Horden started for Canada, arriving at Moose Factory at the end of August. He set himself resolutely to acquire the Cree language, and with such success that in about seven or eight months he no longer needed an interpreter, except to assist him in some of his translations. He taught the Indians to read according to the syllabic system invented by the Rev. Mr. Evans, which is easily acquired, and wrote books for them, which he was obliged to multiply by hand. In 1852 Mr. Horden was ordained both deacon and priest, and placed in full charge of the mission. He now set about translating a part of the English Prayer Book; this finished, he sent it to the Church Missionary Society in London, with the request that it might be printed, and copies sent to him by the next annual ship. Instead of sending the book they sent a printing press and types, with a good supply of paper, together with bookbinding material, of the use of which Mr. Horden knew absolutely nothing. He determined to do his best, however, and by the next spring had his books printed and bound. A hymn book and the book of Jonah followed, then a translation of Pinnock's bible and gospel history, prayer book, and hymn book in Ojibbeway, and a small book in Eskimo. His next work was the four gospels, which occupied him a considerable time, although he now had assistants, having taught some young natives both printing and bookbinding. In 1872 Rupert's Land was divided into four dioceses, which were named Rupert's Land, Moosonee, Saskatchewan and Athabaska. On December 15th Mr. Horden was consecrated in Westminster Abbey as the first bishop of Moosonee, since which he has visited almost every part of the diocese, spending one year in north Moosonee, the principal stations of which are York Factory and Fort Churchill. He has done a great deal in the way of education, one of his pupils being archdeacon of Saskatchewan, another archdeacon of Moose, while one of these is fully expected to be the second bishop of Moosonee.

Manuscripts, in possession of Rev. D. W. Stevens, Vineyard Haven, Mass., who writes me concerning them as follows:

"As near as I can judge I have six or eight sermons of Zachariah Howwoswe, or Zachary Hosweit, as his name has sometimes been written, in the Indian language, and two or three in the English language. The whole number is in five parcels. He established a Presbyterian church at Gay Head, Martha's Vineyard, and preached for many years in the Indian language. It appears that he was in the habit of sewing large sheets of paper together into small leaves six inches by three and a half inches in size. At the end of one sermon in the Indian language there are several uncut blank leaves. In the middle of one parcel I found the date of January 23, 1763. It appears that he preached in the Indian language as long as any considerable number could understand him. After that he preached in the English language, as his sermons show beyond a doubt. It appears that he preached almost to the time of his death, which occurred June 10, 1821. He was the last person that used this language publicly in the world."

Rev. James Hunter, D. D., was born April 25, 1817, in Barnstaple, Devonshire, England, where he also acquired his education. He came to America in 1844 as a missionary to the Indians. From this time until 1855 he was located at Devon Station, Cumberland, and from 1855 to 1865 at Winnipeg as minister of St. Andrew's Church. Most of his translations were made while at Devon Station. Returning to England in 1865 he was appointed vicar of St. Matthew, Bayswater, London, where he worked for many years most successfully as a popular preacher and organizer, and where he died February 12, 1881.

Archdeacon Hunter's book was published by the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, the officers of which declined to print these hymns because they contained some by Moody and Sankey. My copy of this work was presented to me by the Rev. John McDougall, of Morley, Alberta. It bears many corrections or changes, in pencil, of the syllabics; and some entire hymns, written with pencil on separate pieces of paper, are pinned into it, indicating that it has been used in the preparation of a new edition. In transmitting it Mr. McDougall wrote me as follows: "I am sending you one of our old hymn-books, some of the hymns of which I revised and altered considerably, both in sense and dialect. Our book [see McDougall (J.) and Glass (E. B.)] is as near as we could make it pure Cree, while those in use formerly were written in a local dialect of the Cree. The translators of this book were Mrs. Hunter, the Rev. H. B. Steinhauer, and Peter Erasmus, a native interpreter."

Mrs. Hunter (née Ross) was born July 26, 1822, at Cumberland Fort, Hudson's Bay Company's Territories. She was sent to England to be educated, and, returning, was married to the Rev. James Hunter July 10, 1848. In 1865 Mrs. Hunter returned to England with her husband, and in 1888 was residing at Helpersby, Yorkshire. She rendered Mr. Hunter much assistance in his linguistic work.

It is probable that Messrs. H. B. Steinhauer and Peter Erasmus assisted Mrs. Hunter largely in her various translations.

"No other missionary of the Methodist church has evinced such aptitude for grasping the intricacies of the Indian languages, the significant construction of the grammar, and the ability to converse freely in the natural tongue of the people amongst whom he labored, as did this intrepid enthusiast of modern times."—McLean.

Manuscript, 4 ll. containing 7 unnumbered pages, double columns, 4°, in the Lenox Library. Apparently written in the latter part of the seventeenth or early part of the eighteenth century. On the verso of the last (blank) page is the endorsement "Commencement d'un Dictionnaire de Langue Sauvage."

Contains a list of the pronouns, a vocabulary of about 200 words, including the numerals 1-1000, and some short sentences, and ending with the Lord's prayer.

There is a copy of this manuscript in the library of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia. It was made by Mr. Duponceau and forms no. LIJ of a collection recorded by him in a folio account book, of which it occupies pp. 159-162. Like the original, it is without indication of date or name of author.

Indian. The Indian. [Two lines quotation and price of paper.] | Vol. I. Hagersville [Ontario], Wednesday, December 30, 1885. No. 1 [-December 29, 1886. No. 24].

A twelve-page sheet, 11 by 14 inches in size, edited by Chief Kah-ke-wa-quo-na-by, M. D. (Dr. P. E. Jones), secretary Grand General Indian Council.

In no. 20 (December 1, 1886), the name of S. T. Wright appears for the first time as editor, and an "Address to our readers" states:

"With this issue we make our second appearance as a weekly journal, last week being the first. We have decided to give eight pages weekly instead of twelve pages fortnightly as heretofore." With the 24th number (for Dec. 29, 1886), however, the paper was discontinued, "the receipts not being equal to the expenses."

[Philadelphia: William Bradford. 1688 ?] (*)

Title from a list of "Books Printed and Sold by William Bradford in Philadelphia," in a copy of Daniel Leeds's "Temple of Wisdom," Philadelphia, 1688, belonging to the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

Concerning this advertisement, Mr. Charles R. Hildeburn writes me as follows: "While the list of books contains some which Bradford did not print, the book [named above] . . . is among those which I am inclined to think he did, and if so it must be the earliest book on an Indian language printed in the middle colonies."

The original of this book, of which no copy has been found, was without doubt the manuscript "Indian Interpreter" of which a transcript, dated 1684, is still preserved on file as a part of the Salem town records, liber B, in the office of the secretary of state at Trenton, New Jersey. The manuscript contains a list of 267 words and phrases in the Delaware Indian language, with English definitions. It has been printed in the "American Historical Record," vol. 1, pp. 308-311, Philadelphia, 1872, under the title of "Old Records from New Jersey," with the following preliminary remarks:

"The first English emigrants to New Jersey soon discovered the necessity of having a faithful translation of the language used by the Aborigines. This grew out of their social and business intercourse, coupled with the determination to deal fairly with the people—thus avoid dissatisfaction and perhaps bloodshed. The proper authorities of the Salem Colony, with John Fenwick as Governor, have left on record, in one of the books of those early periods, a translation of Indian terms into the English and which was, no doubt, considered the standard in all things pertaining thereto. Several of the manuscript books of the proceedings of the Courts of that Colony are on file in the office of the Secretary of State at Trenton, New Jersey, and often examined with much interest by Antiquarians."

ures for the ready finding every chapter, psalm or verse in the whole Bible, ll. 80-83; Counsels and warnings concerning death. The last words of a Christian man, l. 84, ending with "Finis."

This primer differs considerably from Eliot's Indian primer of 1669 and 1687. Grindall Rawson's translation into the Indian language of John Cotton's Spiritual Milk for Babes, originally printed in 1691, is on leaves numbered (on the verso) 30-46, but with alterations in the wording and orthography, which were made perhaps by some other person. If the object of these changes was to conform it more nearly to the Nope dialect, spoken on Martha's Vineyard, where "the most valuable body" of the Christian Indians then resided, it is probable that Experience Mayhew may have prepared or edited the primer. His translation of the psalter and the gospel of John into that dialect had already been printed (Boston, 1709), and he was actively engaged for many years afterwards in preaching and ministering to the Indian congregation on the island, where he was settled as minister. As the primer was much used in the Indian schools, it is probable that other editions were printed between those of 1687 and 1720, of which no copies have been found.

A portion of this edition, comprising the "Words of one Syllable or Division" to "Words of fifteen Syllables or Parts," the Lord's prayer and the ten commandments, was reprinted in the second volume of the third series of the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society (Cambridge, 1830), in the appendix to Josiah Cotton's Indian vocabulary, edited by Dr. John Pickering, pp. 244-249.

the above titles are copied. The only known copy (imperfect) is now in the Lenox Library. It was purchased at the sale of the first portion of Mr. George Brinley's library, in New York, March, 1879 (no. 794), for $25. Leaves 1-17, 27-29, 45-46, 51-52, 61-66, 75-76, 78, and 80-84, are lacking. The lower half of leaf 26 and the upper half of leaf 30 are also lacking. The primer is in English on the right-hand side of every leaf and in Indian on the left. Each page in Indian contains a translation of the English on the opposite or right-hand page and bears the same leaf number. The contents are as follows on the English side: The Christian belief as it was taught in the ages following after the apostles, l. 18; The Christian belief in twenty and four questions and answers concerning Christian doctrine (including the ten commandments), ll. 19-26; Spiritual milk for babes, drawn out of the breasts of both testaments, for the nourishment of their souls, by John Cotton, B. D., ll. 30-44; Marks by which any man coming to the Lord's table, should examine himself, ll. 47-48; General duties, The duties of parents, and of children, ll. 48-50; The duties of husbands and of wives, The duties of masters and of servants, l. 50; God's judgment on mocking children, Against lying children, l. 53; Against those who break the Sabbath day, For the encouragement of Godly children, ll. 54-55; The promises of God, which the poor Indians may hope to receive, ll. 55-57; The anger of God against drunkenness, ll. 57-58; Against idleness, ll. 58-59; Against lying, ll. 59-60; Against uncleanness, l. 60; selections from Psalms, ll. 67-70; Psalm 119 (selections), ll. 70-73; Psalm 125 (selections), ll. 73-74; The first Psalm (in metre), l. 74; Some verses of the 103 Psalm (in metre), l. 77; The names of the books of the Old and New Testaments, l. 79.

Dr. Trumbull remarks, in his note on this edition in the Brinley catalogue: "This seems to be the edition from which that of 1720 was reprinted. The two agree, page for page, and line for line nearly, but there is a difference in the type. As this contains Rawson's translation of Cotton's 'Milk for Babes,' it was probably printed after or not long before 1691." This opinion, however, must have been hastily formed, as both type and paper have the appearance of a much later date. The impression is excellent, and seems to be from new type, of a face which I have not found in any book printed in Boston much earlier than 1740. After that date, the same type apparently, cast on the same body, was used by several of the Boston printers, and especially by the firm of S. Kneeland and T. Green. If the book is from their press, it was probably printed not far from the year 1740.

Edward Jacker, missionary, born in Swabia, Germany, about 1830; died in Red Jacket, Lake Superior, in August, 1887. He received a thorough education, studied theology, and was ordained a priest of the Roman Catholic church, and came to the United States as a missionary to the Indians, among whom he passed his life. He served as vicar-general to Frederic Baraga, bishop of Marquette, and was the bishop's inseparable companion in his journeys and labors for several years before the latter's death in 1867. He was mentioned at the time in connection with the vacant bishopric, but his tastes led him to avoid official power and responsibility. He was thoroughly conversant with the Indian languages, especially with the dialect spoken by the Chippewas, and wrote in the latter and published a selection of hymns and other works. Father Jacker was a man of great erudition, an enthusiastic worker, and a delightful companion, being one of the best known and most highly esteemed missionaries in the Lake Superior region. He contributed various interesting articles on the Indian tribes to the Philadelphia "Catholic Quarterly Review."—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Manuscript, pp. 32-139, 8°, belonging to Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, of Hartford, Conn., who describes it for me as follows:

"The volume of which this is a part—and the only part that relates to American languages—was found in a junk-shop in Albany, N. Y., by Mr. George R. Howell, in 1879, from whom I received it. The first page of the volume had the name of 'E. James, 1823.' The vocabularies, etc., were gathered at a later date, probably in 1825 or 1826. The writer was easily identified by Dr. James's peculiar spelling of Menomini and Ojibbeway (Chippewa) words, as in his Appendix to John Tanner's Narrative, in 1830, and elsewhere."

Edwin James, geologist, born in Weybridge, Vt., August 27, 1797; died in Burlington, Iowa, October 28, 1861. He was graduated at Middlebury College in 1816, and then spent three years in Albany, where he studied medicine with his brother, Dr. Daniel James, botany with Dr. John Torrey, and geology under Prof. Amos Eaton. In 1820 he was appointed botanist and geologist to the exploring expedition of Maj. Samuel H. Long, and was actively engaged in field work during that year. For two years following he was occupied in compiling and preparing for the press the report of the "Expedition to the Rocky Mountains, 1818-19" (2 vols. with atlas, Philadelphia and London, 1823). He then received the appointment of surgeon in the U. S. Army, and for six years was stationed at frontier outposts. In 1830 he resigned his commission and returned to Albany. In 1834 he again went West, and in 1836 settled in the vicinity of Burlington, Iowa.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Fort James, 19th of November, 1668, printed in Documents relating to the colonial history of New York, vol. 14, pp. 610-611, this catechism is referred to as follows:

"I very much approve of yo^r composure of a catechisme. . . . That w^{ch} I shall desire from yo^r at p^{re}sent is the Catachisme wth some few select chapters & Laudatory Psalms fairly transcribed in the Indian Language w^{ch} I will send over to England & have quantities of them printed, & if yo^r thinke it necessary I conceive a small book such as shall onely serue to the instructing y^e Indians to read may likewise be compiled & sent wth them," etc.

The Rev. Thomas James, first minister of the Congregational church at East Hampton, on Long Island, settled there about the year 1650 or 1651, and died at the same place on June 16, 1696, after a ministry of about forty-five years. In September, 1660, he informed the Commissioners of the United Colonies, then in session at New Haven, that he was "willing to apply himself to instruct the Indians" of Long Island "in the knowledge of the true God." An allowance of 10*l.* was therefore made for him "towards the hieing of an Interpreter and other charges." In 1662 he was paid 20*l.*, "for instructing the Indians on long Island," and the same allowance was continued for the two following years.

[Jaunay (Père Pierre du).] Dictionarium Gallico-Sta8aka. [1741?]

Manuscript, French-Ottawa, in the library of McGill College, Montreal, Canada. Alphabetically arranged by French words. It is curiously paged; beginning with page 1 on the recto of the first leaf, the numbering is continuous on the rectos to p. 184, which includes about half of the letter E; pp. 185-396 (end of the letter Q) are numbered on the rectos and versos of the remaining leaves; and pp. 397-581 are the versos of the first leaves, which are numbered 1-184 on the rectos. The volume is bound, legibly written, and well preserved.

A note on the fly leaf says the work was begun 16 Aug. 1640 [sic]; another: "This book is the property of Adam Macruder of Montreal;"

and another: "Now belongs to Andro H. Arnolds, purchased at the sale of the late Macruder's effects, 1846."

I have placed the work under Du Jaunay upon the authority of the Rev. A. E. Jones of St. Mary's College, Montreal, a gentleman well versed in the history of the missions and missionaries of the Catholic church in Canada, who writes me as follows concerning the authorship:

"You ask me how I know that the Indian dictionary at McGill College was the work of Father Du Jaunay. Here is positive evidence: The labour entailed in completing each letter has under the protection of the Blessed Virgin while presenting Our Lord in the temple:

"D—Sub protectione Deiparæ Virginis Filium suum offerentis, quod festum amabile ante hos dies quindecim celebrabamus, quo die [2 Feb.] vota suae professionis emittebat carissimus socius meus P. de la Morinie; item sub protectione x^{ti} a diabolo tentati et jejunitis, quæ stupenda Domini Nostri Dei Hominis cras in evangelio legemus prima Quadragesimæ Dominica,' etc.

"That is to say, he undertook the letter D on Saturday the 18th day of February, 1741, fifteen days after the feast of the Purification, 2d Feb., and on the eve of the first Sunday of Lent. Easter that year fell on the 2d of April, Ash Wednesday on the 15th of February, and the first Sunday of Lent on Feb. 19. I have in my possession the official record of Father de la Morinie's last vows on profession. They were taken at St. Ignace, Michilimackina, on the 2d of February, 1741, in the presence of F. Du Jaunay, his companion in that mission."

A copy, made by Mr. Duponceau, and forms no. x of a collection made by him and recorded in a folio account-book, of which it occupies pp. 42-45. It is dated Dec. 1792.

Arranged in four columns to the page, two of English and two of Delaware, and contains about 250 words.

— A Vocabulary of the language of the Unquachog Indians, who constitute the Pusspatock settlement in the town of Brookhaven, south side of Long Island. By Thomas Jefferson, Esq.

Manuscript in the library of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia, Pa. It forms no. xi of a collection of copies made by Mr. Duponceau and recorded in a folio account-book, of which it occupies pp. 46-48.

Arranged four columns to the page, two of English, two of Unquachog, and contains about 180 words.

"The orthography is English. This vocabulary was taken by Thos. Jefferson, Jan. 13th, 1791, in presence of James Madison & Genl. Floyd. There remain but three persons who can speak its language; they are old women; from two of these brought together, this vocabulary was taken; a young woman of the same tribe was also present who knew something of the language."

There is a copy of this vocabulary in the library of the Bureau of Ethnology, Washington, D. C.

In a letter to Mr. Harris, dated Washington, April 18, 1806, Mr. Jefferson says:

"At a very early period of my life, contemplating the history of the aboriginal inhabitants of America, I was led to believe that if there had ever been a relation between them and the men of color in Asia, traces of it would be found in their several languages. I have therefore availed myself of every opportunity which has offered to obtain vocabularies of such tribes as have been within my reach, corresponding to a list then formed of about two hundred and fifty words. In this I have made such progress that within a year or two more I think to give to the public what I then shall have acquired."

In a letter from Monticello, dated Sept. 21, 1809, to Dr. Barton, he says:

"I received last night your favor of the 14th and would with all possible pleasure have communicated to you any part or the whole of the Indian vocabularies which I had collected, but an irreparable misfortune has deprived me of them. I have now been thirty years availing myself of every possible opportunity of procuring Indian vocabularies to the same set of words. My opportunities were probably better than will ever occur again to any person having the same desire. I had collected about fifty, and had digested most of them in collateral columns, and meant to have printed them the last year of my stay in Washington. But not having yet digested Captain Lewis's collection nor having leisure then to do it, I put it off till I should return home. The whole, as well digested as originals, were packed in a trunk of stationery, and sent round by water with about thirty other packages of my effects, from Washington, and while ascending James river this package, on account of its weight and presumed precious contents, was singled out and stolen. The thief, being disappointed on opening it, threw into the river all its contents, of which he thought he could make no use. Among these were the whole of the vocabularies. Some leaves floated ashore and were found in the mud; but these were very few, and so defaced by the mud and water that no general use can ever be made of them."

Title verso note (dated from La Pointe, September, 1837) 1 l. text entirely in Ojibwa pp. 3-83, 12^c.

"The following translation of John's Gospel into the Ojibwa language, was made by John and Peter Jones, who are native religious teachers employed by the Methodist Episcopal Missionary Society in Canada, and published by the British and Foreign Bible Society. The edition here presented is copied from that of the British and Foreign Bible Society, with scarcely any alterations, except the changing of a few words to render them more intelligible, and more conformed to correct usage, as the language is spoken in this part of the country. The orthography, however, is entirely different; this edition being written in the orthography adopted by the missionaries of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions in writing the Ojibwa language.

Compiled by the Rev. L. H. Wheeler, who speaks of it in the preface as follows:

"The design of this little volume of hymns, in Indian and English, is to meet the present urgent wants of the north-western Ojibwas. The hymns are selected from the hymn-book of the Rev. Sherman Hall, [see title of 1844 edition, p. 269], as compiled from the books of the Rev. Peter Jones and the Rev. James Evans and George Henry. The book of Mr. Evans was published by the American Tract Society, New York, in 1837 [see Henry (G.) and Evans (J.)]; that of the Rev. Peter Jones was a new edition of the former work, in which a number of the old hymns were omitted and several new ones added. It was printed also in an improved orthography, with the corresponding English hymns on opposite pages. It was published at Toronto in 1840 [see p. 268]. The book of the Rev. Mr. Hall was published by the American Board for Foreign Missions in Boston, in 1844 [see p. 269]. This was printed only in Indian, the French vowel sounds being used in the orthography. These different editions are now all exhausted. Hence the necessity of the present volume, in issuing which it was thought desirable to have the hymns written in a new orthography, upon the basis of the English vowel and consonant sounds, and also to have the English hymns printed on the opposite page. Readers of the former books will notice some changes here in the plan of syllabification. The attempt has been made in this book to form the syllables more in accordance with the grammatical principles of the language. Some changes, also deemed important, have been made in a few of the hymns. It is the design of the compiler, should life and health be preserved, to prepare for the press a much larger work than this as soon as the materials can be obtained and be properly fitted for the press. In the meantime, the hymns now published may supply the wants of the people for whom they are designed."

Peter Jones was born in the woods on a prominent tract of land called Burlington Heights. At the age of sixteen his father, of Welsh descent, and a government surveyor, got him baptised at the Mohawk Church, on the Grand River, near Brantford. About three years after his baptism he was truly converted to God, at a camp-meeting held near Ancaster. Having furnished satisfactory evidence to the fathers and brethren of the Wesleyan Church that he was called to the office of a Christian minister, he was solemnly set apart to that work as deacon, by the imposition of hands, at the Kingston Conference, by the Rev. Bishop Hedding, in 1830; and as priest at the Toronto Conference in 1833, by the Rev. George Marsden. He died at his home near Brantford, June 29, 1856.—Osborn.

Dr. P. E. Jones is the seventh son of the late Rev. Peter Jones, and was named after his father, Kah-ke-wa-quo-na-by, the full translation of which is "the sacred waving eagle's plume, or feathers," his father belonging to the eagle clan or family of the Messissauga tribe of the Ojibway nation. Kah-ke-wa-quo-na-by junior was born in October, 1844. He graduated in medicine at Queen's College, Kingston, Ontario, in 1866, and practiced in the old town of Niagara during 1866-'67. In 1868 he went to Hagersville, Ontario, where he still resides. This village is on the Grand River reservation, and at that portion of it occupied by the Messissaugas. In 1874 he was elected head chief and in 1875 appointed medical attendant. On December 27, 1887, he was appointed Indian agent. Dr. Jones has been secretary of the Grand General Indian Council for a number of years, and during that time has strongly advocated the enfranchisement of the educated Indians. In December, 1885, he started the periodical "The Indian," but his financial condition would not justify him in continuing it more than a year.

The characters in which these books are printed were invented by Father Christian Lelclercq, and were in use (in manuscript) among the Gaspeziens during and after his sojourn among them. For his own account see Lelclercq (C.). So far as I know, these are the only books printed in these characters. For description of manuscripts written in them see Micmac. On one of these manuscripts, which is in the library of Major Powell, to whom it was presented by the late Rev. S. T. Rand, it is stated that Father Kauder was aided in his work by Michael Christmas, an educated Indian of Nova Scotia.

Rev. Christian Kauder was born at Ettelbrueck, near Luxemburg, May 3, 1817. After being ordained a priest in Europe August 24, 1840, he entered the Congregation of the Most Holy Redeemer, and in May, 1845, came to the United States. He exercised the ministry at Baltimore, at St. Mary's Colony, Pa., in Ohio, at Pittsburgh, New Orleans, and Philadelphia. His health had by this time become very much shattered, and he left the Redemptorists in 1852. He sought an asylum at the Trappist Abbey of Petit Clairvaux, Tracadie, Nova Scotia. Here he became interested in the Micmacs, learned their language, studied their hieroglyphics, and obtained aid from influential friends and patrons in Austria to print the books described above.—Shea.

Half-title on cover, title as above verso blank 1 l. note pp. 3-4, text (in syllabic characters, and, with the exception of a few headings in English, entirely in the Cree language) pp. 5-127, verso of p. 127 names of printers, 180.

In a prefatory note Archdeacon Kirkby says:

"The Hymns and Sacred Songs in this little book are from the graceful pen of Mrs. Hunter [q. v.], and are sure to become great favorites among the Indians, wherever they are known. With the view of rendering them more extensively useful they are put into this form.

"The Prayers are from a compilation made by his Lordship the Bishop of Rupert's Land [Rev. David Anderson], for the use of his diocese. It was translated into Cree by the Rev. J. M'Kay [q. v.], and an edition printed at the Mission Press, Stanley, which did much good among the Indians. The book is still in large demand by the people of this district, but being out of print it cannot be had. The writer has thought therefore that the Hymns of Mrs. Hunter and this little book of Prayers would form a handy and very useful Manual of 'Prayer and Praise,' for the daily use of that large portion of the Cree-speaking population who read only the syllabic characters."

Père de la Brosse was born at Magnat, diocese of Angoulême, France, Feb. 29, 1724, and died at Tadoussac, where he is buried, April 11, 1782. He entered upon his novitiate at Bordeaux, Oct. 9, 1740, and was ordained priest Feb. 2, 1753. He arrived in Canada in the summer or fall of 1754. In 1755 his name is found among those of the Abnaki mission, his post probably being on the river St. John. During 1756-1758 he belonged to the community of the college of Quebec. In 1759-60 he was still missionary to the Abnakis, and in the former year his signature appears on the register of St. François-du-Lac. In 1761 he was transferred to the residence at Montreal, and in 1762 he still belonged to that residence. The reverend father signed his first act at St. Henri-de-Mascouche, May 13, 1761, and his last June 12, 1766.

Father de la Brosse was well versed in the Montagnais language. After gathering into one volume all the writings, both French and Montagnais, left by his predecessors in the missions, he made various corrections and added many notes to the instructions published by the Reverend Father Antoine Sylvi up to 1778, translated into French by the Reverend Father Claude Godefroi Coquart. "In several places," says Father de la Brosse, "annotations have been added, not in a captious or hair-splitting spirit, but to guard the reader against the mistakes which not rarely occur."

The following extracts are from the journal of Père de la Brosse: "In September, 1766, Father Jean Bte de la Brosse, a native of Magnat (aged 42 years), arrived at Tadoussac as missionary, having been sent by the Reverend Father Augustin de Glapion to take charge of the Montagnais missions. Father Claude Godefroi Coquart died on the 4th of July of the preceding year at the mission of St. Francis Xavier. 1767.—During this year, for the benefit of those who can read and those who will learn to read, I had printed three thousand books of alphabets and two thousand books of prayers and catechism. The last touch was given to this work on the last day of October, at the ninth moon. In the following year, 1768, I wintered in the mission house. I taught many savages to read, write, sing by note, and assist at ceremonies and rites, mass and evening office. In the following year, toward the end of November, I moved to a point of land below the Jeremie Islands, called de Betsiamis, and there wintered among the savages, teaching them to read, write, and sing by note. In the following year, 1770, having traversed the tribes of the king's domain, I moved to Quebec and wintered in the parish of Saint Lawrence on the isle of Orleans. I spent a good deal of labor, perhaps to no very good purpose, in reducing to alphabetic order the compilation of the Montagnais dictionary begun three years ago. In the following year I took charge of the Acadians of Kakunagai, the French around Green Island and at Sainte Marie des Anges and Saint Germain at Rimouski, wintering on Green Island, in the parish of Saint John the Baptist. In 1772 I visited the mission of Ristigouche, where I consecrated a church in honor of Saint Ann, and wintered at Bonne-Aventure."

Albert Lacombe was born at St. Sulpice, Quebec, Canada, Feb. 28, 1827. He was ordained priest at St. Hyacinth in 1848 and immediately left for Pembina, where he remained two years. In 1851 he was sent to the mission of Lake St. Anne, 40 miles north of Edmonton, where he remained for twelve years, his charge including the surrounding country inhabited by French half-breeds and Cree Indians, a large portion of his time being devoted to the study of the language of the latter. During his stay at the Lake St. Anne he joined the order of Oblates. In 1863 Father Lacombe founded the new mission of St. Albert, 9 miles north of Edmonton, and in 1866 the mission of St. Paul des Cris on the Saskatchewan, where were gathered a number of Prairie Crees. From this point he made numerous journeys to the Indian camps, among others a long trip to Slave Lake and Ft. Dunvegan, returning by Lake Labiche. Later he visited the Blackfeet, spending much time among them, principally to study their language. In 1871 he visited Montreal, but, returning to the mission on the Saskatchewan, he revised his Cree manuscripts, and in 1872 again visited Montreal to arrange for their printing. He visited Europe the same year, returned in 1873 and was appointed parish priest at St. Mary of Winnipeg, where he remained until 1876, when he was appointed an agent for the immigration of French Canadians to Manitoba, retaining this position for three years. In 1879 Father Lacombe again visited Europe as a delegate to the Oblate council, and upon his return was made chaplain to attend the Catholics working along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, then building, in which capacity he remained two years. In 1882 he returned to his work among the Indians of the far North-west, his headquarters for some years being at Calgary and later at MacLeod.

The only complete set of the three-volume edition I know of is that in the Carter Brown library, Providence, R. I., and this set I have used in the above description, which will not apply in all respects to other copies of the first two volumes of this edition. The Lenox copy for instance—a sound and fine copy in the original binding—is minus the double-page engraving preceding the title-page in both volumes 1 and 2; and the large folded maps in volumes 1 and 2 of the Brown copy are in volumes 2 and 1 respectively of the Lenox copy.

According to Sabin's Dictionary, no. 38636, this is the original edition of Lahontan's Voyages. I have seen two other editions, two volumes each, in French, of the same date, as follows:

— Nouveaux | voyages | de | Mr le baron de Lahontan, | dans | l'Amérique | septentrionale, | Qui contiennent une Relation des differens | Peuples qui y habitent; la nature de leur | Gouvernement; leur Commerce, leurs Coûtumes, leur Religion, & leur manière de | faire la Guerre. | L'intérêt des François & des Anglois dans le Commerce | ce qu'ils font avec ces Nations; l'avantage que | l'Angleterre peut retirer dans ce Païs, étant | en Guerre avec la France. | Le tout enrichi de Cartes & de Figures. | Tome premier. | [Scroll.] |

Assuming, as Sabin says, that the 3-vol. edition of 1703 is the original, vol. 1 of each of the two 2-vol. editions agrees with it page for page and nearly line for line in the matter following the preface, i. e., from the beginning of the text, p. 1. In vol. 2 the editions run alike page for page throughout the text; the tables at the end agree in the two 2-vol. editions, both of which differ from the second volume of the 3-vol. edition. The type of the two 2-vol. editions is very nearly the same, but differs materially from that used in the same (second) volume of the 3-vol. edition. The head and tail pieces and the initial letters differ materially in all three editions, as do also the engraved plates and maps; and there are minor discrepancies throughout the text of all the editions.

It will be noticed that the position of the figure in the preliminary plate in vol. 1 of each of the two 2-vol. editions is reversed from that in vol. 1 of the 3-vol. edition belonging to the Carter Brown library, and that it does not appear at all in the second volume of either of the 2-vol. editions or in the third volume of the 3-vol. edition. Altogether, the make-up of the 2-vol. editions is inferior, especially in the engraved plates, to that of the 3-vol. edition.

I am indebted to the owners of these editions for kindly sending them to me for inspection, so that I have been fortunate in having them all under the eye at the same time. I took advantage of the opportunity to make a photographic copy of each of the title-pages, as well as of those of some other editions, and have thus been enabled to read the proof of these titles from fac-similes. It has not been thought necessary to call special attention, by the use of brackets, to all the minor errors and differences in spelling and punctuation.

probably as a private soldier, in 1683, being stationed successively at Chambly and at Fort Frontenac, Fort Niagara, and Fort St. Joseph's. He was sent to Mackinaw and Sault Ste. Marie with a detachment; was at Green Bay the year following, and claimed to have explored and discovered Long river, a branch of the Mississippi. He returned to Quebec, and went to France in 1690, but came back the following year, and soon afterward was sent by Count Frontenac with despatches to the French Government announcing the failure of Sir William Phipp's expedition against Quebec. The vessel on which he sailed put into Placentia, Newfoundland, and he rendered such valuable service in defending that port from an attack by the English that he received a command as King's lieutenant in Newfoundland and Acadia. Truth and fiction are so blended in his works they have long since ceased to have any authority.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

He was captured while exploring North Carolina in 1712, in company with a Swiss named Graffenried. Le Boulanger (Père Joseph Ignatius).

New York: Cramoisy press. 1865.]

No title-page, heading "Dictionnaire;" text pp. 1-8, 8°, alphabetically arranged by French words; double columns; includes Abaisser—Ainsi.

Of this work, which was to form one of the series of Shea's American Linguistics, but one signature was printed. When this portion was put in type the manuscript was sent to the owner at his request and was never returned.

The following is an extract from the prospectus:

"A Manuscript Dictionary exists of the Illinois language, which, in extent and in careful preparation, exceeds any work known on any of the Algonquin dialects. It is to all appearance the work of the Jesuit Father Le Boulanger, whose labors on the Illinois language are highly extolled in the Lettres Edifiantes. The Illinois have now disappeared, but for purposes of research and study their language is one of the most interesting of the various dialects of the wide-spread Algonquin. They were on the extreme Southwest, and were separated on the East by the Iroquois from the Delawares, and had on the West the Dakota tribes. Their language, as shown in this Dictionary, throws much light on western names of tribes, rivers, lakes, &c., and by comparison with that of the kindred Lenni or Delawares, as preserved by the Moravians, furnishes the amplest known material for the study of the Algonquin language.

"As it is liable to perish by any untoward accident, I have obtained permission to print one hundred copies. The dictionary will form over five hundred pages, in fine type, double column, similar to that used in the French-Onondago Dictionary issued by me. It will be issued in four parts, of about one hundred and twenty-five pages each, at $5 per part. Ten copies will be printed on large paper, at $10 per part."

The manuscript from which this signature was printed is as follows:

— [French and Miami-Illinois dictionary.]

Manuscript; 23 p. ll. (the seventh of which is blank), 13 blank ll. 2 ll. ll. 1-11, 15-44, 46-185, and 37 blank ll. folio (16 $\frac{3}{4}$ +10 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches). In the Carter Brown Library, Providence, R. I.

At the top of the first leaf, the verso of which is blank, is the following note in a modern handwriting: "La langue dans laquelle est écrit ce volume est celle des Miamis-illinois, voyez au mot illinois et au mot langues dans le dictionnaire, pages 102 et 108. R. Martin."

The next 22 leaves contain, minutely written in double, treble, and quadruple columns, the following prayers, hymns, catechisms, and gospels in the Illinois language: "Acte de foi de la presence de Dieu, Examen de Conscience, Acte de Contrition, Priere pour les parens, &c., Prieres pour La S^{te}. Messe, au Commencement, a l'evangile, au sanctus, a L Elevation de L hostie, a L Elevation du Calice, apres L Elevation, au dernier Evangile, 1 page; Pour le Dimanche, Pour le Lundi, Pour le Mardi, Autre himne des anges, Autre, Pour le Mercredi, hymne du Patron, Panis Angelicus, 1 page; Pour le Jeudi, Lauda Sion Salvatorem, O Salutaris hostia, Pour le Vendredi vexilla regis, Pour le Samedi ave maria stella, Sur Le miserere, 1 page; Malheureuses Creatures, Benissez le Seigneur Supreme, 1 page; Vespres, Cantique a la Louange de la S^{te}. vierge, De profundis, Ad te domine Levavi, Laudate Pueri, Levavi oculos, In Exitu Israel, Laudate Dōm oēs Gentes, Capitale Benedictus, himne, Magnificat, 1 page; Petit Catechisme, Des Sacraments, 1 page; Invocation en commençant Le Catech., a la fin du Catechisme, Autre Catechisme, 2 pages; De Sacramentis, 2 pages and 1 blank leaf; Explication du Decalogue, 1 page; De Cultu et Invocatione Sanctorum, 2^e. Command, 3^e. Command, 1 page; 4 Commandēnt, 5^e. Commandēnt, 1 page; 6 Command., 7. Commandēnt, 8. Commandēnt, 9 et 10. Commandemts, 1 page; des Command. de L Eglise, De Ecclesia seu templo, Simbole des Apostres, 2 pages; S. Joan baptista, etc., 1 page; Dominica 1^{er} and other Sunday gospels, 12 pages; Histoire de la Genese, in 35 chapitres, 13 pages.

These are followed by 14 leaves, all of which are blank, excepting the verso of the 14th, which contains "Passion de Jesus C.," filling one-third of the page. Brief grammatical forms, in single, quadruple, and quintuple columns, fill both sides of the next leaf and the recto of the following one, on the verso of which the dictionary begins with folio 1. "This is written in a single column, on the outer margin or half page of the verso of every leaf, the inner half and recto being left blank. A column contains on an average about 18 French words, each of which is followed by a number of Illinois equivalents and phrases, making in all about 80 lines. The total number of French words in the dictionary is nearly 3,000. The apparent imperfections after leaves 11 and 44 are merely errors in numeration. Leaves 82-84 are wrongly numbered 72-74.

A manuscript note on the fly-leaf says: "This manuscript was purchased for me by Messrs. Hector Bossange & Son at the sale of the books and manuscripts of M. Marcel, formerly the Director of the Imperial Printing Office and Member of the Commission of the Institute of Egypt &c., on the 9th of May 1859, at Paris: Hen: C. Murphy."

In the Historical Magazine, first series, vol. 3 (1859), pp. 227-228, Mr. Murphy speaks of the manuscript as follows:

"This volume is the production of some of the early French missionaries among the Illinois. . . . The manuscript is closely written, but very plain. It is not the dictionary of that language which is mentioned by Mr. Duponceau and Mr. Gallatin, in the possession of the former, and which, it is inferred, is a short vocabulary; for the words which Mr. Gallatin could not find in the latter are contained in this, and there are many variations, showing the particular tribal origin to be different. Some of the words are identical with what Mr. Gallatin calls the Old Algonkin, for which he gives Lahontan as authority. The paper on which the work is written resembles that in use 150 or 200 years ago.

"A note on the fly-leaf says: 'This precious volume is an example of the superhuman efforts with which the love of the salvation of human souls inspired the Catholic missionaries.' In fine, it is, no doubt, the most complete repertory of the Western Lenape in existence, and from the care and fullness with which it has been written, has been the work of a life-time. . . . The only clue to the authorship that approaches to probability is furnished by Father Gabriel Marest, in his letter dated Kaskaskias, 9th November, 1712, and published in the Lettres Édifiantes. Speaking of Father Gravier, the founder of the mission to the Illinois, he says: 'He first investigated the principles of their language, and reduced them to grammatical rules, so that we have since only been obliged to bring to perfection what he began with so great success.'—Kip's Translation, p. 206. From this it may be inferred that the volume . . . is the compilation of many fathers, a conclusion to which we more readily come, since it accords with that already expressed by Mr. Shea, in his 'History of the Catholic Missions among the Indian Tribes of the United States.'"

In the prospectus of the French-Illinois dictionary which Mr. Shea was printing from this manuscript he ascribes it to Father Le Boulanger, it being, in his opinion, the work of one who had got far beyond the rudimentary stages of the study, and evidently of a single author who had mastered his subject, a reputation enjoyed only by Le Boulanger.

See Grazier (J.) for a description by Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull of a manuscript Illinois-French Dictionary.

At the sale of Mr. Murphy's library, in March, 1884, this manuscript was purchased for the John Carter Brown library for $240.

"As to the catechism you mention, I would say that the author of the earlier edition [Nihima?] was one of the Sulpitians of Montreal. When I re-edited it in 1866 I changed it somewhat and added something to the body of the work itself, and particularly to the hymnal verses at the end of each lesson, which are as a recapitulation of the whole lesson; also the hymns at the end, and the a, b, c and primary reading lessons at the beginning."

Rev. Louis-Marie Lebret was born at Hénan- bihen, Département des Côtes-du-Nord, France, November 30, 1829; joined the order of the oblates of Mary Immaculate in 1857; left Mar- seilles in 1859 and came to Ottawa, Canada, where he continued his theological course un- til he was ordained to the priesthood, March 17, 1861. He was immediately sent to the In- dian missions of the upper Ottawa and Hud- son Bay, where he labored for eight years. Then he was removed to Lowell, Mass., where he remained two years. Thence he was re- called to Canada and put in charge of the Novi- tiate of the O. M. I. at Lachine, remaining four years, and then sent to St. Paul, Minn., where he spent nearly three years, organizing a new parish and building a new church—St. Joseph's. Returning to Ottawa, he was made économe of the college, now the Catholic University of Ot- tawa. After two years (in 1879) he was sent again to the United States, at Plattsburgh, N. Y., as pastor of St. Pierre's church. In 1882 he was sent to Winnipeg, Manitoba, where he now (1890) resides. Since 1882, however, he has been absent from Winnipeg much of the time, having spent two years at Qu'appelle and three years at Fort Alexander, Lake Winnipeg.

Dr. Shea, in his sketch of Father Le Clercq, gives in vol. 1, p. 19, the Micmac title of Kauder's catechism, and on a plate opposite p. 16 the Lord's prayer in Micmac hieroglyphics (a fac-simile of which is given herewith), accompanied by the following remarks:

“As these hieroglyphics are still in use among the Micmacs, who write and read them, and a font of type for them has actually been cast at Vienna, in which a prayer-book has been printed in our day, through the exertions of Rev. Charles Kauder [q. v.], a Redemptorist missionary, who spent some years at Tracadie, it will not be out of place to give Le Clercq's own words:

“The easy method which I found for teaching our Gaspiensians their prayers with certain characters which I have formed, effectually convinces me that the majority would soon become instructed; for, indeed, I should find no more difficulty in teaching them to read than to pray to God by my papers, in which each arbitrary letter signifies a particular word, and some even two together. They so readily grasp this kind of reading that they learn in a single day what they would never have been able to retain in a whole week without the aid of these cards, which they call Kignamotinoer or Kateguenne. They preserve these instructive papers so carefully and prize them so highly that they keep them very neatly in little bark cases adorned with wampum, beads, and porcupine quills. . . .

“Our Lord inspired me with this method the second year of my mission, when, being greatly embarrassed as to the mode in which I should teach the Indians to pray, I noticed some children making marks on birch bark with coal, and they pointed to them with their finger at every word of the prayer which they pronounced. This made me think that, by giving them some form which would aid their memory by fixed characters, I should advance much more rapidly than by teaching on the plan of making them repeat over and over what I said. I was charmed to know that I was not deceived, and that these characters which I had traced on paper produced all the effect I desired, so that in a few days they learned all their prayers without difficulty. . . . I enlarged them so as to include all the prayers of the Church, with the sacred mysteries of the Trinity, Incarnation, Baptism, Penance, and the Eucharist."

Chrétien Leclercq, French missionary, born in Artois, France, about 1630; died in Lens, France, about 1695. He was a member of the Recollet order of Franciscans, and in 1655 was sent as missionary to Canada. Landing on the coast of the island of Gaspé, he learned the language of the Indians, and labored among them for six years, when he was sent to France to obtain permission to found a house of Recollets in Montreal. He was successful, and returned to his mission in 1662. After passing several years in Canada and meeting with little success in his work, he returned to France and was made guardian of the convent of Lens. Leclercq claims for the Recollets the honor of being the first to compile a dictionary of the languages of the Indians of Canada.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

The above manuscripts are in possession of their author, who has furnished me these descriptions. He states that the Blackfoot tribe is subdivided into Blackfeet proper, North Pie-gans, and Bloods, but that their languages are identical, and that this is true even of the South Pie-gans in Montana.

Rev. Émile Legal was born in the western part of France, near Nantes, in 1849. After the regular course of study he was ordained a Catholic priest in 1874, taught mathematics five years, and then joined the congregation of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. The following year he was directed to come to the northwest territories of Canada. In November, 1881, he arrived among the Blackfoot tribes in southern Alberta, where he has remained ever since.

Manuscript, pp. 25-72, 12°, in the library of the late Rev. S. T. Rand, Hantsport, Nova Scotia, who kindly forwarded it to me for examination. The handwriting is believed to be that of the late Abbé Legoyne, of Clare, Nova Scotia. The writing is plain, and the manuscript, which seems to be but a portion of a larger work, is in a fair state of preservation.

Title verso blank 1 l. text pp. 3-216, 16°. A number of errors of pagination occur: p. 69 is numbered 66; p. 94 is not numbered; p. 122 is numbered 121; pp. 125 to 176 are numbered 225-276, except p. 174, which is numbered 374; at p. 177 the numbering is again correct; p. 193 is numbered 293; p. 211 is numbered 111. The Privilege occupies about one-half of p. 216. At the head of the first page of the text (p. 3) is an ornament about half an inch wide which extends across the page, in the center of which is a full-length cupid with wings outstretched and with extended hands, each of which rests on a cornucopia.

In Harrisse's Notes pour servir à l'histoire . . . de la Nouvelle France, pp. 70-71, the two titles of the Relation for 1633 are given, with the statement that on page 1 of the one is a vignette of the head of a goat, and on page 1 of the other a vignette of a cupid. His error consists in the page number, p. 1 being the title-page, while the ornaments occur on p. 3 (the first page of the text). The vignette on page 1 (i. e. the title-page) of each consists of two storks. The same mistake is made in "Contributions to a catalogue of the Lenox library, No. II, The Jesuit Relations." This error is not important except that it leads Mr. Winsor in his Narrative and Critical History of America, vol. 4, p. 301, after mentioning these two issues, to say, "A third issue has a vignette of two storks," a remark evidently based upon Mr. Harrisse's statement that the vignette (presumably on the title-page) was in the one case a goat's head, in the other a cupid.

According to Harrisse's "Notes pour servir à l'histoire . . . de la Nouvelle France," p. 73, and Sabin's Dictionary, vol. 16, p. 537, there was a second issue of this Relation in the same year. Mr. Eames in the latter points out the differences in great detail. Following the title-page is a table des chapitres 1 l. and the privilege occupies one leaf at the end. Pp. 220, 221, 281, 304, 310, and 321-336, are respectively misnumbered 200, 121, 233, 204, 210, and 323-338. He adds: "These two editions, which agree line for line in the title, and nearly so in the text, may also be distinguished apart by the variations in the ending of the bottom lines of the following mentioned pages. . . ."

Paul Le Jeune, French missionary, born in the diocese of Chalons, France, in 1592; died in Paris, 7 Aug., 1664. He became a Jesuit in 1614, was sent to Canada in 1632, and on his arrival in Quebec was made superior of the missions. In 1637 Commander de Sillery sent workmen to Le Jeune with a request that he would employ them in founding villages for the Christian Indians. The superior conducted them to a point about four miles above Quebec, and there founded the village of Sillery. In a few years this settlement became a considerable town, and the Indian inhabitants cleared a large tract, and were gradually civilized by Le Jeune. He ceased to be superior in 1639, and in 1649 returned to France, where he was made procurator of the foreign missions.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

ume of 176 pages, preserved in the archives of the Roman Catholic mission at Pierreville, Canada, and described by Judge Charles Gill in his Notes sur de vieux manuscrits abenakis (q. v.) as follows:

The volume is formed of separate parts bound together and paged separately; on the first page is the following:

Hoc codice continentur: 1 Quæstio de saltatione Sylvicolorum cum fumigatorio tubo, à
P. Jacobo Lesueur, Sylvicolorum Uanbanakæo-rum pastore. 2 Variæ conciones, paræneses, et institutiones ejusd.

The first part is written entirely in French and has at the head: "En 1734, par le R. P.
Jacques Lesueur, à St.-François-de-Sales. Riv.
Arsiganteg Histoire du Calumet et de la Dance."

This French manuscript was published in the "Soirées Canadiennes," nos. 4 and 5, for April and May, 1864.

The first two pages of the second part are in Latin, under the title "Baptismum confe-rendo," and the remainder of the volume is in Abnaki, some of the titles being in Latin and one in French. The titles of the sermons and instructions are generally in Indian.

See Virot (C. F.) for description of the remainder (parts 3 and 4) of the manuscript.

— Dictionnaire de racines de cette

[Abnaki] langue. [1716-1753.] (*)

Manuscript, 900 pp. Title from Maurault's Histoire des Abenakis, p. 504, whence the following note is taken:

Lesueur was born in 1685 at Lunel in Languedoc. He joined the Jesuit order and was sent to the missions in America, arriving in Canada in June, 1715. He remained at Sillery nine months studying the Abnaki language, and in September, 1716, was sent to the Abnakis of Bécancourt, which is situated, much nearer the Trois-Rivières than St. Francis [Pierreville], where he lived until 1753, with the exception of a few years, at different times. In 1753 he went to Quebec, where he died in 1755, aged 70 years.

He was well versed in the Abnaki language and wrote a dictionary of roots in that language; this work is still preserved. Besides other manuscripts he left several [in Abnaki?] containing sermons, instructions upon the sacraments and morals.

I have examined many editions of so-called Lewis and Clarke, none of which, except those titled above and those which will be found under Fisher (W.), contain the linguistics.

"An account of the various publications relating to the travels of Lewis and Clarke," by Dr. Elliot Coues, appears as Bulletin 6, second series, of the publications of the Hayden Survey, Washington, 1876, 8°. In this work Dr. Coues says that all the editions of Lewis and Clarke—and there are many—are spurious so far as they claim to be narrations of the expedition.

Shawannoe mission: J. Meeker, printer. 1834.

The above title is reconstructed from Schoolcraft's Bibliographical Catalogue (1849), no. 66, where it is entered as follows: "Lenapie Wawipoetakse ave Apwatuk. First Lessons in the Delaware. J. Meeker. Baptist Shawannoe Mission. 1 vol. 18mo. 48 pages. A. D. 1834."

According to McCoy's History of Baptist Indian Missions, before the end of 1839, there had "been printed in the Delaware language four books, three of which were small [as described above], and one large; the latter being a Harmony of the Gospels, originally compiled by the Rev. Mr. Zeisberger, of the Moravian church, now revised by Mr. Blanchard."

These books were prepared by Mr. Ira D. Blanchard, a young man who "had gone among the Delaware Indians from benevolent motives, and was studying the Delaware language with the view of being useful to them." In 1833 he was baptized, and employed as a missionary by the Baptist board of missions to labor among the Delawares in the Indian Territory. He was married to Miss Mary Wilson, one of the missionaries, in 1835. Under their joint care the Indians were instructed in reading in the Delaware language, and also, to a limited extent, in the English language.

Information concerning the authorship of these works reached me too late to enable me to enter them under Mr. Blanchard's name.

All of these books were printed in the "new system" of orthography, for a brief account of which see Meeker (J.)

The Rev. Abraham Luckenbach may be called the last of the Moravian Lenapists. With him, in 1854, died out the traditions of native philology. Born in 1777, in Lehigh county, Pennsylvania, he became a missionary among the Indians in 1800, and, until his retirement forty-three years later, was a zealous pastor to his flock on the White river and later on the Canada reservation. A short ms. vocabulary in German and Delaware is in the possession of his family in Bethlehem, as also some loose papers in that language.—Brinton.

"Dr. Ludewig, though but little known in this country [England], was held in considerable esteem as a jurist, both in Germany and the United States of America. Born at Dresden in 1809, with but little exception he continued to reside in his native city until 1844, when he emigrated to America. In 1846 appeared his 'Literature of American Local-History,' a work of much importance, and which required no small amount of labour and perseverance.

"These studies formed a natural induction to the present work on 'The Literature of American Aboriginal Languages,' which occupied his leisure concurrently with the others, and the printing of which was commenced in August, 1856, but which he did not live to see launched upon the world; for at the date of his death, on the 12th of December following, only 172 pages were in type. It had been a labour of love with him for years; and if ever author were mindful of the nonum prematur in annum, he was when he deposited his manuscript in the library of the American Ethnological Society, diffident himself as to its merits and value on a subject of such paramount interest." Biographic memoir.

The first Baptist mission among the Indians was begun by Rev. Isaac McCoy, of Kentucky, who in October, 1818, purchased a small tract of land near to the Wea Indians in northern Indiana, and erected two log cabins for a residence and a school.

In November, 1819, Mr. Johnston Lykins, then nearly twenty years of age, was employed to teach the school, which contained only eight Indian children. This position he held until May, 1820, when the mission was removed to Fort Wayne, near the Miami Indians. His engagement having terminated, he returned to the settlements on the Wabash river. About two years later, in February, 1822, Mr. Lykins removed to Fort Wayne, and again entered the service of Mr. McCoy. In June he professed religion and was baptized, at the same time offering to devote his life and services to the Indian work. He was therefore duly appointed a missionary at the Fort Wayne station, according to the regulations of the Baptist Board of Missions for the United States.

In December, 1822, the mission was removed to a place about one hundred miles northwest of Fort Wayne, on St. Joseph's river, in Michigan territory, among the Potawatomi Indians, where a new station was founded called the Carey mission house. Here Mr. Lykins applied himself to learn the Potawatomi language, and in September, 1824, he commenced to read religious discourses to the Indians in their own tongue. In the following year he received a government appointment as teacher at a new mission station called Thomas, which had been located among the Ottawa Indians on Grand River. During the next six years his labors were divided with Mr. McCoy and the other missionaries between the two stations, by which arrangement they all acquired a better knowledge of the Ottawa and Potawatomie languages. They were joined in 1824 by Mr. Robert Simerwell, in 1825 by Mr. Jotham Meeker, and in 1826 by Mr. and Mrs. Slater. In 1826 Mr. Lykins was licensed to preach the gospel, and in 1828 he was married to Mr. McCoy's eldest daughter.

After the formation of the Indian territory by act of Congress, May 26, 1830, preparations were made to remove the Baptist missions from Carey and Thomas stations. Mr. Lykins was directed by the board of missions to settle in the northern part of the new territory, among the Shawanoes, on the line of the state of Missouri. To this place he accordingly removed in June, 1831, and in the following year he was authorized to erect the necessary buildings. By September, 1832, matters had progressed so well under his management that public religious exercises were held in the mission buildings, for the benefit of the Shawanos, and a small school for Indian children had been opened. In February, 1833, Mr. Lykins visited the Delaware Indians on the neighboring reservation, and made arrangements for instituting regular preaching among them, and to open a school Mr. Ira D. Blanchard, who had already gone among them to learn the Delaware language, was employed for this purpose.

In the autumn of 1833, Mr. Meeker arrived with a printing press, which was set up at the Shawano mission, and before the 10th of May, 1834, a small book in Shawanoe by Mr. Lykins, and another in Delaware by Mr. Blanchard, had been printed, according to the new system of orthography. During the summer of 1834, "missionary operations progressed with increasing interest, both among the Shawanoe and Delawares. Many among both tribes learned to read in their own languages, and the publishing and distribution among them of small books, which many had become able to read, promised a happy result." Mr. Lykins also prepared hymns and some other prints, which were used advantageously by the Shawanos, Delawares, Peorias, and Weas, in the neighboring Methodist mission, under the care of Rev. Thomas Johnson.

In March, 1835, the first number was issued of a semi-monthly paper entitled Shau-wau-nowe Kesawthwau, edited by Mr. Lykins, and printed at the Shawano mission press in the Shawano language. During the summer of the same year Mr. Lykins assisted Rev. John Davis, the missionary to the Creek Indians, in compiling a small school book in the Muscogee or Creek language, and in translating the gospel of John into the same, both of which were printed at the mission press in the new alphabet. He also compiled, with the help of the native missionary, a book in the Choctaw language, which was printed by Mr. Meeker. This book, however, was not brought into use. On the 18th of October, Mr. Lykins was regularly ordained to the work of the gospel ministry.

In the winter of 1835-'36, while engaged in translating the gospel of Matthew into the Shawano language, he was attacked with a nervous affection of the head, occasioned, perhaps, by too close application to study, which rendered him almost an invalid for several years, and hindered greatly the work of translation. The printing of the gospel, which had advanced to the middle of the 17th chapter, was necessarily discontinued, and some copies of the book were issued in an incomplete form. It was not completed and finished at the press until 1842, when a new title was printed with that date.

In 1837, Mr. Lykins compiled a primer or "first book" in Osage, with the help of one Joe Skiget, a Delaware youth who had acquired a knowledge of that language. The book was printed according to the new system, before October of the same year.

Between 1834 and 1839, according to Mr. McCoy's statement, "in Shawanoe, three books have been printed, and part of the Gospel by Matthew. A second edition of one of these books has been printed; also, one book in Shawanoe, for the Methodists." Besides, a considerable number of hymns were printed in the same language, which are not included in the above list. All of these were prepared in whole or in part by Mr. Lykins.

The following particulars have been furnished by Mr. John B. Dunbar: In the spring of 1843, under the direction of Rev. Isaac McCoy, who had been appointed general agent of the American Indian Mission Association at Louisville, Mr. Lykins left the Shawanoe station and established a mission among the Putawatomie Indians, at a place about four miles west of where Topeka, Kansas, now is. He remained in charge of this mission for three years, and then returned to his former station, where he resided until the mission was discontinued, about the year 1855. He afterwards removed to Kansas City, where he died in 1876.

For an account of the new system of orthography in which these books were printed, see Meeker (J.)

Lyle (H.) Lists of Passamaquoddy words. (*)

Manuscript, in possession of Mr. W. F. Gannon, Cambridge, Mass., who writes: "I have a pasteboard pamphlet-cover in which, with a copy of . . . I have three or four short lists of Passamaquoddy words sent me by Mr. H. Lyle of St. Stephen, N. B., one of them giving 17 Passamaquoddy names of persons (Christian names, native), and another giving Passamaquoddy names for 10 marine animals. These are valuable, for Mr. Lyle speaks the language and gives them very carefully."

"The Prayers are from a compilation made by his Lordship the Bishop of Rupert's Land [Rev. David Anderson], for the use of his diocese. It was translated into Cree by the Rev. J. M'Kay, and an edition printed at the Mission Press, Stanley [Saskatchewan], which did much good among the Indians. The book is still in large demand by the people of this district, but being out of print it cannot be had. The writer has thought, therefore, that . . . this little book of Prayers would form a handy and very useful Manual of 'Prayer and Praise,' for the daily use of that large portion of the Cree-speaking population who read only the syllabic characters."—Preface.

Sir Alexander Mackenzie, explorer, born in Inverness, Scotland, about 1755; died in Dalhousie, Scotland, 12 March, 1820. In his youth he emigrated to Canada. In June, 1789, he set out on his expedition. At the western end of Great Slave lake he entered a river to which he gave his name, and explored it until 12 July, when he reached the Arctic ocean. He then returned to Fort Chippewyan, where he arrived on 27 Sept. In October, 1792, he undertook a more hazardous expedition to the western coast M'Kenzie (D. M.) The vocabularies of the Blackfeet, of the Crows or Upsarokas, and of the Grosventre, Rapid, or Fall Indians who call themselves Ahnenin; by D. M. M'Kenzie of the St. Louis American Fur Comp.

Manuscript, furnished by the Hon. Albert Gallatin to Dr. James Cowles Prichard, by whom it was loaned to Dr. R. G. Latham, from whose "Opuscula" (1860), p. 379, the above title is copied.

Extracts from the manuscript are printed in Latham (R. G.), Opuscula, London, 1860, pp. 276-283, 379-380, with the Blackfoot and Crow vocabularies, pp. 380-384.

On p. 378 Dr. Latham suggests a doubt as to the accuracy of the word Ahnenin and asks should it not be Atsina, in which he is right.

The vocabularies are referred to by Dr. Prichard as follows: "Mr. Gallatin has had the kindness to communicate to me the vocabularies of the languages of the Black-foot Indians, of the Crows or Upsarokas, and of the Gros Ventres or Rapid or Fall Indians, who call themselves Ahnenin. These vocabularies are in manuscript; they were collected since the publication of Mr. Gallatin's work by Mr. Mackenzie, a very intelligent man, who resides at the junction of the Yellow-Stone and the Missouri rivers as principal agent of the St. Louis American Fur Company, and who trades principally with these nations."—Researches into the Physical Hist. of Mankind, vol. 5 (1847), p. 414.

Mr. Gallatin, in his introduction to "Hale's Indians of North-West America" (Am. Ethnological Society's Trans. II (1848), cxi), refers to the author as "Mr. Kennet McKenzie, the active partner of the St. Louis Fur Company, who has resided twenty years near the mouth of the Yellowstone River, and to whom we are indebted for the best vocabularies of the languages of the Blackfeet, the Upsarokas or Crows, and several other tribes."

In the same volume Mr. Gallatin gives extracts from the Blackfoot vocabulary, compared with Algonkin, pp. cxiii-cxiv, and the words marked M in the vocabulary on pp. 88, 90, 92, 94.

On pp. 162, 163 are found the following remarks concerning the invention of the Cree syllabary: "He [Eames] found two efficient and willing helpers in Mr. and Mrs. Ross, the factor and his wife. An old Hudson's Bay employee informed the writer that Mrs. Ross rendered the chief help to the missionary in studying the language. . . . Quick to observe the principles of language, he beheld with joy the recurrence of certain vowel sounds, which, when fully grasped might prove of great service in simplifying language and preparing a literature for the people. . . . Pondering deeply, . . . at last, in the year 1841, the Cree syllabic system was completed, the alphabet distributed among the Indians and placed in the school, and instructions given in its arrangement. In less than one year from his advent to Norway House he had devised and perfected the syllabic system upon which his enduring fame rests."

of Aug. 24, 1887: "I have this well under way. It is a dictionary, not a vocabulary, and includes grammatical notes as well as the meaning of the words. There are at present over ten thousand words recorded, and when completed, which I hope to do in from six to twelve months after the grammar, will contain probably from twenty to twenty-five thousand words."

— [Grammar of the Blackfoot language.] (*)

Manuscript in possession of the author, who is preparing it for publication; in a late letter (April 8, 1890) he informs me he hopes to have it published in the succeeding autumn, and that it will probably make a volume of 250 pages, 12^o. — [Translations into the Blackfoot language, 1885.] (*)

Manuscript in possession of its author, who has kindly described it for me as follows:

"Contains five chapters from Matthew's gospel, the Lord's prayer, and selections from the scriptures and prayers, with one or two hymns.

"In translating these I used an interpreter, but found the work so unsatisfactory that I gave up translating and applied myself enthusiastically to the study of the language, deferring translation until I was fully master of the subject."

In the preparation of his linguistic material Mr. McLean is using the alphabet adopted by the Bureau of Ethnology.

Rev. John McLean was born in Kilmarnoch, Ayrshire, Scotland, Oct. 30, 1852; came to Canada in 1873, and was graduated B. A. from Victoria University, Cobourg, Ontario. Some years afterward his alma mater conferred on him the degree of M. A. In 1874 he entered the ministry of the Methodist church. In 1880, at Hamilton, Ontario, he was ordained for special work among the Blackfoot Indians, leaving in June of the same year for Fort MacLeod, Northwest Territory, accompanied by his wife. At this point were gathered about 700 Blood Indians, which number was subsequently increased by the arrival of Bloods and Blackfeet from Montana to 3,500. Mr. McLean settled upon the reserve set apart for these Indians and diligently set to work to master their language, history, etc., and on these subjects he has published a number of articles in the magazines and society publications. I am informed by Mr. James N. McDonald, editor of the Moose Jaw Times, that, at the request of the anthropological committee of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, Dr. McLean has for several years prepared notes on the language, customs, and traditions of the Blackfoot confederacy, and that the results of this labor are partly given in one of the reports of the committee, but at this writing I have not seen the article referred to. Although burdened with the labors of a missionary, he found time to prepare a post-graduate course in history and took the degree of Ph. D. at the Wesleyan University, Bloomington, Ill., in 1888. Besides the articles which have appeared under his own name, Dr. McLean has written extensively for the press under the non de plume of Robin Rustler. He is now (May, 1890) stationed at Moose Jaw, Northwest Territory, having left the Indian work in July, 1889. He has for several years been inspector of schools, and is now a member of the board of education and of the board of examiners for the Northwest Territory.

quite imperfect, seeing that very few have fathomed the genius of that language. Mr. Maillard is the only one known who has investigated it deeply, and who has been in the best situation to give us the true principles of a tongue conforming so little to the genius of other languages. A beginner can do nothing better than to study his manuscripts in order to learn to speak Indian purely and correctly. However, to facilitate the study of this language I have undertaken to work up his grammar, which lacks method and even clearness in places."—Avant-propos.

"It is regretted that we have not the remainder of Mr. Maillard's remarks. All the precepts included in this cahier are purely from him; we have only labored to write them out in a continuous and more methodical order. Somebody will be pleased, perhaps, sometime, with our work, especially in respect to the order in which the verbs are placed. The conjugation of the verbs with an object of animate things is still needed, and rules of syntax. We can not better terminate these precepts than with this sentence of the respected missionary [Maillard]:

"In order to learn the Micmac language and put one's self in condition to speak it as purely and as easily as the Micmacs themselves, it is necessary, when one has to live and dwell among them, especially in the character of missionary, not to neglect to fix in the mind each day a few of these remarks. The true means of making one's self loved, feared, and listened to by them, and even of succeeding in making them think and act as one wishes they should do and act on certain occasions or under certain circumstances, is to know how to express one's self like them; to apply one's self to doing it with ease, especially in the church when it is necessary to paraphrase some texts of the old or new testament."—Closing paragraph.

The manuscript of this grammar, pp. 1-184, 4^o, in a bound book, is in possession of Dr. J. G. Shea, Elizabeth, New Jersey; and there is a copy as follows:

— Cahier de la langue | Mimak [sic] | Rédigé par les soins de | Monsieur Maillard ancien missionnaire. | Copié par M. Joseph Bellenger.

Manuscript, 4 l. pp. 1-154, sq. 8^o, preserved in the library of the Archbishopric of Quebec. A copy, corrected and revised from the original by the Rev. Joseph Bellenger, according to notes by him at the beginning and end of the manuscript. The manuscript is bound in gray cloth and is very well preserved.

Of the 4 preliminary leaves two are blank; the title above appears on the recto of l. 3, on the verso of which begins a table of contents, which is continued on the recto of the succeeding (4th) leaf. The verso of the 4th leaf contains a note by the Abbé Bellenger on an oblique case which answers to the accusative of the Latin, and "which the Abbé Maillard could not have observed."

The text begins on p. 1 with the heading: De la langue sauvage Micmake [sic]. Des noms. The first line begins with the words: "Dans cette langue les noms ne se déclinent point." The last paragraph begins: "Si l'on veut faire précéder la négation . . ."

The Rev. Thomas Gill of the Séminaire de Nicolet, Montreal, has furnished me the description of a manuscript preserved in the library of that institution which he considers the original of Maillard's Grammar, and which he describes as follows: It contains pp. 1-44, 8°. The first page bears the heading "Traité de la Langue des Mikmaqes copié en 1813 et 1814." A preliminary leaf contains a "Preamble" which states that the treatise is probably by Mr. Maillard, of which I have but little doubt, for on comparing extracts from it with Maillard's Grammar by Bellenger, I find similarities sufficiently striking to suggest that this very manuscript may have been in Mr. Bellenger's hands. The manuscript was presented to the Nicolet Library about 1883 by Rev. Mr. Le Bois, a curé of Maskinogé, P. Q., who acquired it from Rev. M. Frs.-Magloire Turcotte.

ric of Quebec. Bound in parchment, and considerably mutilated by mice.

On the recto of the first leaf is a fancy design, in the middle of which is written "P. Maillard, pretre missionnaire." The 4 pp. next following contain a notice to the missionary readers.

In the middle of p. 15 is written P. Maillard, pretre missionnaire; the verso of this leaf and the three following pages contain a notice to missionary readers. On a blank leaf attached to the front cover is a design within which is the note "Pridie kalendas octobris, anno salutis 1759," presumably the date of the drawing; and on the corresponding page at the end of the volume is "Quarto nonas octobris, Anno Dni 1759," the date at which the manuscript was finished. In the various ornamental drawings which separate the principal parts of the text are recorded the dates which mark the progress of the work; thus on p. 116 is "11^a 9^{bris} ann. 1757;" on p. 126 "12^a 9^{bris} 1757," etc. the last date thus intercalated being found on p. 346 and reading as follows: "Junii, die vigesima nona, dum apud D. Manach degerem, Anno salutis 1759." Père Manach was a co-laborer in the missions with Père Maillard.

preliminary leaves, the Abbé Maillard speaks of a French translation of the Micmac text of his euchology; of a second manuscript in the Micmac language containing the prayers for morning and evening with the sections which might be sung correctly noted; and finally of a third manuscript, larger than the latter, which contained all the service put into plain chant. The text of all these is contained in the above manuscript.

Following this manuscript is one of 18 ll. which is, I think, not the work of Abbé Maillard. It is without title or date. The recto of the first leaf is blank; on the verso begins the mass for the dead in Micmac, which extends through 3 pp. followed by a French grammar 3 pp. table of contents 3 pp. estimate of the author and of his work by M. Bellenger 1 p. hieroglyphic signs of the Micmac 11 pp. 7 blank leaves.

Abbé Maillard, born in France late in the 17th century, died in Halifax, Nova Scotia, in 1768. He was sent to Canada about 1738, and was afterward appointed vicar-general of Acadia. After the capture of Louisburg in 1758 he remained in the neighborhood, hiding in the woods during the daytime and at night attending to the religious needs of the fishermen that were allowed to stay in the country. On the conclusion of peace in 1760 he left his retreat, and labored among the Indian tribes and in the few Acadian villages in Cape Breton and on the coast of Miramichi.—*Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Marest (Père Gabriel). [Catechism and collection of prayers in the Illinois language.] (*)

According to letters of the Jesuit fathers from 1676 to 1702 (Relation des affaires du Canada), Father Marest writes to another father "that priests of the Quebec seminary passing one winter in his mission and not knowing the Illinois language, he gave them a collection of prayers and a catechism translated with the remarks made on that [Illinois] language." This letter is dated from the land of Illinois in New France, April 29, 1699.

Father Julien Binneteau, a Jesuit, in a letter to another father of the same order (Illinois, 1699), says that Father Marest has the first talent in the world for these missions, having learned the language in four or five months to such a degree as to give lessons in it, of which he ought to have left manuscripts.

Gabriel Marest, or Marêt, French missionary, born in France; died near Peoria, Ill., in 1715. He was sent as a missionary to Canada, and labored successfully among the Illinois Indians in 1697, after acquiring a good knowledge of their language. He then established his mission permanently near Fort Peoria, and most of the tribes in the neighborhood became Christians. Father Marest is the author of two narratives that have been published in the "Lettres édifiantes." The first gives an interesting account of a journey that he made to Hudson

No title-page; text in syllabic characters 54 unnumbered ll. 8^o. A rough print, evidently struck off at the mission press, and probably prepared as "copy" for an edition to be printed by the British and Foreign Bible Society, though I know of no edition of this gospel published near the date given on the fly-leaf, which contains a manuscript note signed "Elijah Hoole" and dated at London, 23 Nov. 1852, which says "this book was executed 1851, by the Rev. W. Mason." The first page has seven verses of the gospel and a portion of the eighth.

Although the three works last titled have the name of Rev. Wm. Mason on their respective title-pages, denial has been made in a number of instances that they were translated by him. In a biography of the Rev. Mr. Steinhauer in the Missionary Outlook for Jan. 1881, published in Toronto, there occurs the following passage:

"When the Rev. James Evans went to the North-West, in 1840, he was already meditating the possibility of reducing the Cree tongue to writing. In this he succeeded, by inventing what is known as the syllabic characters. Mr. Evans not only invented the characters, but cut the first type in which an attempt was made to print them. Soon after, the work of translating the Scriptures began, and it was in this work that Bro. Steinhauer rendered efficient service in conjunction with John Sinclair, a half-breed, afterwards employed as a native assistant at Oxford House. Mr. Sinclair translated the Old Testament as far as the end of Job, also the Gospels and Acts; while Mr. Steinhauer translated from the beginning of the Psalms to the end of the Old Testament, and from the beginning of Romans to the end of the New.

"The manuscript of these translations was entrusted to the Rev. Mr. Mason, who was now a missionary of the Church of England at York Factory. He took it to England, where the work of printing was undertaken by the British and Foreign Bible Society. When the work was passing through the press, Mr. Mason, with characteristic modesty but very questionable morality, had his own name printed on the title-page as the translator of the work. Subsequently, after the death of James Evans, Mason claimed to be the inventor of the syllabic characters, and within a couple of years the writer has seen the claim asserted in his behalf in an English paper."

In an article by Rev. E. R. Young, entitled "James Evans as inventor of the syllabic system," published in the Canadian Methodist Magazine for March, 1882, the following language is used: "Let it be known to all, that long before Wm. Mason reached Norway House, the Rev. Jas. Evans had not only perfected his invention, but had so far utilized it, that portions of the Gospels and also several hymns had been printed by himself and his Indian helpers. . . . For years, catechisms, hymn-books, and large portions of the Word of God were printed at Norway House."

I have myself seen nowhere in print the claim put forth in behalf of Mr. Mason that he was the inventor of the syllabic system, though, as appears above, vigorous denial of the claim is made.

In the same periodical for May, 1885, is an article on "American Indian Literature" by the Rev. Jno. McLean, who says: "In 1840, the Rev. H. B. Steinhauer, an Ojibway Indian, recently deceased, went out to the Hudson's Bay Territory with Jas. Evans. After a residence of a few years, he and John Sinclair, a half-breed, translated the Bible into Cree. Sinclair translated the Old Testament to the end of Job, and the New Testament to the end of the Acts of the Apostles. Mr. Steinhauer translated the remaining parts of the Old and New Testament. I have in my library a manuscript copy of Genesis written in the Cree syllabic characters by Jno. Sinclair. It is a beautiful specimen of penmanship." See, further, under McLean (J.), James Evans, inventor of the syllabic system of the Cree language.

In order that the case might be presented from both sides I wrote to Archdeacon Kirkby, who had spent many years among the Crees and neighboring tribes, and who is thoroughly acquainted with the syllabary, and who has written and published a number of works therein, concerning the matter. After cautioning me against confounding the invention of the system with the translation of the Bible by means of the syllabary, he proceeds as follows: "Whilst in charge of the mission at Norway House, Mr. Mason married a daughter of one of the Hudson Bay Co.'s officers, a half-caste lady thoroughly well educated. Of course Cree was her mother tongue. Texts, portions of scripture, and possibly one of the Gospels were in circulation among the Indians, but she longed to have the entire Bible printed for their use, and she, with her husband, began. Possibly, at that time Messrs. Steinhauer and Sinclair may have helped them, as they were associated with Mr. Mason in the mission, but it could not have been to any great extent, as they were not educated men. Anyway, the translation was not completed until long after Mr. Mason had left the Wesleyans, and had taken charge of the York Mission. There is not the slightest doubt that the translation belongs to Mr. Mason and to his good wife. She was a devoted christian lady and an admirable Cree scholar. The manuscript was printed for Mr. Mason by the British and Foreign Bible Society, and done under the eye of Mr. Mason, who went to England to see it through the press. I am not aware that the Wesleyans have ever translated the Bible into the Cree language."

Some time after compiling the above notes I was pleased to learn that the Rev. Mr. Mason was still living, at Long Horsley, Morpeth, England, and immediately wrote him concerning the matter in question. He replied, under date of December 30, 1886, as follows:

"In the translation of the Bible into the Cree language I was assisted by Henry Steinhauer and John Sinclair, who were at the time schoolmaster and interpreter at the Rossville Station, where I was minister, and by other Indians. This final revision was the joint work of myself and my wife, Sophia Mason. I never claimed to be the inventor of the Cree Syllabary; that honor belongs to the Rev. James Evans. I went in 1840 to Rupert's Land, in connection with the Wesleyan Society, having been set apart in the usual manner of that society. My first sphere of labour was Lac la Pluie, where I remained from 1840 to 1844. I was then stationed at the Rossville Mission. In 1854 the mission was given up by the Wesleyans and I went to Red River, where I saw Dr. Anderson, the late bishop of Rupert's Land, who said, 'If you return to your own church I will ordain you, and your fourteen years' work shall be counted as if you had never left it.' I consented, and was ordained deacon and priest by him in 1854. I was married in 1843 to Sophia, daughter of Dr. Thomas, then Governor of Red River, and from that time till her death in 1861 we were jointly engaged in the work of translation. After my ordination I was stationed at York Factory, where I remained until 1858, when we both returned home in order to carry the Cree Bible through the press, and just before the fatal termination of her illness Mrs. Mason had the joy of seeing the last verse of Malachi in print. In 1862 I returned a widower to Rupert's Land, and continued my labours at York Factory until 1870, when I finally returned to England, and after six years of deputation work for the Church Missionary Society was presented by the Lord Chancellor, the late lamented Lord Cairns, to the vicarage of Long Énemond Massé, clergyman, born in France in 1574, died in Canada, 12 May, 1646. He entered the Society of Jesus in 1596, and was sent by his superiors to Port Royal (now Annapolis) in Acadia, where he landed 12 June, 1611. A vessel was fitted out which sailed for Port Royal, took Massé on board, and landed him on Mount Desert island. Here he established a mission settlement under the name of the Holy Saviour. A fort was built, but it was soon after attacked by Samuel Argal, who took the missionaries and most of the colonists to Virginia. Massé appears to have been allowed to return to France in 1614. He endeavored to persuade — [A monitor for communicants.

Boston, 1716.] (*)

"In English and Indian. Boston. 1716. pp. 20 & 20." This description is from the Rev. Thomas Prince's manuscript catalogue in his own handwriting, in the library of the Massachusetts Historical Society, as quoted in the bibliography of Cotton Mather in John Langdon Sibley's Biographical sketches of graduates of Harvard University, vol. 3 (1885), p. 118.

The book was first printed anonymously in English at Boston in 1714, with the title: "A Monitor for Communicants. An Essay to Excite and Assist Religious Approaches to the Table of the Lord. Offered by an Assembly of the New English Pastors, unto their own Flocks, and unto all the Churches in these American Colonies." It was reprinted several times.

The Indian version is mentioned by Dr. Mather in his India Christiana (Boston, 1721), p. 32, at the end of the following extract: "This Great Light [the Indian Bible] had several Satellites waiting on it; Primers, and Grammars, and Catechisms, and The Practice of Piety, and, our Baxters Call to the Unconverted, and some other Compositures. Unto which Indian-Library, there have been since added, The Confession of Faith; and, An Epistle giving the Indians an Account of what the English desire them to Know and to Do, in order to their Happiness: And, A Discourse concerning the Institution and the Observation of the Lords-Day; And, Family-Religion Excited and Assisted; And, A Monitor for Communicants."

No copy of this edition has been found.

Cotton Mather, eldest son of Increase Mather, was born at Boston, Feb. 12, 1663, and died there, Feb. 13, 1728. At twelve years of age he entered Harvard College, where he graduated in 1678. In 1680 he began to preach, and in 1685 he was ordained as his father's colleague over the North Church in Boston.

For a period of nearly forty-three years he officiated as minister of that church. He took a prominent part in many civil and other affairs, notably in the Salem witchcraft delusion of 1692, in introducing the practice of inoculation for the small-pox in 1721, and in educating and christianizing the negroes and Indians. He was also one of the commissioners for Indian affairs in Massachusetts. In 1710 he was honored with the degree of D. D. by the University of Glasgow, and three years later he was chosen a member of the Royal Society of London.

Mr. Mather is best known, probably, by his numerous published writings, numbering over four hundred separate books and tracts. His library was the largest of any in America at that time, and his learning was more varied and extensive than that of any of his contemporaries in New England. His piety, talents, and industry were considered wonderful; but, notwithstanding these attainments, it is evident, as one of his biographers remarks, "that his judgment was not equal to his other faculties." He was weak, credulous, superstitious, vain, and conceited; and his passions, which were naturally strong and violent, were unduly excited by disappointed ambition.

According to his own account, Mr. Mather was able to write in seven languages. It seems that he had given some attention to the Massachusetts Indian language as early as 1688. In his life of John Eliot (Boston, 1691), pp. 85-86, he writes:

"There is a Letter or two of our Alphabet which the Indians never had in theirs; tho there were enough of the Dog in their Temper, there can scarce be found an R in their language; save that the Indians to the Northward, who have a peculiar Dialect, pronounce an R where an N is pronounced by our Indians; but if their Alphabet be short, I am sure the words composed of it are long enough to tire the patience of any scholar in the world; they are Sesquipedalia Verba which their Linguo is composed of; one would think, they had been growing ever since Babel, unto the Dimensions to which they are now extended. For instance, if my Reader will count how many Letters there are in this one Word, Nummathekodtantamooonganunnonash, when he has done, for his reward I'll tell him, it signifies no more in English than, our Lusts; and if I were to translate, our Loves, it must be nothing shorter than, Noowomantamtooonkanunnonash. [To these specimens, as reprinted in his Magnalia Christi Americana, are added the words: "Or, to give my Reader a longer Word than either of these, Kummogkodonattootummooteiteaongannunnonash, is in English, Our Question: But I pray, Sir, count the Letters!"] Nor do we find in all this Language the least Affinity to, or Derivation from, any European speech that we are acquainted with. I know not what thoughts it will produce in my Reader, when I inform him, that once finding that the Dæmons in a possessed young woman, whereof I have heretofore given the world some account, understood the Latin and Greek and Hebrew Languages, my curiosity led me to make trial of this Indian language, and the Demons did seem as if they did not understand it."

In his Magnalia (book VI, p. 75), this statement concerning the bewitched young woman is repeated, under date of November, 1688, as follows:

"Perceiving that her Troublers understood Latin, some Trials were thereupon made whether they understood Greek and Hebrew, which it seems, they also did; but the Indian Languages they did seem not so well to understand."

Dr. Trumbull, in the Memorial History of Boston, criticises Mather's knowledge of the language. "The devils," he says, "who found Mather's Indian too hard for them were not without excuse. Judging from the specimens he printed, he had not mastered the rudiments of the grammar, and could not construct an Indian sentence idiomatically. It is not certain how much of these translations was his own work, and how much was obtained from incompetent interpreters."

In the life of Cotton Mather by his son it is stated that "he learned the French and Spanish Tongues and in his Forty-fifth Year conquered Iroquois Indian; in each of which he published Treatises for their Instruction." This refers, without doubt, to the tract entitled Another Tongue brought in, printed in 1707.

"Jean Claude Mathevet, a Sulpitian missionary, whose Indian name was Wakwi, was born in the diocese of Viviers, in France, in 1717. He came to Canada in 1740, and was missionary at Lac des Deux Montagnes from 1746 to 1781, where he learned the Algonkin and Iroquois languages. He has left in the former several manuscript sermons, a catechism (which has been printed, with corrections, several times since 1830), and a history of the old and new testament, which I had printed in 1859-61, and of which, as the edition is entirely exhausted, I am at present preparing a new one. In the Iroquois he has composed sermons, prayers, and a grammatical essay. He died in 1781, aged 64 years."—Cuoq.

It is probable that the catechism referred to by the Abbé Cuoq is that described herein under Nihima.

I have seen Mathevet referred to by the Indian name of "Tairhensere;" perhaps that is his Iroquoian and "Wakwi" his Algonquian name.

“The dialect of the Vineyard had some peculiarities, but these were gradually lost after the Indians learned to read Eliot’s version of the Bible and his other translations. In 1722 Mr.
Mayhew observed (in a letter to Paul Dudley) that now ‘our Indians speak, but especially write, much as those of Natick do.’ The difference, however, was still perceptible, and may be detected in Mr. Mayhew’s translation of the psalter. Josiah Cotton, at the end of his Indian vocabulary, compiled about 1727, gave a dialogue between himself and one of the Indians of Plymouth Colony, in which the latter says ‘it is very difficult to get the tone’ of their language, and that when Cotton preached the Indians could not always understand him, ‘because he did not put the tone in the right place,’ and also, ‘because he had some of his father’s (the Rev. John Cotton’s) words, and he learned Indian at Nope [Martha’s Vineyard], and these Indian’s don’t understand every word of them Indians.’

“Mayhew’s version of the Psalms and Gospel of John is founded upon Eliot’s; but every verse underwent revision, and scarcely one remains without some alteration. The spelling differs considerably from that of Eliot and others, who had learned the language among the Indians of the mainland. In exploring ‘the latitudes and corners’ of Indian Grammar, Mr. Mayhew probably went further than Eliot had gone; and the fact that his work passed through the hands of ‘J. Printer’ gives it additional value as a monument of the language. James, the Indian printer, learned his trade from Samuel Green in Cambridge, and had worked on both editions of the Indian Bible.

“The Massachusset Psalter, in good condition, is rare. Most of the copies I have seen bear marks of much—and not always gentle—handling, and have lost more or less of their leaves”—Trumbull.

Mayhew's letter is dated from Chilmark, March 20th, 1721-1722, and addressed "To the Honorable Paul Dudley, Esq." It occupies pp. 12-17, and, besides a general discussion of the Indian language, contains the Lord's prayer in the dialect (Niantic?) of the Indians of Connecticut Colony.

Reprinted as follows:

— Observations | on | the Indian language, | by | Experience Mayhew, A. M. | Preacher of the Gospel to the Indians of Martha's | Vineyard in New England, in 1722. | Now published from the original ms. by | John S. H. Fogg, A. M., M. D. | Member of [&c. two lines.] | Boston: | MDCCCLXXXIV [1884].

The manuscript of this letter is in the possession of Dr. Fogg who procured it from the late J. Wingate Thornton of Boston.

The Lord's prayer from this manuscript was first printed in Trumbull (J. H.), Notes on Forty versions of the Lord's prayer in Algonkin languages. Dr. Trumbull there says it is certainly not in the Pequot dialect, but probably that of the Niantics.

— See Indiane primer.

Experience Mayhew, minister to the Indians on Martha's Vineyard, was born on that island January 27, 1673, and died there November 29, 1758. His grandfather was Thomas Mayhew the younger, a sketch of whose life is given under the next following title. His father, John Mayhew (born 1652, died 1689), was well acquainted from his youth with the Indian language, and began to preach in it about the year 1673.

Mr. Mayhew, in his own account, says: "I learnt the Indian Language by Rote, as I did my mother Tongue, and not by Studying the Rules of it as the Lattin Tongue is comonly Learned." In March, 1694, about five years after his father's death, he began to preach to the Indians. The field of his labors is described in an account of "the present condition of the Indians on Martha's Vineyard," dated June 2, 1720, which he prepared as an appendix to one of his sermons printed at Boston in that year. The following extracts are taken from this account as reprinted in Cotton Mather's India Christiana (Boston, 1721):

"The Number of Indians on these Islands is very much diminished, since the English first settled on Martha's-Vineyard, which was in the Year 1642, there being then, as was supposed on that Island about 1500 Souls. At present there are in the Vineyard six small Villages, containing in all of them, about 155 Families, and the Number of Souls may be about eight hundred.

"Each of these Villages is provided with an Indian Preacher to dispence the Word to them on the Lord's Days, when I am not with them. They meet for the Worship of God twice a Day on the Sabbath, and after Prayer, sing a Psalm; then there is a Sermon Preached on some Portion of Scripture, which being ended, they sing again, while the Days be of a sufficient length; and then conclude with Prayer.

"There has, from time to time, been much care taken that the several Villages might be provided with School Masters to teach the Children to Read and Write; yet some of them have not been so constantly supplied, as is to be desired; and generally when the Spring of the Year comes on, the Indians take their Children from School, alleging they want them for Tillage of the Land; and so the Schools fail till the Fall; and this has much hindred their Progress in Learning: Nevertheless, I think the greatest number can Read, either in the English or in the Indian Tongue; and some in both.

"There is also care taken to Catechise the Youth: For besides what is done in this kind, by the Indian School-Masters & Preachers, I frequently examine the Young People my self, and have determined to attend this Service once a Fortnight, in some or other of the fore-mentioned Villages; and this Method will, I hope, prove very advantageous: many grown People as well as Children, attending these Exercises."

"Having now Preached to the Indians upward of 25 Years, I have never yet had any special charge of any one single Congregation committed to me; but have visited the several fore-mentioned Assemblies alternately, as I have thought most necessary; Preaching ordinarily, unto some or other of them every Lord's Day, and on working days once a Fortnight; constantly also attending their Church-Meetings, to assist & direct them."

"The Rev. Mr. Josiah Torrey, Pastor of the English Church in Tisbury on the Vineyard, has also for many Years past Preached as a Lecturer unto the Indians on that Island, having for that End learned their Language. He Preacheth in some or other of their Assemblies once a Fortnight, and goes frequently to their Church-Meetings, to advise & assist them; so that the Indians have a Sermon every Thursday Preached to them, either by Mr. Torrey, or my self: And we strengthen the hands of one another, by going together to these Weekly Exercises.

"The Rev. Mr. Samuel Wiswall Pastor of the Church in Edgartown, has also now almost learned the Indian Tongue, with a design to do what Service he can among that People.

"The Indians on Martha's-Vineyard & the adjacent Islands, do hitherto understand the Indian Tongue much better than that of the English; and therefore complain much for want of Indian Bibles, having now but very few among them. Nor are there any to be had; the last Edition being now gone. These Indians are therefore very desirous of another Impression of the Bible, if it might be obtained; and divers of them have told me, as well as some of those on Nantucket, (whom I have divers times visited) that they should be willing according to their capacity, to contribute to it.

"But the disadvantage which the Indians are under thro' the Scarcity of Bibles is somewhat helped by the Care of the Honourable Commissioners to supply them with other useful Books in their own Language, viz. The N. England Confession of Faith; Several Catechisms; The Practice of Piety; Mr. Shepard's Sincere Convert; Mr. Baxter's Call to the Unconverted. And several Sermons of Dr. Mather's, &c. besides the Psalter, & the Gospel of John, Printed in the Year 1709. And the Indian Primer Printed this Year, in Indian and English. All which Books are now very useful unto them."

Mr. Thomas Prince, writing in 1726, states that Mr. Mayhew had "the prudential Care and Oversight of five or six Indian Assemblies; to whose Service he has been wholly devoted, and to one or other of which he has constantly preached for above these thirty two Years."

In 1707 his translation of one of Cotton Mather's sermons was printed at Boston, and about the same time he was employed by the Society for propagating the gospel in New England to make a new version of the psalter, which was printed in 1709. In 1727 he published his Indian Converts: or, some account of the Lives and Dying Speeches of a considerable Number of the Christianized Indians of Martha's Vineyard, in New-England. To this work is appended "Some Account of those English Ministers who have successively presided over the Indian Work in that and the adjacent Islands," by the Rev. Thomas Prince. Several other tracts and sermons from his pen were also printed between 1720 and 1744.

Mr. Mayhew was accounted one of the "greatest Masters" of the Indian language in his time. His version of the psalms, according to Dr. Trumbull, "in literal accuracy and its observance of the requirements of Indian grammar . . . perhaps surpasses even Eliot's." He left four sons, one of whom, Zechariah Mayhew (born 1717, died 1806), was ordained a minister on Martha's Vineyard December 10, 1767, and labored for many years as a missionary among the Indians there.

Mayhew (Thomas). [A catechism in the dialect of the Indians of Nope or Martha's Vineyard. 165-?] (*)

Manuscript; probably not extant.

Thomas Mayhew, the younger, first minister to the Indians on Martha's Vineyard, was born in England about the year 1621, and was lost at sea in 1657. His father, Thomas Mayhew, came to Massachusetts before 1636, obtained the grant of Martha's Vineyard and the neighboring islands from Lord Stirling in 1641, began a settlement at Edgartown in 1642, and died there in 1681, aged 92. Shortly after the new settlement was begun Mr. Mayhew the younger became minister of the first English church on the island. In 1643 his missionary work among the neighboring Indians was commenced by the conversion of Hiacoomes. In 1646 he had acquired sufficient knowledge of their language to address them in public meetings, which were held at first once a month, and afterwards every fortnight.

"The way that I am now in," he writes in 1650, "for the carrying on of this great work, is by a Lecture every fortnight, whereunto both men women and children do come; and first I pray with them, teach them, catechise their children, sing a Psalm, and all in their own language. I conferre every last day of the week with Hiacoomes about his subject matter of preaching to the Indians the next day, where I furnish him with what spiritual food the Lord is pleased to afford me for them."

In October, 1651, he writes again of the Indians: "There are one hundred ninetie-nine, men, women, and children, that have professed themselves to be worshippers of the great and everliving God. There are now two meetings kept every Lords day, the one three miles, the other about eight miles off my house: Hiacoomes teacheth twice a day at the nearest, and Mumanequem accordingly at the farthest, the last day of the week they come unto me to be informed touching the subject they are to handle. . . . I have also undertaken to keep by the help of God two Lectures amongst them, which will be at each once a fortnight."

In January, 1652, a school for the teaching of the Indian children was opened by Mr. Mayhew. Before October of the same year the number of converts under his care had increased to 283, and he had prepared for them a covenant or confession of faith in the Indian language, of which an English translation is given in the tract entitled Tears of Repentance, London, 1653.

It was for the use of these Indians that the above-named catechism was prepared. In a letter written by Experience Mayhew, grandson of the author, in 1722, which has been printed for Dr. John S. H. Fogg, of Boston, the book is mentioned as follows:

"My Grand Father in his time composed a large and Excellent Catechism for the Indians of this Island, agreeable unto their own Dialect; but not being printed the Original is, I think, utterly lost, and there only remains of it, about 40 pages in Octavo, transcribed as I suppose, by some Indian after his Death; but this goes not so far as to have the Lord's Prayer in it."

It is probable that Mr. Eliot's primer and catechism was also used to some extent by Mr. Mayhew's Indians. The difference between the dialects of Martha's Vineyard and Natick, according to Experience Mayhew, "was something greater than now [1722] it is, before our Indians had the use of y^e Bible and other Books translated by Mr. Eliot, but since that the most of y^e Little differences that were betwixt y^m, have been happily Lost, and our Indians Speak, but especially write much as those of Natick do."

In November, 1657, Mr. Mayhew sailed for England with one of his Indian preachers, but the ship in which he took passage was never heard of more. After this, the mission work was continued by Mr. Mayhew the elder, who had also learned the Indian language. In 1670 the first Indian church was formed on Martha's Vineyard, and Mr. Mayhew was requested to become its pastor, although over eighty years of age. This office he declined, and the Indian Hiacoomes was thereupon chosen and ordained as its minister.

Two Delaware primers are titled in Sabin's Dictionary (no. 47377, note), under Mr. Meeker's name as author, which were in fact only printed by him. The error was caused by twisting the titles, in copying them, successively, from Trübner's Bibliographical Guide to American Literature (1859), p. 250; Ludewig's Literature of American Aboriginal Languages (1858), p. 66; and Schoolcraft's Bibliographical Catalogue (1849), nos. 66 and 67, where they were first printed.

Mr. Jotham Meeker joined the Baptist missionaries at Carey station, Michigan territory, in November, 1825, when about twenty-one years of age. He was from Cincinnati, Ohio, and a printer by trade. For a while he assisted Mr. Johnston Lykins and Mr. Robert Simerwell in teaching the Indian children. In August, 1827, having been duly licensed to preach, he was placed in charge of the mission among the Ottawas at Thomas station on Grand river. On this occasion the Indians conferred on him the name of Mánó'-kéké-tòh', signifying "he that speaks good words." He had by this time acquired sufficient knowledge of the Ottawa language to enable him to read religious discourses in it to the Indians.

In September, 1830, Mr. Meeker was married, and in the following year, on the breaking up of the mission and the removal of Mr. Lykins to the Indian territory, he returned to Cincinnati, with the intention of going into the printing business. The other missionaries, however, soon persuaded him to change his design, and to resume the Indian work. It was at first proposed to put a printing press in operation among the Cherokees of Arkansas, under his management, but the plan failed for want of support.

The Chippewa mission next attracted Mr. Meeker's attention. As he had acquired "a pretty correct knowledge of the Ottawa language, which is virtually the same as the Chippewa and Putawatomie," he yielded to a desire to labor among a people with whom he could converse. In the autumn of 1832, having obtained the consent and support of the Baptist board of missions, he set off with Mrs. Meeker for the lakes. At Detroit they were joined by Rev. Moses Merrill and his wife, with whom they proceeded to Sault Ste. Marie, between lakes Huron and Superior, where they associated themselves with the Chippewa mission under the care of Rev. A. Bingham, who had been located there since 1828. They remained in this place, however, only a few months. Early in the spring of 1833, the board directed both Mr. Meeker and Mr. Merrill to abandon the Lake Superior mission, and to proceed at once to the Indian territory.

In September or October, 1833, Mr. Meeker arrived at the Shawanoe mission station with his wife. By direction of the board he brought with him a printing press and types, which he had purchased in Cincinnati. On the 9th of March, 1834, with the assistance of William Ash, "he commenced printing, first printing 50 copies of the alphabet for several tribes, and on the 21st he completed the first book printed in the Territory—a primer of 24 pages in an Indian language." See Linapi'e. By the 10th of May an elementary book in Shawanoe, prepared by Mr. Lykins, was also printed. Other works in the Delaware, Shawanoe, Putawatomie, Otoe, Choctaw, Muscogee or Creek, Wea, and Kansas languages, were printed by Mr. Meeker during the next three years, besides a number of pamphlets in English.

A few Ottawas had, by this time, located in the Indian territory, and as Mr. Meeker still desired to labor for that tribe, the requisite authority was obtained from the Indian department at Washington to establish a mission among them. This was early in the year 1835. The proposed undertaking was delayed, however, by other affairs, and especially by the work of the printing press, which employed much of Mr. Meeker's time. His labors were largely increased in 1836 by the long continued illness of Mr. Lykins, and in September of the same year his own health became so poor that he was unable to attend to the press. Arrangements were thereupon made to obtain another printer.

On the 14th of May, 1837, Mr. J. G. Pratt of Massachusetts arrived at the Shawanoe mission and took charge of the printing office. In June, Mr. and Mrs. Meeker removed to the Ottawa settlements, about thirty miles west of the Missouri state line, near the site of the present city of Ottawa, Kansas. Here a school was opened, and preaching held. In the following year Mr. Meeker prepared one or two elementary books in the Ottawa language, which were printed at the Shawanoe press.

The state of the Ottawa mission in 1839 is described by Mr. McCoy as follows: "Mr. Meeker has a small school, in which instruction is imparted in the English language, and he receives pretty good attention to preaching. David Green, an Ottawa, who has been baptized within the last two years, takes a part in the performance of public religious exercises, and acquits himself much to the satisfaction of the missionaries.'

During the next six years several other books were printed in the Ottawa language. The printing press was afterwards removed from Shawanoe to the Ottawa mission station, where Mr. Meeker again took charge of it, and printed two books in 1850. He died at the mission on the 12th of January, 1854.

The "new system of writing and reading," invented by Mr. Meeker, was adopted in all the Indian books printed at the Shawanoe mission press. This system, according to its advocates, "wholly excludes spelling," and "enables the learner to paint his thoughts on paper, with precision, as soon as he acquires a knowledge of a number of characters about equal to the English alphabet." The following account of it is taken from McCoy's History of Baptist Indian Missions:

"To each Indian language, and to each dialect of language, belong peculiar sounds, which cannot be obtained by the use of the English alphabet. To designate syllables which could not be spelt, or sounds which could not be obtained by the ordinary use of letters, writers who would write intelligibly have been compelled to introduce arbitrary characters, each according to his fancy. It can easily be conceived that serious inconvenience attended this course of things.

"Mr. Guess, a Cherokee, had discovered that the language of his tribe could be written with about eighty syllabic characters. Guess's plan was tried in relation to some other languages, and found to be inapplicable, because characters would be multiplied beyond the bounds of convenience.

"To remedy the evils which attended the ordinary methods of writing Indian, and the complexity which would attend the universal application of Guess's system, the idea suggested itself to Mr. Meeker, then at Sault de St. Marie, of using characters not to designate syllables, but certain positions of the organs of speech. His first writing was rather a combination of this new principle with the syllabic system and the system of spelling.

"When the press was put into operation at the Shawanoe mission house, the missionaries among the Shawanoes and Delawares took up the new principle of Mr. Meeker, and reduced it to a system, excluding entirely the syllabic or hieroglyphic system, and also that of spelling.

"By spelling, we mean that process by which the learner is required to familiarize the memory with certain names of characters, (letters) and then, after combining these in a certain order, a sound (syllable) must be uttered — not one produced by the combination, but altogether arbitrary. This sound, unmeaning in itself, must be born in mind until, by a similar process, a second, third, or fourth, be obtained; and, lastly, these sounds must be combined, in order to form a word.

"Upon the new system, every uncompounded sound which can be distinguished by the ear is indicated by a character. These sounds, in Indian languages, usually amount to about eight or ten, the greater part of which, but not all, are what in the system of spelling would be denominated vowel sounds; other sounds are such, for instance, as the hissing-sound of the letter s, in which consists its real value, the sound obtained by ch, as in church, &c. The other characters, usually in number about twelve or fourteen, merely indicate the positions of the organs of speech preceding or following the sounds, by which the beginning or ending of sounds is modified; thus, the character p, would require the lips to be pressed together with a slight pressure within; this, o, would indicate a sound which could be heard by the ear — say the short sound of o; this, t, would require the end of the tongue to be pressed hard to the roof of the mouth. Now, if the sound of o intervenes between the pressure of the lips and the pressure of the tongue, as above indicated, the word pot is necessarily pronounced; transpose the characters, and adhere to the same rule, and the word top is unavoidably pronounced.

"Hence, as soon as the learner acquires a knowledge of the uses of the characters, more than twenty-three of which have not yet been found necessary in writing any Indian language, he is capable of reading; because, by placing the organs of speech, or uttering a sound, as is indicated by each character as it occurs, he is actually reading."

The new system, however, did not meet with much favor from others. "Pretty soon after we had issued a few prints upon the new system, from the press at the Shawanoe mission house, two influential Presbyterian missionaries from among the Choctaws visited us. They had published a few books in the Choctaw language, written upon the principles of orthography. Peculiar sounds could not be obtained by the use of the English, or any other alphabet, and to remedy this evil they had invented new characters, and procured new types to print them. The superiority of our cheap, and expeditious, and correct system, over their worse than old-fashioned plan, was so obvious to us, that we hoped for their ready and hearty co-operation in introducing it into common use in the Indian country. In this we were grievously disappointed; and, to add to our mortification, they zealously urged us to reject our system, as futile. No reason, however, was offered, only that they had written a little in Choctaw, and all our prints ought to be uniform. They seemed to overlook the fact that the Cherokees by their side wrote by syllabic hieroglyphics, and that we could not, even with the use of the new characters introduced by them in order to obtain peculiar sounds in Choctaw, write in Delaware, Shawanoe, &c., without introducing others to represent sounds peculiar to these languages respectively.

"Our Methodist brethren were not disposed to show it any public countenance. This was indeed the more surprising to us, because they had adopted it themselves. This, however, they had not done so much from inclination, as from the necessity of gratifying a popular desire of the Shawanoes. Hymns, and some other prints, prepared by the Baptist missionaries, were used advantageously by Shawanoes, Delawares, Peorias, and Weas, in the Methodist connection.

"But if we have reason to grieve on account of the little favor which has been shown to the new system by the Presbyterians and Methodists, we have still greater cause of grief on account of the indifference of our own (Baptist) denomination to this important matter."

The four principal alphabets according to this system are as follows:

"The Vowels always have the same sound in all cases.

"It will be found difficult to give the Consonant its proper sound when by itself; as the sounds that are given (when learning them) are the same as when pronounced in connection with a vowel, in a syllable or word. This difficulty will be obviated by connecting the sound with that of a vowel.

"* This letter denotes a guttural sound peculiar to the Delaware, and is quite indescribable."

a	pronounced as	a	in	mane	a
i	"	"	a	"	far
e	"	"	e	"	me
o	"	"	o	"	no
w	"	"	o	"	move

t	"	"	t	"	take
s	"	"	s	"	say

"The Consonants are not pronounced aloud; but have precisely the same sound as in reading English.

"Example.—BE, pronounced the, (th hard).—Here the character b has just the position of the organs of speech, and sound, as occur before the voice opens on e, in saying theory.

"CE, pronounced che.—here the character c has the same position of the organs, and sound, as occur before the voice opens on e, in saying cheese. And so with all the consonants."

EXPLANATION OF THE PUTAWATOMIE CHARACTERS.

[From Simerwell's Putawatomie primer (Wlkr Potrwatome Msina'kin), 1834.]

"In this system the common types are used for the purpose of avoiding the inconvenience of procuring type of a peculiar form, but reading is performed by an application of the letters different from their uses in other languages,

"Some of the characters indicate sounds, others merely show the positions of the organs of speech. They are therefore not (properly speaking) letters, but characters.

"Those which are denominated Vowels denote sounds as follows:

a	as	a	in	far
e	"	e	"	me
i	"	i	"	pín
o	"	o	"	note
u	"	u	"	tub
y	"	i	"	pine
w	"	o	"	move

r denotes a sound like e short, partaking somewhat of a long.

"B indicates the position of the lips as they are placed when about to express the name of the letter b; or, as the organs are left on pronouncing a word ending in b.

"D, K, M, N, P, and T, in like manner indicate the position of the organs as they are placed when about to express words in English beginning with those letters severally; or, as the organs are left when words ending in those letters severally have been pronounced.

"G denotes the position of the organs when prepared to express a word beginning with g hard.

"H indicates the sound of ch in church.

"L has the sound of sh in she.

"S signifies a hissing sound, as occurs in the commencement of the pronunciation of the word see.

"Example.—Mskwr—Here the lips are closed, and a slight nasal sound is emitted, on s the lips open with hissing, k denotes the position of the organs as described above without articulation, and the voice opens on was oo, and ends with r as e short, and the word msqueh (blood) is unavoidably pronounced.

"The learner is, therefore, not taught the names of these nineteen characters, but their uses.

"Again, let the characters lkinor be used as above directed, in succession as they are placed here, and the word shkin-o-weh (young man) is unavoidably pronounced.

"The learner can acquire a knowledge of these 19 characters in as little time as he could learn the names of the same number of letters of the alphabet. He is then capable of reading, because the repeating, or, rather, the using of these characters as they are written, is really reading.

"Single words are arranged in columns merely for the purpose of bringing them more distinctly to the notice of the learner, and not for the purpose of spelling. The same remarks apply to the division of words, apparently, into syllables.

"Sounds occur in one Indian dialect which do not in others. Hence, some of the characters describe different sounds, and different positions of the organs, in different dialects.

"The apostrophe denotes an abrupt interruption, and, sometimes, a sudden termination, of the voice.

"When an aspiration precedes a vowel, as h in how, the vowel is marked thus, áw, waónwr; pronounced how, wau-hone-weh.

"Points are used as in English.

"Figures are applied as they are in English, but with the Indian names to each.

"This system may be applied to the English, or to any other language."

"The Ottawa Alphabet may be divided into three classes, viz. vowels, semi-vowels, and mutes. The six first letters are vowels, which have a full and invariable sound. The semi-vowels are seven in number; they have each an indistinct sound, which is exactly the same that is heard when the words containing those letters are spoken. The three last letters are mutes, and are only known by the position of the organs, without any sound.

"Example.—POST—Here the word begins with a mute, followed by a vowel and semi-vowel, and ends with a mute; so that when the learner endeavors to name the various letters in it, he begins by placing his lips tightly together, pressing upon them with his breath; he then lets his voice open on the vowel o; then looks on the third letter, and makes barely a hissing sound; then to express the last letter he stops all sound by the point of his tongue—therefore by naming the various letters in a word he articulates distinctly the word itself."

The following is a summary of the Indian books printed at the Shawanoe mission press by Mr. Meeker and Mr. Pratt, according to the new system:

In the Delaware language: Fifty copies of the alphabet in March, 1834; three small books by Mr. Blanchard in the same year (see Linapic); and a harmony of the four gospels in 1837 (see Zeisberger (D.) and Blanchard (I. D.)); all printed by Mr. Meeker. Also, a second edition of the primer in 1842 (see Blanchard (I. D.)), printed by Mr. Pratt. According to Mr. McCoy, four books had been printed in Delaware on this press before 1839, "three of which were small, and one large; the latter being a Harmony of the Gospels."

In the Shawanoe language: Fifty copies of the alphabet in March, 1834; two editions or issues of a primer in the same year; a periodical entitled Shau-wau-nove Kesauthwaru or "Shawanoe Sun," from March 1st, 1835, to 1837 or 1838, semi-monthly and monthly; a small hymn book of sixteen pages in 1835 or 1836; and a portion of the gospel of Matthew in 1836; all printed by Mr. Meeker. Also, a second edition of the primer in 1838; the complete gospel of Matthew in 1842; and a second edition of the hymn book in the same year; printed by Mr. Pratt. According to Mr. McCoy, three books had been printed in Shawanoe on this press before 1839, "and part of the Gospel by Matthew. A second edition of one of these books has been printed; also, one book in Shawanoe, for the Methodists." See Lykins (J.)

In the Putawatomi language: Probably fifty copies of the alphabet in March, 1834; a primer of thirty-two pages in the same year; and a hymn book and catechism of eighty-four pages in 1835; all printed by Mr. Meeker. According to Mr. McCoy, four books were printed in Putawatomie on this press before 1839. See Simerwell (R.)

In the Otoe language: A small primer in 1834; a hymn book of twelve pages in the same year; a second Otoe reading book in April, 1835; and part of the gospel harmony in 1837; all printed by Mr. Meeker. They were prepared and translated by Rev. Moses Merrill, who died in 1840. Three books, according to Mr. McCoy, were printed in this language, "all small, one of which has been reprinted for the use of the Presbyterians among the Ioways." These publications "consisted of two small school books, some hymns, and a part of the New Testament, equal to about one-half of the gospel by John."

In the Choctaw language, one book was printed by Mr. Meeker, in 1835. It was compiled by Mr. Lykins, with the assistance of the native Choctaw missionary.

In the Muscogee or Creek language, two books were printed by Mr. Meeker in 1835. One of these was a small school book; the other was the gospel of John. They were both prepared by Rev. John Davis, with the assistance of Mr. Lykins.

In the Wea language, one book was printed for the Presbyterians, probably in 1834 or 1835. It is referred to by Mr. McCoy as follows: "A Presbyterian missionary among the Weas [Rev. Joseph Kerr or Rev. Wells Bushnell?] compiled a small book, which was printed upon our press. He knew it would be rejected by the Indians, as unnecessarily obscure, if he wrote wholly upon the plan of spelling, yet, so tenacious was he of what had appeared right to his brethren from the Choctaw country, that he introduced some of their new formed characters; and as we neither possessed nor desired to possess such types, having no use for them, he furnished them himself. He therefore approached so nearly to the new system as to make his book acceptable to the Indians, and yet departed so far that it was not fully the same."

In the Kansas (Kauzau) or Kaw language, one book was printed for Rev. William Johnson, the Methodist missionary, probably in 1836 or 1837.

In the Osage language, one elementary book was printed with the following title: "Wafafe Wa-gry-sy Laekens Wa-Kaxa Peo. Shawano Mission: J. G. Pratt, printer. 1837." It was prepared by Mr. Lykins. The first eleven pages are in alternate lines of Osage and English; the remaining pages being in Osage. "The Indian portion of the book is represented by the use of the phonetic alphabet devised by Rev. Jotham Meeker, with an alphabet of twenty-five letters, representing the eight vowel and seventeen consonant sounds of the Osage language. The letters of the English alphabet are employed to represent these sounds."

In the Ottawa language, a primer or "first book" was printed in 1838; another small book about the same time; the gospel of Matthew in 1841; the gospel of John in 1844; and a hymn book in 1845. They were all prepared by Mr. Meeker, and printed at the Shawano mission by Mr. Pratt. After the removal of the printing press to the Ottawa mission, Mr. Meeker printed, in 1850, a second edition of the Ottawa first book and a third edition of the hymn book.

A considerable number of hymns in different languages, not included in the above list, were also printed at the Shawano press.

Manuscript, 52 pp. 8°, in the Public Library of Toronto, Canada. Under date of Nov. 15, 1888, Mr. James Bain, jr. chief librarian of that institution, writes me as follows concerning it:

"The manuscript is written on loose sheets, stitched together after being written on, and is interspersed with notes as to quantities and prices of furs and goods. French is employed throughout. It was presented to the library by Fulton St. George, whose father, a French royalist, formed one of a large party of royalists who settled a few miles north of Toronto (then York). After the return to France of most of the settlement, Mr. St. George engaged in business, one branch of which was the purchase of furs. His son says that he was in the habit of taking journeys into the interior to trade, and especially noted one place at the outlet of Lake Simcoe where he regularly opened out his wares. All evidence fixes the date between 1798 & 1805."

Mr. A. F. Chamberlain, in an article in the Folklore Journal, vol. 1. p. 152, says: "It contains, as nearly as I can estimate, some 560 words, some 400 verb-forms and sentences, some dozen or so of proper names and half a dozen snatches of songs. . . . The dialect of the manuscript is undoubtedly that of the Mississaguas of the region between York and Lake Simcoe."

transferred from the original Passamaquoddy very perceptible in this, and I have endeavored to give this form to my version. It is called the Story of Niffon. Niffon was a beautiful girl, the granddaughter of the Rain, who warned her against going to the North. But she disobeys, and when there is frozen. The Rain calls on her warriors, such as the South and West winds with their attendants, who make war on the Cold or North, and finally rescue her. The poem is very vigorous and beautiful.

I.

Songs in Passamaquoddy Indian, with English translation (literal), both by Louis Mitchell, a Passamaquoddy Indian, formerly member of the legislature. The songs are as follows:

M'utch hunt winto wag'n. The Devil's song. This song consists of only 13 words. It is believed to have been sung by the evil spirit at a dance.

Keewaquay M'node. The song of a man who bewails his lonely, desolate condition, having been changed to a giant of the wilderness by sorcery.

Peematt kee poosin. The snake-dance song. Meta malia. A dancing song.

Nolma mea inton aganell. Two songs of barter or exchange sung by the nolmi higan or clowns when articles are exchanged. This is a game, but the goods thus bartered are kept. These are also mentioned as Nol ma me into waganell.

A Mareschite Indian song beginning with the words Tefa Malia clinisyan, etc. (Your name is Maria.)

M'ska nen intoo wagan. Song of salutation, sung by the Passamaquoddy Indians when visited by the Penobscots, Micmacs, or other Indians.

Whip pow less or Bick chess quess. Song of the Whippoorwill.

Wap pee pee. The song of the Wa pee pee, a bird which sings every three hours. Name in English unknown to the transcriber, L. Mitchell.

Chee lau chee lee. The robin's song.

Wol ma me winto wag'n. Song of the porcupine.

Three lullaby songs of about 150 words each. One is sung to a crying babe, one to a babe which is quiet, and the other to make the child asleep.

The lonesome song. Sung by a captive awaiting torture (death song), invoking the Chee pel anqu' or spirit of the night to come and bear him away.

The song of a disappointed lover.

Wiskittapess and Pilsquess. A song of two lovers who became rocks. One of these rocks is the well-known "Friar" at Campobello.

This forms altogether a manuscript of 71 pages, half Indian, of about 120 to 150 words to a page.

Nudénans (Jean Baptiste). Index alphabeticus correspondens Sylva vocum Uanbanakæarum. Et Radicum Uabanakæarum Sylva ex variis veterum recentiorumque manuscript. codicibus collecta et alphab. ordini restitua à J. B. Nudénans, anno 1760. (*)

Manuscript, 216 pp. sm. 4°, preserved at the Roman Catholic Abnaki mission at Pierreville, Canada. Title from Gill (C.), Notes sur de Vieux Manuscrits abenakis, p. 16, where it is entered as nos. 3 and 4 and described as follows:

This work, which I designate by the name of Radicum Sylva, is a dictionary, Abenakis-Latin, of which 116 pp. are Latin-Abenakis, and 100 Abenakis-Latin.

No. 4 is only a copy of the Radicum Sylva, or Abenakis-Latin dictionary, and does not include the alphabetic index, or Latin-Abenakis dictionary; mainly, though not always, in the same handwriting as no. 3, the variant being not so legible as the main portion; written in a large and long book ruled for accounts.

Nudénans, who compiled the work, is evidently the name of an Indian instructed by the Jesuit fathers. No one of his name is now living among the Abenakis of Pierreville, the only name resembling it being that of Annans.

I am informed by Mr. Gilfillan that this is a revised edition of the little Chippewa prayer-book published in 1875; that it was revised by him, assisted whenever any doubt arose by various Indians whom he called to his aid; that it contains perhaps forty hymns which were not in the prayer-book of 1875, and that most of these are from the collections of the Rev. Peter Jones and the Revs. Evans and Henry, though a few, as Nos. 7, 8, and 15, are original translations.

The Church of England mission to the Chippewa Indians at Sault Ste. Marie was begun about the year 1835, under Rev. Mr. McMurray, who was obliged to retire a few years later on account of ill health. The mission then passed into the hands of Rev. Frederick A. O'Meara, LL. D. For many years he was stationed on Great Manitoulin Island in Lake Huron, where the Canadian government endeavored to concentrate the neighboring Indians in 1840 or 1841, after the mission at the south end of Lake Superior had been discontinued.

The following extract from a letter of Rev. J. L. Breck, of the Chippewa mission, Canada West, printed in Bagster's Bible of Every Land (second edition), p. 452, contains a reference to Dr. O'Meara's work: "Whilst the Indian is making gradual improvement in several respects, yet no feature of the mission is so attractive as the religious. The daily Ojibway service is attended, with great regularity, by a large number of Indians who are still pagans; thereby affording us the very best opportunity for instructing them in Christianity. They conform with the greatest apparent interest to all the usages of the Church as regards posture, and are beginning to respond and sing. We use the Anglican Prayer Book, which has been translated into Ojibway by an English missionary, the Rev. Fred. A. O'Meara, D. D., who ministers to the Chippewas on the Manitoulin Islands in Lake Huron. This help, in administering religion to a pagan people, is valuable beyond computation."

Dr. O'Meara was afterwards transferred to Port Hope on Lake Ontario. The exact date of his death has not been ascertained, but it was probably not far from 1870. According to Morgan's Bibliotheca Canadensis, he was also "the author of several tracts in the Ojibwa language," the titles of which have not been found or identified.

Manuscript, 1*l.* and pp. 1-154, 8°, in the library of the Laval University, Quebec. The title is on the recto of the first (unnumbered) leaf, on the verso of which is the French translation of the Ottawa text on the opposite (numbered) page. Throughout the manuscript the versos are in French, the rectos in Ottawa.

The catechism is divided into two parts: the doctrine, and the explanation of the prayers. The first part contains the chapters: De fine religionis, p. 1.—De signo crucis, pp. 2-4.—De Deo, pp. 4-6.—De Deo uno et trino, pp. 6-7.—De Deo incarnato, pp. 7-8.—De Jesu nomine, pp. 8-9.—De Jesus par entibus, p. 9.—De nativitate Jesus et vita, pp. 9-10.—De Jesus morte, p. 11.—De Jesus resurrectione et vulneribus, p. 12.—De Jesus ascensione, pp. 12-13.—De morte, pp. 13-14.—De judicio particulari, de inferno, p. 14.—De paradiso, de purgatorio, de resurrectione et judicio extremo, pp. 15-16.—De peccatis, pp. 16-17.—De sacramentis, pp. 17-18.—De baptismo, pp. 18-20.—De confirmatione, p. 20.—De pœnitentia, pp. 21-26.—De Eucharistia, pp. 27-52.—De Extrema Unctione, pp. 52-53.—De ordine, pp. 53-54.—De matrimonio, pp. 54-57. Verso of p. 57 blank.

The second part has, on the recto of p. 60, the title: De precibus christianis; and contains the following chapters: Enumeration des principales prières chrétiennes, pp. 61-62.—De signo crucis, pp. 63-64.—De Oratione Dominica, pp. 65-83.—Salutatio angelica, pp. 83-91.—Symbolum apostolorum, pp. 91-131.—Dei mandata (the 9th and 10th commandments are omitted), pp. 131-153. The verso of p. 153 is blank.

Within the same covers is another Ottawa manuscript, as follows:

— Prières Outaïses.

the verso of which is blank. The prayers (pp. 1-17) are written on the rectos only, the versos being blank. They begin without heading, with the sign of the cross: In nomine Patris. Then follows the Pater, Ave Maria, and the Credo. The prayers on pp. 3-9 are either without heading or are in Ottawa only. The Angelus, p. 10; the Sub-teum, the Benedicite, the Agimus gratias, pp. 11-14; the prayer for the evening, p. 15; the Memorare, p. 17.

The 5 unnumbered ll., written on both sides, in double columns, contain religious songs; they consist of the Veni Creator, the Pange lingua, hymn for Christmas, for New Year's day, for the Twelfth night, on the Passion of Our Savior, and on His resurrection.

This manuscript is bound with the preceding (Catechism 8ta8as), in a black leather volume, with gold ornaments on the sides, now hardly visible. A few leaves are nearly detached. They are anonymous and undated, and, though not models of calligraphy, are very legible.

Our Forest Children. Vol. 1, No. 1. Shingwauk Home. February, 1887 [-Vol. IV. No. 6. September, 1890].

Edited by Rev. E. F. Wilson, and published monthly at the Shingwauk Home, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario; sm. 4°. No. 10 of vol. 1 is a "Christmas number." In 1888 a "Summer number" appeared—no. 4 of vol. 2; also a "Christmas number"—"no. 10" of vol. 2, although the next issue is numbered 10 also. These special issues are larger than the regular ones, and illustrated. The regular issues consisted of 2 ll. or 4 pp. each until no. 3 of vol. 3 (for June, 1889), when the periodical was made a 16-page illustrated monthly. The first seven numbers of vol. 1 were in size about 6 by 9 inches, and were unpagged; with no. 8 the size was increased to about 8 by 10 inches, and the pages numbered, each issue being pagged independently (1-4) until the beginning of vol. 2, from which a single pagination continues (excepting nos. 4 and 10) to no. 1 of vol. 3 (pp. 1-48), the next no. being pagged 5-8. No. 3 of vol. 3 (June, 1889) begins a new series and a new and continuous pagination (pp. 1-256), each issue since then having 16 pp. 4°, and being provided with a cover. The last issue in hand—that for September, 1890—says: "As has already been announced, this is the last issue of 'Our Forest Children.' Next month, October, will appear the first number of the 'Canadian Indian.'"

This copy differs from the one described above only in the six preliminary leaves. In the title-page the third line, "Beschreibung" is printed in larger type than in the other copy; the word "allerletzt" in the fourth line begins with a small a; and the word "Franckfurt" in the imprint is without the final h. The other preliminary leaves vary in several places in the line endings. The first line on the verso of the second leaf ends with "dasz die e" instead of "dasz diese Pro." as in the other copy; the first line on the verso of the third leaf ends with "an allen Or." instead of "an allen Orten" as in the other; the first line on the verso of the fifth leaf ends with "weniges von" instead of "weniges von der" etc.

Penn's letter, as in the other copy, pp. 123-137.

In 1702 there was printed a supplement to this work entitled "Continuatio Der Beschreibung der Landschaft Pennsylvania," etc., and containing a translation of Gabriel Thomas's account of Pennsylvania, followed by Daniel Falckner's "Curieuse Nachricht." This was bound with some copies of the edition of 1700 described above; and in 1704, when a new edition of Pastorius was printed, the "Continuatio" of 1702 was bound at the end of each copy. For the full title and description of this supplement see Thomas (G.)

Mr. Pickering became celebrated by his philological studies, which gained for him the reputation of being the chief founder of American comparative philology. These he began as a young man, when he accompanied his father on visits to the Six Nations of central New York, and as he grew older they increased by his study abroad until, according to Charles Sumner, he was familiar with the English, French, Portuguese, Italian, Spanish, German, Romaic, Greek, and Latin languages; less familiar, but acquainted, with Dutch, Swedish, Danish, and Hebrew, and had explored with various degrees of care Arabic, Turkish, Syriac, Persian, Coptic, Sanscrit, Chinese, Cochinchinese, Russian, Egyptian hieroglyphics, Malay in several dialects, and particularly the Indian languages of America and the Polynesian islands.—*Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. He spoke both French and English tolerably, and was well acquainted with Skoffie, Micmac, and Mountaineer dialects."—Introductory remarks.

"Even the Micmac vocabulary of Gabriel can not be depended upon, and although he was an Indian boy, yet he was not a Micmac native, but a Montaneer, whose dialect differs widely from the Micmac language. I have examined his vocabulary, and compared it with the manuscripts of Father Menard and with the living Micmacs, and I found it very erroneous. Whatsoever may be his worth in the Mountaineer language, his Micmic is certainly not correct."—Vetromile, manuscript Abnaki dictionary, preface.

A biographical sketch of Mr. Pierson is given at the end of this article. On account of the curious variation in the title-pages of the two varieties of this edition, the following particulars concerning the interpreter named in the above title are inserted here:

Thomas Stanton was born in England about the year 1615. In 1635 he sailed from London to Virginia, and from there to New England, where he was one of the first settlers of the town of Hartford, in Connecticut, founded in 1636. In 1637 he was employed as an interpreter of the Indian language, to accompany the English forces in the expeditions against the Pequot Indians. He was also in the service of the Commissioners of the United Colonies as an occasional interpreter as early as 1644, and was often employed by them in treating with the Indians. In 1650 he was regularly "entertained . . . to attend the meetings of the Commissioners as an Interpreter to the Indians; to gather up the Tribute; and to doe such other services for the Commissioners with Reference to the Indians as might accrew;" for which he was to receive a yearly salary of 30l. out of the tribute paid in.

When Mr. Eliot was preparing his Indian catechism for the press in 1653, the Commissioners recommended "Thomas Stanton to assist in the worke; whoe is the most able Interpreter wee haue in the country for that Language that the worke may bee the more perfectly carried on." In 1656, they "spake with and desired Tho: Stanton to aduise with Mr Peirson about a fitt Season to meet and Translate" his catechism into the Indian language of Connecticut; and in the following year they gave him "a suitable allowance" for having "Improved his skill in healing Mr Person . . .

in Translating a Catechisme." The original title-page of the little book, printed in 1658-59, accordingly contains the words: "Examined, and approved by Thomas Stanton Interpreter-General to the United Colonies for the Indian Language, and by some others of the most able Interp[r]eters amo[n]gst us." In 1657, the Commissioners wrote to the Corporation in England as follows: "wee heare that Thomas Stanton is taken notice of and possibly recorded as a very able Interpreter for the Indian language which is certainly true, and that a sallarie of 50 lb. per annum is appointed for him in England which hee may take vp heer and charge vpon you this may be a mistake but if true wee maruill att it; the Comissioners doe Employ him as Interpreter betwixt themselues and the Indians in ciuill occasions of the Colonies and doe afford him conuenient recompence for the same." At their meeting in September, 1660, it was recorded that, "forasmuch as some of the Tribute is now seased; and the Rest brought in by the Indians themselues as it hath been for some yeares past the Comissioners thought a lesse sallary might be a sufficient Recompence [to Mr. Stanton] for the yeare past and soe for the time to come; and therefore tendered him the sune of ten pounds for this yeare Intimateing to doe the like heerafter onely for his attending the Comissioners meetings; and for other Services to allow him proportionable as hee shalbee Employed which hee not accepting The Comissioners payed him his former sallary of thirty pounds; but declared they were not willing to bee att the like charge for the time to come; and therefore left it to him to doe as hee should see cause." For this reason, probably, his name does not appear in the records of the Commissioners for 1661; but in 1662 and 1663 he was again employed by them on several occasions.

About the year 1658 he removed to Stonington, where he resided until his death in 1678. Of this town he was elected representative in 1666. In 1667, and again in 1671, he was at Southampton on Long Island, where he was employed as Indian interpreter. In 1674 he was one of the founders of the first church in Stonington, over which the Rev. James Noyes was ordained as minister. Mr. Stanton had nine children, of whom the two eldest, Thomas and John, were educated in early life for the Indian work. The latter is mentioned as commander of the New England Indians in the expedition under Major-General Winthrop towards Canada in 1690, and again as an Indian interpreter at New London in 1699 and 1700.

The only other copy of this edition known to be extant has a different title, as follows:

This copy differs from the other only in the title leaf, which has been inserted in place of the original (cancelled) title. In other respects the two copies are of the same edition. The circumstances under which Pierson's catechism was prepared, "At the Motion, and published by the Order of the Commissioners of the United Colonies," and the fact that it was translated with the help of their official interpreter, Thomas Stanton, and was "examined and approved" by him, as also "by some others of the most able Inter. reters amongst us," are fully and explicitly set forth in the records and on the original title-page. With this certain knowledge the new title is at variance. Not only does it not mention the commissioners, who promoted and published the work, but it omits the name of Thomas Stanton, together with the reference to the other interpreters, and in their stead represents Captain John Scott as the sole examiner and approver of the book. It also characterises him as "that Experienced Gentleman (in the Indian Language)"—a statement which appears to have no confirmation, or even mention, in the records or elsewhere. Indeed, so little is known to the credit of "that mischievous adventurer," as he is termed by Dr. Trumbull, that it seems "highly probable that this title page was substituted by himself, or at his motion, and, probably, after the restoration." The alteration of the imprint from "Printed by" to "Printed for" Samuel Green, was more likely to be made in England than in America.

But little is known with certainty of John Scott's early career. According to one account, he was born of "very meane parentage" at a place called Ashford in Kent, probably about the year 1632, and "whilst a boy was brought over by his mother into New England." From his own statements it appears that he was "an unlucky boy," who "would cutt ye souldiers girts of their saddles yt were against ye King and such like tricks, soe yt some of them gott him transported to forraign parts, wher he was a servant many years." He also declared that he was ordered to be sent to New England "under the tuition of one Downing, who dealt most perfidiously" with him. Upon his arrival at Boston, with other children under Downing's care, in September, 1643, he was bound as an apprentice to Lawrence Southwick of Salem, whom he served until 1649 or 1650, part of the time being employed in tending cows. From the records of the general court at Boston in May, 1648, it may be inferred that he was then guilty of some misdemeanor, for his master was obliged to pay certain charges, and Scott was ordered to serve him additional time, "when his time shall be expired," or to make satisfaction in some other way. At the end of his apprenticeship, he was "forced to court any employment to acquire a livelihood, employing himself in and about an island called Long Island," where he "traded for himself and dwelt long with ye natives." In March, 1654, he was arrested on Long Island by the Dutch authorities, and examined with other suspected persons before the council at Fort Amsterdam. In April of the same year, an action of defamation was entered against him in the court at New Haven, but the affair was settled privately. In 1657 he was made a freeman at Southampton, and on December 9th, 1658, was granted a home lot there of three acres, and five other acres, provided he remained three years. His name appears in the records of that town as an attorney at a trial held on the 30th of April, 1660; and again on the 2d of May following as the seller of a tract of land for 40*l*. He also claimed that he had purchased from the Indians a large portion of Long Island; and of this land, Brodhead relates, "he executed numerous conveyances, which, after much litigation, were found to be fraudulent and void."

One of his contemporaries wrote of him a few years later as follows: "Hee having a nimble genius, though otherwise illiterate, with the helpe of a little reading, having a good memory to retaine the same and greater confidence, hee became somewhat above the common people & being weary of home, upon news of the kings restoration in England, hee found meaus to be transported over to London." It has been ascertained that he sailed from New Amsterdam in the ship Eyckenboom, probably in October, 1660. In May of the following year it was falsely reported that the whole of Long Island had been conveyed to him by a new patent from the king. It seems that his petition for that grant had met with some favor; but after the arrival in England of John Winthrop in the autumn of 1661 with a report to the king, decision upon his requests had been postponed, and they were finally denied in 1662. At that time he was called "Captain" John Scott. In April, 1663, while employed as agent for the Atherton company, a body of land speculators from Massachusetts who had laid out a plantation on Narragansett Bay, he wrote that he had used "a parcel of curiosities" to the value of 60*l*. to interest "a potent gentleman" in favor of a petition in the company's behalf. About two months later, in June, 1663, he had another petition before the king, in which he claimed that his father had advanced 14,300*l*. to the cause of Charles I., besides losing his life in the service; that on account of his own loyalty, he himself had been banished to New England, where he had afterwards purchased "near one third part" of Long Island; and that he therefore prayed his Majesty "to bestow upon him the government of the said island and islands adjacent, or libertie to the inhabitants to chuse a governor and assistants yearly." On the failure of this petition, and the announcement of the king's intention to grant Long Island and the neighboring Dutch possessions to his brother the Duke of York, Scott determined to sail for America.

To this period of his career belong some characteristic acts which have been brought to light by the recent researches of Mr. G. D. Scull. While in London, Scott had become acquainted with a Major Gotherson, and also with his wife, whose name was originally Dorothea Scott, of Scott's-Hall in Kent. Having ingratiated himself into their confidence, by claiming a relationship to Mrs. Gotherson's family, he sold to Major Gotherson, in 1662 and 1663, several large tracts of land on Long Island. He also made them liable for large sums of money which he pretended he had paid out on their account, and by these transactions finally ruined their entire estate. When he left England, in the autumn of 1663, he took with him 200*l*. worth of Mrs. Gotherson's jewels which he had fraudulently detained. At the same time he persuaded them to send to New England in his care their only son, a lad about thirteen years of age, whom he afterwards sold into service there, with other young men he had "tempted along with him out of England upon promise of preferment."

His chief object now "was to promote his private interest, in securing the ascendancy of the English over Long Island." On the 23d of November, not long after his return to Long Island, "Colonel" Scott, as he was then called, was again buying land from the Indians. In December he was appointed by the government of Connecticut one of three commissioners, with magistral powers, to settle the difficulties with the Dutch on Long Island. On the 4th of January, 1664, he succeeded in having himself declared "president" of the English towns on the island, to act in that capacity until the Duke of York should take possession. On the 11th and 12th of January, having raised a company of over 150 foot and horse, he invaded Breuckelen and the neighboring Dutch towns "with sounding trumpet, beaten drum, flying colors, great noise and uproar," and proclaimed the English ownership of the land, declaring also that he would run his sword through the body of Stuyvesant, the director general. When he met the Dutch commissioners on the 14th, he exhibited an unsigned writing, "wherein his Majesty of England granted to him the whole of Long Island." A temporary agreement was then made that he should leave the Dutch towns unmolested for a period of one month, which limit was subsequently (February 24th) extended to one year. On account of these and other unwarranted proceedings, the government of Connecticut issued a warrant for Scott's arrest, March 10th, 1664. He was accordingly taken into custody, and on his trial was convicted, May 24th, of the following "Hainous crimes and practises seditious: 1, Speaking words tending to the defamation of the king's majesty; 2, Seditious practices and tumultuous carriages; 3, Abetting and encouraging the natives in hostile parties, one against another; 4, Usurping the authority of the king, pretending to pardon treason; 5, Threatening his majesty's subjects with hanging and banishment; 6, Gross and notorious profanation of God's holy word; 7, Forgery and violation of his solemn oath; 8, Acting treacherously to the colony of Connecticut; 9, Usurping authority upon pretence of a commission; and 10, Calumniating a commissioned officer with the charge of villanous and felonious practices. He was therefore sentenced to pay a fine of 250*l.*, to be imprisoned during the pleasure of the court, and to give 500*l.* bonds for future good behavior. Before July, he had escaped from prison and returned to Long Island, where, in the latter part of August, he joined the English forces under Col. Richard Nicolls before New Amsterdam, with his own company of horse and foot. On the 11th of September, wishing to return to his residence at Ashford on the island, but fearing another arrest from Connecticut, he requested and obtained from Nicolls a passport which protected him from interference.

On the 18th of January, 1665, his name appears as attorney in a trial at Jamaica; and again on the 1st of March in a trial at Hempstead. On February 1st the secretary of Connecticut wrote to Coll. Nicolls, "that Mr. John Scott according to his wonted course is agayne making disturbance amongst the people of Setawkett, by laboring to deprive the people of that place of the land expedient for their subsistance." This complaint was followed by an order of the General Meeting at Hempstead held in March, 1665, "wherein Capt. John Scott was obliged to bring in at the General Court of Assizes following a certain deed or writing called by the said Capt. Scott a Perpetuity with the King's Picture on it, and a great yellow wax seale affix't to it, which hee very frequently shew'd to divers persons and deceived many therewith." Before the court met, however, Scott became alarmed at the prospect of his forgeries being exposed, and deserting his wife and child, he fled to Barbados. On the 4th of October, 1666, Coll. Nicolls issued a special warrant to the high sheriff to seize and confiscate all "Lands, Goods or Chattells the said Capt. John Scott hath any right or pretense unto within this government." At this period it is related that Scott's mother "lived miserable poore in this Government, a poor bankrupt miller's wife till very lately, even next unto want and beggary, scarcely ever looked at or acknowledged by her son in his grandeur here, or ever remembered by him, by letter, token or recommendation." On the 24th of October, Coll. Nicolls wrote to Secretary Morrice, that "formerly the very Original of Mr. Maverick's petition to the King & Councell (concerning the Massachusetts Colony) was stolen out of the Lord Arlington's Office in Whitehall by one Captain John Scott and delivered to Governor and Councell at Boston; This I affirme positively to be true, though when I question'd Scott upon the matter, hee said a Clarke of Mr. Williamsons gave it him. This same Scott by a pretended seale affixed to a writing in which was the King's picture drawne with a pen or black lead, with his Majesties hand Charles R. and subsign'd Henry Bennet, hath horribly abus'd His Majesties honor in these parts, and fledd out of the Country to Barbadoes. My Lord Willoughby sent me word that hee would send the said Scott prisoner into England upon this account and therefore I thought fitt to give you this information against him, that such fellows may have some marke of Infamy put upon them." In another letter of Nicolls, written to the Duke of York, he gave an account of "Capt. Scott who was borne to worke mischief as farre as hee is credited or his parts serve him. This Scott (it seems) aim'd at the same patent which Your Royal Highness hath, and hath since given words out that hee had injury done him by Your Royal Highness, whereupon he contriv'd and betrayed my Lord Berkely and Sir G. Carterett into a designe (contrary to their knowledge) of ruining all the hopes of increase in this Your R. Highness territory, which hee hath fully compleated, unless Your Royal Highness take farther order herein."

After Scott's flight to Barbados, he obtained a commission as Captain, and was engaged in fighting against the Dutch in Tobago. In 1667 he returned to England, and through the influence of his friends, who considered him "a very useful rogue," was appointed geographer to the king, August 29th, 1668. This position he did not hold long, for Coll. Nicolls, on his return to London soon after, told the king, the queen, and the duke enough about Scott to make the latter "forsake Whitehall." He next appeared on the continent, and about the year 1672 was detected in taking sketches of the fortifications of Bruges, and ordered to leave the town within twenty-four hours. In 1673 and 1674 he was in the service of the Dutch in Holland as major and afterwards as colonel. In 1678 he returned to England from France, and shortly after was arrested while in disguise on suspicion of being a spy. His appearance was then described as follows: "Hee has one or both legs crooked, a proper, well-sett man, in a great light cockered Perriwig, rough-visaged, having large haire on his eyebrows, hollow-eyed, a little squinting or a cast with his eye, full-faced about ye cheekes, about 46 years of age, with a Black hatt and in a straight boddy'd coate, cloath colar with silver lace behind." In 1679 he engaged in a conspiracy against the government, as well as against Samuel Pepys and Sir Anthony Deane, both of whom he charged with treason. In 1682 he brutally killed a coachman in London, upon some slight provocation, and was arrested and held for trial. He made his escape, however, and fled to Norway, where he remained until 1696, when he obtained a pardon from the king and returned to England. His later history is unknown, but his descendants are still living on Long Island.

It is probable that the altered title-page of Pierson's catechism, with the words "Examined and approved by that Experienced Gentleman (in the Indian Language) Captain John Scot," was also one of his forgeries—a supposition which is strengthened by the above sketch of his life. Dr. Trumbull was the first to suggest that the substitution of this spurious title "may have been Scott's own device, to give himself, in London, a certificate of position and character, and perhaps add weight to his statements in support of the title of the Narragansett proprietors and of his own claims to lands for which he had procured deeds from Indians on Long Island."

The portion of Pierson's catechism here reprinted comprises the whole of the first sixteen pages (signature A) of the original issue of the edition of 1658, which also breaks off in exactly the same place, with the catchword unk. It is referred to as follows in the prefatory epistle to the first part of the tract: "Two great works we find here further undertaken in order to that service. The one some helps and directions to the Indians how to improve their natural reason unto the knowledg of the true God. The reason why there is so short and imperfect a specimen given of it is, because the ships came away from New-England, before any more of the Copy was wrought off from the presse."

Abraham Pierson—the name was so written by himself and by his son—was born, probably, in Yorkshire, England, about the year 1608. In 1632 he graduated at Trinity College, Cambridge, and, after being ordained a minister, preached for a while at Newark, in the county of Nottingham. He came to New England in 1639 or 1640, and on the 5th of September of the latter year joined the church in Boston. At that time a considerable number of the inhabitants of Lynn, "finding themselves straitened" in their town, had determined to form a new settlement elsewhere. They therefore organized a new church, over which Mr. Pierson was installed as minister in November of the same year. In the following December they removed to the southeast shore of Long Island, and began a new town at Southampton. Mr. Pierson remained there about four years, until the place was brought under the jurisdiction of Connecticut in 1644, when, being dissatisfied with the consequent change in some of the laws relating to church government, he removed with a portion of his congregation to Branford, in New Haven Colony, where a new settlement had already been made. There he organized another church, over which he officiated for more than twenty years.

In that neighborhood, and westward along the northern shore of Long Island Sound, were the settlements of the savages whom Mr. Pierson undertook to Christianize some years later. The Quiripi, or "long water" Indians, as the natives of "these southwest parts" are called by Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, spoke a "dialect having a place between the dialects of Massachusetts, Narragansett, and eastern Connecticut, and those of the Middle States; showing nearer affinity than other New England dialects to the (true) Delaware or Renapi of New Sweden." The names Quinnipiac and Quillipiac, which also belonged to places near New Haven, and signified "long-water land" or country, are thus explained by Dr. Trumbull: "In the Mohegan and Narragansett dialects, the first syllable was pronounced, quin; by the Conn. river Indians, quil; and by the Indians west of the 'long water,' quir." The earliest reference to Mr. Pierson's work among them appears to be in a letter from the Commissioners of the United Colonies to the Corporation in England, dated at New Haven, September 10th, 1651, in which they wrote that "Mr. Leweridge, Mr. Blinman, Mr. Person &c. are studying the language that they may the better treat with them concerning the things of their peace." In another letter, dated September 12th of the same year, and addressed to Mr. Eliot, they wrote: "Mr. Higgenson hath spent som time formerly about the Indian language and Mr. Peirson hath done the like and contineweth with much seriousness therin." In September, 1653, Mr. Rawson was ordered by the Commissioners "to pay Mr. Pearson of Braynford within Newhauen Jurisdiction the summe of twelue pound towards his Charge and paines in fitting himselfe to teache the Indians;" and in September, 1654, it was "agreed that Mr. Pierson for his paines and Charges and fitting himselfe for the Indian Worke shalbee paid fifteen pounds out of the Corporation stocke."

The Commissioners wrote to the Corporation in London, September 25th, 1654, in reference to Mr. Eliot's work among the Indians, as follows:

"one Cattachesme is alreddy printed and Mr Person is preparing another to sute these southwest ptes where the language differs from theirs who lue about the Massacheuesetts." At their meeting in New Plymouth two years later, in September, 1656, "A letter from Mr Pearson of Bramford dated the 25th August last was read and some pte of a Cattichisme by him framed and propounded to convince the Indians by the light of Nature & Reason that there is onely one God who hath made and Gouneth all things &c was considered and the Commissioners advised that it bee pfected and turned into the Narragansett or Pequot language that it may bee the better vnderstood by the Indians in all ptes of the Country and for that purpose they spake with and desired Tho: Stanton to aduise with Mr Pearson about a fitt Season to meet and Translate the same accordingly without any vnesseary delay that it may bee fitted for and sent to the press and they promised him due Satisfaction for his time and paines; it was agreed that Mr Pearson bee allowed fifteen pounds for his paines hee shall take in this worke the yeare Insuing." The catechism was completed and a copy transcribed for the press before the next meeting of the Commissioners in September, 1657, when they wrote to the Corporation on the 19th of that month, that "wee have alsoe Improved his [Mr. Stanton's] skill in healing Mr Person an able and vsefull Instrument for other Indians spirituall good in Translateing a Catichisme Mr Person hath made for their vse and Instruction and as the account will shew haue giuen him a suitable allowance; . . . wee haue alsoe sent you . . . Mr Persons Catichisme; which wee haue desired Mr Ince to Transcribe whome you may please to Improve to overlooke the presse to prevent mistakes especially of the Indian wee desire the worke may bee expedated and that 1500 Coppies bee sent hither to vs by the first oppertunitie."

This catechism, however, never reached England, as the ship which carried it was lost at sea with all on board. The Corporation replied to the Commissioners, April 30, 1658: "As for Mr. Person wee concure with you concerning his fines and Abillitie for the Indians spirituall good; and for the Cattichismes mencioned in your letter of his Composing for their vse and Instruction which wee should haue taken care to haue printed according to your Desire and should haue sent ouer the number mencioned in your letter but wee feare it is miscarryed being sent as wee vnderstand in Mr Garretts shipp which is yett missing; and therefore wee Intreat you to send it ouer by the first oppertunitie." On the 16th of September, 1658, the Commissioners wrote to the Corporation that "Mr Person wee heare is repairing his Catichisme for the presse and is expected heer every day; wee hope to send it you by the next together with this yeares actes which as yett wee haue not had time to perfect;" and again in a letter dated from Boston, September 22d, 1658, they added: "By our last of the 16th Instant wee certified you of our purpose to send Mr. Persons Caticisme by the first opportunitie to bee printed in England since which time it is come to our hands but vpon further consideration in regard of the hazard of sending and difficultie of true printing it without a fitt ouerseer of the presse by one skilled in the language wee haue chosen rather to haue it printed heer and accordingly haue taken order for the same and hope it will be finished within three monthes."

The printing was not begun, probably, until two or three months later, as only the first sheet (sixteen pages, including the title) had been "wrought off from the presse" of Samuel Green at Cambridge, when the ship by which a specimen was sent to England sailed from Boston at the end of December of the same year. This specimen sheet was reprinted for the Corporation in their report entitled "A further Account of the Progresse of the Gospel amongst the Indians in New-England," which was published in London before May, 1659. Although the title of the Cambridge edition is dated 1658, the impression of the catechism was not finished until the autumn or winter of the following year. On the 7th of May, 1659, the Corporation wrote to the Commissioners: "Concerning your printing Mr. Peirsons Caticisme in the Indian language in New England wee concur with your judgments therein Conceiving you haue ordered it for the best; in regard that such errors as may be comited in printing the same will be the better corrected there then they would heer; . . . wee haue thought good to print your last letter with two other letters received from Mr. Endicot and Mr. Elliott; as also the Indians exhortations and the sheet of Caticisme composed by Mr. Pierson all which are printed for publicke satisfaction." To this letter the Commissioners replied from Hartford, September 7th, 1659: "we haue ordered Mr. Vsher to send you forty Copies of Mr. Peirsons Caticisme if finished before the shipes sett sayle; but feare by reason of Mr. Peirsons sicknes the worke may haue bin retarded; and we and you suffer a disapointment; but wee shall endeavor by the next to satisfy your expectations therin." In the account of charges sent with this letter, was one item of 40*l.*, "To Mr. Green for printing the Psalmes and Mr. Peirsons Caticisme." At the meeting held in New Haven in September, 1660, it was resolved that "The Comissioners for the Massachussets are desired and Impowered to account with Mr. Green for the forty pounds payed him the last yeare on account for printing Mr. Peirsons Cattachisme and the Psalmes." The treasurer's account of "Indian stocke" submitted at their next meeting at Plymouth in September, 1661, contained an entry of 5*l.*, "Item by discount with Mr. Green ouer paid on account of printing Mr. Peirsons Catechisme." The present knowledge of the fact that this catechism is not in the Narragansett or Pequot dialect of eastern and southern Connecticut, as might be inferred from the letters and records of the Commissioners, but in that of the Quiripi or southwestern Indians of the same colony, is due entirely to the learned researches of Dr. Trumbull.

The salary paid by the Commissioners to Mr. Pierson for his labor in instructing the Indians was raised from 15*l.* to 20*l.* in 1657, and again to 30*l.* in 1661; but at the meeting in September, 1667, his allowance for services during the year was lowered to 15*l.*, probably on account of his removal from Branford. In 1665, when New Haven Colony was joined to Connecticut, Mr. Pierson again came under the church laws, which led him to remove from Southampton. A large number of the inhabitants of Branford were of the same mind as their pastor, and accordingly in 1666 they united with others of Milford, Guilford, and neighboring towns in founding a new settlement on the banks of the Passaic River, in New Jersey, to which they gave the name of Newark. To the new town Mr. Pierson and his congregation removed, probably in June, 1667, and there he remained as the first minister of the new church until his death, August 9th, 1678. He was succeeded in the ministry by his son, Abraham Pierson, junior, who had been his assistant since 1669, and who afterwards became the first rector of Yale College, in Connecticut, where he died in 1707. After Mr. Pierson's removal from Branford, Mr. James Fitch, senior, the pastor of the church at Norwich, "having gained some understanding in the Indian language," preached to the Indians who lived near him. In a letter to Daniel Gookin, dated November 20th, 1674, he wrote of the result of Mr. Pierson's labors as follows: "Concerning the Indians in this colony and at Long Island, I cannot understand that they have any inclination to learn the knowledge of God: but when Mr. Pierson did frequently try, in the several plantations in this colony, they did generally show an averseness, yea a perverse contempt of the word of God; and at present they will not yield to any settled hearing or attendance upon the ministry of the word."

Pike (Gen. Albert). Vocabularies of the Creek or Muscogee, Uchee, Hitchita, Natchez, Co-os-au-da or Co-as-sat-te, Alabama, and Shawnee. [1861?]]

Manuscript, 56 ll. folio. These vocabularies are arranged in parallel columns for comparison, and contain from 1,500 to 1,700 words each. The manuscript was submitted to Dr. J. H. Trumbull, of Hartford, Conn., for examination, and was by him copied on slips, each containing one English word and its equivalent in the dialects given above, spaces being reserved for other dialects. They were then sent to Mrs. A. E. W. Robertson, then at Tullahassee, Ind. T., who inserted the Chikasaw equivalents.

These manuscripts were formerly in possession of the Smithsonian Institution, later transferred to the Bureau of Ethnology, and finally returned to the author at his request.

Albert Pike, lawyer, born in Boston, Mass., December 29, 1809, and entered Harvard in 1826. In August, 1831, he accompanied a caravan of ten wagons from St. Louis to Santa Fé, where he remained until September, 1832, then went down the Pecos River and into the Staked Plain, then to the head-waters of the Brazos. Finally Pike, with four others, left the company, and reached Fort Smith, Ark., in December. In 1833 he became associate editor of the "Arkansas Advocate." During the Mexican war he commanded a squadron in the regiment of Arkansas mounted volunteers in 1846-'47. At the beginning of the civil war he became Confederate commissioner, negotiating treaties of amity and alliance with several Indian tribes. While thus engaged he was appointed brigadier-general, and organized bodies of Indians, with which he took part in the battles of Pea Ridge and Elkhorn. In 1868 he removed to Washington, D. C., where he practiced his profession in the supreme and district courts. He retired in 1880, and has since devoted his attention to literature and Freemasonry.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Pipe. The | pipe of peace | An Ojebway newspaper, published monthly at | the Shingwauk Home, Sault Ste. Marie [Ontario]. | Vol. I. October 1st. 1878. No. 1 [—Sept. 1st. 1879. No. 12]

Twelve numbers, pp. 1-52; the first issue contained 8 pp. double columns, 8^o; the second and subsequent numbers 4 pp. triple columns, sm. 4^o. Edited by Rev. E. F. Wilson. In the mechanical work Mr. Wilson was assisted by the pupils of the Shingwauk Home.

In the first few numbers some of the Ojebway articles were accompanied by translations in English, the later ones appear entirely in Ojebway except one advertisement in English.

Throughout all the numbers the headings to the articles appear in English. The contents are of a miscellaneous character—the headings in the first number, for instance, being: The new governor-general; England and Turkey; The yellow fever; Editorials; A story from English history; About elephants; Shingwauk catechism; The Indian council at Sarnia; Advertisements.

Though the last number of the volume gives no indication that such was to be the case, the publication ceased with that number.

Six lines of a hymn in the language of the Bay of Quinte Indians on Grape Island [Chippewa], p. 312, with the following statement: "A small hymn book of twelve hymns, translated into the Chippewa, was now printed by the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Society, in New York, and some copies were now [May, 1827] on Grape Island; and the desire to read and sing the hymns stimulated the desire to learn." On the same page Peter Jones is mentioned as spending "twelve days with the natives" on Grape Island. It is probable, therefore, that the translation referred to was made by him.

According to Drake there was no demand for his first reprint (1833) of the "Present state" and its accompanying "Continuation," and it "lay some three years on hand, excepting what were gratuitously distributed." They "were not reprinted (for the first edition [of the Old Indian Chronicle]), as enough of them remained on hand in 1836 to complete the edition of some 250 copies." In order to complete the edition of the Chronicle, of which 500 copies had been printed in all, these two tracts were reprinted shortly afterwards differing in the arrangement of nearly every page from the edition of 1833. The title of this reprint of the "Present state" is as follows:

Preston (Capt. William). [Vocabulary of the Potawatomy, Miami, Delaware, Shawnee, and Cherokee languages.]

Manuscript in possession of the late Col. John Mason Brown, Louisville, Ky. Recorded in a blank book 6½ by 8 inches in size, probably the orderly book of the company commanded by Captain Preston. The date, January 29, 1793, appears on the inside of the cover.

The Potawatomy vocabulary covers three pages, and consists of 72 words and phrases, including the numerals 1-9. This is followed by geographical names in the Miami, which cover one page and give the Indian designation of the Ohio, Kentucky, Kanawha, and other rivers, sixteen in all. The following page is occupied by a similar list in Delaware, and this is followed by a list of words and phrases in the Miami, occupying six pages and containing 139 words and phrases.

Following the last mentioned is a vocabulary of the Shawnee language, with certain remarks on pronunciation of the aspirates and accentuation of syllables. The first page bears date February 7, 1796, at Greenville. There are nineteen pages of this vocabulary. The English words are arranged alphabetically, or approximately so, followed by the Indian equivalents, amounting to 481 words and phrases.

The sixteen geographic names in Miami and Delaware found in this manuscript were published in The Virginias, vol. 6, pp. 166-167, Staunton, Va., 1885, 4°. (Pilling.) The editor of that periodical, Col. Jed. Hotchkiss, then submitted a copy to Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, who supplied some valuable notes on the signification of the Indian names. The vocabulary with Dr. Trumbull's notes was then reprinted in The Industrial South, vol. 6, pp. 19-20, Richmond, Va., January 13, 1886, 4°. (Pilling.)

William Preston, soldier, born in county Donegal, Ireland, 25 December, 1729; died in Montgomery County, Virginia, 28 July, 1783. He became deputy sheriff of Augusta County in 1750; was elected to the house of burgesses and accompanied General Washington on several exploring expeditions in the west. He was appointed one of two commissioners to make a treaty with the Shawnee and Delaware Indians in 1757. He became surveyor of the new county of Montgomery in 1771, and was early engaged in the organization of troops for the Revolutionary war; became colonel in 1775, and led his regiment at Guilford Court-House, S. C., where he received injuries that caused his death in the following July.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Pyræus (Rev. John Christopher). [Hymns in the Mohican language. 1745.] (*)

Title from Reichel's Memorials of the Moravian church, vol. 1, pp. 138-140.

Mr. John W. Jordan, of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, who has interested himself in the Moravian missionaries and their works, writes me as follows: "I examined the Bethlehem diary for the year 1745, and under date of September 18th it is recorded that the first translation of hymns (two) into Mohican, made by Rev. J. C. Pyræus, 'appeared to-day.' They were revised by the convert John, a Mohican from Shecomeco. Prior to this date Pyræus had studied Mohican as well as Mohawk. From the writing of the record I am led to believe that these translated hymns were printed in slips either by Franklin or Saur. I am not able to verify this by the record, unfortunately.

"The Moravian Indians who were sojourning at Bethlehem, Pa., in 1745-'46 caused Pyræus to begin the translation of hymns for a Mohican hymn book, to which other Moravians contributed—J. Martin Mack, David Bruce, and G. Büttner."

— Probe zu einem Gesangbuch der Nationen der Mahikander, Delawares und etliche Verse in der Sprache der 6 Nationen. 1746. (*)

Manuscript, pp. 1-28, sm. 8°.

Title from Mr. A. Glitsch, of the Unitäts-Bibliothek, Herrnhut, Saxony, where the manuscript is preserved.

"Jno. Christopher Pyræus, the Mohawk scholar, was born at Pausa, Voigtland, in 1713. Studied for the ministry at the University of Leipsic between 1733 and 1738. Here he became attached to the Brethren, visited Herrnhut, and accepted an appointment as missionary. Sailed from London in company with Büttner and Zander, and reached Bethlehem October 19, 1740. Commenced the study of the Mohawk at Tulpehocken, in January, 1743, under Weiser's direction. The Brethren having failed to procure a Mohawk Indian from Freehold to instruct in that language such of their number as were set apart for the mission, Pyræus undertook this, and on the 4th of February, 1744, opened his Indian school. In September of 1745 his first translations of hymns into Mohican appeared. This was the beginning of a collection for the use of the mission. In November of 1751 he sailed for England, where he labored until 1770. He next went to Germany, where he died May 28, 1785."—Reichel.

Copies seen: Lenox, Massachusetts Historical Society.

"This translation was made by John Quinney and Capt. Hendrick, who received their [sic] commission from General Washington."

Mr. Brinley's copy (no. 5691), bound with two other tracts, sold for $24, and is now in the Lenox Library. Another copy has since been offered for sale for $50.

John Quinney, to whom this translation is attributed, was an Indian of the Moheakunnuk or Stockbridge tribe who lived about the middle of the eighteenth century. He was probably an assistant or interpreter to Rev. John Sergeant the elder, missionary at Stockbridge from 1735 to 1749, whom he perhaps aided in translating prayers and other works into the Indian language. Nothing has been learned of his personal history; but his descendants were prominent in the later history of the tribe.

His son Joseph Quinney, whose name is also spelled Quan-au-kaunt or Quinequaun', was town constable in 1765; and in 1777, after the death of the sachem Solomon Un-haun-nau-waun-nutt, he was made chief of the Moheakunnuk nation. Another Joseph Quinney, perhaps a son of the former, was chosen deacon of the New Stockbridge church in 1817; and in the following year was one of the leaders in the emigration of his people from the state of New York to a new home in the west. John W. Quinney, born in 1797, and educated at Yorktown, Westchester County, N. Y., was chief of the tribe in 1849-52, while residing on Lake Winnebago in Wisconsin.

The translation of the Assembly's Catechism was probably made by John Quinney under the supervision of the elder Mr. Sergeant. According to the Indian tradition, as preserved by Mr. Schoolcraft in his Bibliographical Catalogue (1849), no. 63, it "is understood to have been done prior to the American Revolution, while this tribe dwelt at Stockbridge, Mass., on the Housatonic River."

From this it may be inferred that there was an earlier edition printed, of which no copy has been found. However that may be, the work must have been thoroughly revised afterwards, and the spelling changed to agree with the language as written in 1795. This is evident from the fact that Dr. Watts's Shorter Catechism for Children, as printed on pp. 27-31, is certainly a revision of Mr. Sergeant's translation made before 1749, although it differs considerably in the orthography, and occasionally in the wording, from that version as printed on pp. 8-15 of the first part of Mr. Sergeant's prayers.

The edition described above was printed for the use of the Moheakunnuk Indians, after they had removed from Stockbridge, Mass., to New Stockbridge, N. Y. It was published without doubt at the instance of Rev. John Sergeant the younger, who also understood the language, and who had been minister of the Indian church since 1775.

At the bottom of page 34 are the words: "The foregoing is printed in the Moheakunnuk, or Stockbridge | Indian Language."

Copies seen: Boston Athenæum, Massachusetts Historical Society, Pilling, Wisconsin Historical Society.

On one of the preliminary blank leaves of the Boston Athenæum copy, which formerly belonged to Mr. Henry R. Schoolcraft, is the following manuscript note:

"This translation was made by John Quinney and Capt. Hendrick who received his commission from General Washington. Little else has ever been translated into the Stockbridge language besides this."

The first twenty-five pages contain an exact reprint of the edition of 1795; the remainder was probably translated by Capt. Hendrick, at the suggestion of Rev. John Sergeant, who died in 1824. The exact date of its publication has not been ascertained; but from the appearance of the paper and the typography, it would seem to belong to the period of the removal of the tribe from New Stockbridge, N. Y., to Indiana in 1818, and to Wisconsin in 1822. Mr. Sergeant wished to have his Indians well supplied with books before their departure. "My people," he writes, March 30, 1818, "can read their own language very fluently, when they pronounce English very indifferently. This will always be the case, so long as they speak their own language in their families." In another letter, dated December 16, 1821, he says: "I am in hopes to obtain copies of Elliot's Bible in the Indian language, and am of opinion, that this Bible will be understood by a good part of the natives in the N. W. Territory."

Captain Hendrick Aupaumut, an Indian of the Stockbridge tribe, was a man of eminence among his people. In personal appearance, "his gait," says one, "and his demeanor, appeared like royalty." He was often employed as interpreter; and in this capacity his "strong memory, his clear, lucid manner, and his mind Quinney (J.) and Aupaumut (H.)—Continued. illumined face," as he conveyed the thoughts of a preacher to his people, are highly praised. His public speeches are spoken of as "always remarkable for perspicuity and sound sense." According to a common custom in the tribe, he dropped the Indian name Aupaumut, and was known as Capt. Hendrick. Since then, Hendrick has been the surname of the family. (Jones's Stockbridge, pp. 119, 120.)

He probably received his commission as Captain from General Washington during the revolutionary war. In 1777, when Joseph Quinney became sachem, he made Hendrick one of his counselors. In 1785 the tribe removed from Stockbridge, Mass., to a tract of land six miles square, given to them by the Oneida Indians, situated in what is now Madison County, New York. There they built the village of New Stockbridge.

Capt. Hendrick is mentioned by Rev. Mr. Kirkland, in a letter to General Knox, dated April 22, 1791, as "one of the chiefs of the Stockbridge tribe." "As you are in a measure a stranger to Captain Hendrick," he continues, "allow me to say, from long personal acquaintance with him, that he is very little inferior to Cornplanter, who himself has a high esteem for the Stockbridge chief." In 1792 the Indians of New Stockbridge and their neighbors of the Six Nations were invited to Philadelphia by President Washington, "that measures might be concerted to impart such of the blessings of civilization as might suit their condition." On this occasion Capt. Hendrick accompanied them, and while there he was employed by the Secretary of War to go on a mission to the western tribes.

In 1809 he formed the plan of collecting all the eastern Indians and settling them on lands near the White River in Indiana, which had been given to this tribe by the Miamis more than a century before. About the same time, when the Stockbridges and Delawares were solicited by Tecumseh and his brother, the Prophet, to join them in a league against the whites, the advice and exertions of Capt. Hendrick kept them aloof. In the war with Great Britain which soon followed, he joined the American army, was favorably noticed, and promoted to office.

In 1816 or 1817 Capt. Hendrick resigned the chieftainship, on account of old age and increasing infirmities. His youngest son, Solomon Aupaumut, or as he was usually called, Solomon U. Hendrick, was made sachem in his stead, but he died a few years later. In September, 1818, the first removal of a part of the tribe took place, from New Stockbridge to Indiana, but the venture was unfortunate. In 1821, under the direction of Chief Solomon Aupaumut, a tract of land was purchased for them on the east side of Fox River, in Wisconsin, about twenty-two miles from its entrance to Green Bay; and to that place they began to emigrate in 1822. Hendrick, however, remained behind until September, 1829, when he too removed to Green Bay with his family. The date of his death has not been ascertained, but it probably happened not long after.

During his residence at New Stockbridge, Capt. Hendrick compiled and wrote in English the traditional history of the "Muh-he-con-nuk Nation." Some fragments of this curious and interesting work have been preserved in Dr. Dwight's Travels (New Haven, 1821-22), and in Jones's Stockbridge (Springfield, 1854).

After the death of Solomon Aupaumut, about the year 1823, John Metoxin was made sachem, which office he held for a dozen or more years. In 1833 and 1834, by treaty with the government, the Stockbridge Indians were obliged to remove from the Fox River to the east side of Lake Winnebago, where the body of the tribe remained until the present reservation was selected for them about seven miles west of Keshena, Shawano County, Wisconsin. In 1839, a company of seventy or eighty individuals separated from the tribe and emigrated to lands set apart for the Delaware Indians, five miles below Fort Leavenworth, on the Missouri River. In May, 1851, the tribe numbered 235, including the little colony in Missouri, which had become reduced to twenty-five or thirty persons. Those who had become citizenized were 71. At that time it was related that "their own language has gone very nearly out of use for want of a native literature, and the English only is taught." In 1881 their number had decreased to 135.

After the removal from New York, the first missionary who visited them at Green Bay was Rev. Jesse Miner, in 1827, but he died about two years later. In 1829 Rev. Cutting Marsh was sent to them as minister, and Mr. Jedediah Stevens and his wife as teachers. In 1834, Rev. Chauncey Hall and Mrs. Hall joined the mission. Mr. Marsh resigned the care of the Indian church in 1849 to Rev. Jeremiah Slingerland, who was a native of the tribe and the adopted son of deacon Joseph Quinney. Mr. Slingerland had received a theological education at Bangor, Maine. He was still minister of the church on the Stockbridge Indian reservation in 1881.

The preface contains the analysis of a word illustrating holophrasis, and ground forms connected with the noun "mkát," a foot.

"The compiler of the following work has been for more than forty years laboring as a missionary among the Micmac Indians. He considered it a matter of prime importance to make himself acquainted with their language, and early set himself to the task, with what few helps he could command; and his success has surprised himself as well as many others. As many as forty thousand of their words have been collected and arranged in alphabetical order. . . . It [this dictionary] is but one portion, and that the smallest and least important portion of the whole work. It is, however, complete by itself, and will give a good idea of the language, and may lead, it is devoutly hoped, to the publication of the larger and more important portion, viz: the Micmac-English, which is ready for the press, or nearly so, and the printing may be begun as soon as the means for defraying the expense is forthcoming. The Dominion Government have paid for the manuscripts of both portions of the work. They have declined to undertake the cost of publishing both portions, but have furnished means of printing the smaller portion—the English-Micmac."—Preface.

The remaining portion of this work, still in manuscript, is as follows:

— [Dictionary of the language of the Micmac Indians. Micmac-English.]

Manuscript, 4 vols. 4°.

The following particulars concerning this work were furnished me by Mr. Rand some time ago, and before he had made an arrangement to have it printed:

"General plan of the work: 1. To record all the words in the language so far as they can be discovered. 2. To give their equivalents in English as correctly as possible, both their primary and secondary significations. 3. To give the principal parts of the verbs—and most of the words in the language are verbs, while all, almost without exception, can assume a verbal form—so that the verb can be conjugated through person and number, mood and tense, and voice. 4. To write the word phonetically, so that the true pronunciation—the real word—may be distinctly seen and heard. 5. To give the compounds to some extent, the most usual ones, and the derivatives, for these are an essential part of the language.

"I have, in the course of about thirty-five years, collected and arranged alphabetically about 30,000 words. I am this winter [1883-4] making it my chief business to complete the correcting and the copying out into a fair hand of the fourth volume of this work.

"You ask the names of my assistants. The meagre outlines of a Micmac Grammar, published some years previous in the Royal Gazette of Charlottetown, P. E. Island, by Mr. Irving [g. v.], who had obtained the manuscripts of a deceased French priest, who had resided in Nova Scotia, L'Abbe Legoyne [g. v.], gave me some—I may say a good deal—of help. Irving died before I could see him, and I could not obtain any of his manuscripts. . . .

"The first man I found who could really help me was a Frenchman named Joseph Brooks, who had resided among the Indians many years. One of his sons, Tom Brooks, became finally one of my most efficient teachers, though he never learned either to read or write. The greater part of my translations and compilations was done with the assistance of Tom Brooks. I had one other clever assistant for several years who could both read and write. His name was Benjamin Christmas, of Cape Breton."

Of the above I have seen only vol. 3, which, with many other of his manuscripts titled below, was kindly sent me by the author that I might describe it.

Rand (S. T.)—Continued.— Micmac catechism.

Manuscript, 38 pp. 16°. Written in a small blank book labeled "Translations from [the Roman Catholic] Indian prayer-book—Micmac. S. T. Rand, Charlottetown." Each question and answer is followed by an English translation, written in an easy style of phonography, more or less of which appears throughout most of Mr. Rand's manuscripts.

This manuscript, together with most of those titled below, was kindly loaned me by its author a few years prior to his death. I do not know into whose hands they have since fallen.

— Micmac Ollendorff. (*).

Manuscript, in the possession of Mr. Hubbard, of Boston, Mass., to whom it was sent by its author, who says: "The Micmac Ollendorff comprises, as near as I can remember, about 400 pages, and consists of a series of questions and answers, facing each other, and numbered off into lessons, à la mode Ollendorff. It is intended as a simple aid to the learning of the language."

Manuscript, 34 ll. 16°. In a blank book, leather cover.

Concerning this work the author wrote me as follows: This is a collection of about 300 words, in which I saw, or fancied I saw when I composed it, a resemblance between many Micmac words and those of other languages, chiefly the Greek. I am under the impression that a comparison conducted on proper etymological

"In hunting among my papers, I have discovered a manuscript that I can not well pass over if you wish a full descriptive catalogue of such unpublished manuscripts as are in my possession referring to our Indians and their language. I send you the copy which I retained.

"This was its origin. When we sent the manuscript of the Book of Psalms, translated into Micmac, to the British and Foreign Bible Society, it occurred to them to inquire whether it had been translated from the Hebrew or from the English. I replied that I had translated directly from the Hebrew, and that while I had made use of the common English version and others, I had not servilely followed it or any of them, but that my version varied from the English in a good many places; I did not know how many. Whereupon I was directed to state all the cases in which the Micmac differed from the English, and to state briefly my reasons. I did so. Then we had a committee of our learned divines of Halifax appointed to examine my paper, over which they spent a good many days. Suggestions were made and amendments proposed, and the dissertation was gone over again carefully and revised, then copied, and sent to London. The publishing committee of the British and Foreign Bible Society expressed themselves well satisfied, and I was sufficiently complimented for the literary aspect of the work, and the book was immediately published."—Rand.

Manuscript, 12 unnumbered pages, followed by four leaves (three of which are blank), 4^o. In possession of Mr. Wilberforce Eames, Brooklyn, N. Y.

This is a transcript, probably, of one of the manuscript Roman Catholic prayer books. Some of the hieroglyphs differ considerably in shape from the same figures in the books printed for Father Kauder. The order of the text also varies somewhat from that of "der kleine Katechismus," printed on pp. 23-27 of Kauder's Katechismus. Each page contains a single column of hieroglyphs, accompanied by the equivalents in roman characters, and in a few places by the English translation.

It consists of a series of familiar questions and answers in the style of the Ollendorff textbooks, the questions in English being on one page and the Indian answers facing them with corresponding numbers. About 50 pages are filled with lists of Maliseet words and grammatical inflections explained in English. The first portion contains the first draft of the tract in Maliseet described above under the title "The ten commandments," etc., with an accompanying list, on the pages opposite, of words and grammatical forms collected while translating the tract. The verbs are generally conjugated fully through the present indicative.

Besides the tract, vocabulary, and grammar, this book contains a translation of the 34th Psalm, a hymn in Penobscot, and another in Maliseet, "both from the Catholic prayer book," and a vocabulary of the Maliseet language, consisting of 90 pages closely written.

"The translating was done for me by a very intelligent Maliseet Indian residing at St. Mary's, opposite Fredericton, N. B., named Gabriel Thomas. The tract was translated from the Micmac, which Gabriel spoke fluently, as he did also the English and his own tongue. But he could neither read nor write. It was my first lesson in Maliseet, and I carefully collected a vocabulary and made a grammar as I went along."—Rand.

Rev. Silas Tertius Rand was born in King's County, Nova Scotia, May 18, 1810. His study of English grammar was not begun until he had reached the age of 22. In April, 1834, he entered the Baptist seminary at Wolfville, where he made some progress in Latin. His stay here was of short duration, but he pushed forward his study of Latin and Greek while working at his trade—that of a stonemason and bricklayer—devoting all his leisure moments to study. That same summer he began to preach. He again attended the Wolfville academy a few weeks during this summer (1834), and still again a few weeks some years subsequently. In the summer of 1836 he commenced the study of Hebrew, which, together with that of Latin

Mr. Rand relates how he was led to the study of the Micmac, as follows: "My attention was directed to the wandering tribes of our own country, and I resolved to acquire a knowledge of the Micmac language. I began the study in the spring of 1846. I got very little help from books. I had to compose my own grammar and vocabulary, and I would have given up the study as a hopeless case had I not come in contact with a Frenchman who had been brought up among the English and had turned Indian when he was a wild young sailor, and who, when I discovered him at Charlottetown, P. E. Island, spoke English, French, and Micmac with equal ease."

In the year 1846 Mr. Rand took up his residence with his family at Charlottetown. In the autumn of 1849 the Micmac missionary society was formed, being formally organized the following year. Mr. Rand engaged to devote his whole time to the work of the mission. For about three years he maintained his residence at Charlottetown, acquiring a more intimate acquaintance with the Micmac language, into which he translated portions of the bible. The society, deeming it desirable to found a missionary establishment, recommended Mr. Rand to proceed to the neighborhood of Hantsport, Nova Scotia, and judge of its eligibility for the purpose contemplated. It was selected, and thither, in November, 1853, Mr. Rand removed with his family. There he made his residence until his death, Oct. 4, 1889. Until 1865 he was connected with and received a salary from the society, but for over twenty years there has been no organized society, and Mr. Rand continued his missionary and linguistic labors without any regular assistance.

Sebastian Rasles. Published from the original manuscript of the author. With an introductory memoir and notes by John Pickering, A. A. S.

In American Acad. Sci. and Arts, Mem. new series, vol. 1, pp. 375-565, Cambridge, 1833, 4^o. (Congress, Eames, Pilling.)

French-Abnaki dictionary, alphabetically arranged, double columns, pp. 377-544.—Addenda (Abnaki-French), pp. 545-546.—Particulae (Abnaki-French), alphabetically arranged, double columns, pp. 547-565. Preceded by a memoir, pp. 370-374, and followed by notes, pp. 566-574, both by Mr. Pickering. The pagination of the manuscript is indicated throughout.

For a separate edition see the Addenda.

In the appendix to his Essay on a uniform orthography for the Indian languages, Mr. Pickering gives the following description of the manuscript of the dictionary:

"The volume consists of two parts, the first of which is a general Dictionary of the language in French and Indian. This part consists of 205 leaves (as they are numbered) about one quarter part of which have writing upon both sides, and the remainder, upon one side only. The pages are divided, though not with regularity throughout, into two columns; the first of French, and the second of Indian, containing each about twenty five lines. The second part of the volume consists of twenty five leaves, almost all written upon both sides, and has this Latin title—'Particulae.' In this part the Indian words are placed first, and the author gives an account of the particulae, making his explanations sometimes in French and sometimes in Latin.

"From a comparison which I have made of several words of the language now spoken by the Penobscot Indians (as we call them) who, at the present time, occupy a small territory on the river Penobscot, it appears to be, as we should naturally expect, exactly the same with that of Râle's Dictionary. A few years ago one page of this Dictionary, containing the Indian numerals, was published in our Massachusetts Historical Collections, vol. x, p. 137; but a very natural mistake, either of the printer or of the transcriber, runs through this extract, in constantly printing ai instead of añ. This error probably arose from the uncommon use of the diæresis, which is here put over a consonant (N) instead of a vowel as is the practice in other languages. Râle seems to have used the diæresis thus in order to point out when the letters an were not to have the nasal sound which they had in the French language."

Mr. Pickering's "Supplementary notes and observations" in the dictionary contain extracts from Father Rasles' letters, a description of the original manuscript, the alphabet used by the author, and comments upon the Abnaki and cognate dialects. From them the following account is taken:

"Father Rasles, in one of his letters, dated at Nanvantsouak (Norridgewock) the 12th of October, 1723, and published in the Lettres Édiifiantes, makes the following general remarks upon the Indian languages and his mode of studying them:

"On the 23d of July, 1689, I embarked at Rochelle; and after a tolerably good voyage of about three months, I arrived at Quebec the 13th of October of the same year. I at once applied myself to the study of the language of our savages. It is very difficult; for it is not sufficient to study the words and their meaning, and to acquire a stock of words and phrases, but we must acquaint ourselves with the turn and arrangement of them as used by the savages; which can only be attained by intercourse and familiarity with these people.

"I then took up my residence in a village of the Abnaki nation, situated in a forest which is only three leagues from Quebec. This village was inhabited by two hundred savages, who were almost all Christians. Their huts were in regular order, much like that of houses in towns; and an enclosure of high and close pickets formed a kind of bulwark which protected them from the incursions of their enemies. . . .

"It was among these people, who pass for the least rude of all our savages, that I went through my apprenticeship as a missionary. My principal occupation was to study their language. It is very difficult to learn, especially when we have only savages for our teachers.

"They have several letters which are sounded wholly from the throat without any motion of the lips; ou, for example, is one of the number, and in writing, we denote this by the figure 8, in order to distinguish it from other characters. I used to spend a part of a day in their huts to hear them talk. It was necessary to give the closest attention, in order to connect what they said and to conjecture their meaning. Sometimes I succeeded, but more frequently I made mistakes; because, not having been trained to the use of their gutturals, I only repeated parts of words, and thus furnished them with occasions of laughing at me. At length, after five months' constant application, I accomplished so much as to understand all their terms; but that was not enough to enable me to express myself so as to satisfy their taste.

"I still had a long progress to make, in order to master the turn and genius of their language, which are altogether different from the turn and genius of our European languages. In order to save time, and to qualify myself to exercise my office, I selected some of the savages, who had the most intelligence and the best style of speaking. I then expressed to them in my rude terms some of the articles in the catechism; and they rendered them for me with all the delicacy of expression of their idiom; these I committed to writing immediately, and thus in a short time I made a Dictionary, and also a Catechism containing the principles and mysteries of religion.'

"The Dictionary here mentioned was, without doubt, the identical manuscript which is now, for the first time, printed in the present volume. The author has left no other account of it; nor has he, either in the work itself or in his Letters given any other explanation of the characters of his alphabet, than the short remark above quoted respecting the sound which he calls a guttur, and which he denotes in his Letter by ou, and the figure 8, but in his Dictionary by the character 8, borrowed from the Greeks.

"The ms. is a small quarto volume, in Father Rasles' own handwriting; and on the first leaf the author has made the following note, which is placed at the head of the present edition: '1691. Il y a un an que je suis parmi les sauvages, je commence à mettre en ordre en forme de dictionnaire les mots que j'apprens.' Immediately below this, on the same page is added, in an old handwriting, the following: 'Taken after the Fight at Norridgewalk among Father Ralle's Papers, and given by the late Col. Heath to Elisha Cooke Esq.—Dictionary of the Norridgewalk Language.' It is understood to have been presented by Mr. Cooke to the Library of Harvard University, to which valuable collection it now belongs.

"Some years ago I gave a bibliographical account of it, which was published in the Memoirs of the American Academy, as an Appendix to an Essay on a Uniform Orthography for the Indian Languages of North America; to which the reader is referred.

"This Dictionary is now printed from the original in Father Rasles' handwriting, and with as much exactness as was practicable. His abbreviations of words are retained, though, in all cases where an unpractised reader of French or Indian would be at a loss, they are explained by printing the abbreviated word or phrase at full length, in brackets, immediately after the abbreviation.

"Lest the numerous errors of orthography and accentuation in the French part of the work should be ascribed to the carelessness or ignorance of the Editor, it is proper to apprise the reader, that such of them as are properly errors, and not the authorized orthography of the age when Rasles compiled his work, have been suffered to remain, from a desire of scrupulously following the manuscript.

"It should be farther observed, that the leading words of each article, which are printed in capitals and between brackets, have been added by the Editor, in order to lessen, in some degree, the extreme inconvenience which would have been experienced in using the work without such aid. In all other instances, also, every addition by the Editor is printed in brackets.

"The manuscript was evidently begun upon the plan of first filling up the right hand pages of the book, and reserving the opposite ones for subsequent additions. Most of these blank pages were afterwards either partly or entirely filled with additional matter; many of them, however, still remain blank. This state of the MS. will explain to the reader the reason why the paging in the margin of the present edition is double, as (2, 3), &c. As the additional words on the left hand pages belonged to different places on the right hand pages and required to be inserted under their respective heads, it would have been impracticable, and contrary to the author's own plan, to have printed the pages consecutively; it was thought best to consider the corresponding right and left pages as constituting a single entire page, and to affix the double numbers as abovementioned. Those readers who may wish to consult the manuscript will now be able to do it with great convenience by means of this marginal paging.

"In general the ms. is fairly written, and perfectly legible; a few places, however, are quite illegible; and, where this is the case, there is of necessity an hiatus in the printed copy; of which the reader is apprized by a series of periods placed in this manner, Where a word was not wholly illegible, but the reading doubtful, a note of interrogation is placed immediately after it, in brackets, thus [?]. Many passages which at first defied the keenest eye-sight were subsequently restored by the application of the tincture of nut-galls. The discovery of numerous obscure readings is due to the critical sagacity of my friend, Mr. Charles Folsom, A. A. S., whose indefatigable care also detected many errors which would otherwise have remained unobserved."

Sebastian Rasle, French missionary, born in Dole, France, in 1658, died in Norridgewock, Me., 12 Aug., 1724. His name is often improperly spelled Raale, Rale, and Râlê. After completing his studies in Dijon, he became a Jesuit, and taught Greek for a time in the college of the society at Nimes. At his request he was attached in 1689 to the missions of Canada, and sailing from La Rochelle, 23 July, he landed at Quebec on 13 Oct. After having charge of various missions [among the Illinois at Missilimakinak, etc.], he was placed in charge of the station of Norridgewock, on Kennebec River about 1695. Here he made a thorough study of the Abenaki language. In the winter of 1705, Capt. Hilton, with a party of 270 men, including forty-five New Englanders, surprised Norridgewock and burned the church, but Rasle escaped to the woods with his papers. When peace was restored in 1713 he set about building a new church at Norridgewock. In January, 1723, a band of 300 men, under Col. Thomas Westbrook, succeeded in reaching the mission, burned the church, and pillaged Rasle's cabin. There they found an iron box, which contained, besides his correspondence with the authorities of Quebec, a valuable dictionary of the Abenaki language in three volumes. In 1724 a party of 208 men from Fort Richmond surprised Norridgewock in the night, killed several Indians, and shot Rasle, who was in the act of escaping, at the foot of the mission cross. His body was afterward mutilated by the incensed soldiery, and left without burial; but when the Abenakis returned a few days later, they buried his remains. In 1833 the citizens of Norridgewock raised a subscription, bought an acre of land on the spot where Rasle fell, and erected there a monument to his memory.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Grindall Rawson, the translator of the two books described above, was born in Boston, January 23, 1659, and died in Mendon, February 6, 1715. He was the youngest son of Mr. Edward Rawson (born 1615, died 1693), secretary of the colony of Massachusetts Bay from 1650 to 1686. In 1678 he was graduated at Harvard College. After studying theology for a while, he began to preach at Mendon in 1680. Four years later he was regularly ordained minister of the church in that town, where he remained until his death.

He began to study the Indian language about the year 1687, with the purpose of preaching in it to the Indians of his neighborhood. In 1689 he revised and prepared for the press Mr. Eliot's Indian translation of Cotton's Sincere Convert ("Sampwutteahae quinnuppekompauaenin"); and in 1691 he published his own translation of Cotton's Spiritual Milk for Babies in Indian. In 1698 Mr. Rawson and Mr. Samuel Danforth were directed by the commissioners for the propagation of the gospel among the Indians in New England to prepare a report on the number and condition of the Indians in the province of Massachusetts Bay. Their visitation was begun on the 30th of May and completed on the 24th of June. The results were embodied in a narrative which was printed in the same year, at the end of Noyes's election sermon, New-Englands Duty and Interest, pp. 80-99, and reprinted in the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society, vol. 10.

About the same time, by order of the commissioners, Mr. Rawson commenced to translate the "Confession of Faith" of 1680 into the Indian language, "a work," he remarks, "never yet attempted by any." The version was completed in November, 1699, and was printed in the same year. In the epistle dedicatory Mr. Rawson says: "How I have discharged the Trust you have committed to me, must be left unto the judgment of those who are well skilled in the language; all that I have to say for my self is, that I have endeavoured to the utter-most of my ability to render the whole as expressively as I could, so that I doubt not but all amongst them though but of an ordinary Capacity, will readily understand the Translation."

At this period Mr. Rawson was receiving a salary of 25*l.* a year for preaching to the Indians. Six other ministers were also in the pay of the commissioners for like services; but with the exception perhaps of Mr. Samuel Danforth of Taunton and Mr. Samuel Treat of Eastham, they probably delivered their sermons through interpreters. "Mr. Grindall Rawson," the Earl of Bellomont writes, in a letter to the Lords of Trade dated Oct. 17, 1700, "is the only Minister in the list that speaks the Indian tongue and preaches in it."

After Mr. Rawson's death, Rev. Cotton Mather delivered a eulogy on his life and labors, which was printed in the tract entitled Just Commemorations, Boston, 1715. "We honoured him," he says, "for his doing the Work of an Evangelist among our Indians, of whose Language he was a Master that had scarce an Equal, and for whose Welfare, his Projections and Performances, were Such as render our loss therein hardly to be repaired." The same book contains some "memorials" of Mr. Rawson, furnished by his widow, from which the following extract is made:

"As for his Labours among the Indians, it was Twenty Seven Years since he undertook the Work. It was thought Two Years was Time little Enough to Learn their Language in. But applying himself to the Business, with Gods Blessing on his Extraordinary Pains, it was not above Nine Months before he Preach'd to the Indians, to their good Understanding. Within Two Years, they removed their Habitations, to be so near him, that for a whole Summer his Custome was, when he came from his own English Congregation on the Lords-day, about five a Clock, to take about half an Hours Repose, and then go to the Indians; and Pray with them, and Preach to them; so that he performed Three Exercises every Lords-day, while he had Strength to attend them."

Mr. Rawson's other publications consist of two election sermons, printed in 1703 and 1709. He had eleven children, one of whom, also named Grindall Rawson (born 1707, died 1777), was a minister in South Hadley from 1733 to 1741, and in Hadlyme, Connecticut, from 1741 to 1745.

For an account of two Indian bibles once owned by Mr. Rawson, see pp. 158-159 and 164 of this bibliography.

In preparing the above translation of the "Confession of Faith" Mr. Rawson was perhaps assisted by Rev. Samuel Treat, of Eastham, who was minister of the church in that town from 1675 until his death in 1717. In a letter to Increase Mather, dated August 23, 1693, Mr. Treat writes: "There are five hundred and five adult persons of Indians within the limits of our township, unto whom, these many years past, I have, from time to time, imparted the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ in their own language, and I truly hope not without success." Mr. James Freeman, in his history of Eastham (Mass. Hist. Coll., viii, 174), gives the following account of Mr. Treat's labors among the Indians: "He had made himself so perfectly acquainted with their barbarous dialect, that he was able to speak, and to write it with great facility. Once in a month he preached in the several villages. At other times the Indian teachers read to their congregations the sermons which he had written for them, they not being permitted to deliver compositions of their own. In addition to these weekly tasks, he was at the pains to translate the Confession of Faith into the Nauset language, for the edification of his converts. The book was printed, and many years ago was in the possession of one of his grand-daughters [Miss Eunice Paine]."

Ridout (Thomas). [Vocabulary of the Shawanese language.]

Manuscript, 8 ll. 12°, in possession of the grand-daughter of its author, Mrs. M. Edgar, Toronto, Canada, who kindly sent it to me for examination. The recto of the first leaf is blank; the vocabulary, with no apparent arrangement, and without introduction of any kind, begins on the verso of the 1st leaf and extends to the verso of the 6th leaf, and consists of about 225 words and phrases. On the recto of the 7th leaf at the top (verso blank) is the following note: "This little book of Shawanese words was written by me when I was a prisoner amongst that nation in the year 1788.—Th: Ridout." The recto of the 8th leaf is scribbled upon in English and Shawanese, and the verso is blank.

The following is an extract from Mrs. Edgar's letter transmitting the vocabulary:

"I have two vocabularies, one containing about 200 words, the other about 400, of which some are the same as in the smaller book. The story of the way in which the dictionary was written is contained in a manuscript narrative written by my grandfather, Thomas Ridout, and containing an account of his capture by the Shawanese Indians and his life among them during the spring and summer of 1788. I quote his own words:

"I had by this time acquired a tolerable knowledge of their language, and began to understand them, as well as to make myself intelligible.

"My mistress loved her dish of Tea, and with the tea paper I made a book stitched with the bark of a tree, and with yellow ink of hickory ashes mixed with a little water, and a pen made with a Turkey quill, I wrote down the Indian name of visible objects. In this manner I wrote two little books, which I carried in a pocket torn from my breeches and worn around my waist tied by a piece of Elm Bark."

"One of these little books I enclose to you by registered letter, hoping it may not be lost on the way.

"The other and larger vocabulary is written in Mr. Ridout's diary, which book was restored to him by the Indians. I am now compiling my grandfather's and father's letters, and thought of putting the narrative of his capture as an appendix to the book, meaning to include also the dictionary of Shawanese words. I am therefore sending you the book for your private perusal."

Mr. Ridout died at Toronto February 8, 1829, in the 75th year of his age.

Manuscript; title, 9 pp. of contents in German and English, text 268 pp. in the Unami dialect of the Lenape, 4°. A fragment, formerly in possession of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia. Title from Brinton's Lenapé and their legends, p. 79, whence I take the following remarks concerning the work and its author:

"Roth has left us a most important work, and one hitherto entirely unknown to bibliographers. He made an especial study of the Unami dialect of the Lenape, and composed in it an extensive religious work, of which only the fifth part remains." On pp. 80-83 of the work quoted, Dr. Brinton gives an extract from this manuscript consisting of Matthew xxii, 1-14, with English translation interlined; and from pp. 78-79 of the same work I extract the following paragraph:

"Another competent Lenapist was the Rev. Johannes Roth. He was born in Prussia in 1726 and educated a Catholic. Joining the Moravians in 1748, he emigrated to America in 1756, and in 1759 took charge of the missionary station called Schechsichuanuk, on the west bank of the Susquehanna, opposite and a little below Shesequin, in Bradford County, Penn, sylvania. There he remained until 1772, when with his flock, fifty-three in number, he proceeded to the new Gnaddenhütten, in Ohio. In 1774 he returned to Pennsylvania, and after occupying various pastorates, he died at York, July 22, 1791."

I presume this manuscript has been returned to the Moravian authorities at Bethlehem, from whom it was borrowed by the American Philosophical Society; at any rate I was unable to find it during a visit to the library of the society in March, 1889.

Schmick (Johannes Jac.) Miscellanea linguæ nationis Indicæ Mahikan dictæ, curesa susceptâ à Joh. Jac. Schmick. (*)

Manuscript, 2 vols. sm. 8°, formerly in the library of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia, Pa., from the catalogue of which, p. 1005, I have taken the above title.

Dr. Brinton, in The Lenape and their legends, p. 22, foot-note, says: "Schmick was a Moravian missionary, born in 1714, died 1778. He acquired the Mohegan dialect among the converts at Gnadenhütten. His work is without date, but may be placed at about 1765. It is grammatical rather than lexicographical, and offers numerous verbal forms and familiar phrases.

During a visit to the library of the American Philosophical Society in March, 1889, I was unable to find this manuscript. It has probably been returned to the Moravian authorities at Bethlehem, from whom it was borrowed.

This work is entirely made up from the stereotype plates of the same author's Oneôta. No part of the text was reset. By cutting some of the plates and fitting them together, the several articles of each series were made continuous. The selection and arrangement, however, were very carelessly done. Some articles were cut off in the middle of a sentence, or divided and inserted in different places. In one of the linguistic articles (pp. 266-288), one entire page belonging before 288 was omitted, and two other pages (286 and 287) were transposed. None of these errors and omissions are corrected in the later editions of 1848, 1851, and 1853, described below.

The following list of pages in this edition gives the corresponding pages of Oneôta in parentheses: 5-9 (22-26 upper part), 10-16 (66-72 upper part), 17-22 (148-153 upper part), 23-29 (267-273), 30-40 (364-374 upper part), 41-50 (109-118 upper part), 51-56 (173-178 upper part), 57-63 (200-206), 64-70 (lower part of 129-135 upper part), 71-77 (lower part of 193-199 upper part), 78 (191 upper part), 79-86 (5-12), 87-94 (50-57),

Henry Rowe Schoolcraft, ethnologist, born in [Watervliet] Albany county, N. Y., 28 March, 1793; died in Washington, D. C., 10 December, 1864. Was educated at Middlebury college, Vermont, and at Union, where he pursued the studies of chemistry and mineralogy. In 1817-'18 he traveled in Missouri and Arkansas, and returned with a large collection of geological and mineralogical specimens. In 1820 he was appointed geologist to Gen. Lewis Cass's exploring expedition to Lake Superior and the headwaters of Mississippi river. He was secretary of a commission to treat with the Indians at Chicago, and, after a journey through Illinois and along Wabash and Miami rivers, was in 1822 appointed Indian agent for the tribes of the lake region, establishing himself at Sault Sainte Marie, and afterward at Mackinaw, where, in 1823, he married Jane Johnston, granddaughter of Waboojee, a noted Ojibway chief, who had received her education in Europe. In 1828 he founded the Michigan historical society, and in 1831 the Algic society. From 1828 till 1832 he was a member of the territorial legislature of Michigan. In 1832 he led a government expedition, which followed the Mississippi river up to its source in Itasca lake. In 1836 he negotiated a treaty with the Indians on the upper lakes for the cession to the United States of 16,000,000 acres of their lands. He was then appointed acting superintendent of Indian affairs, and in 1839 chief disbursing agent for the northern department. On his return from Europe in 1842 he made a tour through western Virginia, Ohio, and Canada. He was appointed by the New York legislature in 1845 a commissioner to take the census of the Indians in the state, and collect information concerning the Six Nations. After the performance of this task, congress authorized him, on 3 March, 1847, to obtain through the Indian bureau reports relating to all the Indian tribes of the country, and to collate and edit the information. In this work he spent the remaining years of his life. Through his influence many laws were enacted for the protection and benefit of the Indians. Numerous scientific societies in the United States and Europe elected him to membership, and the University of Geneva gave him the degree of LL.D. in 1846. He was the author of numerous poems, lectures, and reports on Indian subjects, besides thirty-one larger works. Two of his lectures before the Algic society at Detroit on the "Grammatical Construction of the Indian Languages" were translated into French by Peter S. Duponceau, and gained for their author a gold medal from the French institute. . . .

To the five volumes of Indian researches compiled under the direction of the war department he added a sixth, containing the post-Columbian history of the Indians and of their relations with Europeans (Philadelphia, 1857). He had collected material for two additional volumes, but the government suddenly suspended the publication of the work.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

A copy bound in mottled calf was sold with the library of Royal Woodward, Esq., of Albany, at New York, December 8, 1884 (no. 1239), for $21, Mr. Charles L. Woodward being the purchaser. It now belongs to Mr. John B. Dunbar. In the Memorial History of Boston, vol. 1 (1880), Dr. Trumbull says: "I know of only two copies: one in the library of the Essex Institute, Salem, the other belonging to Hon. Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn, N. Y." The copy here referred to as in Mr. Murphy's possession does not appear in the sale catalogue of that gentleman's library, which was sold by auction at New York, in March, 1884.

These two tracts in the Mohegan or Moheakunnuk language (15 and 23 pp.) were issued together, stitched in paper covers, without title or colophon. They were first identified as the work of Rev. John Sergeant by Dr. J. H. Trumbull, in volume I of the Memorial History of Boston, Boston, 1880. When Dr. Trumbull's essay on the "Origin and Early Progress of Indian Missions in New England" was read before the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester, in October, 1873, their existence appears to have been unknown.

In the sketch of Mr. Sergeant's life given below it is stated that he translated these prayers, etc., "by the Help of Interpreters." One of these assistants was probably John Quinney, or Quan-au-kaunt, whose translation of the Assembly's Shorter Catechism into the same language was printed in 1795. That publication also contains, on pp. 27-31, a revision in slightly different orthography of Mr. Sergeant's version of Dr. Watts's Shorter Catechism for Children, first printed with the above prayers. Although the Assembly's Shorter Catechism is not included in the list of Mr. Sergeant's translations, it is probable that this version of it was originally prepared under his supervision. For an account of it see Quinney (J.)

John Sergeant, whose grandfather was one of the first settlers of Newark, New Jersey, in 1666, was born in that town in 1710. A few years later his father died, and his mother was married again to a Col. John Cooper. By an accident the lad was deprived of the use of one of his hands, which rendered him unfit for manual labor. On this account his stepfather resolved to give him a liberal education. In September, 1725, John was sent to Yale College in New Haven, where he graduated in 1729 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Three years later the degree of Master of Arts was also conferred upon him. In 1731 he was made a tutor in the college, which position he held for about four years.

At this time the Muhhekaneok or Mohegan Indians, commonly called the River Indians, were the largest tribe of any near the English settlements in New England. They dwelt mostly along the eastern border of New York, partly in the northwest corner of Connecticut, and in the southwest part of Massachusetts, on Housatunnuk river.

In July, 1734, proposals were made to send a missionary to the Indians of the last-named place, under the direction of the Honorable Commissioners for Indian Affairs at Boston, and at the expense of the Society for the propagation of the gospel in foreign parts. Mr. Sergeant was also recommended as a fit person to undertake the work. The conditions having been arranged, he was appointed to go to them in the following September, at a salary of 100*l.* a year. In October and November, 1734, and again in May, 1735, he made two preliminary visits to Housatunnuk, and preached to the natives through an interpreter. Their number, great and small, was then short of fifty. In July, 1735, on the termination of his official labors at the college, Mr. Sergeant determined "to spend the Rest of the Summer, and indeed of his Life, with the Indians." On the 31st of August, he was regularly ordained to the ministry, and his salary as missionary was raised to 150*l.* An assistant, Mr. Timothy Woodbridge, had already been engaged to aid him in the work of teaching and catechizing.

Mr. Sergeant now commenced his missionary labors at Housatunnuk in earnest, and before the close of the year had baptized nearly forty persons. He "soon became sensible," Mr. Hopkins relates, "that the Method he was at first oblig'd to use of instructing the Indians by an Interpreter, would not answer his End." He therefore entered upon "the new and difficult Study of their Tongue, and prosecuted it with utmost Application. He found it, upon Trial, extremely difficult to learn, being entirely different from any Language he was acquainted with; and often express'd his Fears, that he should never be able to make himself Master of it." Perseverance, however, soon brought its reward. By the middle of February, 1736, he was able to pray with the Indians in their own language. In March, 1736, when the Indians went on their annual trip into the woods to make maple sugar, Mr. Sergeant accompanied them and stayed in their camp six weeks. "I was treated very well," he writes, "while I was with them; and learn'd more of their Manners, and Language, than ever I had before." During this period he was "employ'd, in the Day Time, in teaching the Children to read; and in the Evening he taught the Indians to sing, in which they took great Delight. He pray'd with them Morning and Evening, in their own Language, and said Grace before, and after Meat, in the same. He also preach'd to them on the Sabbath by an Interpreter, and pray'd in their own Language; which he began to do on February 18th, and continu'd it ever after. For they being desirous, that Prayers might be made in their own Language, Mr. Sergeant (by the Assistance of Interpreters) had compos'd Prayers for such Occasions, in the Indian Language."

In April, 1736, "the General Court granted to the Indians a Township, six Miles square, above the Mountain; comprizing in it Wnahktukook, or the Great-Meadow." Here a new town was laid out, which was named Stockbridge, and to this place the Indians removed in May. At the suggestion of Mr. Sergeant, accommodation was made for several English families, partly that he "might have the Comfort of their Neighbourhood, and Society; but especially to civilize and anglicize the Indians, and to be a Help to them in their secular Affairs." The number of Indian inhabitants in June was upwards of ninety, of whom fifty-two had been baptized. Mr. Sergeant had hitherto lived in English families, below the mountain, but in January, 1737, he also moved up into the Indian town, and lived with Mr. Woodbridge. Under the date of August, 1737, it is related that as he "had, by the Help of Interpreters, before this, translated some Prayers into the Indian Language, for their daily use; so now he had translated Dr. Watt's first Catechism into the Indian Tongue, that the Children might understandingly read and learn it." About the same time he also translated the form for marriage into Indian.

On the 7th of August, 1737, according to Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Sergeant began to preach to the Indians in their own language, "by the Assistance of an Interpreter; who aided him in the Translation of his Sermons. And, in about two Years more, by constant Use, he obtain'd an exact Pronunciation of their Tongue, tho' very hard to gain; so that the Indians were wont to say, Our Minister speaks our Language better than we ourselves can do." In August, 1739, he was married. Ninety Indians attended the wedding, and conducted themselves with great gravity and propriety.

Besides attending to his own charge at Stockbridge, Mr. Sergeant visited the Indians in many other places, both in Connecticut and Massachusetts. In May and June, 1741, he undertook a missionary journey to the Shawanoes on Susquehanna river, and also to the Delawares on Delaware river, in the province of Pennsylvania, the villages of the former being about 220 miles distant from Stockbridge. On the 6th of May, 1743, he wrote concerning the progress of the Indian boys in their studies, that one of them in particular had made extraordinary progress in his learning, and appeared truly pious, and had been singularly serviceable to him, "assisting him in his Translations, Expositions and Application; of the Scripture." In 1743 and 1744, Mr. David Brainerd, the young missionary, visited Stockbridge several times, for the purpose of studying the Indian language with Mr. Sergeant.

In a letter dated January 22, 1747, Mr. Sergeant wrote: "It is now a little more than eleven Years since I was first settled in this Part of the Country, with a Design to proselittle the Indians to the Christian Faith. Having spent Part of the foregoing Year with them, in two Visits I made them, I found such Encouragement as induced me to devote myself to this Service: And have now, with a great deal of Pains, gain'd such an Acquaintance with their barbarous Language as to converse with them in it; and with a little Assistance, in my Study, from an Interpreter, to preach to them, and to read Prayers, which I have composed for the publick Worship, which they attend as constantly as People generally do in English Assemblies. Their Language is extremely hard to learn, and perhaps I shall never be a thoro' Master of it; there never having been any European that ever was, except one or two, and they learn'd it when they were Children. But the young People among them learn English well; most of them in this Place understand a great deal of it, and some speak it freely & correctly. There are many that can read English well, and some are able to write. When I came into these Parts first they were much dispersed, four or five Families in a Place, and often moving from Place to Place. They are now gathered together at this Place, and are much more fixed than they used to be. Instead of their Bark Hutts, they own seventeen English Houses, fifteen of which they have built themselves at their own Cost, and some of them are comfortably furnished with Household Stuff. There were in this Place but eight or ten Families when I first came, we now reckon near Fifty besides old People & transient young Persons."

As Mr. Sergeant had a mixed auditory, "he was obliged," as Mr. Hopkins relates, "on each Part of every Lord's-Day, both to pray and preach in the English and Indian Language, that all might profit by his Ministry." "He was oblig'd to compose four Sermons every Week, two for the English, and two for the Indians; his Congregation consisting of both. Those he prepar'd for the Indians, he first wrote at large in English, and then translated them into the Indian Tongue, as he also did a Portion of Scripture to be read to the Indians on the Sabbath," and that he might "be very exact, he did, for a considerable Time, keep an Interpreter by him two Days in a Week, at his own Cost, to assist him in the Translation of his Sermons into the Indian Tongue.

"His Manner was to begin the publick Exercise in the Morning, with a short pathetic Prayer for a Blessing on the Word, in both Languages. Then he read a Portion of Scripture, with explanatory Notes and Observations, on such Passages as seem'd most to need them, in both. All his publick Prayers & the Communion Service were in both Languages; and it was his steady Practice to preach four Sermons every Lord's-Day, two to the English and two to the Indians; except in the short Days and cold Season of the Winter he preach'd but three, one to the English and two to the Indians. And besides all this, it was his constant Custom, in the Summer Season, to spend about an Hour with the Indians, after divine Service was over in the Afternoon; instructing, exhorting, warning and cautioning of them in a free, familiar and pathetic Manner, in their own Tongue. The Indian Language abounding in Gutturals renders the Pronunciation of it a most laborious Exercise to the Lungs: that therefore, with his other Exercises, so exhausted Mr. Sergeant's Spirits and Strength, that he was scarcely able to speak when they were over."

"The Translation, which, with much Care and Exactness, Mr. Sergeant made in his Course of Reading the Scriptures to the Indians, singly consider'd, cost him a vast Deal of Labour: for, endeavouring to lead them into the Knowledge of the Way of Salvation by Christ, to which they were utter Strangers, He, in his Course of reading the Scriptures to them, translated those Parts of the old Testament, which appear'd most needful for that End, viz. The Account of the Creation, of the Fall of our first Parents, of God's calling Abraham, of his Dealings with the Patriarchs and the Children of Israel, of the Prophecies concerning the Coming of Christ, &c. the four Evangelists, the Acts of the Apostles and all the Epistles, he also translated. A Performance which must of Necessity cost him much Time and Pains."

Besides the Indian Prayers described above, Mr. Sergeant was the author of a sermon preached at Springfield before the associated ministers of the county of Hampshire, and of a letter containing a "Proposal of a more effectual Method for the Education of Indian Children," both of which were printed at Boston in 1743: In the latter part of June, 1749, he was taken ill with "a Nervous Fever, attended with a Canker and an Inflammation in his Throat," which terminated fatally. He died on the 27th of July, at the age of thirty-nine years. At that time the number of Indians in Stockbridge had increased to two hundred and eighteen, one hundred and eighty-two persons had been baptized, and the church contained forty-two native communicants. The school under Mr. Woodbridge's care had belonging to it fifty-five Indian scholars. Mr. Sergeant left three children, Electa (born 1740, died 1798), Erastus (born 1742, died 1814), and John (born 1747, died 1824). His widow died in 1791, aged sixty-nine.

An account of this mission, written by Rev. Samuel Hopkins, was printed at Boston in 1753, with the following title: "Historical Memoirs, Relating to the Housatunnuk In-

John Sergeant, son of the missionary of the same name, was born at Stockbridge, Mass., in 1747, and died near New Stockbridge, N. Y., Sept. 8, 1824, aged seventy-seven years. When he was about two years of age his father died, and in 1752 his mother was married again, to Gen. Joseph Dwight, who died in 1765. The first ten or dozen years of his life were spent in Stockbridge among the Indians, from whom he acquired that knowledge of the Mohagan or Moheakunnuk language which was so useful to him in later years. He attended school for a while at Newark, N. J., and then returned to his native town, where he studied theology under Rev. Mr. West, minister of the church there. In 1775, although without college honors, he was judged to be fully qualified to preach the gospel.

After the death of the elder Mr. Sergeant, in July, 1749, the Stockbridge Indians were without a minister for two years. In August, 1751, Rev. Jonathan Edwards was installed as pastor. He did not attempt to learn the Indian language, believing it better for the Indians to learn English. His sermons to them were therefore delivered through an interpreter. In January, 1758, he left Stockbridge to accept the presidency of the College of New Jersey at Princeton, but in the following March he died. For about a year Rev. Mr. Stoddard ministered to the church, and in 1759 Rev. Stephen West became its pastor. In 1775 Mr. West resigned the care of the Indian portion of his congregation to young Mr. Sergeant, whose knowledge of the language peculiarly fitted him for that work. From that time Mr. Sergeant received the salary of the missionary, and Mr. West was supported by the whites as pastor only.

For the next ten years Mr. Sergeant ministered to the Indian congregation, and taught in the Indian school, which had been kept separate from the school for white children since 1760. In 1785 the Stockbridge Indians removed from Massachusetts to land given to them by the Oneidas in New York state, where they built the village of New Stockbridge. Mr. Sergeant did not accompany them, but remained behind. In the following year, however, he visited the new town with the intention of staying there to preach, and leaving his family in Massachusetts. With a view to his mission among them, he was duly ordained as an evangelist in 1788, at a salary of four hundred dollars a year. In the meantime the Rev. Samsou Occom, a Mohegan Indian, had visited the people of New Stockbridge, and made known his desire to be their minister. This resulted in a division, and the formation of two Indian churches, one party, with the Brotherton Indians, choosing Mr. Occom for their pastor, and the other party remaining under Mr. Sergeant's care. Mr. Occom died in 1792, and then the two churches were united.

Mr. Sergeant's ministry at New Stockbridge lasted nearly thirty-eight years. A few years after he first commenced his work there he built a frame house and removed his family to it. The farm on which the mission house stood, about fifty acres, was set off for his use by the Indians. The church was built by the Missionary Society, and would accommodate five hundred persons. The mission was supported, in part, by the Scotch Society for the propagation of the gospel, in part by the Corporation of Harvard College, and in part by the American Society for propagating the gospel among the Indians and others in North America. For a while Mr. Sergeant employed white men to teach, for the benefit of his own children; but, with this exception, the Indians taught and sustained their own schools. Some of the Indian girls, however, were afterwards educated at Clinton, and some of the boys at the Cornwall school in Connecticut.

In 1795 there was printed at Stockbridge an edition of the Assembly's Shorter Catechism in the Mohegan language, with Dr. Watts's Shorter catechism for children at the end. It was published without doubt under the direction of Mr. Sergeant, and was intended for the use of the Indians under his care. For an account of the book see Quinney (J.).

During the residence of the Stockbridge Indians in the State of New York, Mr. Sergeant prepared for their use a code of laws. Two of his daughters were also active in the mission work, and one of them started an Indian temperance society. The neighboring Oneidas and Tuscaroras also attended the New Stockbridge church, and were addressed by Mr. Sergeant through their interpreter, Capt. Nicholas Cusick, father of David Cusick, the Indian historian. In 1822 Dr. Morse wrote of the Stockbridge Indians (Report, appendix, p. 86), as follows: "Mr. Sergeant preaches to them regularly on the Sabbath, usually in their own, the Moheakunnuck language. Most of them understand English; numbers can read and write it, and several are able to instruct others. They are more advanced in the knowledge of our language, and in civilization, than any Indians in our country; and many of them are capable of rendering essential service in accomplishing the plan of the government in respect to other tribes."

In 1818, so great had become the evil of vicinity to the whites, that preparations were made for a general removal. Before the end of the year a company of seventy or eighty persons, including about one-third of the New Stockbridge church, emigrated to Indiana. Another large party removed to the Fox river, near Green Bay, Wisconsin, in 1822. A new edition of the Assembly's shorter catechism, in the "Moheakunnuck or Stockbridge Indian language," was printed about this time, probably before the second removal in 1822. Mr. Sergeant wished to have his people supplied with useful books before their departure, and endeavored to procure a quantity of Eliot's Indian bibles for them to distribute. He himself was not able to go with them, on account of failing health, but his son accompanied them to their final destination, and saw them settled in their new homes.

Printed by Jotham Meeker until 1837, and by Mr. J. G. Pratt from 1837 to 1839, when it was discontinued on account of the illness of the printer and his family. The following account is given of it in McCoy's History of Baptist Indian Missions:

"March 1st, 1835, the first number of a semi-monthly newspaper, printed at the Shawanoë mission house, in the Shawanoë language, was issued. This was the first newspaper ever published exclusively in an Indian language. It was entitled Shau-wau-nowe Kesauthwau, (Shawanoë Sun.) It was small, only a quarter sheet, was written upon the new system, and edited by Mr. Lykins. The disadvantages under which it was prepared for the press were great, and the labour considerable; which accounts for its diminutive size.

"Many of the Shawanoës had, by this time, become readers of their own language, and in this periodical they soon took a deep interest, and sometimes contributed matter for it from their own pens. These writers were adults, who lately had been wholly ignorant of letters in any language, and who had recently learned to read and write their own. This they had done without regular attendance or instruction, which, in their circumstances, could only be imparted by occasional visits. The facility with which they acquired a knowledge of reading, and some of them of writing, was alone attributable to the simplicity of the new system."

In another part of the same book, under the year 1839, Mr. McCoy adds: "There was issued, until late difficulties occasioned a suspension, a small monthly paper, of only a quarter sheet, edited by Mr. Lykins, entitled 'Shawanoë Kesauthwau — Shawanoë Sun.'"

Silvy (Père Antonio). [Dictionary of the Montagnais language. 1678-1688?] (*)

Manuscript, 104 ll. 12°, of the 17th century. Alphabetically arranged; irregularly paged, some leaves numbered, others not. The handwriting is extremely fine and small, but fairly legible. The margins are covered with signs and points, such as crosses, bars, angles, etc., but there is no key to these to determine their meaning. Bound in caribou leather.

In 1885 I was furnished by the Abbé Sasseville of St. Foy, Quebec, with a minutely detailed description of the above manuscript and of one by Père Allouez (q. v.), both belonging to Surgeon-Major Neilson, of Kingston, Canada. Since then these descriptions have been published (see Sasseville (J.) and Shea (J. G.)), and from that publication I have condensed the above, and made the following extracts:

"This manuscript is of particular interest to those philologists who devote themselves to the study of the primitive languages spoken by the savages of North America.

When in 1800 the British government took possession of their property after the death of the last survivor of the Jesuit order in Canada, Father Cazot, their library was sold at auction, and the Honorable John Neilson became the possessor of a number of volumes, among which was found, by a happy accident, the manuscript [by Allouez] which we have analyzed in the preceding pages and the Montagnais dictionary, not less precious, the description of which is found on the opposite page.

"There is no date or hint as to the date when the manuscript was composed. But in following the career of Father Silvy, it may be assumed that this work was done during his stay in the Montagnais missions of Tadoussac and Hudson Bay, since this dictionary reproduces the language of his neophytes.

"The date of the manuscript may therefore with some reason be placed between the years 1678 and 1688."

Manuscript, ll. 1-11, and 43 unnumbered ll. sm. 4°. in the library of the archbishopric of Quebec. The title above is on the recto of the first leaf, verso blank, the text beginning on the recto of l. 2. The headings are as follows: De fine nominis, 11 pp. followed by a French translation, 9 pp.—Then follows, De Deo uno, 6 pp.—De Deo ut trino, 8 pp.—De creatione rerum, 7 pp.—De creatione angelorum, 8 pp.—De custodiibus angelis, 4 pp.—De creatione nominis, 4 pp.—De creatione mulieris, 4 pp.—De peccato primo parentum, 4 pp.—De pœnis a Deo primis parentibus inflictiis, 5 pp.—In these discourses the Montagnais and French renderings are in double columns on the same page. The following are in Montagnais only: De promissione redemptoris in ipsomet paradiso facta, 9 pp.—De peccati originalis omnium peccatorum fontis prima prole; invidia ex qua fratricidium ac homicidium ortum est, 5 pp.—De diluvio universi, 5 pp.—De divisione linguarum, 4 pp.

Father Antonio Silvy, a Jesuit missionary, arrived at Quebec June 7, 1671, and returned to France in 1707. He labored in the regions of the West for 7 or 8 years; afterward at Tadoussac and on Hudson Bay, for about 10 years. He resided for some years at Montreal and Quebec, prior to his departure for France.

Robert Simerwell was born in Ireland, May 1, 1786. At the age of nine he was sent to school, which he attended regularly for two years, and afterwards occasionally until he was fifteen. In the spring of 1803, his parents embarked for America with their family, which consisted of five boys and one girl, and in May they arrived at Philadelphia. Soon after landing, sickness came into the family, and in three months Robert was a homeless orphan. He found employment soon after as an apprentice to the blacksmith trade. At the age of twenty-two years he united with the Baptist church, and in the summer of 1824 he joined the Baptist mission among the Putawatomi Indians, at Carey station in Michigan territory. He was persuaded to devote himself to this work by Rev. Isaac McCoy, who had established the mission there in 1822. On the 17th of March, 1825, he was married to Miss F. Goodridge. During the next five years he and his wife resided at Carey station, where they assisted Mr. and Mrs. McCoy in teaching and taking care of the Putawatomi children. In these labors they had the help of Mr. Johnston Lykins and Mr. Jotham Meeker, the latter of whom had been induced by Mr. Simerwell to join the mission. Through the influence of Mr. McCoy, Mr. Simerwell received the appointment of government blacksmith to the Indians, at a salary of 365 dollars a year, "all of which he, like those of the other missionaries who received salaries from the Government, threw into the common missionary account, as money belonging to the board, and to be accounted for by a report."

In 1830 it was decided to discontinue the Baptist mission in Michigan, and to remove to the new Indian territory with as many of the Indians as would accompany them. In the following year Mr. McCoy and Mr. Lykins started for the west to select a site for the new mission. Mr. and Mrs. Simerwell remained behind to look after the Putawatomes. The school at Carey having been discontinued, with the exception of seven or eight Indian children whom the missionaries kept with them, "Mr. Simerwell employed his time in the study of the Putawatomi language," of which he soon became a master. In the latter part of 1833, he and his wife started from Michigan, and on the 13th of November they arrived at the Shawanoë mission house, in what is now Johnson county, Kansas, where Mr. Lykins and the other missionaries had preceded them.

In 1834, the emigrant Putawatomes who had reached the Missouri river and were waiting for the selection of a reservation numbered between four and five hundred individuals. This company was being continually increased by the arrival of others from Michigan and Indiana. While Mr. Simerwell kept his family at the Shawanoë station and in the vicinity, he frequently visited these Putawatomes, whose encampment was about forty miles distant. He usually remained among them several days at a time, "for the purpose of imparting religious instruction, and of teaching a few to read in their own language." For their use "he compiled, and had printed," Mr. McCoy relates, "a small book in Putawatomi." This was probably the primer of thirty-two pages described above. The new printing press had only recently been set up at the mission, under the care of Mr. Jotham Meeker. Among the first things printed on it (March, 1834), were "50 copies of the alphabet for several tribes," in the new system of orthography. One of these alphabets was probably in the Putawatomi language, prepared by Mr. Simerwell. In 1835, with the help of his Putawatomi interpreter, Noaquett, whose English name was Luther Rice, he compiled another book in the same language, containing a catechism and some hymns. Two other books in Putawatomi, the titles of which have not been ascertained, were printed before 1840, according to Mr. McCoy. These were all printed according to the new system, an account of which, with a specimen of Mr. Simerwell's alphabet, is given under Meeker (J.)

omies. In February of the following year a treaty was made by the government with the delegations of the Indians living in Michigan and on the Missouri river, in which it was stipulated that a country on the Osage river, within the Indian territory, should be conveyed to them. "This measure," Mr. McCoy remarks, "we rightly judged, would place that tribe in a suitable place, where Mr. Simerwell might make a permanent location among them, and render himself more useful than he had been for a few years previously." Many difficulties, however, were met with in the attempt to carry out this plan. About one thousand Putawatomes, including women and children, had been encamped near Fort Leavenworth for nearly a year. At length, in the latter part of July, 1837, they became divided. Many were taken to a place up the Missouri river, against the advice and wishes of the missionaries; while the others who remained were brought together and assigned to a reservation in the new territory, near the present town of Osawatomie, Kansas.

It was among the latter that Mr. and Mrs. Simerwell settled in December, 1837. "This was an event," Mr. McCoy writes, "to which we had long looked with deep solicitude. We considered this station to be a continuation of the Carey mission, transplanted from Michigan to this place." The greater part of the Putawatomes were still in their original homes in Indiana, Michigan, and Illinois. Efforts were made to induce them to emigrate also, but without much success. Mr. Simerwell was located among those who were considered permanently settled within the Indian territory. The missionaries were very desirous that as many as possible of this tribe, among whom they had commenced their labors nearly twenty years before, should be brought within reach of the institution continued for their benefit.

"In January, 1838," as Mr. McCoy relates, "Mr. Simerwell's prospects among the Putawatomes appeared to be brightening, and many, chiefly adults, appeared willing to learn to read in their own language; but he was alone, and having the affairs of his family to attend—and this, too, under the disadvantages consequent on a new settlement—he was allowed too little time to bestow on missionary labours. He had an opportunity of hiring a half-Indian, to aid him in teaching upon the new system, but he was without the means." In this emergency Mr. McCoy advanced him funds to enable him to hire the man a month or two, in which time the case could be made known to the board and an answer obtained but the board did not authorize his employment, and so that matter ended.

The reservation of the Putawatomes adjoining that of the Weas and Piankashas. An account of their condition, and of the mission among them, at the close of the year 1839, is given by Mr. McCoy in the following words:

"Only about .650 have yet emigrated to this place. They have but recently arrived, and have not had time to make themselves as comfortable as the Ottawas, and others of their neighbours. . . . Assistance to a considerable extent, in the common improvements of civilization and education, has been secured to them by treaty, from the Government of the United States. The Methodists have a mission among them, on a small scale, and the Catholics have a mission in which two priests are employed.

"The Baptist station, transplanted from Michigan, is going into operation here, under auspicious circumstances. A small school in English is taught a portion of the time, and some instruction is imparted in the Indian language. The missionaries from the nearest stations assist Mr. Simerwell, and attention to religious instruction is very encouraging. A temperance society has been formed, the Indian members of which have increased to about sixty, a few of whom are Ottawas. Permanent and comfortable mission buildings are now going up, under the superintendence of Mr. Lykins. Missionary associates are very much needed by Mr. and Mrs. Simerwell in their arduous labours. They have suffered considerably by sickness."

About the year 1840 a Baptist church was established among the Putawatomes under Mr. Simerwell's care. The record book of this church, from March 29, 1840, to January 12, 1844, is now preserved in the library of the Kansas Historical Society at Topeka. In 1848 a log mission building was erected in what is now Shawnee county, and Mr. Simerwell opened a school there. He was also engaged during this period in teaching and preaching occasionally among the neighboring Miami Indians. A few years later, in 1854, the Putawatomie mission was interrupted, and eventually discontinued, on account of the civil war in the state. After that date Mr. Simerwell was employed by the Baptist missionary society as a colporteur and in other missionary work. He died at his residence on Six-mile Creek, Shawnee county, Kansas, December 11, 1868.

His papers, manuscripts and books were presented to the Kansas Historical Society. Of these, a partial vocabulary in manuscript of the Putawatomie language, and a hymn in the same, were given by Mr. Baxter in 1878. In 1879, Mrs. Sarah Baxter and Mrs. Elizabeth Carter, of Auburn, Shawnee county, presented the following: "547 letters, reports and other papers, being copies of letters written by, or of letters written to Mr. Simerwell, of dates extending from the year 1822 to the year 1866; 5 manuscripts embracing discourses, translations and fragments of Indian grammar; rules for regulation of Carey Indian Mission family, 1822; parchment certificate of naturalization of Robert Simerwell, Philadelphia, 1824; 7 books of journals, being Mr. Simerwell's diary from

The preceding sketch is compiled mainly from Rev. Isaac McCoy's History of Baptist Indian Missions, Washington, 1840. Some additional particulars concerning the earlier and later periods of his life have been furnished by Mr. Robert Simerwell Baxter, a grandson of Mr. Simerwell.

Noaquett, who was also named Luther Rice, after a prominent officer of the Baptist board of missions, was one of the Putawatomie Indian boys who were taken into Rev. Isaac McCoy's family and school soon after the establishment of the Baptist mission at Carey station, Michigan territory, in 1822. In 1824, when "about fifteen years of age," he had already acquired considerable knowledge of English. The report of Commissioner John L. Leib to Governor Cass, made in November, 1824, contains the following account of him: "Noaquett, or Luther Rice, and Anthony Rollo, have made such proficiency in the English language as to enable them to interpret between the missionaries and the Indians; and even religious discourses have been explained to their red brethren, in a manner highly creditable to the boys, and satisfactory to the missionaries. Luther Rice, who is not yet fifteen years of age, when he first entered this institution, was wild from the woods, acquainted with no language but his native Indian. He is a very promising lad, making rapid improvements in reading, writing, and arithmetic, and exhibiting an inquisitive mind, and a strong desire for the acquisition of knowledge." In 1826 he was sent with half a dozen other Indian lads to complete his education in one of the eastern schools, probably at the Baptist Theological Institute, Hamilton, N. Y., under the care of Rev. D. Hascall. On or after the removal of the Putawatomie mission from Michigan to the Indian territory in 1833, Noaquett rejoined Mr. Simerwell and his people. His name appears as joint translator with Mr. Simerwell on the title-page of the Putawatomie hymn book and catechism printed in 1835. A few years later, Mr. McCoy mentions, with words of approbation, a speech "delivered by Luther Rice, alias Noaquett, a full-blooded Indian," at a temperance meeting among the Putawatomies, on July 4th, 1839.

Sinclair (John). [Translations into the Cree language.] (*)

In a biography of the Rev. Henry Steinhauer, published in the Missionary Outlook for January, 1881, it is stated that "Mr. Sinclair translated the Old Testament as far as the end of Job; also the Gospels and Acts; while Mr. Steinhauer translated from the beginning of the Psalms to the end of the Old Testament and from the beginning of Romans to the end of the New."

In the Canadian Methodist Magazine for May, 1885, the Rev. John McLean says: "He [Steinhauer] and John Sinclair, a half-breed, translated the Bible into Cree. Sinclair translated the Old Testament to the end of Job, and the New Testament to the end of the Acts of the Apostles. Mr. Steinhauer translated the remaining parts of the Old and New Testament. I have in my library a manuscript copy of Genesis written in the Cree syllabic characters by John Sinclair. It is a beautiful specimen of penmanship."

Peter John De Smet, missionary, born in Termonde, Belgium, December 31, 1801; died in St. Louis, Mo., in May, 1872. He studied in the Episcopal Seminary of Mechlin, and while there he felt called to devote himself to the conversion of the Indians. When Bishop Nerinx visited Belgium in search of missionaries, De Smet, with five other students, volunteered to accompany him, and sail from Amsterdam in 1821. After a short stay in Philadelphia, De Smet entered the Jesuit novitiate at Whitemarsh, Md. Here he took the Jesuit habit. In 1828 he went to St. Louis and took part in establishing the University of St. Louis, in which he was afterwards professor. In 1838 he was sent to establish a mission among the Pottawattamies on Sugar Creek. He built a chapel, erected a school, which was soon crowded with pupils, and in a short time converted most of the tribe. In 1840 he begged the bishop of St. Louis to permit him to labor among the Flatheads of the Rocky Mountains, and set out on April 30, 1840. He arrived on July 14 in the camp of Peter Valley, where about 1,600 Indians had assembled to meet him. With the aid of an interpreter he translated the Lord's prayer, the Creed, and the Commandments into their language, and in a fortnight all the Flatheads knew these prayers and commandments, which were afterward explained to them. In the spring of 1841 he set out again, and after passing through several tribes, crossed the Platte and met at Fort Hall a body of Flatheads, who had come 800 miles to escort the missionaries. On September 24 the party reached Bitterroot River, where it was decided to form a permanent settlement. The lay brothers built a church and residence, while De Smet went to Colville to obtain provisions. On his return . . . he remained in the village familiarizing himself with the language, into which he translated the catechism. He then resolved to visit Fort Vancouver; . . . on his return to St. Mary's he resolved to cross the wilderness again to St. Louis. There he laid the condition of his mission before his superiors, who directed him to go to Europe and appeal for aid to the people of Belgium and France. He sailed from Antwerp in December, 1843, with five Jesuits and six sisters, and reached Fort Vancouver in August, 1844. In 1845 he began a series of missions among the Zingonnes, Sinpols, Okenaganes, Flatbaws, and Koetenays, which extended to the watershed of the Saskatchewan and Columbia, the camps of the wondering Assiniboins and Creeks, and the stations of Fort St. Anne and Bourassa. He visited Europe several times in search of aid for his missions. During his last visit to Europe he met with a severe accident, in which several of his ribs were broken, and on his return to St. Louis he wasted slowly away.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Of the five copies of this edition in the Lenox Library, one is on large paper, in the original binding of dark blue morocco, gilt edges, with the arms of the Duchess of Richmond and Lenox, to whom the work is dedicated, stamped on one side, and the arms of King James I on the other. It was purchased at the Brinley sale in New York, in 1878, for $1,800. Another copy, also in the original binding, has John Smith's initials "I. S." stamped on both covers, and contains the slip of errata pasted at the bottom of the last page. A third copy is very tall, and is uncut. A fourth copy has inserted four portraits of Smith in different states, and a portrait of the Duchess of Richmond. A fifth copy contains the autograph of Thomas Penn, and was used in the suit of Penn against Baltimore. The portraits of the Duchess of Richmond and Lenox and of Matoaka or Pocahontas, which are usually found in the later editions, do not belong to the first edition as originally issued.

I have seen mention of but one copy of this edition—that in the library of Mr. Alfred H. Huth, London, England. Thinking there was possibly a mistake in the date, I wrote Mr. Huth concerning it, sending him photographic fac-similes of the title-pages of the editions of 1624, 1626, 1627, and 1632 for comparison, and asking that he note the differences not only in the titles but in the books themselves. He responds as follows:

I regret that the only other edition of John Smith's History of Virginia besides that of 1631 that I have in my library is the edition of 1624. Apparently there is no difference in the text between these two editions; indeed I am pretty well convinced that it is the same edition with a new title-page. The ornaments, catch-words, broken type, &c. all correspond; and therefore it is highly probable that all the editions up to that of 1631 at least, are the 1624 edition merely with new titles and altered maps.

In the title the 1631 edition differs from that of 1627 only in the date. The Map of Virginia has "1695" in the r. t. corner. The Map of the Summer Isles has in addition "Peniston's Redoute," and "Printed by James Reeve." The Map of New England has in place of "Charles Prince," "Charles nowe King"; and in place of "Printed by Geor. Low," has "Printed by James Reeve;" there are also more islands at the mouth of the river Charles.

Among these mss. was one entitled the 'Walum Olum' (literally 'painted sticks')—or painted and engraved traditions of the Linni-Lenape,—comprising five divisions, the first two embodying the traditions referring to the creation and a general flood, and the rest comprising a record of various migrations, with a list of ninety-seven chiefs, in the order of their succession, coming down to the period of the discovery. This ms. also embraces one hundred and eighty-four compound mnemonic symbols, each accompanied by a sentence or verse in the original language, of which a literal translation is given in English. The only explanation which we have concerning it is contained in a foot-note, in the hand of Rafinesque, in which he states that the ms. and wooden originals were obtained in Indiana in 1822, and that they were for a long time inexplicable."—Squier.

Steinhauer (Rev. Henry). [Translations in the Cree language.] (*)

In a biography of Mr. Steinhauer published in the Missionary Outlook for January, 1881, it is stated that "Mr. Steinhauer translated from the beginning of the Psalms to the end of the old testament and from the beginning of Romans to the end of the new [into the Cree language]."

In the Canadian Methodist Magazine for May, 1885, the Rev. John McLean says: "He [Steinhauer] and John Sinclair, a half-breed, translated the bible into Cree. Sinclair translated the old testament to the end of Job and the new testament to the end of the acts of the apostles. Mr. Steinhauer translated the remaining parts of the old and new testament. I have in my library a manuscript copy of Genesis written in the Cree syllabic characters by John Sinclair. It is a beautiful specimen of penmanship."

See Mason (W.) for a fuller discussion on the translation of the bible into the Cree language.

The Rev. H. B. Steinhauer, an Ojebway Indian, was born near Rama about 1820. In 1828 a great awakening took place among the Indians, and in the same year 133 were baptized at Holland Landing, among whom was the subject of this sketch, who received the name of Henry Steinhauer.

After remaining a year or two at school at Grape Island, young Steinhauer was sent to Cazenovia Seminary, where he remained three years, making commendable progress in his studies. He then returned to Canada and taught school for two years at the Credit Mission. In 1835 he went to the Upper Canada Academy, which he left the following year to teach school at the Alderville Mission. In the spring of 1840 he left Alderville to accompany the Rev. James Evans to the north-west, but was left by the devoted missionary at Lac la Pluie, as interpreter to the Rev. W. Mason, who had been sent to that point by the English Society. Bro. Steinhauer continued in this capacity for several years, and then, by Mr. Evans' instructions, he went on to Norway House, where he served as teacher and interpreter till the year 1850. He was next sent to Oxford House to begin a mission, where he spent four years. During 1854 he went to York Factory, from which point he sailed in a company's ship to England, reaching that country in October. Leaving again in December, he reached Canada before Christmas. At the London conference of 1855 Bro. Steinhauer was ordained and sent to Lac la Biche, where he remained till June, 1857, when he went to Whitefish Lake. After twenty-three years of continuous service Bro. Steinhauer, by consent of the Missionary Committee, is now spending the season in Ontario.—Missionary Outlook for Jan., 1881.

From the Rev. Egerton Ryerson Young's By Canoe and Dog-Train among the Cree and Saulteaux Indians, New York and Cincinnati, 1890, pp. 21-23, I take the following additional notes:

"One of the most devoted and successful of our native Indian missionaries was the Rev. Henry Steinhauer. When a poor little pagan child, wretched and neglected, he was picked up by the Rev. William Case, who patiently cared for the lad, and not only taught him the simple truths of Christianity, but also laid the foundation of an English education, which afterwards became so extensive that many a white man might honestly have envied him.

As the boy was observed to be the possessor of a very musical voice, Mr. Case selected him to be one of a little company of native children with whom he traveled extensively through various parts of the northern States, where, before large audiences, they sang their sweet Indian hymns and gave addresses, and thus showed to the people what could be done by the Indians, who, by too many, were only considered as unmitigated evils, as quickly as possible to be legislated out of existence. In one of the cities visited by Mr. Case and his Indian boys, a gentleman named Henry Steinhauer became so interested in one of the bright, clever little Indian lads that he made an offer to Mr. Case that if the little fellow, who was as yet only known by his native name, would take his name, he would pay all the expense incurred in his securing a first-class education. Such an offer was not to be despised, and so, from that time forward, our Indian lad was known as Henry Steinhauer. When the lecturing tour was ended, after some preparatory work in the mission school, Henry was sent to Victoria College in the town of Cobourg, Canada. Here he remained for some years. After his college life was ended, he devoted himself most thoroughly to missionary work among his own people, and for over forty years was the same modest, unassuming, useful, godly missionary. He spent the last years of his useful life among the Cree and Stoney Indians at White Fish Lake and other missions in the great Saskatchewan country of the Canadian North-West."

Alexander Antonine Taché, Canadian R. C. archbishop, born in Rivière-du-Loup, Canada, 23 July, 1823, was graduated at the college of St. Hyacinth, and studied theology in the Seminary of Montreal. He returned to St. Hyacinth as professor of mathematics, but, after teaching a few months, went to Montreal and became a monk of the Oblate order. He volunteered at once for missionary service among the Indians of the Red river, and reached St. Boniface on 25th Aug., 1845. He was raised to the priesthood on 12 Oct. following. In July, 1846, he set out for Île-à-la-Crosse, and, after spending a few months at this mission, he went to labor among the Indians that lived around the lakes, several hundred miles to the northwest. Although only twenty-six years old, he was recommended for the post of coadjutor bishop of St. Boniface in 1850. He was summoned to France by the superior of the Oblate Fathers and consecrated bishop on 23 Nov., 1851. After a visit to Rome he returned to Canada in February, 1852, and on 10 Sept. reached Île-à-la-Crosse, which he had determined to make the centre of his labors in the northwest. He became bishop of St. Boniface 7 June, 1853. St. Boniface was erected into a metropolitan see on 22 Sept., 1871, and Bishop Taché was appointed archbishop.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

This is the most important of Thavenet's works. In many places two or more slips are taken up with the illustration of a single word, and numerous examples are also given. At the commencement is the following caution: "Ce dictionnaire est pour les missions. On ne doit pas le livrer au public, de peur que les protestants ne s'en servent pour répandre leurs erreurs." The author states that the work "ne contient que les mots que j'ai recueillis de la bouche des sauvages: les missionnaires y ajouteront ceux qu'ils recueilleront aussi."

Concerning this dictionary Prof. Teza remarks: "Non rammento di avere visto citato il lessico del Thavenet che una sola volta, nell'opera di un anonimo francese [Rev. J. A. Cuoq] Études philologiques sur quelques langues sauvages de l'Amérique par N. O. Montréal, 1866: ora il missionario, parlando della voce Odjibwe, nota (pag. 20): 'le savant algonquiniste, M. Thavenet . . . donne dans son dictionnaire manuscrit, un'interprétation . . . plausible. . . ' C'è forse o al Canada o tra i sulpiziani di Francia copia di questo dizionario, o un compendio? o non potevano i missionari consultarlo che a Roma, quando era nel convento dei Santi Apostoli? Il libro è una raccolta preziosa: e per l'abbondanza delle parole, e per quella degli esempi; bensì nessuno giudicherà dirittamente quanto possa aggiungere alle cose che i dotti conoscono, se non paragoni con cura questo lessico a quello del Baraga; ma pur troppo il Dictionary of the Otchipwe language (Cincinnati, 1853), già stampato, somiglia a libri inediti, e benché da anni io lo vada cercando

— Dictionnaire | Algonquin-français.

Manuscript, 2 p. ll. pp. 1-917, 1 l. folio, in the library of the Catholic church at the mission of Lac des Deux Montagnes (Oka), Canada.

On the recto of the first leaf (the verso of which is blank) is written: "Ce dictionnaire fait par M. Thavenet (Nikik), retourné en France en 1815, a été mis au nat en 1819 par M. Charles De Bellefeuille Pretre du Seminaire de Montreal. L'original sur de petits papiers a été envoyé en France sur la demande de l'auteur."

The title above occurs on the recto of the second leaf, the verso of which is headed "Avertissement," and contains the rules observed in the dictionary. The text begins on p. 1: "A. a, considéré comme caractere" etc. and is arranged alphabetically by Algonquin words. M. De Bellefeuille in copying this material used only the inside halves of the sheets, i. e. the right hand one-half of the versos and the left hand one-half of the rectos, leaving the respective outer halves for additions, notes, &c. many of which have been inserted by other hands. The dictionary proper ends on p. 911 with the word: "Zan, apres un voy.; zan, apres un consonne." The verso of 911 is blank, the recto of the next leaf being numbered 912, upon which begins a second list of words from a to w which extends to p. 917. The unnumbered leaf at the end contains a "Liste alphabetique de oiseaux aquatiques, etc. the verso of which is blank.

This manuscript is quite legible and splendidly preserved.

— [Algonquin-French dictionary.] (*)

Manuscript; in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome. This is merely the beginning of Thavenet's revision of the dictionary described above. It goes only as far as the word dbittawing, not counting other smaller slips, which number at least four thousand. The vocabulary has been printed in full, with notes by Prof. Teza, on pp. 65-81 of the Catechismo dei missionari cattolici, Pisa, 1872. A list of errata in this printed vocabulary is given in Teza (E.), Intorno agli studi del Thavenet, p. 14, note.

— [Algonquin and French phrases.] (*)

Manuscript; preserved among the papers of Cardinal Mezzofanti in the Biblioteca Comunale at Bologna. It is described as follows by Prof. Teza: "parecchi foglietti di frasi algonchine e francese, ricopiate in gran parte, e ordinate spesso per modo che al francese scritto dal Mezzofanti il missionario [i. e. Thavenet], che forse gli era maestro, appone di sua mano la traduzione." A short extract from it is given in Teza (E.), Saggi inediti di lingue americane, p. 13.

— Grammaire algonquine. (*)

Manuscript; preserved in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome. This is merely the commencement of a work which was never finished. It begins with the following notice:

"Cette grammaire, qui a été faite au milieu de la nation algonquine, paraît dans son costume sauvage, n'ayant emprunté des grammaires européennes que les mots techniques que n'a pu lui fournir un peuple qui n'a jamais cultivé les sciences. Lorsque j'eus fini mon travail sur la grammaire de la langue algonquine, ceux des sauvages qui m'avaient aidé me dirent que j'avais fait un livre sur la parole, sur l'écriture, et sur le discours. J'ai adopté cette définition, et je l'ai prise pour division de la grammaire."

"Andava il Thavenet raccogliendo i fatti e ordinandoli: certo aiutato da' lavori più antichi che erano guida a' nuovi missionari; discuteva, rifaceva, copiava, faceva ricopiare. Per alcune parti del suo trattato pareva fosse più contento; e sotto il n.º 1 abbiamo la redazione ultima de' capitoli sull'alfabeto, sui suoni, sui sostantivi (genere, numero, forma diminutiva, peggiorativa, possessiva, proterica, dubitativa, interrogativa, passiva, positiva: e casi), sui pronomi. Ma non si procede oltre . . ."

"È naturale intendere gli algonchini educati dai missionari; e quelle sono le definizioni portate d'Europa. Disgraziatamente quando toccava al verbo, il Thavenet non arrivò a tempo di illustrare i fatti con regole sicure: ed ora il ricomporre in unità tutte quelle note sparse sarebbe un'aspra fatica. Aggiungo poi che, paragonando l'opera del francese con l'eccellente grammatica ogibua del Baraga, veggio che poco c'è da aggiungere dove il lavoro è quasi compiuto: poco da sperare dove s'avrebbe ad andare incertamente pescando."

The library press-marks are given by Teza as follows: "L'autografo di questa parte è nel n.º II.—In questo trattato si usarono già gli appunti che abbiamo nel n.º III.—Altre schede di primi abbozzi sull'alfabeto e sul nome trovansi nel n.º XI e XII."

Manuscript; 120 pages in columns; preserved among the papers of Cardinal Mezzofanti in the Biblioteca Comunale at Bologna. It is a transcript, probably by Mezzofanti himself, of Thavenet's incomplete work. The description is from Teza (E.), Saggi inediti di lingue americane, pp. 13-18, where the premiss given under the next title above is printed, together with the portion relating to the alphabet.

Manuscripts; in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome. They are mentioned by Prof. Teza, in his essay Intorno agli studi del Thavenet, p. 21, as follows:

"Bensì vi sono, in certi fascetti di carte, utili capitoli che mostrano la diligenza e la lunga pratica del Thavenet . . . Tra queste parti che potranno essere utili anche a' tempi nostri sono le schede sulla Réunion de deux mots en un e quelle Sur le nom changé en verbe, trattelli che stamperò altrove: come pure pubblicherò, perchè breve, un Essai de comparaison de l'algonquin avec le montagnais, nel quale abbiamo il Credo nelle due parlate, tanto affini, con noterelle che fanno osservare diversità e somiglianze."

— [Sermons, prayers, etc. in the Algonquin language.] (*)

Manuscripts; preserved in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emmanuele at Rome. They are described in Teza (E.), Intorno agli studi del Thavenet, p. 21, as follows:

"Si notò già che in questa raccolta, oltre al lessico e alla grammatica, abbiamo alcuni testi: e perchè questo magro indice sia meno incompiuto aggiungerò che in lingua algonchina ci sono ancora prediche (XXIII, J), preghiere (XXIII, I e XXIII, C), il rituale per il battesimo e per la confessione tradotto alla lettera in latino (XXIII, P, Q) un motet pour l'assomption, et un duo pour la fête-Dieu con le parole e le note (XXIII, H), e in fine un canticco irochese con la versione francese (XXIII, M)."

The abbé Thavenet was a French Sulpitian who passed many years of his life in preaching the Catholic faith to the Indians of the Lac des Deux Montagnes, of Temiscaming, and of Waymontaching, in Canada. His instructor in the Algonquin (Nipissing) language was an Indian named Ignace Pepamipattotch, who died in 1834. In 1815 Thavenet returned to France, and in 1845 he died in Rome at an advanced age. Among his manuscript papers, now preserved in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emmanuele at Rome, are letters relating to the Algonquin language from the missionaries Durocher, Richard, and Quiblier; and from P. S. DuPonceau, John Pickering, and W. von Humboldt.

Thavenet was the author of the Latin and French versions which accompany the anonymous Algonquin catechism printed at Pisa under the care of Prof. Teza in 1872. The notes to the catechism and the Algonquin-French vocabulary at the end are by him also. When the catechism was printed the authorship of these portions was unknown to the editor. The original manuscript (64 pp. oblong quarto) is preserved among the papers of Cardinal Mezzofanti in the library of the University at Bologna. There is a transcript of it in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emmanuele at Rome (no. xxv), which gives the text only, without the versions, and stops at page 49 of the Bologna manuscript (page 40 of the printed edition), closing with the words: "kaye anicininiwak ka nicjiáté." In this transcript there are variations in the text, changes in the orthography, and some omissions, but it contains the Confiteor ("Ni wihdamawák kije-Manito mizi ka nitawitôte . . .") and the act of contrition ("Kije-Manito, n'öse, ohdjita kit önicie . . ."), which are lacking in the manuscript at Bologna. Then there are other fragments of this same catechism in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emmanuele: one (with the press-mark xxiii A) which contains as far as page 13 of the Bologna manuscript (to the end of page 17 of the printed edition); and another (press-mark xxiii B) on the communion, which follows more or less the Bologna text page 49 (printed edition, p. 40)

There is also a fragment of this catechism, accompanied by the interlinear Latin version, both probably in the hand-writing of Cardina Mezzofanti, in the Biblioteca Comunale at Bologna. See Catechismo dei missionari cattolici.

Manuscript, about 80 pp. foolscap. The author describes it for me as follows:

Part I. Selections from the Book of Common Prayer; e. g., Creed, Lord's Prayer, Ten Commandments, etc.

Part II. Selection from the Holy Scriptures, Genesis 1-3, and portions of the Gospels concerning the birth, life, etc. of Christ.

Part III. Nine hymns (translations).

Part IV. Elementary instruction for children in schools.

Dec. 31, 1889, Mr. Tims wrote me from England as follows:

"The British and Foreign Bible Society are about to print the Gospel of St. Matthew in Blackfoot, and the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge are about to publish 'Readings from the Holy Scriptures,' which consist of Genesis 1-III, and selected portions of the four gospels containing an account of our Lord's birth, life, works, death, resurrection, and ascension. I expect to remain in England long enough to revise the proof-sheets and then to return to my work amongst the Blackfoot Indians."

Rev. John William Tims was born in Oxford, Eng., in 1837, and resided there until twenty-one years of age, when he offered his services to the Church Missionary Society, which were accepted. He passed through the society's college at Islington, was ordained deacon in 1883, and at once appointed to commence the mission among the Blackfeet proper. His present station is at Blackfoot crossing on the Canadian Pacific railway, in the province of Alberta and the diocese of Calgary. He has given special attention to the language of that people.

Manuscript, in possession of its author, who described it for me October 26, 1889, as follows: "So far the manuscript contains over four hundred names. With each name will be given extracts from the early records and deeds of the towns where they occur, showing their appearance, different forms of spelling as given by the early recorders, why the name was so bestowed, etc. With the significations will be given parallels from various cognate dialects. The manuscript is now well advanced, and only awaits the publication of some of the early town records, not deeming it advisable to have it published until all the facts relating to each name can be secured. With the names appear historical data relating to the early history of Long Island never before published. The work will be arranged similar to Dr. J. H. Trumbull's Indian Names in Connecticut.

In The Atlantic Monthly, vol. 39 (May, 1877), p. 623, Boston, 1877, 8°. (Eames, Pilling.)

"Mr. Longfellow's sonnet on Eliot's Oak, in the March Atlantic, deserves over-setting into Massachusee. Last evening I made a nearly literal translation, and I herewith send you a copy. J. H. T." The above note precedes the Indian version, which is in twenty-six lines, exclusive of the heading. It is followed by the sonnet in English, "literally translated" from the Indian.

A criticism of this version, by an anonymous contributor, appeared in the Atlantic Monthly for June, 1877 (vol. 39, p. 749). "J. H. T.'s rendering of Mr. Longfellow's sonnet into Massachusee," the writer remarks, "has naturally attracted a great deal of attention in New England, and particularly in that section of the country in which I chance to reside—Ponkapog, namely. In this old Indian village the study of Massachusee has long been one of the lighter relaxations of the inhabitants. At fashionable evening parties in Ponkapog the conversation is carried on almost exclusively in that tongue. As in Concord the children 'dig for the infinite' instead of making mud pies, like simpler children in less favored localities, so in Ponkapog the very urchins in the street chatter Massachusee over their tops and marbles. The increasing interest in this beautiful but too much neglected language warrants me in pointing out one or two imperfections in Mr. T.'s otherwise faithful translation of Eliot's Oak. To begin with, koonepogquash, in the first line, is obviously a misprint for rackoonepogquash. Elisions are not permissible in Massachusee. The omission of the circumflex accent over the fourth a in wadtauatonquussuwongdash-nish, in the line below, is also probably a typographical error, but it is a singularly awkward one, since it changes both the gender and the tense of the word. However, these are blemishes which cannot have escaped even the most careless reader of The Atlantic. I pass to what seems to me a grave misconception of the original text. The sixth line,

'Kah nishnoh howan nootam nehen wonche

strikes me as being a very inadequate rendering of

'Thou speakest a different dialect to each.'

If, as the translator gives it, 'every one hears his own language when thou [the tree] speakest,' there would be no difficulty whatever in understanding that Talking Oak; anybody might sit down on an exposed root and have a free and easy powwow with that accomplished old son of the forest. But Mr. Longfellow distinctly states, in the first quatrain of his sonnet, that the 'Myriad leaves are loud

With sounds of unintelligible speech.'

Clearly, J. H. T. is wrong, and has dropped into some unintelligible speech on his own account.

"In criticising so able a scholar I have allowed my interest in the subject to overcome my diffidence. Even Homer sometimes nods, and J. H. T. may easily be forgiven if he does not always get his Massachusetts quite right."

"In this first essay or rough draft of a dictionary of the Massachusetts language as it was written by Eliot, I followed Cotton in entering the verbs under the form that Eliot regarded as their infinitive mood. I discovered my error when it was too late to amend it—in this draft. Ten years later I began a revision of my work, entering the verbs under the third person singular of their indicative present (aorist), in their primary or simple forms. That revised copy [see the next following title] I have been obliged to leave, at present, incomplete. The materials for supplying its deficiency may be gathered from this volume."

In possession of its author, who writes me concerning it as follows:

"In this revision the verbs are entered under the third person singular of the indicative present; and many corrections of and additions to the first draft [see the next preceding title] have been made. As will be seen, it wants, to completion, all between Nishk and P and after T (i. e., U, W, Y)."

James Hammond Trumbull, philologist, born in Stonington, Conn., December 20, 1821. He entered Yale in 1838, and though, owing to ill health, he was not graduated with his class, his name was enrolled among its members in 1850, and he was given the degree of A. M. He settled in Hartford in 1847, and was assistant secretary of state in 1847-'52 and 1858-'61, and secretary in 1861-'64, also state librarian in 1854. Soon after going to Hartford he joined the Connecticut Historical Society, was its corresponding secretary in 1849-'63, and was elected its president in 1863. He has been a trustee of the Watkinson free library of Hartford, and its librarian since 1863; and has been an officer of the Wadsworth atheneum since 1864. Dr. Trumbull was an original member of the American Philological Association in 1869, and its president in 1874-'75. He has been a member of the American Oriental Society since 1860, and the American Ethnological Society since 1867, and honorary member of many State historical societies. In 1872 he was elected to the National Academy of Sciences. Since 1858 he has devoted special attention to the subject of the Indian languages of North America. He has prepared a dictionary and vocabulary to John Eliot's Indian Bible, and is probably the only American scholar that is now able to read that work. In 1873 he was chosen lecturer on Indian languages of North America at Yale, but loss of health and other labors soon compelled his resignation. The degree of LL. D. was conferred on him by Yale in 1871 and by Harvard in 1887, while Columbia gave him an L. H. D. in 1887—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

to Mr. McKay, an educated Cree half-breed, who was in charge of the Hudson's Bay Com-

Saulteaux (Ojibway) names of the different an-they will very often facilitate the obtaining of much valuable information from those tribes of Indians. These names have in all cases been obtained by the writer from the Indians themselves, or from half-breeds living with them, and in writing them the vowels have been given the continental sounds."

Manuscript, 70 unnumbered ll. (of which 8 are blank), 12°, in the library of the Archbishopric of Quebec.

The title above is on the recto of the first leaf, verso blank. The text begins on the recto of the second l. with the heading Prieres Algonquines, and below is another: Preres du matin. A prayer follows, then the Pater with French translation opposite, then the Ave, Credo, Commandments, Prayer to the angels, to patrons, the Benedicite and the Graces; then the Sancta Maria. Two blank pages follow; then the small catechism, in Algonkin and French, the truths which constitute the object of faith; the existence of God, the mysteries of the Sacred Trinity, of the Incarnation and of the Redemption, hope, the commandments of God, the sacraments, baptism, penitence or confession, the eucharist or communion. After a blank page appears a Christmas song on the nativity of Our Savior; after another blank page is a song on the end of man. These songs are not translated.

The manuscript is bound in caribou and is very well preserved. The writing, though not elegant, is very legible.

Occupies 44 pp. In this pamphlet are enumerated many features of resemblance which the Cree and Assiniboin languages bear to European languages, both ancient and modern, especially the Latin, French, English, German, etc.

— [Dictionary of the Cree language.] (*)

Manuscript, French-Cree 700 pp. Cree-French 800 pp. the former containing 17,000 words, the latter 16,000. Many words which might have been included have been purposely omitted because of their simple and easy formation by means of rules given in the grammar.

— [Grammar of the Cree language.] (*)

Manuscript, 110 pp. in the French language. First part, words; second part, syntax; third part, etymology; with eleven divers tables filling 30 pp., several of which are intended for the body of the work.

— [Instructions or sermons in the Cree language.] (*)

Manuscript, 53 instructions, equivalent to 250 octavo pp. They are not finished discourses, but rather the frames or general structures of sermons. The sentences are complete and accurate, however.

— [Monograph of the Cree or Néiyawok, with notes.] (*)

Manuscript, 150 pp. written in French.

The third part, pp. 120-150, consists of philological, grammatical, and etymological notes, wherein the Cree is compared—first etymologically, then grammatically—with the Assiniboin, the German, the English, the Latin, French, etc.

These manuscripts are in possession of their author, who has furnished me the above information as well as the following sketch of his life and work.

Father Valentin Théodore Végréville, missionary, Oblate of Mary Immaculate, was born at Châtres, Canton of Évron, Department of Mayenne, France, September 17, 1829. He made his studies successively at Évron, Laval, La Mans, and Marseilles, where he was ordained priest in 1852. For a year he was an O. M. I. religious. By way of Havre, New York, Montreal, Chicago, and St. Paul, he went to St. Boniface, then capital of all the Northwest. He commenced to exercise the apostolic ministry in that locality and the environs among the half-breeds and people of divers nationalities (1852-'53), and prepared to penetrate more deeply into the North. During 1853-1857 he gave his attention to the Montagnais (Tchipeweyans) and to the Cris (Crees) of Île à la Crosse. The winter of 1857-'58 he passed again at St. Boniface. In 1858 he returned to Île à la Crosse, leaving there in 1860 to found the mission of Lac Caribou in the midst of the Montagnais and visiting thence the Crees found farther to the south. Returning south to St. Boniface, he went in 1865 to Lac la Biche, where he ministered to the Indians and mixed populations speaking the Montagnais and Cree. In 1874 and 1875 he served the mission of St. Joachim (Edmonton). In 1875, 1876, and 1877 he gave his attention to the Assiniboines and to the persons speaking Cree and French of Lac Ste. Anne. In 1877 and 1878 he built N. D. de Lourdes (Fort Saskatchewan), and then returned to Lac Ste. Anne (1878-1880). In 1880 he descended the Saskatchewan River, stopping at St. Laurent, whence he soon departed to establish successively the following missions: St. Eugène (1880), St. Antoine de Padoue (Batoche) (1881), Ste. Anne in the town of Prince Albert, (1882), St. Louis de Langevin (1883). The first half of the year 1885 found him going from one of these missions to another, according as his presence seemed required in those times of trouble and war. In the month of July, 1885, he ascended again to ward Edmonton, and received the administration of the Mission of St. Christopher. Numerous visits in the neighborhood of the posts designated above complete the list of wanderings of this missionary. He is now (January, 1889) stationed at St. Albert, Alberta.

Father Verwyst was born November 23, 1841, in Uden, Province Bord Brabant, Holland. He landed in Boston in May, 1848; went to Wisconsin in 1855; was ordained priest in St. Francis Seminary, near Milwaukee, November 5, 1865; and went among the Indians in the Lake Superior country in 1878.

"As to my name, I beg leave to say that I used to be a secular priest, and then my name was Christian Adrian. In 1882 I joined the Franciscan Order, and then, as is usual on such occasions, received a new name, that of Chrysostom. It was whilst I was still a secular priest that I published the 'Mikana gjigong enamog.' In 1886 I published my small English work, 'Missionary Labors,' when I was already a Franciscan and had received the new name Chrysostom.

"As to the spelling, Verweyst or Verwyst, I lately came to the conclusion that the latter mode of spelling is probably the more correct, as many Dutch names are spelled with a simple y, e. g., Van Slyk, Van Dyk."

The first 410 pages are the same in all three editions. In this edition the formula of baptism for the Passamaquoddy and other eastern tribes, and the same in Penobscot language (p. 416 of the first and second editions), is transferred to its proper place immediately following p. 410, and pp. 411-415 of the preceding editions become pp. 412-416 in this edition. Page 435 ends with a different vignette than in the other editions. The additions to this edition consist of masses, etc. in Micmac, pp. 436-458; Adlachimudiguichkek meiaulakwey, Vespers and Complin in Micmac, pp. 459-494; Te Deum, in Latin, pp. 495-497; Te Deum, in Micmac, pp. 498-501; Examination of Conscience in Micmac, pp. 502-507; in Mareschit language, pp. 507-509; in Penobscot language, pp. 509-510; Tchibat'ku'musse, the way of the cross (in Indian), pp. 511-543; Chunwimoney, the rosary in Micmac language, pp. 544-557; Tsishe aramesikan, mass in Montagnais language, pp. 558-565. Pages 566-576 contain the tables of festivals, the seasons, days of the week, months of the year, list of names most commonly used by the Indians in baptism, and the "Observation" (which fill pp. 436-444 of the preceding editions), and in addition the seasons in Micmac, p. 569, and days of the week in Micmac language, pp. 570-571.

plying with the request of some gentlemen of New England, to make some investigations as to the dialects of the Abnaki, we have happily met with an ancient manuscript containing the Lord's Prayer and the Angelical Salutation in pure Abnaki language. Its striking difference from the language of the dictionary of Father Rale, and of any existing dialect, corroborates the opinion, that the original Abnaki language is lost, and that at present we have merely dialects of it. We insert these remains here, in order to preserve them as one of the few monuments of the pure Abnaki that have escaped the voracity of time. Every vowel marked with an accent has a nasal sound." This notice is followed by the Lord's prayer in pure Abnaki, Angelical Salutation in pure Abnaki, and the Lord's prayer in pure Mareschit, pp. 578-579.

On page 558 is this "NOTE.—Although we do not know the authors of all the manuscripts which we have used in this compilation, yet we are certain that this Mass was written by F. LaBrosse, S. J., Apostle of the Montagnais Indians, who died at Tadoussac, Canada, in esteem of sanctity."

In a letter to Rev. J. M. Finotti, dated from Eastport, January 19, 1875, Father Vetromile writes: "When my prayer book was printed in New York by Mr. Kirker, 8 type setters left him. I corrected the proof-sheets three times, and yet I was obliged to add a long list of errata, because the last correction was not well executed in New York."

"In presenting this small volume to the public, it is not the object to offer a compendium of the Holy Scripture, but only to give the red man a brief and clear knowledge of the most remarkable events recorded in the Sacred Writ, accompanied by a few short remarks, in order to accommodate them to the intelligence of the natives of this continent. . . . The illustrations form an important part of this work, not only because they more deeply impress on the mind of the Indians the great events recorded in the Holy Scripture, but also because they give a great assistance to those who are ignorant of reading. This book is written in Penobscot and Micmac (with an English literal translation), they being the two leading dialects now existing in the Abnaki nation. In the Micmac department we have made use also of an ancient manuscript of uncertain author, transmitted to us by the indefatigable labors of Rev. Edmund Demulier,—a native of France,—a zealous Abnaki Missionary of the Congregation of Picpus."—Preface.

Father Rasles; the second, words in the Penobscot; the third, Mareschit; and the fourth, Micmac. Volume 3, pp. 1-791, contains the Abnaki-English dictionary, A to Z, and includes words in the Penobscot, Etchimin, Mareschit, Micmac, Montagnie, and Passamaquoddy dialects. In this volume the definitions are also in Latin, "in order to fix the meaning of the Indian words against alterations, which the English language might undergo in course of time."

The manuscript is clearly written and well preserved, being bound in heavy leather.

— The Aborigines of Acadia. | An address before the Maine Historical | Society in 1861 by Rev. Eugene Vetromile | Missionary of the Etchemins, Maine. | Corresponding Member of the Maine Historical | Society etc.

Manuscript, 8ll. 4°, preceded by one leaf containing a letter from Vetromile to Rev. Charles Kauder, dated Biddeford [Maine] July 28, 1862, transmitting the manuscript. It is a general account of the aboriginal settlements, with many native terms, their etymology and meanings, passim.

The manuscript was in possession of Mr. Bernard Quaritch, London, England, who kindly permitted me to examine it. He priced it 1l. 1s.

It is perhaps the original manuscript, or a copy thereof, of the article which appeared under similar title in the Maine Hist. Soc. Coll. vol. 7, for which see above.

The following extract from a letter of Father Vetromile to Rev. Joseph M. Finotti, dated from Biddeford, Dec. 7, 1864, probably relates to this manuscript: "At the request of Rev. Christian Kauder, a missionary amongst the Micmacs of Nova Scotia, I wrote an article on the Micmacs. He was publishing the Micmac Hieroglyphics (discovered by me), and my article was inserted there under my name as a preface to the work. The work could not be published in this country for want of the proper types. The Austrian Government took the matter in hand and cast the proper types for it, and it was published in Vienna. The publisher requested a short history of the Micmacs to be used for preface. Mr. Kauder could not write it, but applied to me, and I wrote it. He translated it in German at Nova Scotia, and sent it to Vienna, where it was published in German. No edition exists in English."

In another letter to the same person, dated from Eastport, 28 Settembre, 1875, Father Vetromile writes: "Circa all'opera del P. Kauder, non credo che sia stampato, perchè i caratteri non esistono, mi sembra che sia litografata in un vol: in quarto di 146 pag: ed il nome del litografo non fu pubblicato. Sarà più facile per — [Letters from Rev. Eugene Vetromile to Rev. Joseph M. Finotti, respecting manuscripts and printed books in the Abnaki and Micmac languages.]

Manuscript, four letters, containing 9 ll. 8°, in possession of Mr. Wilberforce Eames, Brooklyn, N. Y. Dated respectively from Biddeford, Dec. 7, 1864, Eastport, 19 March, 1873, Jan. 19, 1875, and 28 September, 1875. They are written partly in English and partly in Italian.

The first letter contains titles and descriptions of the author's own works in Abnaki and Micmac, with a brief account of the Micmac Hieroglyphic prayer book printed for Rev. Christian Kauder. The third letter gives accounts of the prayer books in Abnaki of Fathers Demilier and Romagné, of the manuscript Micmac grammar of Father Menard [i. e. Maillard], and of the manuscript manual of prayer and catechism of 62 pages in Abnaki of Father Francis Ciquard, written in 1792. The fourth letter contains some additional information about Kauder's Micmac prayer book. Extracts from these letters are given under the next preceding title, and under the names of Fathers Ciquard, Maillard, and Romagné, in the Addenda of this bibliography.

Eugene Anthony Vetromile was born in the city of Gallipoli, in the province of Lecce, Italy, on the 22d day of February, 1819. His first education was under private instructors, then at the College of Naples, and finally at the seminary of his native city, where he was graduated. Subsequently he came to this country and entered Georgetown College, District of Columbia, where he finished his education for the priesthood, receiving the degree of doctor of divinity in 1846. For about twenty years he was a member of the Society of Jesus, but afterwards became an apostolic missionary to the Indians, in which capacity he was connected with the Congregation di Propaganda Fide in Rome. His missionary field was among the Etchemins and Abnakis of Maine, and for a long time he had pastoral charge of St. Mary's Church at Machias; his more recent residence, however, was at Biddeford.

In July, 1867, he left his charge for an extended tour abroad. Upon his return he published (1871) Travels in Europe, Egypt, Arabia, Petraea, Palestine, and Assyria. In 1876 he started on an extended tour around the world, and his observations will be found in his Tour in both hemispheres. (New York, 1880.)

Father Vetromile went abroad again the present year, and while in his native Gallipoli was seized with apoplexy and died on the 23d of August, 1881. By his will he left a sum of money for the benefit of the widows and or-

Virot (Père Claude Francisco). 3. Interrogationes et monita in conferendis sacramentis pro gente Uanbanakæà, a P. Claude Francisco Virot. 4. Ejusdem aethortio de scandalo. (*)

Manuscript in the Abnaki language, preserved at the Mission of Pierreville, Canada. It is bound with other manuscripts, French and Abnaki. Under the title Interrogationes et monita is written, in a strange but ancient hand, "Descriptis R. P. Claud. F. Virot, à Soc. Jesu. anno 1754, Arisganteg." Description from Gili (C.), Notes sur de vieux manuscrits abénakis, p. 18. For description of the other manuscripts (1 and 2) in the volume, see Lesueur (F. E.)

Claude Francis Virot, French missionary, born in France 16 Feb., 1721; died near Fort Niagara in July, 1759. He became a Jesuit in 1738, and in 1750 was sent to Canada, where he labored for several years among the Abnaki Indians with great success. He was then sent to Ohio river, where he founded a mission among the Delawares at Sakunk, on the mouth of the Big Beaver. The influence that he was gaining over the tribe excited the jealousy of Pakanke, chief of the Wolf tribe, and he was forced to leave. He afterward acted as chaplain to a body of French soldiers, and was killed when he participated in an attempt to relieve Fort Niagara.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Rev. Casimir Vogt was born at Wurzen, in Prussia, in 1846. He was educated at the college and university of Breslau, was ordained priest in 1870, and served as chaplain at Neumarkt until 1875. He then joined the order of St. Francis, and the same year made his home at Teutopolis, Ill. In 1878 he was appointed missionary to the Chippewa Indians on Lake Superior, his headquarters being at Bayfield, Wis. until 1884, when he removed to Superior in the same State. He is still engaged in missionary work, his jurisdiction extending to the Indian settlements on the Court Orelles, Chippewa, South Flambeau, and St. Croix rivers in Wisconsin, and on the St. Louis and Snake rivers in Minnesota.

Manuscript, 11 bound volumes, averaging from 200 to 250 unnumbered leaves each, 8^o.

The origin of many of the names is traced to the Indian languages. The particular Indian language from which the name is derived in any case is seldom stated, but the Algonquian languages are well represented.

The work has been kindly forwarded to the Bureau of Ethnology, for examination, by Mrs. R. M. Watkins, of Beaver, Pa. Where it will permanently remain can not at this writing be definitely stated.

The following biographic notes are extracted from the Official minutes of the Pittsburgh annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 1890 (Pittsburgh, 1890), pp. 51-52:

"William Brown Watkins was born in Bridgeport, O., May 2nd, 1834, and died of apoplexy at 3.15 a. m., August 16, 1890, at Ridgeview, Pa., Camp Ground, where he had been announced to preach on the Sunday following.

His boyhood was passed with his parents in the place of his birth, and the neighboring city of Wheeling, Va. Such education as could be obtained in the common schools of that period was secured in part by the aid of his parents, and in part on the principle of a real self-support. The summer months afforded him employment, and its compensation defrayed his expenses while in the winter school. . . . The building of the Wheeling suspension bridge offered the opportunity of engaging in various labors, and part of his time was allotted to an apprenticeship to a mechanical trade. Afterward he taught in a school, and during this time entered upon the study of law. . . . In early life he was converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in Bridgeport, O. During the pastorate of Rev. J. J. McIllyar, he was received by certificate into the church in the neighboring town of Martin's Ferry, and in 1885 he was there licensed to preach. . . . In all these various fields of labor he was eminently successful; as a preacher, popular and influential with the people who largely gathered to his ministry. . . . His great love for philological pursuits led him to the study of the origin, or derivation, the orthography, pronunciation, and definition of the words in use in the English tongue, and the fruits of his labor quietly entered into words of this kind, and were gratefully received, and their value acknowledged. His last loving labor, left incomplete, a dictionary of proper names, of large scope and research, attests his tireless industry, plodding zeal and enthusiasm in these pursuits, the wide range of his investigations, the skill with which he could use all accessible materials, and his ability to digest and bring out of obscurity the truth. . . ."

The introductory remarks say: "Many of the translations of the Indian names here given have been furnished, and all of them examined, by Henry R. Schoolcraft, LL. D., and the Hon. J. Hammond Trumbull, whose high reputation and well-known accuracy in whatever relates to the Indian languages, literature, and history, are a sufficient guaranty for the correctness of this portion of the Vocabulary. Information in regard to certain names of the same class has also been obtained from the Rev. Edward Ballard, Secretary of the Maine Historical Society."

In Dr. Trumbull's essay on The composition of Indian geographical names (Hartford 1870), p. 50, he says: "It may be proper to remark in this connection, that the writer's responsibility for the correctness of translations given in that vocabulary does not extend beyond his own contributions to it."

The publishers of Webster's dictionaries, Messrs. G. & C. Merriam & Co., inform me that this etymological vocabulary first appeared in the edition of 1864—Noah Porter's first edition. I have not easy access to a copy of that edition, and so have contented myself with titling the nearest to it in date which the Library of Congress possesses. The etymological vocabulary appears unchanged in the 1888 issue of the Unabridged, but has been excluded from the new (1890) International.

No title-page, heading only; text pp. 1-3, 80.

Alphabet, vowel sounds, consonants, diphthongs, sounds peculiar, pp. 1-2.—Examples (13) in this orthography (Ojibwa and equivalent English), p. 2.—The Lord's prayer (Matthew vi, 9-13, in Ojibwa), p. 2.—Hymn, "Come Holy Spirit, Heavenly Dove" (five stanzas in Ojibwa), pp. 2-3.—Questions and answers (five of each, Ojibwa and equivalent English), p. 3.

Miss Harriet Wheeler, Beloit, Wis., daughter of the author, says: "The pamphlet entitled 'Orthography of the Ojibwa language' was published in 1862, and was the orthography used in publishing the hymn book [see Jones (P.) and others, pp. 269-270], a copy of which you have." In another letter the same writer says: "After studying the language a few years my father published an Orthography of his own, which he considered more simple and better adapted to the language than the French method. It was used in his mission school at Odawah, and is still used extensively by the missionaries among the Ojibwas."

Manuscript, 12 unnumbered ll. about 6 by 8 inches in size, sent to me in October, 1890, for inspection, by Miss Harriet Wheeler, of Beloit, Wis., a daughter of the author, who said it had been promised by her mother to the State Historical Society. The writing stops near the middle of the recto of the 10th leaf. The first 5 ll. are in Ojibwa, the remainder being the equivalent English. The above heading appears at the top of the first page, and the heading "Covenant" at the top of the fourth page. The first portion of the work, occupying the first three leaves, consists of eleven numbered articles or paragraphs, and is evidently the "confession of faith." The "covenant" occupies ll. 4 and 5. The English portion commences on the sixth leaf with the heading "Confession of Faith of The Mission Church at La Pointe," the eleven articles in English extending to the recto of the eighth leaf, near the bottom of which is the heading "Covenant" and the commencement of the English equivalent of that portion of the work.

— [Essay towards a grammar of the Ojibwa language. 1842-1866.]

Manuscript in three parts, in the possession of the compiler of this bibliography, consisting of 12 pp. letter paper, 17 pp. letter paper, and 17 pp. foolscap. The work consists almost entirely of verbal forms. Concerning this work Mr. E. P. Wheeler, of Beloit, Wis., a son of the author, writes me as follows:

"It was my father's plan, had he lived, to carry out his system of orthography in a series of text books for use in the schools where both the English and Ojibwa Indian languages were taught. He hoped also to have completed a grammar which he started, some manuscripts of which may still be in existence."

Miss Harriet Wheeler, a daughter, in sending me the manuscripts above described, says: "My father prepared a grammar and acatechism, but owing to ill health was not able to finish them."

— [Words, phrases, and sentences in the Ojibwa language. 1842-1866.]

Manuscript, apparently a fragment, 10 unnumbered ll. 6 by 9 inches in size; no title or general heading; in possession of the compiler of this bibliography.

Ojibwa and equivalent English facing.

A few headings appear—"Days of the week," "Different kind of houses," "Things used in making a house," "Persons and things in a school house."

— Words from the Peep of Day. [1842-1866.]

Manuscript, 20 unnumbered ll. 6½ by 8 inches in size, with heading as above, in possession of the compiler of this bibliography. Parallel columns of Ojibwa and equivalent English. Subjects are indicated here and there, such as "Father's care," "Good angels," "The temptation," "Twelve disciples," "The first miracle," "Daughter of Jairus," "The loaves and fishes," "Bad angels," "The creation," "Adam and Eve," "The first sin," "The Son of God," "Mother of Jesus," "The Shepherds," "The wise men."

Leonard Hemenway Wheeler was born in Shrewsbury, Mass., April 18, 1811. He graduated from Middlebury College in 1837, and from Andover Seminary in 1840. The fall and winter were spent attending medical lectures in Pittsfield and practicing medicine in Lowell. On the 26th of April, 1841, he married Miss Harriet Wood of Lowell, and started for their missionary field, arriving at La Point Island, Aug. 1, 1841. They began work at once, relieving Mr. Hall, the founder of the mission, who devoted the greater part of his time to translating the Bible and Peep of Day into Ojibwa.

The Indians spent their time in hunting and fishing, and, as Mr. Wheeler mingled among them and studied their customs, he became thoroughly convinced that no permanent good could be done the Indians until these roaming habits were broken up. He accompanied them to their sugar camps at Odawah, and, observing the richness of the soil, conceived the idea of locating the Indians upon these lands, giving patents to them and obliging them to work them. By the co-operation of the American Board with the Government, he secured the land for the Indians, and went to Odawah in May, 1845. His time and strength were taxed to the uttermost in building a house for his family, a church and school-house, preaching, teaching, tending the sick, and instructing the Indians in the first principles of farming. In 1856 he opened a manual labor boarding-school for the benefit of the children on the reserve. Their education was thoroughly practical and was intended to make self-reliant, self-supporting men and women of them. The school was a success and was a power for good to all the Indians upon the reserve. In 1862 Mr. Wheeler published a new orthography, which was introduced into the mission school. By its use the English teacher was able to read the Ojibwa with one hour's study. In 1859 he published a hymn-book (see p. 270 of this bibliography), and during the next two years commenced a grammar and catechism, but owing to ill health it was not completed. For thirteen years Mr. Wheeler's constitution had been giving away to the inroads of consumption, brought on by exposure and overwork. In the fall of 1866, by the advice of his physician, he resigned his work and moved to Beloit, Wis., where he died Feb. 25, 1872.

Amiel Weeks Whipple, soldier, born in Greenwich, Mass., in 1818; died in Washington, D. C., 7 May, 1863. He studied at Amherst; was graduated at the U. S. military academy in 1841; was engaged immediately afterward in the hydrographic survey of Patapsco River, and in 1842 in surveying the approaches to New Orleans and the harbor of Portsmouth, N. H. In 1844 he was detailed as assistant astronomer upon the northeastern boundary survey, and in 1845 he was employed in determining the northern boundaries of New York, Vermont, and New Hampshire. In 1849 he was appointed assistant astronomer in the Mexican boundary commission, and in 1853 he had charge of the Pacific railroad survey along the 35th parallel. In 1856 he was appointed engineer for the southern light-house district and superintendent of the improvement of St. Clair flats in St. Mary's river. At the opening of the civil war he at once applied for service in the field, and was assigned as chief topographical engineer on the staff of Gen. Irvin McDowell.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

White (Rev. Andrew). Grammar, dictionary, and catechism in the language of the Maryland Indians. (*)

"Father White labored among the Piscataways, and these works were probably in their language. When Rev. Father William McSherry found White's Relatio Itineris in the archives of the Professed House of the Jesuits at Rome about 1832, an Indian catechism accompanied that document. A copy of it was promised me, but in the troubles in Italy the valuable papers were boxed up and stored for safety."—J. G. Shea.

Andrew White, clergyman, born in London, England, about 1579; died there 27 Dec., 1656-

He was educated at Douay college, France, where he was ordained priest in 1605. After his return to England in 1606 he was arrested, with sixteen other priests, and sentenced to perpetual banishment. He entered the Society of Jesus on 2 Feb., 1609, and returned to England at the risk of his life, and was engaged in missionary duties there until 1619. In 1633 he was chosen by the Jesuit general, Mutius Vitelleschi, to accompany Lord Baltimore to this country, with some other Jesuits. After landing he devoted himself to the conversion of the Piscataway and Patuxent Indians. Father White learned the language of the Indians, and compiled a grammar, vocabulary, and catechism. They were all supposed to be lost until Father William McSherry discovered the catechism in the Jesuit archives at Rome.—Ap-pleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

In American Ant. Soc. Proc. April 25, 1860 [no. 32], pp. 45-46, Boston, 1860, 8°. (Eames.)

A list of twenty names of birds, and seventeen names of fishes, mostly with English descriptions. The names are taken from the scrap-book of 112 original drawings, in water-color, of this artist, preserved in the British Museum (Sloane and additional Manuscripts, 5270). This book came to the Museum with the collection of Sir Hans Sloane; and the volume has this entry, which is believed to be in his handwriting: "The original drawings of the habits, towns, customs, of the West Indians, and of the plants, birds, fishes, &c., found in Groenland, Virginia, Guiana, &c.; by Mr. John White, who was a painter, and accompanied Sir Walter Raleigh in his voyage. See the preface to the first part of 'America' of Theodore de Bry, or the 'Description of Virginia,' where some of these draughts are curiously wrought by that graver."

Another collection of drawings by White, perhaps similar to the above, was sold by Henry Stevens to the British Museum in 1866, for 235l. It is described in the printed catalogue of the library as follows: "The pictures of sondry things collected and counterfeited according to the truth in the voyage made by Sr Walter Raleigh knight, for the discovery of La Virginea . . . in the yeare . . . 1585. [The 76 original drawings in water colours made by John White, who was sent by Queen Elizabeth as draughtsman in Raleigh's second expedition to Virginia in 1585, some of which were engraved by Theodor de Bry in 1590 to illustrate his edition of Hariot's 'Report of Virginia' in Pt. I of his America.] [1585] fol. G. 6837*."

The pagination of this work is faulty in several instances, and the collation above does not give the true number of pages, which is 224. The first 16 pages are unnumbered. Up to p. 76 it is correctly paged; 77 is numbered 67, 80 is called 86, and 94 and 95 precede 92 and 93 in numbering though correct in reading. None of these errors, however, affect the number. There is no 96 or 97. After 114 comes 105, and this error of 10 pages in the numbering runs throughout. Allowing for pp. 96 and 97, it leaves a plus of 8 pages, making the number in the book 16 (preliminary), 205, 3 = 224.

In Massachusetts Hist. Soc. Coll. first series, vol. 3, pp. 203-239, Boston, 1794, 8^o. The volume was reprinted at Boston in 1810.

The above partial reprint of Roger Williams' Key does not include the Narraganset vocabularies. It contains, however, many native terms scattered throughout, and on p. 210 are the numerals 1-6 masculine, and 1-5 feminine. Subsequently, at the request of Dr. B. S. Barton, the vocabularies were reprinted as follows:

— Vocabulary of the Narraganset Language.

In Massachusetts Hist. Soc. Coll. first series, vol. 5, pp. 80-106, Boston, 1816, 8^o.

The vocabularies of each chapter, which were omitted in the preceding reprint, are here given in full.

The volume was originally printed in 1798; this I have not seen; but besides the above reprint of 1816 there is also one of 1835. (Congress.)

This reprint (with half-title as above verso blank) is accompanied by a preface, pp. 3-16, and copious notes by Dr. Trumbull. In his preface he says: "It has been the desire of the Narragansett Club and the constant aim of the editor, to ensure the literal accuracy of the reprint,—even to the reproduction of the typographical errors—of the original." The pagination of the original work is shown by brackets.

Roger Williams, founder of Rhode Island, born in Wales in 1599; died in Rhode Island early in 1683. He embarked at Bristol 1 Dec., 1630, in the ship "Lion," and on 5 Feb., 1631, arrived at Boston. Soon after his arrival in Massachusetts he was invited to the church at Salem as assistant to the pastor, Mr. Skelton. Mr. Williams was settled 12 April, 1631, as assistant or teacher in the Salem church. At Plymouth he was settled in August, 1631, as assistant to the pastor, Ralph Smith. Here he made his first acquaintance with the chiefs of the Wampanoags and Narragansetts, and being an excellent linguist soon learned to talk in the language of those Indians.

In 1634 he was settled as pastor of the church in Salem.

In 1638 he assisted John Clarke and William Coddington in negotiating the purchase of Aquidneck, or Rhode Island, for which the Indians were liberally paid.

In 1643 he went to England and obtained the charter for the Rhode Island and Providence settlements, dated 14 March, 1644. Mr. Williams landed in Boston 17 Sept., 1644. Through his exertions a treaty was made with the Narragansetts 4 Aug., 1645, which saved New England from the horrors of an Indian war.

Mr. Williams sailed in November, 1651, for England, in company with John Clarke.

He returned to Providence in 1654 and took part in the reorganization of the colonial government in that year. He was chosen, 12 Sept., 1654, president of the colony and held that office until May, 1659.

In King Philip's war Mr. Williams accepted a commission as captain of militia, and was active in drilling the train-bands, though his advanced age prevented him from taking the field.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Mr. Eames has also another copy of this work, in cloth boards, uncut edges, with paper labels on the backs, printed apparently about 1860, but, like the titles, dated 1832. The contents of the two volumes agree exactly with the above as far as page 660 of volume 1, and as far as page 711 of volume 2. The variations are as follows: In volume 1 another appendix is added (no. 4, Sketches of the principal characters in Maine, etc.), filling pp. 661-696. In volume 2 the appendix no. 5 (List of Counties and Towns within the State, etc., pp. 712-714 of the above, ending on page 714 with a note of seven lines), is omitted, and in its place is inserted a new appendix no. 5 (Index . . . a list of counties and corporate towns inclusive), filling pp. 712-729. This is a general index to both volumes. Excepting the titles, and the absence of the portrait and plate, the sheets of this copy are the same as in the edition of 1839 described below, of which it seems to be merely a reissue. In neither do the lists of contents include the additions.

Rev. Edward Francis Wilson, son of the late Rev. Daniel Wilson, Islington, prebendary of St. Paul's Cathedral, and grandson of Daniel Wilson, bishop of Calcutta, was born in London December 7, 1844, and at the age of 1. left school and emigrated to Canada for the purpose of leading an agricultural life; soon after his arrival he was led to take an interest in the Indians, and resolved to become a missionary. After two years of preparation, much of which time was spent among the Indians, he returned to England, and in December, 1867, was ordained deacon. Shortly thereafter it was arranged that he should return to Canada as a missionary to the Ojibway Indians, under the auspices of the Church Missionary Society, which he did in July, 1868. He has labored among the Indians ever since, building two homes—the Shingwauk Home, at Sault Ste. Marie, and the Wawanosh Home, two miles from the former—and preparing linguistic works.

Wood (Rev. Thomas). [Grammar, etc., of the Micmac language.] (*)

Rev. T. Wood, before going to Nova Scotia, was, for some years, the Society's missionary in New Jersey. In 1762 he attended, during an illness of several weeks, the Vicar-General of Quebec, M. Maillard. After residing some time at Halifax, he took up his residence, in 1763, at Annapolis (formerly Port Royal), where he remained during the rest of his life, dividing his labours between Annapolis and Granville. He immediately applied himself to the study of the Micmac (Indian) language, with no other assistance than he could derive from the papers of M. Maillard, and fully determined to persevere until he should be able to publish a grammar, a dictionary, and a translation of the bible. In 1766 he sent home the first volume of his grammar, with a translation of the creed, the Lord's prayer, &c., and was now able to minister to the Indians in their own language. After a successful ministry of about thirty years he died at Annapolis, on the 14th of December, 1778.—Sprague.

Mr. J. T. Bulmer, librarian of the University of Dalhousie, Halifax, Nova Scotia, writes me: "In the report for 1767 the Society for the propagation of the gospel in foreign parts acknowledges the receipt of several translations into Micmac and the first part of his French and English Micmac grammar. I am of the opinion that, while Mr. Wood could translate and preach in Micmac, M. Maillard's grammar was really the basis of his work. Several circumstances lend probability to this opinion. How did he come to make a French part to his Micmac grammar, when the probabilities are against his knowledge of that language? So far as I have been able to ascertain none of his works were printed, and I have made frequent applications to the society in London for his manuscripts, but in vain."

Chap. XVIII, Of their Language, pp. 91-92, contains a few general remarks. The specimens of language fill the five unnumbered pages at the end, headed as follows:

"Because many have desired to heare some of the Natives Language, I have here inserted a small Nomenclator, with the Names of their chiefe Kings, Rivers, Moneths, and dayes, whereby such as have in-sight into the Tongues, may know to what Language it is most inclining; and such as desire it as an unknowne Language onely, may reape delight, if they can get no profit."

The nomenclator is a vocabulary of about 265 words, in Massachusetts Indian and English, alphabetically arranged. It is followed by the numerals 1-20, "The Indians count their time by nights, and not by dayes, as followeth," "How they call their Moneths," "The names of the Indians, as they be divided into several Countries," "The Names of Sagamores,"
"The names of the noted Habitations," and
"At what places be Rivers of note." These supplementary names are all in Indian.

This translation of the Catéchisme du diocèse de Québec is attributed to Wzokhilain on the authority of Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull. It is quite certain, however, that the version is of a much older date. The Lord's Prayer and Angelical Salutation on pp. 9-10 are identical with the specimens given by Father Vetromile in the third edition of the Indian good book (New York, 1858), pp. 578-579, from an "ancient manuscript" in the pure Abnaki language, concerning which see pp. 508-509 of this bibliography. About the time of the publication of the above catechism, Wzokhilain abjured Protestantism for a short period, for the purpose of gaining the consent of Simon Obomsawin, great chief of St. Francis, to the marriage of his daughter. It is possible, therefore, that he may have edited the little book as a token of his professed sincerity to Catholicism. The approbation of the bishop of Quebec, dated May 15, 1832, is printed on the last page.

Pierre Paul Osunkhirhine, afterwards known as "Masta," was an Indian of St. Francis. He received a good education at Moore's Charity School, Hanover, N. H., and returned to his native village as a Protestant missionary. In his tract and primer in the Penobscot language his name on the title-page was necessarily printed Wzokhilain, because it could not be more exactly transliterated into that language.

About two hundred and seventy-four languages and dialects are here represented, of which twenty-five are American. Among the latter are the Чиппевски (Chippewa), Делаварски (Delaware), Шавански (Shawnee), Нарѣчје народовъ на рѣкѣ Делаварѣ (dialect of the people on the river Delaware), and Нарѣчје народовъ на рѣкѣ Шавановъ (dialect of the people on the river Savannah). Numerous words of the three first named are scattered through the work, which is printed entirely in Russian characters. The last two appear mostly in the first volume. Each page is divided into three columns, the first containing in alphabetical order the words of various languages, the second showing the Russian equivalents, and the third giving the names of the languages represented in the first column. This edition was edited by Feodor Yankiewitch. One thousand copies were printed.

Copies seen: British Museum, Eames.

The work of which the above is a rearrangement was begun by the empress Catherine II of Russia in the summer or autumn of 1784. After laboring on it personally for about nine months, she called Prof. Peter Simon Pallas to her aid, and ordered him to digest the material and prepare it for the press. On the 22d of May, 1785, a circular or prospectus of the work was issued; and in 1786 a Modèle du vocabulaire, qui doit servir à la comparaison de toutes les langues, 4 ll. 4°, was printed, and sent out for the purpose of obtaining additional information.

One copy or more of this specimen was forwarded to General Washington, through the Marquis de Lafayette, with a request for some authentic vocabularies of the North American Indians. The receipt of this application was acknowledged on May 10th, 1786, by General Washington, who wrote on the 20th of the following August to Capt. Thomas Hutchins, enclosing the printed specimen, and asking for vocabularies of the Ohio Indians. A few months later, November 27th, 1786, hearing that Richard Butler had been appointed Superintendent of Indian Affairs, General Washington wrote to him, requesting him to obtain the printed form from Capt. Hutchins, and to collect the desired information. A little more than a year passed before the material was ready. On the 20th of January, 1788, Washington transmitted to Lafayette a vocabulary of the Shawanese and Delaware languages, collected by Mr. Butler, together with a shorter specimen of the language of the southern Indians by Mr. Benjamin Hawkins.

In the meantime, by order of the empress, work on the great comparative vocabulary had been rapidly hurried on. The first section was completed and published, with Latin titles prefixed, Linguarum totius orbis vocabularia comparativa; augustissimae cura collecta, Petropoli, 1786-1789, 2 vols. 4°. (Eames) It comprised words in 51 European, 137 Asiatic, and 12 Polynesian languages, with the numerals at the end in 225 languages, all in Russian characters. 285 selected words were treated separately, 130 in the first volume and 155 in the second. The Russian word was placed at the head of each list, and followed in numerical order by the names of the 200 languages, each with its equivalent word in one line.

The second section, which was intended to comprise the American and African words, in one volume, was never printed. This was due to a change of plan. The empress, it seems, was not satisfied with the result. She now wished to have all the words arranged in one general alphabet, irrespective of language. As Prof. Pallas was busily engaged in other scientific labors which had been assigned to him, the services of Feodor Yankiewitch de Miriewo, director of the normal school at St. Petersburg, were immediately called into requisition. Under his direction all the material in print and manuscript was recast, the American and African words included, and the whole published in four volumes, as described above.

"The original manuscript of this edition is preserved in the archives of the Moravian church at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. Upon comparing it with the printed copy it is evident that there was cause for the dissatisfaction which Zeisberger expressed with the manner in which the book was brought out. The manuscript does not contain the Lord's prayer, etc., which are appended to the printed edition of 1776, but, in place of it, the following articles:

"1. A short history of the bible, evidently original, in Delaware and English, in parallel columns.

"2. Reading lessons in Delaware, being Biblical and other Narratives.

"3. Conjugations of the verbs 'to say' and 'to tell,' in Delaware and English.

"4. The Delaware numerals.

"All these articles have been omitted in the printed copy."—De Schweinitz.

According to Bishop De Schweinitz, in the Life and times of David Zeisberger, the original manuscript of this work is in the archives of the Moravian church at Bethlehem, Pa. But some time ago I had the pleasure of seeing it while temporarily in the possession of Mr. J. W. Jordan, of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, who informed me that it belonged to the Moravian archives at Fairfield, Canada. Its title and description are as follows:

 language is the Rev. David Zeisberger, the eminent Moravian missionary, whose long and devoted labors may be accepted as fixing the standard of the tongue.

“Before him no one had seriously set to work to master the structure of the language

tion. To his devotion to the cause in which he was engaged, he added considerable natural talent for languages, and learned to speak, with almost equal fluency, English, German, Delaware, and the Onondaga and Mohawk dialects of the Iroquois."—Brinton.

David Zeisberger, missionary, born in Zauchenthal, Moravia, 11 April, 1721; died in Goshen, Ohio, 17 Nov., 1808. In 1740 he emigrated to Georgia, where his church was organizing a mission among the Creeks. Thence he was sent to Pennsylvania, where he assisted in the building of Nazareth and Bethlehem. Preparatory to entering the mission service in 1743, he became a student in the Indian school at Bethlehem, where he was instructed in the Delaware and Onondaga languages. Later he continued the study of the latter at the capital of the Five Nations. In addition to these languages he was conversant with Mohican, Monsey-Delaware, and Chippewa. From 1745 till 1750 he was employed at Shamokin and Onondaga, and in the latter year he visited Europe in behalf of the mission. In 1752 he returned to Onondaga, but was compelled to retire to Bethlehem at the opening of the French and Indian war. Between 1755 and 1762 he visited North Carolina and the New England provinces, labored among the Indians of Connecticut, and also acted as interpreter for Pennsylvania in their treaty with Teedyuscung and his allies. During the Pontiac war he took charge of the Moravian Indians, and after the peace accompanied them to Wyalusing, Bradford Co., Pa. In 1767 he established a mission among the Monsey-Delawares on Alleghany river, and three years later he began Friedenstadt, on the Beaver. His first visit to Ohio was made in 1771, and a year later he organized the mission on the Muskingum. In 1798, Zeisberger with a few converts left Canada and founded Goshen, Ohio, where he passed the remaining ten years of his life.—Appleton's Cyclop. of Am. Biog.

Some of these hymns were printed on the backs of separate picture cards. Mr. Eames has four, containing (1) Pachk nekamoan! (verses 1 and 2) from p. [8]; (2) the hymn beginning "Jesus maz Tapanemenach" (verses

— [Verbs of the Menominee language.] (*)

Manuscript, filling 22 pages of foolscap, unbound. Consists of about 900 Menominee verbs, with conjugations more or less complete. Collected and recorded in 1882, 1883, and 1884, at Keshina and elsewhere on the Menominee Reservation. The work is arranged English-Menominee in parallel columns, two of each to the page.

Father Zephyrin also has these verbs classified, on quarto sheets, in Menominee-English order through the letters a, b, and c of the English (about 70 words); he was interrupted in his work at that stage, and this classification was, when he wrote me (July, 1885), incomplete.

Manuscript, 128 pp. small blank book. Some 1200 words—nouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, etc. arranged English-Menominee. Collected in 1880 and 1881; the first systematic effort.

I am indebted to their author for the description of the foregoing manuscripts, which are still in his possession.

"My full name, in the Order of St. Francis, is Zephyrinus Engelhardt, O. S. F. I am a Kentuckian, and studied classics at Cincinnati, Ohio. My name before I entered the order was Charles Anthony Engelhardt, but I prefer to be known only as Zephyrin Engelhardt, O. S. F."

Bingham (A.) Ojibwa spelling book. Albany: 1825.

On page 48 of this bibliography the title of the above work is given in full, and the date ascribed is 1825. As stated there, I have seen but one copy, and it is possible in copying the title-page I may have incorrectly transcribed the date. In Jülge's edition of Vater's Litteratur der Grammatiken (1847), p. 475, the date of publication is given as 1825, from a copy in the Royal Library at Berlin, and this date is copied in Ludewig's Literature of American Aboriginal Languages (1858), p. 44. In Trübner's Bibliographical guide to American literature (1859), p. 248, the work is dated as 1829. The probability that the latter date is the correct one is based upon the following statement:

"On the 12th of March [1828], we received a joint letter from the Rev. A. Bingham and the Rev. Mr. Stannard, missionaries to a small band of Indians at Tonawanta, in New-York, expressing a wish to unite with us in missionary labours. Mr. Stannard died not long after this. We were much gratified with an opportunity of opening correspondence with Mr. Bingham, and were not mistaken in hoping that it might eventuate in enabling the board to meet the engagements we had made with the Department of Indian Affairs, in relation to the establishment of a missionary station at Sault de St. Marie. We wrote the board, without delay, in favour of commencing that station. In 1828, Mr. and Mrs. Bingham were appointed missionaries, by the board, for that station, which they have ever since occupied, with commendable zeal and some success. The station was located near Fort Brady, which is garrisoned as a military post, and not far from a village of two or three hundred Chippewa Indians."—McCoy's History of Baptist Indian Missions (1840), p. 330.

Manuscript; among the papers of Cardinal Mezzofanti in the Biblioteca Comunale at Bologna. A transcript in the handwriting of the cardinal is also in the same collection, and another is preserved among the manuscripts of Abbé Thavenet in the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome.

The above description is from Teza (E.) Saggi inediti di lingue americane, pp. 20, 21. The author is mentioned as follows in a letter of Père Durocher, printed in Teza (E.) Intorno agli studi del Thavenet, p. 5: "Mon Cicéron nipising, Ignace Chawanabe qui, pour le dire en passant, a le mérite de la composition du discours algonquin en réponse au bref de sa sainteté Grégoire XVI." In another letter Durocher writes, Nov. 5, 1834: "Chawanabe . . . de l'aveu de tous mes sauvages, est celui qui possède le mieux la langue."

Ciquard (Rev. Francis). [Manual of prayers, and catechism, in the Abnaki and French languages.] (*)

Manuscript, 62 pp. 12^o, formerly in possession of Rev. Eugene Vetromile, Biddeford, Maine.

In a letter to Rev. J. M. Finotti, dated from Eastport, Jan. 19, 1875, Father Vetromile gives the following account of the manuscript:

"When I was in Worcester a small old mss. prayer book of 62 pages, 22^d [12^o?] was found amongst some old papers and books for sale. A friend of mine purchased it, and finding it to be in Indian and French made a present of it to me. I found it to be a manual of prayers and catechism in Abnaki language, written by Fr. Francis Ciquard, missionary in New Brunswick, written in 1792. He could not be the author of them, because he did not know the language; nor Fr. Rasles could have written them, because when he commenced his dictionary on the Kennebec, 1791 [sic], these Indians had no missionary, as I know from a letter from Bp. Carroll of Baltimore (in my possession). In 1791 [sic] Fr. Rasles had been only one year amongst the Indians at Norridgewark, when he commenced his valuable dictionary. Fr. Ciquard arrived from France to Baltimore in 1792, and Bp. Carroll sent him immediately amongst these Indians. I have also this second letter of Bp. Carroll, which was sent and delivered by Fr. Ciquard.

"So these prayers and catechism are very old and their author is not known. I have scrupulously preserved them, corrected, and embodied in my prayer book [i. e. Indian good book, New York, 1856, 1857, 1858], not allowing a single alteration. The Bishop wanted me to alter the form of Baptism in Indian, but I declined for the respect of that old formula, and the more I learned the Indian language, the more I found to be correct, and now I do not think that it could be put in better Indian. I do not know of any language of my knowledge, the Greek and Latin included, that could express the form of baptism in a theological point of view as well as the Indian does."

Rev. Francis Ciquard was a native of Clermont, in France. He was ordained priest in 1779, and in 1792 was sent to America. Bishop Carroll at once placed him in charge of the Penobscot Indians at Old Town. At this mission he remained for about ten years, when he removed to take charge of the Indians of Tobique and St. Anne, near Fredericton, in New Brunswick. From 1812 to 1815 he was missionary of the Abnaki Indians at Saint Francis. He died at Montreal.

[Dayton, Ohio: Philip A. Kemper. 1890 ?]

A small card, 3 by 5 inches in size, headed as above and containing twelve "Promises of our Lord to blessed Margaret Mary," in the Algonquine (Nipissing) language, on the verso of which is a colored picture of the sacred heart, with inscription below in French. On the lower margin of the Nipissing side are the words: "(Algonquine.) P. A. Kemper, Dayton, O. (N. America.)"

On p. 102 of this bibliography there is titled an earlier issue of this card, upon which the first line in the title above does not appear. The word iji in the first Nipissing line of this later issue appears in the earlier as i only in all the copies I have seen—a fault of the press, I think, as there is a sufficient blank space for the remaining letters of the word.

Eliot (John).

The following additional notices of the Indian new testament and bible have come to hand since the main article was put in type.

(8*) The new testament of 1661. A copy in the Library of Glasgow University, Glasgow, not mentioned in the list on p. 137. Press-mark, BE 6—d. 9. Bound in old calf, without lettering. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{7}{8}$ by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches. It contains both the English and Indian titles, with the diamond-shaped figure on the latter, and agrees with the collation given on p. 133, including the two original blank leaves. There is in it the following inscription: "Ex libris Bibliothecae Universitatis Glasguensis, Will. Dunlop, prin. Empt: publicis Academiae sumptibus 1691." Information from the librarian, Mr. James Lymburn.

(14) The new testament of 1661, mentioned on p. 138. (14) The bible of 1663, mentioned on p. 145. The Rev. Thomas K. Abbott, B. D., librarian of Trinity College, Dublin, writes under date of November 10th, 1890: "I believe all but one of our copies of Eliot's Bible were disposed of as duplicates some years ago. The only copy retained is classed Press B. 2. 3." It was presented by Robert Hawkshaw, A. B., 21 May, 1770, and, as respects the sides, the binding is original, but the back has been repaired. The Indian title appears to be on the original first leaf of signature A of the new testament, and the diamond-shaped figure is on the Indian new testament title. The size of the leaf is $7\frac{1}{2}$ by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches. The Indian title precedes the leaf of contents. This title is mounted, and, together with the leaf of contents and the dedication, appears to be of later date. The book is perfect, and in very good condition.

(13*) The bible of 1663, third variety. A copy in the Bibliothèque Nationale at Paris, not mentioned in the list on p. 145. Press-mark, A. 2484. In old calf binding, probably original, without lettering. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{1}{2}$ by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches. It contains the English general title, the dedication of the whole bible, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title (with the diamond-shaped figure), Matthew to Revelation, the metrical psalms, and the final leaf of rules. The book was purchased for the Royal Library in the time of Louis XIV, and is entered as No. A.

(27) The bible of 1663, mentioned on p. 148, in the Library of Glasgow University, Glasgow. Press-mark, BE 6—c. 1. Presented about 1698 by the widow of Robert Burns, jun., merchant, of Glasgow. It has been quite recently rebound. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{1}{2}$ by $5\frac{1}{8}$ inches. It contains the Indian general title, the leaf of contents, Genesis to Malachi, the Indian new testament title (with the diamond-shaped figure), Matthew to Revelation, 1 blank leaf, the metrical psalms, and the final leaf of rules. Information from the librarian, Mr. James Lymburn.

(1) The bible of 1685, mentioned on p. 157, in the Library of the Faculty of Advocates, Edinburgh. Bound in old calf, plain tooling, no lettering. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{1}{2}$ by 6 inches. No dedication. On the first blank leaf is the inscription, "Ex dono Josiæ Clark," and on the second leaf, "Ex libris Bibliothecæ Facultatis Juridicæ Edinburgi 1703." Information from Mr. William M. Cooper, of the Advocates' Library (by direction of Mr. Clark, the librarian), in letter of November 13, 1890.

(36) The bible of 1685, mentioned on p. 164, in the Library of Leyden University, Leyden, Holland. In the original binding of brown calf, without lettering. Size of the leaf, $7\frac{7}{8}$ by $5\frac{5}{8}$ inches. It contains the original leaf of dedication to Robert Boyle, inserted after the title. On the front leaf is the following autograph inscription: "Publicam Academiæ Lugduno-Batavæ Bibliothecam, Hæc SS. Bibliorum versione Indica apud Cantabrigienses in Novâ Angliâ excusa, donat Crescentius Matherus, V. D. M. nec non Collegij Harvardinj, quod est Cantabrigiæ Nov. Anglorum, Rector. Julij. 4. A. D. 1687." Information from Dr. W. N. de Rieu, chief librarian of the University, in letters of November 4th and 11th, 1890.

(43*) The bible of 1685. A copy in the Bibliothèque Nationale at Paris, not mentioned in the list on p. 165. Press-mark, A. 2485. In the original leather binding, without lettering. On the back has been pasted a strip of parchment, inscribed, "Biblia anglo saxonica." Size of the leaf, $7\frac{3}{4}$ by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches. It has not the dedication to Robert Boyle. The book was formerly owned by Louis Picques, doctor of theology, who died May 9th, 1699. A manuscript note in his hand is on the title-page. A librarian of the eighteenth century has also written on the title, "Nova Albion. Dialectæ samoyedæ." Louis Picques bequeathed it to the Jacobin Convent in the rue St. Honoré, Paris, where it remained until 1790. It reached the National Library about the year 1798. Information from Monsieur E. Delisle, of the Bibliothèque Nationale.

F. Kirby, writes November 17th, 1890: "The Bible referred to in your note of the 4th instant is not in its place, and I fear must have been abstracted since the last Catalogue of our library was made (about 40 years ago). However, search is being made for it, and if it should turn up you may rely on my giving you the information which you desire."

He was for three years a student at St. John's College, Winnipeg, and in 1874 was engaged as schoolmaster by Bishop Pompas for the Church Missionary Society. The winter of 1875-'6 he spent in study with the bishop at Fort Simpson, McKenzie River, and was admitted to deacon's orders, (and) in the autumn of 1876 he established a Church Missionary Society station at Fort Vermilion under the name of Unjaga Mission. Mr. Garrioch subsequently visited Canada and England, where he saw his translations printed; but in the spring of 1886, he returned to mission work

Most of the schedules are filled, and the unnumbered leaves contain much additional material, notably songs and verbal conjugations.

In two smaller blank books (respectively 34 and 60 pages, sm. 4°) Mr. Gatschet has recorded from the same source much linguistic information not called for in the introduction.

In possession of Capt. Dwight H. Kelton, U. S. Army, who furnishes me the following notes:

The late very reverend Edward Jacker was born at Ellwanger, Wurtemberg, Germany, Sept. 2, 1827, died at Marquette, Mich., Sept. 1, 1887, and was buried at Hancock, Mich. He was ordained a priest at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., in 1854, and from that time devoted his life to work among the Indians, by whom he was greatly beloved. Having received a liberal education, philology became his favorite pursuit, and this he made the leading study of his life, acquiring among others a theoretical and practical knowledge of the Algonquian Indian languages, one dialect of which—the Chippewa—he spoke fluently. His work of twenty years in correcting and amplifying Bishop Baraga's Chippewa dictionary was destroyed by an accident by which he lost his canoe and its contents. His unpublished mss. are in the possession of Capt. Dwight H. Kelton, U. S. Army. He was the author of Indian names of places near the great lakes, published by Captain Kelton, also of the "Indian names" published in the 1891 edition of Kelton's Annals of Fort Mackinac, and of the "Indian names," in the 1889 edition of Kelton's History of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal, which will be found titled on page 277 of this bibliography.

In a letter recently received from Mr. F. Jacker, a brother of this author, he uses the following language: "Though my brother was perhaps the most diligent, and with respect to the Algonquian dialects, the most accomplished and thorough student of Indian languages, but very little of his labors has gone into print. The work of his life, the compilation of an Ojibwa grammar, when nearly complete in manuscript, was lost in Lake Michigan by the capsizing of his boat."

Johnston (George). The morning and evening prayer. Detroit, 1844.

The following criticism of Johnston's translation of a portion of the prayer book, titled on page 264 of this bibliography, is taken from Rev. F. A. O'Meara's Second report of a mission to the Ottawa and Ojibwas on Lake Huron (London, 1847), pp. 27-28:

"May 27 [1845].—Arrived at Detroit, and immediately waited on the Bishop; I wished to ascertain from him what he would do towards the Indian Prayer-book, as my translation could, with a few alterations, be adapted to the Indians in his diocese, speaking the Ojibwa or Ottawa languages; but found that he had himself procured a translation of part of the service into that language, which he had caused to be printed, and which has been for some time in use. The Bishop gave me two copies of this work, which is in the form of a small pamphlet, and though on the title-page it professes to be a translation of the Morning and Evening Services, contains only the Morning Service, the Litany, and the Ten Commandments, to which are added a few hymns taken word for word from Peter Jones's Collection. On looking over the work, I find it very carelessly done, and in many places a total misrepresentation of the spirit and meaning of the Liturgy; for instance, the verse Daniel ix. 9, 10, at the opening of Morning Prayer, is translated as if it were a prayer. The Absolution is also made a prayer of, or rather an unintelligible mixture of prayer and exhortation. Where the word circumcision occurs in the Litany, it is translated so as to make the supplication run thus, 'By the cutting of thy forehead.'

Manuscript. It is referred to as follows in "a Letter from Col. George Morgan to Gen. Washington, inclosing the Lord's Prayer in Shawanese," dated from New York, Sept. 1st, 1789, and printed in the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society, third series, vol. 5 (Boston, 1836), pp. 286-287, where the specimen of the Lord's prayer is also given:

"Sir, Having been engaged here some days in the examination of the late Mr. Hutchins's papers, I have found amongst them a letter to your Excellency from the Marquis de la Fayette, accompanied by one from you, requesting Mr. Hutchins's attention to the forming a vocabulary of the Indian languages, for the Empress of Russia, who has ordered a universal dictionary to be made of all languages.

"If your Excellency hath not received satisfactory returns from Mr. Hutchins, or others to whom you may have applied, it will afford me particular pleasure to contribute so essential a service to the republic of letters, by giving your Excellency a Vocabulary and Grammar of the Shawanese tongue, together with our Lord's prayer; all composed at my request, by my friend Alexander McKee, Esq. to whom the best speakers of the nation recur for instruction in all doubtful words and expressious in their own language.

"Mr. McKee being a good scholar, and writing a very fair hand, adds to the certainty and value of these performances; and the more so, as I have reason to believe that he neither made nor kept another copy. I find, too, from my former travels and late tour, that the Shawanese tongue is the root of many others of the more western tribes.

"A Vocabulary and Grammar of the Delaware language is made by the Rev. Mr. Zeisberger, which, if your Excellency hath not obtained, I will procure and send to you. They are all at present in my son's possession, except our Lord's prayer, as I gave them to him when he entered a cadet in the first United States' regiment; but I will write to him immediately for them, if your Excellency wishes to have them. I do myself the honor to inclose our Lord's prayer, as I brought it here with intention to publish it, to prevent its being lost. When your Excellency has had a copy taken, be pleased to direct the original to be forwarded, inclosed in my letter, to Mr. Carey."

On its receipt by Mr. Carey this specimen of the Lord's prayer in Shawanese was printed by him in the American Museum, vol. 6 (Philadelphia, 1789), p. 318.

"I suppose you know the large Micmac manuscript book, containing prayers, catechism, Instructions, etc. I have copy by Fr. Demilier, but he was not the author. I think that Fr. Menard was the author. It is a fine work, excellent, and very correct Micmac language, 341 pages quarto."

Manuscript; 11 parts, containing 222 pp. 8°. In the Biblioteca Vittorio Emanuele at Rome. The narrative embraces the pentateuch, the historical books, and in the last part a few extracts from the new testament (Luke iv, Matt. i, Luke ii).

In 1833 it was proposed at Rome to have this work revised and printed. The transcript described above was probably made for this purpose by Père Durocher, at the request of the Abbé Thavenet, who hoped to have his help and that of De Bellefeuille in the work of revision.

Concerning the manuscript, Durocher wrote as follows, January 1, 1834: "J'ai tâché d'élaguer toutes les expressions surannées et d'y substituer celles qui sont maintenant en usage. J'ai surtout consulté pour cela mon Cicéron nipissing, Ignace Chawanabe qui, pour le dire en passant, a le mérite de la composition du discours algonquin en réponse au bref de sa sainteté Grégoire XVI, et François Odjik, puriste nipissing."

"Corretto a quel modo il manoscritto nel Canada," remarks Professor Teza, "avrebbe voluto il fiero missionario [Durocher] che nessuno ci mettesse più mano in Europa: e spesso ai dubbi con semplicità proposti dal Thavenet risponde con i motti pungenti, con l'ironia. Poi si stacca: punisce il critico sagace e interrogatore col silenzio: tanti studi, tanta pazienza, tante fatiche non danno alcun frutto: l'opera del Mathavet rimane inedita." The above description is from Teza (E.), Intorno agli studi del Thavenet, pp. 4-6.

A partial transcript, probably of the same work, is preserved in the Biblioteca Comunale at Bologna, among the manuscripts of Cardinal Mezzofanti, in whose handwriting it is. According to Teza (E) (Saggi inediti di lingue americane, pp. 12-13), it consists only of "la storia della creazione, breve scrittura che compendia il genesi, ma non va oltre al quinto giorno." It begins: "Wayechkat o ki kijenindan kije-manito wakwi kaye akki. Kakkina anotch kekon o kijenindanan negotowasso kijikatnik inikik."

Meurain (Rev. —). [Illinois (?) -French dictionary.] (*)

Manuscript.

In Morse (J.), Report to the Secretary of War, p. 144, will be found the following note:

The Rev. Father Meurain died at Prairie du Rocher, forty-five miles below St. Louis, fifteen above Kaskaskias, on the Mississippi, in the year 1778. He was the last of the Jesuits in this country. He was ordered home; but at the request of the Indians he returned and died with them. He was a very learned man, and has left a valuable library and a manuscript dictionary of the Indian and French languages, in twenty-four volumes. He was missionary to the Illinois Indians and was respected and beloved by them as a very pious and faithful missionary.

Mr. Morgan is an Ojibway clergyman of White Earth, Minn., whose Indian name is "Ka-ka-kun," meaning that-which-is-burned-to-a-crisp.

O'Meara (Rev. Frederick A.). See Spelling and reading book.

In addition to the brief account given on pp. 381-382 of this bibliography, the following particulars concerning Dr. O'Meara have been ascertained. He was appointed by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, in 1839, as a missionary to the Indians at Sault St. Marie, and was subsequently transferred by the Bishop of Toronto to the Government Indian mission at Manitoulin Island. In his Second Report of a Mission to the Ottawa and Ojibwas, on Lake Huron (second edition, London, 1847), he gives some account of his translations into the Indian language.

Under date of January 12, 1845, he writes: "Having lately seen more plainly than ever the evil of a book such as the Methodist Hymns being in the hands of my people, after the more public and fatiguing labours of the day were concluded, I tried what I could do at translating some of the Hymns and Psalms from our own collection. I succeeded in this, my first essay in that kind of work, so as to encourage me to proceed in the translation of a small collection to be appended to the Prayer Book."

During the next four months he revised his translation of the Prayer Book, and translated more Psalms and Hymns. In the latter part of May he went to Toronto, in order to make arrangements for the printing of these works. While at Detroit, he waited on the Bishop, for the purpose of ascertaining what he would do towards the Indian Prayer Book. From him he first learned of the existence of Johnston's translation of The morning and evening prayer (Detroit, 1844), concerning which see his remarks on pages 566-567 of this Addenda.

"September 16, [1845].—Sent the first portion of the manuscript of the Indian Prayer-book to the Rev. Mr. Grasset, to be transmitted by him to Dr. Bethune; it contains the Morning and Evening Services and Litany. I have taken much care with the writing, that it may be as legible as possible."

"October 13.—Busily engaged during all the time that could be spared from my usual work, preparing the manuscript of the Ojibway Psalms and Hymns, as the next opportunity will probably be the last this season."

The above-mentioned Prayer Book, Psalms, and Hymns were printed at Toronto in one volume, in 1846, as described on page 379 of this bibliography. Dr. O'Meara ministered to the Indians on Great Manitoulin Island for twenty-two years. According to Rev. J. A. Gilfillan, he died at Port Hope in 1888.

In Edgar (M.), Ten years of Upper Canada, in peace and war, pp. 376-381, Toronto, 1890, 8^o. See p. 437 of this bibliography.

Mrs. Edgar has kindly furnished me a transcript, from the original manuscript, of the two Shawanese vocabularies from which the above list of words is compiled. In transmitting them she writes as follows:

"I am also sending you a careful copy of the Shawanese vocabulary, with the accents given, which you will see are wanting in the printed copy. There were two books in which I found it. One you had, the other, which has a larger number of words, seems to have been written afterwards, as it is arranged more in order. Many of the words in the second book are duplicates of the first, though in some cases spelt differently. I send you both versions side by side, and would like much to know which is the more correct form. In the printed copy there are some mistakes, owing to the want of a careful and skilled revise. In the original some letters are blurred, and of course that made it difficult for one ignorant of the language to supply the deficiency."

Romagné (Rev. James B.) [Prayers and catechism in the Abnaki language.] (*)

Manuscript, formerly in the possession of Rev. Eugene Vetromile, Biddeford Maine. It is mentioned by him as follows in a letter to Rev. Joseph M. Finotti, dated from Eastport, Jan. 19, 1875: "The little book referred to [i. e. The Indian prayer book, Boston, 1834] was written, or rather prepared, by Fr. Romagné. I have seen only the front-page, and I do not believe that there is a single copy. The book was very incorrect by the fault of the editor, and because Fr. Romagné did not understand the language to distinguish and separate one word from the other. This was corrected by the holy Missionary Fr. Demilier at Pleasant point, who made several additions and a good translation in Passamaquoddy, of the petit catechisme pour la Diocèse de Québec. He prepared a neat copy to be printed, but he died before it was sent to the press. This manuscript is in my possession. [See page 110 of this bibliography.]

"Returning to Fr. Romagné's book, the original prayers and catechism were very correct and in good Indian, but its printer ruined it. . . . Fr. Romagné either copied the prayers etc. from some old manuscript, or put them on paper under the dictation of some Indian. Here was the trouble. . . .

"I find those prayers and catechism of Fr. Romagné, and corrected by Fr. Demilier, in some very old flying paper, and the writer (anonymous) says that he wrote them under the dictation of the Indians, but those in Passamaquoddy were copied from an old paper of an Indian called Sawhison. I first thought that they were written by F. Rasles."

Father Romagné, a native of Mayenne, was sent by Rev. John Cheverus, of Boston, to reside with the Penobscot and Passamaquoddy Indians about the year 1804. He established his abode at Pleasant Point on the Passamaquoddy, where "his house was a wretched log-cabin of but two rooms; his chapel little better; though both were superior to those of his flock. Worn down by frequent infirmities, he returned to France just after Bishop Fenwick was raised to the See of Boston in 1825."
